A'BKARI.

I.—REPORTS AND RETURNS.

1. The Commissioner of A'bkári should submit an annual report on the A'bkári Administration for the year ending July 31st. The Commissioners of Divisions may omit A'bkári from their Jamábandi reports. No alterations should, however, be made in this respect in the annual administration reports of the Collectors.

The Commissioner in Sind and the Political Resident at Aden should also submit separate reports on the Excise Department. All the three reports will be reviewed together and the review will show the general results of the administration of the Excise Department in the territories subject to the control of the Government of Bombay.

(G. R. Nos. 4020, dated 2nd August 1880, 2412, dated 29th April 1881, 6125, dated 18th October 1881, and 6572, dated 4th November 1881.)

2. Every effort should be made to submit the Administration Reports as soon as possible after the close of the year to which they relate. The reports lose much of their value and interest by being prepared late, and His Excellency in Council hopes that the wish of the Government of India, that they should receive these and other reports of a financial nature within six months of the close of the year to which they relate, will in future be complied with. For this purpose, the A'bkári Reports should reach this Government by 1st January at the latest.

(G. R. No. 5923, dated 29th August 1882.)

3. The annexed forms should be adopted in the A'bkári Administration Reports. Copies of the forms will be kept in stock at the Government Central Press, and will be supplied to the officers concerned in accordance with their requirements.

The Commissioner in Sind and the Political Resident, Aden, should enter in the forms appended to their reports, the particulars about opium, and also send extracts from the returns to the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bkári to enable him to offer such remarks as may be called for, relating to the opium arrangements in Sind and Aden, in the general report which he submits to Government.

(G. R. No. 5599, dated 3rd August 1893.)

4. In the Ábkári Administration Reports, information concerning the number of licensed liquor shops in each district should be given in a summarized form, with explanations of any serious increase or decrease. (S. of S. No. 22 (Rev.), dated 16th November 1882; vide G. R. No. 9037, dated 23rd December 1882.)*

5. The printing of the separate reports for each district appended to the Commissioner's Ábkári Administration Report involves unnecessary expense besides delay. In future, therefore, only the reports of the Commissioners, which should and usually do state all the material facts, should be printed. (G. R. No. 2573, dated 25th March 1884.)

6. In the Ábkári Administration Reports the Commissioner should include tables of issue for consumption in a general form. (G. R. No. 3426, dated 28th May 1888.)

7. The details of any action taken during the year in respect of the introduction of a system of modified local option in excise affairs should be introduced into the Annual Excise Administration Reports. (G. I., F. & C., No. 6570, dated 31st December 1889; vide G. R. No. 878, dated 3rd February 1890.)

8. Any marked increase in the number of licensed shops for retail sale of liquors or drugs should be clearly explained in the Annual Excise Administration Reports. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1572, dated 15th April 1891; vide G. R. No. 2967, dated 30th idem.)

9. The lumping together of licenses for toddy shops and tree-foot booths, and the exclusion from the table of hawking licenses and of licenses to tap trees for the extraction of toddy to be used for domestic consumption (which in some districts have taken the place of the tree-foot booth licenses granted in former years) is apt to give rise to misapprehension regarding the sufficiency of the arrangements made for the supply of raw toddy. In future Ábkári Administration Reports regarding the statistics of each of the abovementioned sources of supply should be included in the tabular statement. Information should also be given regarding the quantities and kinds of imported wines and spirit sold at the shops licensed for the sale of that class of spirit. Precise information should also be given regarding the causes of fluctuations in the country spirit and toddy consumption of the various localities and of the measures taken to remedy defects observed. It is very necessary that Collectors and the Commissioner of Ábkári should carefully watch the progress of consumption and the working of all arrangements in operation in their charges from month to month, and that they should institute prompt inquiry into all doubtful circumstances that may come under their notice and take timely measures for remedying defects. (G. R. No. 3703, dated 1st June 1891.)

10. The system of Ábkári Administration throughout the Presidency has now become well established, and it is no longer necessary that the operations of the Department should be described in full detail in each year's administration report. All changes of any importance in each district and its condition as regards offences against the ábkári laws should be noticed; fluctuations in consumption and increases and decreases in the number of shops licensed for the sale of liquor of each kind should be reported and explained; and the broad results of the year's administration should be clearly stated and reviewed. But the mass of detail hitherto usually given in these reports will bear considerable curtailment. (G. R. No. 5741, dated 13th July 1892.)

11. The consumption of each of the different kinds of intoxicating drugs should be shown in the A'bkári Administration Reports. (G. I., F. & C., No. Ex.-3228, dated 4th August 1892; vide G. R. No. 6748, dated 22nd idem.)

12. In the A'bkári Administration Reports, the quantity of bháng consumed should be distinguished from gánja. (G. R. No. 5668, dated 5th August 1893.)

13. The Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay, should submit monthly reports to Government showing the quantity of country liquor exported each month to Bombay from the distilleries at Uran as compared with the quantity removed during the corresponding period of the preceding year, and the collections for the same periods on account of still-head duty. (G. R. No. 1264, dated 1st March 1875.)

14. The Accountant General should submit every year, for transmission to the Government of India for incorporation in Part III of the Series of Financial and Miscellaneous Statistics, a statement* in the following form showing the excise receipts and charges in the Bombay Presidency:—

15. The statistical return of excise receipts and charges annually furnished for incorporation in the Finance and Revenue Accounts, Part III, should be prepared in accordance with the terms of the Resolution of the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 1142, dated 17th March 1892, regarding interprovincial adjustments; which are forbidden from 1st April 1892. (G. I., F. & C., No. 151 S., dated 19th September 1893; vide G. M. No. 6968, dated 27th idem.)

16. It is expedient that the revenue from the excise duty on beer brewed in India, levied under Acts I of 1886 (Madras), V of 1878 (Bombay), and the Excise (Malt Liquor) Act XIII of 1890, should be separately shown in the statistics relating to excise, instead of being included under spirits. Arrangements should accordingly be made for the separate exhibition of the receipts from the duty on beer in the Provincial Excise Tables furnished to the Finance and Commerce Department and published in the Financial and Commercial Statistics for British India. This will necessitate a corresponding reduction in the receipts under "Spirits, country". (G. I., F. & C., No. Statis.-5174, dated 15th October 1894; vide G. R. No. 9290, dated 13th November 1894).

17. The Commissioner of A'bkári and the Commissioner in Sind should submit statements, in the following form, of breweries in operation in the Bombay Presidency during the year, for transmission to the Government of India within one fortnight after the close of each calendar year:—

| Serial Number. | Name of town or station at which located. | Year in which established. | Estimated outturn in gallons of ale, porter and beer during the past 12 months. | REMARKS. |

(G. R. No. 4916, dated 25th September 1878, and G. M. No. 5077, dated 4th October 1878.)

18. The Commissioner in Sind should submit by, or as soon as possible after, the 15th of August in each year, to Government in the General Department a summary of his annual Excise Report for incorporation in Chapter V, Part II of the General Administration Report. This summary should contain a brief account of the excise operations of the year taken as a whole, and should not exceed in length any more than a page of printed matter at the outside. The materials furnished in paragraph 18 of the Collectors' and Deputy Collectors' Annual Administration Reports are altogether insufficient to enable the compiler to prepare from them a comprehensive account of the year's operations taken as a whole. A clear summary of the leading facts pertaining to the year, similar to that furnished by the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Ábkári for the Presidency Proper, is what is required, and in framing it the lines on which the Excise Administration Report for Sind is written should generally be observed. (G. R. No. 3455, dated 11th May 1889.)

II.—GENERAL PRINCIPLES AND POLICY.

1. The retail by Government officers of any sort of fermented liquor, spirit or drug is disapproved. Government has nothing to do with the trade in fermented liquors, spirits or drugs, and it is important that nothing should be done which might compromise this essential principle. The officers of the Government should interfere in the trade just so far as is necessary to enforce the taxation imposed upon it by law, and no further. If in any place the trade cannot be carried on consistently with the just demands of the State, it must cease, though it will probably always be found that the difficulty arises from the absence of proper fiscal arrangements. It would, however, be better that the excise revenue in any such place should be sacrificed, than that the officers of the Government should assume functions calculated to expose the policy of the State to misunderstanding. (G. I., F. D., No. 3125, dated 19th May 1874; vide G. R. No. 2813, dated 3rd June 1874.)

2. Government has frequently enjoined on Collectors the necessity of doing all they can to discourage the extension of drinking; but it is always to be borne in mind that it is the greatest possible mistake to allow smuggling. When people have a taste for liquor they will certainly obtain it, and if there be insufficient shops they will smuggle. The evil effects of this are two-fold. It renders inefficient the restrictions which Government desire to place upon the excessive consumption of liquor, and it injures the revenue. (G. R. No. 6092, dated 27th October 1875.)

3. The Governor in Council can only reiterate the principle that has been so often expressed by Government that Government do not desire to make any revenue from ábkári, but where there is a population habituated to the use of spirits, it may be assumed that they will find means to gratify their tastes, and if they cannot procure spirits on tolerably easy terms, they will smuggle. The Collector, therefore, in issuing licenses should be guided by this principle. Where there is already a demand for spirits, the Collector should take measures to supply it and to receive such revenue from it as may reasonably be expected, but he should carefully avoid encouraging the consumption of liquor by making it very easy to obtain or very cheap. (G. R. No. 2838, dated 30th May 1879.)

4. It should be fully understood that a low rate of duty on spirits should never be maintained for the purpose of stimulating consumption. Facility of obtaining intoxicating liquor, no doubt, aids in increasing consumption, but if a real demand in any locality is not met by a supply of taxed liquor, illicit distillation will be encouraged. The matter is not one regarding which any hard-and-fast rule can be laid down, but Government has no hesitation in leaving it to the Collectors, acting under the advice and control of the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bkári, who may safely be trusted to exercise an intelligent discretion. (G. R. No. 7060, dated 22nd September 1883.)

5. The main features of the policy of Government in respect to the ábkári management are—

- (a) to equalize the duty on mhowra and toddy spirit;
- (b) to enhance this duty gradually so as to assimilate it with the rates of duty on imported liquor; and
- (c) to secure to consumers a supply of raw toddy at low prices.

(G. R. No. 3898, dated 28th June 1887).

6. In controlling and directing the Indian Excise Administration the Supreme and Local Governments are following and have followed the principle that as high a tax as possible should be placed on spirits without giving rise to illicit distillation. In the interests of the Indian people, as well as in the interests of the Indian Treasury, the excise systems of India must always be based upon the considerations:—

- (1) that extension of the habit of drinking among Indian populations is to be discouraged;
- (2) that the tax on spirits and liquors should be as high as may be possible without giving rise to illicit methods of making and selling liquor.

Subject to the above considerations, as large a revenue as possible should be raised from a small consumption of intoxicating liquors. (S. of S. No. 28 Rev., dated 19th April 1888; vide G. R. No. 6122, dated 11th September 1888.)

7. There occur passages in periodical reports which read as if the increase of the excise revenue was the paramount object of good administration. Revenue officers are naturally apt to give prominence in their reports to increased revenue, taking for granted that the authorities to whom the reports are addressed will know that the increase has been obtained by successful administration on the principles insisted on by the Secretary of State. It is obvious that a revenue officer has cause for congratulation if he can point to increasing revenue with the consciousness that he has made the consumers of intoxicating drinks pay more dearly than they did before. The moral obligation of taking as high a tax as possible on all liquor consumed, while repressing illicit consumption, is accepted by him as a settled principle; and naturally he finds no occasion to embody in a report of the year's administration what he and everybody who has to deal officially with his report look upon as beyond the possibility of being seriously challenged. But as these reports are sometimes used as basis for attacks on the administration, the Government of India share the Secretary of State's opinion that at the risk of tedious repetition, and of placing well-understood doctrine on record year after year, administrative officers and Local Governments should be careful to employ language which cannot give colour to the idea that the object of the Excise Department is to increase revenue at the sacrifice of social considerations. (G. I., F. & C., No. 213, dated 11th August 1888; vide G. R. No. 6132, dated 11th September 1888.)

8. The principles on which Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India has more than once requested that the excise administration in India should be based, are :—

- (1) that any extension of the habit of drinking among Indian populations is to be discouraged ;
- (2) that the tax on spirits should be as high as may be possible without giving rise to illicit methods of making and selling liquor ;
- (3) that, subject to these considerations, a maximum revenue should be raised from a minimum consumption of intoxicating liquors.

The Government of India desire again to place on record their concurrence in these principles on which the instructions regarding excise administration issued by the Government of India in the past have been founded. The Governor General in Council is aware that Local Governments and Administrations have also accepted these principles, and have endeavoured to give practical effect to them although the varying circumstances of different localities have prevented the adoption of uniformity in their application.

In order to ensure that the wishes of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, of the Government of India and of the Local Government in this respect are carried into effect, all officers who are engaged in the excise administration should be again instructed that these are the principles on which the Department should be administered, and that they must be the foundation of any proposals for the modification and improvement of the existing systems. The Government of India trust that the Local Governments will also recognize the necessity of increased vigilance in watching the practice of their executive officers, and of introducing from time to time such reforms of the excise system as experience may show to be practicable. (G. I., F. & C., No. 3390, dated 3rd July 1889; vide G. R. No. 5179, dated 19th idem.)

9. The Secretary of State for India fully accepts the general principles stated in the following paragraph of the letter from the Government of India, No. 29, dated 4th February 1890, as those which should guide the Local Governments and their revenue officers in administering excise affairs, and considers that, save under very exceptional circumstances and in strictly limited areas the central distillery system of excise management should be preferred to the farming system or the outstill system. The former system provides that all licit spirit shall pay a still-head duty per gallon proportionate to its alcoholic strength, whereas the other two systems permit, if they do not stimulate, the production and sale of large quantities of comparatively cheap spirit, even when effort is made to limit the capacity of stills, and to prescribe a minimum retail price:—

“103. Looking to all the conditions of the very difficult problem with which we have to deal, we have after careful consideration arrived at the conclusion that the only general principles which it is expedient or even safe to adopt are the following:—

(1) that the taxation of spirits and intoxicating liquors and drugs should be high and in some cases as high as it is possible to enforce;

(2) that the traffic in liquor and drugs should be conducted under suitable regulations for police purposes;

(3) that the number of places at which liquor or drugs can be purchased should be strictly limited with regard to the circumstances of each locality; and

(4) that efforts should be made to ascertain the existence of local public sentiment and that a reasonable amount of deference should be paid to such opinion when ascertained.

These are the principles which have been laid down for the guidance of local authorities by the Government of India in the past, with the single exception that the arrangements for ascertaining public sentiment were imperfect and not authoritatively imposed.”

(S. of S. No. 25 Rev., dated 27th March 1890; vide G. R. No. 3403, dated 16th May 1890.)

10. The evils of the outstill system can be greatly mitigated by—

(a) the careful limitation of the number of licensed liquor shops;

(b) the restriction placed on the capacity and working of licensed stills;

(c) the enforcement of a minimum price below which liquor must not be sold.

The past history of excise administration in Bengal, the North-West Provinces, and the Central Provinces affords ground for the opinion that the outstill system was introduced or re-introduced into parts of those provinces because the central distillery system had, as then worked, promoted the illicit manufacture and consumption of liquor. But the experience of Madras and Bombay, where much attention has been successfully given to excise matters, shows that the central distillery can be worked so as to keep down consumption and at the same time to enhance the revenue from and the price of liquor. (S. of S. No. 38 (Rev.), dated 28th March 1889; vide G. R. No. 3666, dated 18th May 1889).

III.—DUTIES AND POWERS OF OFFICERS.

1. The control in all ábkári matters in the Presidency Proper is vested in the Commissioner of Customs, Opium and Ábkári* and in such matters the Collectors are under the orders of the Commissioner of Customs, Opium and Ábkári, and not of the Commissioners of Divisions, who no longer possess or are authorized to exercise any powers in those matters, and Government will not sanction any interference on the part of Commissioners of Divisions with the authority in respect of all questions relating to ábkári and opium conferred upon the Commissioner of Customs, Opium and Ábkári. (G. R. No. 2703, dated 26th April 1882.)

2. The Collectors are under the Commissioner of Ábkári in regard to all ábkári matters and communicate with Government through him. (G. R. No. 5212, dated 4th August 1882.)

3. The Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Ábkári does not exercise any control, executive or account, over Collectors in the matter of tree-tax collections. The accounts do not pass through his office. The whole business is that of the Collector's regular establishment and is under the control of the Collector, the Divisional Commissioner and the Accountant General, and the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Ábkári should not interfere except by way of advice. The monthly returns for showing the progress of ábkári revenue and operations in each district submitted by the Collectors to the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Ábkári are prepared by the Huzúr Deputy Collectors and are furnished to the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Ábkári for statistical and administrative purposes, to show him the progress of tree-tapping, consumption of liquor and revenue realization in each district. He should call the attention of the Huzúr Deputy Collector, or Collector, to any abnormal

*By Government Notification, Political Department, No. 7480, dated 18th December 1886, the Political Resident, Aden, has been appointed to be a Commissioner for the purposes of the Bombay Ábkári Act in the Island of Perim; and by Government Notification No. 7481 of the same date the Assistant Political Resident, Perim, has been appointed to exercise in the Island of Perim all the powers and perform all the duties conferred and imposed by the Ábkári Act on a Collector.

Government Resolution, Political Department, No. 7465, dated 11th November 1889, instructed the Political Agent to enforce such of the provisions of the Ábkári and Opium Acts and Rules as could be enforced without hardship in a somewhat primitive state of society.

outstanding balances observable, and ask the reason why they are outstanding, in connexion with possible undue pressure of rate of taxation or other administrative arrangements. He has neither responsibility nor control in the matter of collections made by the Collector's revenue establishments. (G. R. No. 382, dated 16th January 1891.)

4. The duty of selecting the holders of ábkári farms from amongst the candidates who are willing to take them on the terms specified, is entrusted by Government to the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bkári. (G. R. No. 4229, dated 16th June 1890.)

5. Officers entrusted with the disposal of liquor contracts will be held liable for the loss sustained by Government in consequence of their proceedings. (G. R. No. 1642, dated 24th April 1862.)

6. It is not considered desirable that the Military authorities in cantonments should be entrusted with the administration of the A'bkári Department within cantonment limits. In respect, however, of such matters as the location of shops and any increase or decrease in the number of spirit shops in a cantonment, the Collector acting under the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bkári should consult the Cantonment Committee or Magistrate. If the views of the Collector and the Cantonment Committee do not agree, the question can be referred to Government for decision. (G. R. No. 7347, dated 10th September 1885.)

7. Government desire that Assistant and Deputy Collectors should take an active interest in the work of the Ábkári Department in the talukas under their charge, keeping themselves informed of the work done by the Inspectors or their subordinate establishment. (G. R. No. 1600, dated 8th March 1888.)

8. More general interest in ábkári matters on the part of the Assistant and Deputy Collectors in charge of sub-divisions, is much to be desired. There is no branch of the administration which has a stronger claim on the interest and assistance of the District and Police officers than ábkári, not less in view of its fiscal importance, which is great, than of its intimate connection with the moral and material welfare of the people. (G. R. No. 4521, dated 23rd June 1893.)

9. The Commissioner of Ábkári may delegate to Collectors, under Sections 6 and 8 of the A'bkári Act, authority to assign such duties as they may think fit under the Act to the officers of the A'bkári Department. (G. R. No. 4422, dated 23rd August 1879.)

10. Collectors are authorized to sanction refunds of over-collections made and credited to "Excise" to the extent of Rs. 100 in each case. (G. R. No. 8543, dated 10th December 1891.)

11. The 2nd paragraph of Section 6 of the A'Ākārī Act, 1878, provides that Government, or subject to such orders as may from time to time be passed by Government in that behalf, the Commissioner may invest any Government officer or any other person with such powers and impose upon him such duties under this Act as he may deem fit. There is no objection, therefore, to the investiture of Municipal officers who are not Government officers with powers under Section 37, and, by consequence, with authority to exercise powers under Section 15 of the Opium Act, 1878. (L. R. No. 620, dated 25th May 1881; vide G. R. No. 3156, dated 2nd June 1881.)

12. The latter part of paragraph 2, Section 6, of the A'Ākārī Act renders it obligatory on Government officers to exercise any powers and discharge any duties conferred or imposed upon them under the Act, and they are punishable by the Commissioner under Section 7 for neglect of their duty or carelessness, &c., but neither of these provisions applies to "other persons" upon whom such powers are conferred or such duties imposed. Municipal executive officers may therefore, it seems, ignore with impunity Government Notification No. 6700,* dated 27th September 1882 (which invests them with powers under Section 37 of the A'Ākārī Act, 1878, in addition to the powers and duties incident to their respective principal offices), and it is unnecessary to alter it in order to relieve them of responsibility. (L. R. No. 161, dated 6th February 1883; vide G. R. No. 1557, dated 24th idem.)

13. The Commissioner of Customs, Opium and A'Ākārī is authorized under Section 6, clause 2, of the A'Ākārī Act to appoint such employes of liquor farmers as he deems necessary to be ābkārī officers. (G. R. No. 2805, dated 28th April 1882.)

14. It is inexpedient to invest with power under Section 36 of the A'Ākārī Act private persons in the employ of an ābkārī contractor. (G. R. No. 782, dated 29th January 1883.)

15. No doubt Collectors, as defined by the A'Ākārī Act, are the only persons who can exercise power under Section 55, in virtue of their office, but, 'subject to such orders as may from time to time be passed by Government,' the Commissioner has power, under paragraph 2 of Section 6 to confer any power or impose any duty under the Act upon any Government officer in any department. No power or duty is excepted from this authority, and it is competent to the Commissioner under it to confer the power of a Collector under Section 55 on any Government officer. (L. R. No. 384, dated 10th March 1884; vide G. R. No. 2586, dated 25th idem.)

IV.—ESTABLISHMENTS.

1. It is sufficient to report to the Government of India changes made in the petty establishments of the A'bkári Department in quarterly statements. (G. I., F. & C., No. 5767, dated 31st October 1887; vide G. R. No. 7860, dated 17th November 1887.)*

4. The Local Government is authorized to sanction the payment of extra remuneration to the establishments employed at the distilleries in the Bombay Presidency for supervising the distillation of spirit beyond office hours, on the condition that the extra remuneration paid to the establishments will be recovered from the liquor farmers concerned. (G. I., F. & C., No. 3964, dated 10th November 1885—vide G. R. No. 9608, dated 28th idem.)

5. The following rules have been laid down for the guidance of Collectors in the matter of regulating the payment of extra remuneration to distillery establishments for supervising the distillation of spirit on Sundays and holidays or beyond office hours:—

1. The Collector may, on the application of the farmer, allow the manufacture of spirit to be carried on in a distillery, for a specified period, on Sundays and holidays, and after sunset and before sunrise on working days, subject to the following conditions:

(1) That the distillery shall not be worked continuously for a period exceeding 144 hours, and there shall be an interval of complete cessation of work for 24 hours after every 144 hours of continuous work.

(2) That the farmer shall make suitable arrangements, to be approved by the Collector, for lighting the distillery while being worked at night time.

(3) That the farmer shall undertake to pay through the Collector extra remuneration to the distillery establishment in accordance with the following scale:—

For extra night work.

(G. Rs. Nos. 6882, dated 29th September 1886, and 5763, dated 22nd August 1891.)

6. It is not desirable that persons serving as A'bkári Inspectors should be Government nominees on Táluka Local Boards, as it is probably expedient that these officers should devote their entire time and attention to their own proper duties. (G. R. No. 1957, dated 7th March 1885.)

7. A'bkári Inspectors should not be subordinate to Mámlátdárs in matters of excise administration. (G. R. No. 1600, dated 8th March 1888.)

8. The A'bkári Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors should be placed in charge of ranges corresponding to the divisional charge of the Assistant or Deputy Collector, care being taken that the A'bkári officers are not under more than one superior Land Revenue officer. They are to submit their diaries and other reports to the Collector through the Divisional Officer, who is to closely scrutinize and test them and to bring to notice breaches of law and rules or any irregularities or carelessness, and to aid and advise the A'bkári officers as occasion may require. Mere account papers will go to the Huẓúr Deputy Collector direct. Quarterly reports on the character and qualifications of the A'bkári subordinates are to be submitted by the Assistant and Deputy Collectors, and these latter are to consider themselves equally responsible with reference to all ábkári matters in their charges as in Land Revenue affairs; while they should also from time to time visit the various liquor shops for purposes of inspection. (G. R. No. 8059, dated 23rd October 1889.)

9. For the examination of A'bkári Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors printed papers should be issued as in the Revenue and Registration Departments, with separate answer sheets. The questions and answers should be prepared by the Commissioner of A'bkári, the assessment of the marks to be assigned to the replies given by the candidates being left to the local committees. Inspectors should be required to obtain at least 50 per cent. in each paper and 60 per cent. of the total marks, and Sub-Inspectors 40 per cent. in each paper and 50 per cent. of the whole, to be regarded as having passed the examination. (G. R. No. 7978, dated 21st October 1889.)

10. Native officers employed in the A'bkári Department in the Bombay Presidency receiving salaries of Rs. 150 and upwards should be officially addressed as "Ráo Sáheb" or "Khán Sáheb". (G. I., For. Dept., No. 2383—I, dated 18th July 1885; vide G. R. No. 6225, dated 31st idem.)

11. As it is necessary that officers newly appointed to the A'bkári Department should be able to test and gauge liquor before they enter upon their duties, they may be posted, upon their first appointment, to one or the other of the distilleries in Bombay or the Mofussil according as the system of accounts, &c., to be studied is in accord with that obtaining in the districts to which they may have been appointed. The maximum period for the duration of the course of training should be fifteen days. (G. R. No. 4890, dated 15th July 1890.)

12. The distinction between the "Ábkári Police" and the "Extra Police," under which heads the A'bkári Preventive Establishment was classed, is abolished. The A'bkári Police should be enrolled under the Bombay District Police Act, being made subject to the same deductions for pension and clothing as the Extra Police and other men of the regular District Police. The pay of the whole force should be debited, and the whole of the contributions received from the ábkári contractors towards the cost of these establishments should be credited to the "Police."

All members of the A'bkári Preventive Establishments are admitted to the special Police Pension Rules. (G. I., F. & C., No. 754, dated 9th May 1885; vide G. R. No. 4519, dated 5th June 1885; also G. Rs. Nos. 8083, dated 5th October 1885, and 655, dated 26th January 1886.)

13. The Police employed on ábkári duties should remain subordinate to the Superintendent of Police in matters of discipline, pay, promotion, leave, and the like, but they should receive their pay through the Inspectors under whom they may be serving, and they should submit all their applications for leave, &c., through the same officers. The Inspectors should correspond directly with the Superintendent of Police about the conduct, pay, leave, &c., of the policemen serving under them.

A'BKÁRI.]

In all matters relating to Police, the Inspectors will be subject to the orders and control of the Superintendent of Police. It is important that the policemen deputed on ábkári duty under the A'bkári Inspectors, should be made to understand that they are to serve under the immediate orders of the A'bkári Inspectors and not under the orders of the Táluka Police Officers. The Superintendent of Police should also arrange for the periodical relief of Constables and Head Constables employed on ábkári duties, and to consider favourably recommendations made by the Inspectors for the transfer of policemen whom they may find not well suited for ábkári work. The Inspectors should report policemen to the Superintendent of Police whenever they consider punishment called for. (G. R. No. 4519, dated 5th June 1885.)

14. In view of the unpopularity in the police force of employment on ábkári duties, the special grant of hutting money to such of the A'bkári Police as cannot be provided with free quarters in distilleries, Police lines or elsewhere, is advantageous, and His Excellency the Governor in Council is accordingly pleased to direct that hutting money should be granted to the men referred to in the correspondence disposed of by Government Resolution No. 1164, dated 16th February 1892, at the rate of 8 annas per head mensem. The savárs employed on ábkári duty in the Khándesh District should be allowed hutting money at the rate of Re. 1 per mensem.

The ábkári peons at the Presidency Town, who are not provided with Government quarters, should be granted hutting money at the rate of Re. 1 per head per mensem.

It should be understood that the cost involved by the grant of hutting money should be gradually recovered, as licenses fall in and new contracts are made, from the farmers. The Commissioner of A'bkári should, therefore, take this charge into consideration in fixing the value of the farms. (G. Rs. Nos. 1164, dated 15th February 1892, 6792, dated 23rd August 1892, and 1890, dated 15th October 1892.)

15. The 35 orderlies and detectives employed on ábkári duty in the Khándesh District, who are not provided with Government quarters, should be granted hutting money at the rate of 8 annas per inan per month. (G. R. No. 2785, dated 20th April 1893.)

16. As a contribution towards the cost of establishment and contingencies, a fee of 6 pies per gallon should be recovered from the Uran distillers on all liquor removed from each distillery. (G. R. No. 2184, dated 14th April 1881.)

17. The Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium, and A'bkári is authorized to fix from time to time the amount of contribution on account of establishment charges payable by ábkári farmers. (G. R. No. 1277, dated 18th February 1890.)

18. The Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'ĀkĀ'ri is authorized to sanction charges on account of temporary excise establishments, which are covered by contributions recoverable under contract. On occasions when farms have temporarily to be conducted departmentally, owing to the inability of the new farmer to begin his contract immediately on the expiry of the old farm, the Commissioner is also authorized to sanction the charges on account of the temporary establishment required to be employed, the expenditure being indirectly met from the collections. (G. R., F. D., No. 3922, dated 5th December 1884, and G. R. No. 2218, dated 26th March 1891.)

19. As regards the question of the status of the A'ĀkĀ'ri establishments, the cost of which is partly or wholly recovered from farmers, the Governor in Council does not think it desirable as a matter of principle that any A'ĀkĀ'ri establishments entertained by Government should be treated as foreign. Nothing should be done that may tend to make the employes feel that they are employed and paid by any one but Government. All the A'ĀkĀ'ri establishments are employed primarily for the protection of Government revenue and they should, therefore, be viewed as entertained in the interests of Government, and should not be considered to be in foreign service, a lump sum out of the cost being payable by the contractors, and the establishment entertained by the A'ĀkĀ'ri Commissioner under the authority of Government Resolution, Financial Department, No. 3922, dated 5th December 1884, being treated as temporary. (G. R. No. 4954, dated 13th June 1892).

V.—IMPORT, EXPORT AND TRANSPORT.

1. The bringing into British territory of liquor from any Native State, whether within the territorial limits of the Bombay Presidency or not, is import as defined in Section 3, clause 10, of the A'ĀkĀ'ri Act, V of 1878, and such import is prohibited under Section 9 of the Act. Any relaxation of the law on this point is quite unnecessary, but as regards import of liquor from States with which Government have entered into agreements and taken over the rights of manufacture and sale of liquor, the Collector may permit the free import of liquor from such States. (G. R. No. 6661, dated 8th November 1881.)

2. By its notification of 11th January 1870, published in the Bombay Government Gazette for 1870, Part I, page 19, Government declared the Gāekwār's territories to be foreign territory for the purposes of Act XI of 1869. This Act has been repealed by the Indian Tariff Act, XI of 1882*, but under Section 2 (2) of the repealing Act the above notification must be deemed to have been issued under Section 5 of it. Consequently liquor imported into British India from Navsāri, which is in the Gāekwār's territories, is liable to the payment of duty under the Indian Tariff Act, and if the prescribed duty has been paid thereon, clause (a) of Section 9 of the A'Ħkari Act applies, and no obstacle can legally be placed on its import. Clause (b) and clause (c) of Section 9 of the A'Ħkari Act do not appear to apply to liquor so imported. (L. R. No. 175, dated 23rd October 1891; vide G. R. No. 8056, dated 11th October 1892.)

3. Whenever duty is lawfully levied at a customs port on spirit imported from another port or brought in bond, that duty must be of the nature of customs duty and not excise. It was not intended that the Customs officer should collect the excise, but the object of the Legislature seems to be that one or other duty, customs or excise, but not both, should be levied.

Clause (a) of Section 9 of the A'Ħkari Act is intended to carry out this object by excepting from ħkari rates liquor or intoxicating drugs on which payment under the Indian Tariff Act or other law in force relating to the duties of customs on goods imported into British India, has been made.

In the same manner, in the Indian Opium Act, 1878, opium is exempted from excise duty on which duty of customs has been levied.

If the law were uniform throughout British India, no spirit would be removeable from a distillery until excise duty had been paid thereon or a bond for such duty executed. But while there is no provision of this kind in the Bombay A'Ħkari Act, 1878, there is in the Excise Act, 1881, at Section 7.

4. The ħkari law in force in this Presidency does not provide for the importation into the Presidency of spirits of Indian manufacture without payment of the excise duty: on the contrary the provisions of the law and the policy of the ħkari administration in the Presidency require the payment of the duty immediately on importation. (G. R. No. 4533, dated 15th June 1883.)

5. The importation into the Bombay Presidency of spirits and spirits of wine from the Rosa Distillery, Shāhchānpur, is permitted under the following conditions:—The duty payable should be fixed at the Sea-Customs Tariff rate in force for the time being. Importation should be allowed only on permits granted by the Collector of Bombay and on prepayments of duty. The duty payable should be paid to the Collector of Bombay before the spirits or spirits of wine are removed from the Rosa Distillery. (G. Rs. Nos. 4423, dated 29th July 1881, and 5374, dated 16th September 1881.)

6. Spirits as well as porter and beer of Indian manufacture intended for the use of Departments of Government should be required to pay the usual duty in the first instance, and a refund granted on the quantity actually delivered on production of a certificate signed by the head of the department for which the liquor is intended. (G. Rs. Nos. 8540, dated 6th December 1882, and 1079, dated 8th February 1883).

7. The provisions of Government Resolutions Nos. 4423, dated 29th July 1881, and 8540, dated 6th December 1882, are applicable to liquor manufactured at Sháhjehánpur as well as to that manufactured at other places and imported in fulfilment of a Government contract. Where the importations are by sea, a wastage and dryage allowance of 25 per cent. should be added to the scale sanctioned in Government Resolution No. 2895, dated 5th April 1884. These rules do not apply to liquor imported by sea under bond. Such importations should be treated in the ordinary way. (G. R. No. 503, dated 23rd January 1888).

8. Wastage may be allowed on Sháhjehánpur rum imported into Bombay for Government Departments according to the following scale. The wastage allowance fixed in the scale should be the maximum rate and be given only on the condition that there are no grounds for suspecting that there has been fraud.

Scale of store wastage (per cent. per annum).

|-------------|-----|-----|---|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Rum in vats | ... | ... | 4 | In vats containing over 3,000 gallons, 2 per cent. only should be allowed. |
|-------------|-----|-----|---|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|

|                         |     |    |

| Rum in butts (or pipes) | ... | 10 |
|-------------------------|-----|----|

|                          |     |    |
|--------------------------|-----|----|
| Rum hogsheads (or casks) | ... | 10 |
|--------------------------|-----|----|

Scale of wastage on consignments sent from one station to another (and not issued en route).

|        |     |     |    |                      |
|--------|-----|-----|----|----------------------|
| Spirit | ... | ... | 25 | per cent. per annum. |
|--------|-----|-----|----|----------------------|

By rail—

|        |     |     |               |                          |
|--------|-----|-----|---------------|--------------------------|
|--------|-----|-----|---------------|--------------------------|

It was thought that the question of ullage and wastage would not arise in connection with consignments other than those for Government Departments until a bonded warehouse was established, but it is not intended that, if the question did arise, the allowance for wastage and ullage should be refused in the case of private consignments.

(G. I., F. & C., No. 1208, dated 29th February 1884; vide G. R. No. 2895, dated 5th April 1884. And G. I., F. & C., No. 2913, dated 2nd September 1886; vide G. R. No. 6587, dated 17th idem.)

9. Although there can be little doubt that country vinegar, which invariably contains more or less alcohol, is technically spirit under the definition in Section 3 (7) of the A'bkári Act, it is neither necessary nor expedient to adopt with respect to it the precautions observed in the case of liquors ordinarily used as beverages. The fact that toddy containing the same amount of alcohol is not dearer than vinegar, makes it improbable in the highest degree that any one would either import or purchase after importation vinegar with the object of distilling inferior spirit from it.

A'EKARÍ.]

The risk of loss to the revenue from vinegar being drunk as an exhilarant is so remote and insignificant that it may be properly disregarded until evidence is forthcoming that the revenue actually suffers from the practice. At present there is no such evidence. On the other hand, it is highly undesirable to interfere unnecessarily with the trade in vinegar for legitimate uses.

For these reasons it is unnecessary to test consignments of vinegar imported into Bombay by sea or by rail for alcohol by the distillation process, and it is sufficient to examine them by test, smell and by watching the action of the liquid on an alkali. If it is established by these tests that the liquid is undoubtedly vinegar, it should be passed as such without further exceptional treatment under the A'bkári Act.

(G. R. No. 9127, dated 19th November 1892.)

10. Under Section 10 of Bombay Act V of 1878, the Collector of Ahmednagar can authorize the export of imported foreign liquor into the Nizám's territory. No fee or duty should be levied on liquor so exported. (G. R. No. 4628, dated 3rd September 1880.)

11. The words "import" and "export" in Bombay Act V of 1878 (as defined in Section 3 (10)) respectively apply only to the conveying into or out of any part of the Presidency of Bombay from or to any other part of India than the Presidency of Bombay.

Perim as well as Aden being a part of the Presidency of Bombay (vide Notification No. 430-E. of the Government of India, Foreign Department, dated 13th February 1884, and 10 B. I. L. R., 261) a conveying from the one to the other would be a "transport" under Section 12 of Bombay V of 1878, and not an import or export under Section 3 (10).

Section 9 of Bombay Act V of 1878 would not, therefore, apply to such "transport".

Section 43 of Act VIII of 1878 only applies to goods exported from one Customs Port to another and then re-exported to a Foreign Port. Aden is a Foreign Port; vide Section 3 of Act VIII of 1878 (c). Section 43 would not, therefore, apply to goods sent from Aden to Perim.

If a notification under Section 11 declaring Perim a port has been issued, then Section 20 and Section 42 might apply to Perim, but Section 43 would not apply to goods imported at Perim from Aden.

Under Section 12 of Bombay Act V of 1878 no permit may be necessary for the transport of foreign liquor bona fide for private consumption or licensed sale.

But under Section 35 of the same Act it is within the powers of the Commissioner to frame rules, if necessary, "for placing the transport of liquor under such supervision as may be deemed necessary for the purposes of the Act."

The Resident at Aden being himself the Commissioner, would be perfectly competent to issue a rule that all liquor received at Perim or Aden as transported from the one to the other, should be accompanied by a certificate to that effect.

It would then be impossible that liquor which had escaped duty at one port as for re-exportation should be exempted under the A'bkári Act at the other as "transported".

12. The Abkári Commissioner and the Collectors should see that due facilities are afforded to licensed dealers in and consumers of toddy in the matter of obtaining transport permits. It is unnecessary to insist on written applications being made by persons requiring transport permits for raw toddy to the officers authorized to issue such permits; it will suffice if permits covering the transport of raw toddy are issued on verbal applications. All such applications and their disposal should be registered in books to be kept for the purpose by the officers to whom the duty of issuing the permits is entrusted. The Commissioner of Abkári should prescribe the necessary forms and rules for the guidance of issuing officers and should arrange to supply them with the requisite registers.

These orders are applicable to all districts in the Presidency Proper.

VI.—SALE.

1. Liquor should on no account be allowed to be sold on trust. (G. R. No. 3974, dated 31st October 1860.)

2. The Commissioner of Ābkāri, Aden, is authorized under Section 16 of Act V of 1878 to grant passes to merchants at Aden to sell liquor not manufactured in India in its original casks or packages, free of license fee. (G. R. No. 676, dated 7th February 1880.)

3. The following rules have been compiled for the use of District Officers for the purpose of testing country liquor sold in retail shops :—

[Syke's Hydrometer is a brass instrument with a stem on which are marked the figures 1, 2 to 10; the spaces between the figures being divided into five parts of two decimals each. There are also weights marked 10, 20, 30 and so on to 90. These are to be fitted on the lower part of the hydrometer. This instrument is accompanied by a thermometer and a book without which it cannot be used. There are many kinds of small cheap hydrometers without any book; spirit cannot be accurately tested with these.]

(1) Take a sample of the spirit in a tall glass and at once immerse the thermometer in it for a few seconds and note to what figure the mercury in the thermometer rises. Then take the book and turn over to the page at the head of which that figure stands.

(2) Take the hydrometer and fit one of the weights. The weight numbered 60 will be the one most ordinarily required; but if it should cause the hydrometer to sink altogether into the liquid, then a lighter one (50 or 40) must be tried. On the other hand, if the hydrometer floats so high that the figure 10 on the stem is above the surface of the spirit, then a heavier weight must be put on. When the hydrometer is floating steadily, then note exactly to what figure on the stem the spirit rises and add this to the number of the weight. Suppose, for instance, the weight used was 60 and the hydrometer sinks to 7.4, then write down 67.4.

(3) Take the book and on the page at which you opened it, as directed in Rule (1), find out the figure you have obtained from the hydrometer. Opposite this you will find the strength of the spirit. For instance, if the thermometer figure was 82, and the hydrometer figure 67.4, then the strength of the spirit will be 23.2 under proof.

[A'BKÁ'RI.]

(4) Spirit is often sweetened with sugar to make it seem weaker than it really is. This can be detected by evaporating a small quantity of it in a saucer or any white porcelain dish over a lamp. The thick dark residue of burnt sugar cannot be mistaken.

(5) In using the small glass hydrometer set for a temperature of 83°, thermometer should also be used with the table prepared for this purpose by the Chemical Analyser and circulated to all Ábkári Inspectors.

(G. R. No. 5383, dated 12th October 1880.)

4. There is no objection to the sale by holders of licenses to sell European spirits or spirit of Indian manufacture on which duty at the Tariff rate has been paid. (G. R. No. 8251, dated 25th November 1882.)

5. The operation in Sind of the rule prohibiting the sale of foreign spirit of less strength than 15° under proof, which has been introduced into that Province and the Presidency Proper, except the city of Bombay, cannot be entirely abrogated; but the Commissioner in Sind is authorized to relax the operation of the rule when such a course appears to him to be advisable in special cases. (G. Rs. Nos. 1711, dated 2nd March 1889, and 2751, dated 23rd April 1890, and 5895, dated 20th August 1890.)

17 of the Bombay Ábkári Act, 1878, and in supersession of the notifications marginally noted, the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that the maximum quantity of toddy which may be sold by retail at one time, or to one and the same person, in the aggregate on any one day in any taluka or mahál of the districts of Thána, Kolába, Ratnágiri and Kánara shall be four Imperial gallons.

This notification shall take effect from 1st August 1891.

VII.—LIQUOR SHOPS.

1. Government will not alter the general rule by which liquor shops are to be shut at sunset. But Collectors may, subject to the control of the Commissioner, allow at their discretion shops to be kept open till lamp-lighting time, or even till 8 P. M., if local circumstances render such extension advisable. (G. R. No. 765, dated 24th February 1860).

2. Liquor shops generally may be kept open in Gujarát during the Holi and Mohorram festivals, but the Collectors should use their discretion and direct the closing of such particular shops as they may think it desirable to keep closed on those occasions. (G. R. No. 3647, dated 6th June 1882).

3. It is not necessary that all the retail liquor shops in Bombay should be closed at 9 P. M. Fifty shops may be allowed to remain open till 11 P. M. The Commissioner of A'bkári should decide, in consultation with the Collector of Bombay and the Commissioner of Police, what shops in what localities should be permitted to be kept open up to 11 P. M., the total number being limited to 50, 10 of which should be for the sale of European spirits and the remainder for the sale of country liquor. (G. Rs. Nos. 4796, dated 13th June 1884, and 4844, dated 16th idem.)

4. Under Section 35, clause (b), of the A'bkári Act it is only the Commissioner who is authorized to determine the number of liquor shops in any area within his charge. (G. R. No. 3310, dated 23rd April 1885.)

5. It is a harsh measure to insist on opening bottles of liquor for examination if there is no suspicion or charge against the owner of illicit dealing. It is, however, not intended that the occasional opening of bottles exposed for sale in licensed shops for the purpose of ascertaining whether the spirit placed on sale comes up to the strength prescribed by the licenses should be prohibited. The wishes of Government in the matter will be carried out if such examinations are conducted with discretion and so as not to cause unnecessary loss to dealers.

A' BKA' RI.]

As the licensees sell spirits only in full corked bottles, the opening of a bottle by an Inspector when examining the spirit, the removal of the capsule and the extraction of the cork, must to a certain extent diminish the selling value of the bottle so opened by causing it to be regarded with some suspicion by any intending purchaser. If the spirit is found to be of the proper strength as asserted by the licensee it would be hard on him that he should lose part of the value of the goods for no fault of his, but merely to satisfy the Inspector that the liquor was of the correct strength. To obviate any possibility of loss being thus caused to the licensee it is ruled that when the liquor contained in a bottle opened for the purpose of examination is found to conform to the conditions of the license, the licensee should be compensated for the depreciation in its selling value by being paid a sum equal to one-fourth of the value of the bottle of spirit opened, the charge being defrayed by Government.

When it is necessary to test liquors, a suitable officer of excise should visit the dealers' premises and make the requisite inquiries without giving any needless cause of complaint.

(G. Rs. Nos. 8618, dated 1st November 1884, and 217, dated 10th January 1885.)

6. (1) It shall be the duty of the Mámlatdár and Chief Constable of every táluka and the Mahálkari in charge of a Petha Division to visit as frequently as possible the shops licensed in the táluka for the sale of Europe liquors, country spirit and toddy.

(2) They shall visit the shops without any previous notice being given of their intention to do so.

(3) They shall on visiting each shop—

(1) take stock of the liquor therein and compare it with the book balances;

(2) test the strength of the liquor by means of a hydrometer to satisfy themselves that it is of the strength specified in the license;

(3) examine and test the measures used in selling liquor;

(4) examine the shop accounts and permits, and enquire whether the prices charged for liquor sold by the shop-keeper are within the maxima prices prescribed in the license;

(5) make such further enquiries as may be necessary to satisfy themselves that all the conditions of the license have been duly observed.

(4) They shall enter the date of examination in, and shall sign, the "visit book" supplied to each shop by the Collector.

(5) They shall accost at random any person purchasing liquor from a licensed shop, ascertain from him the price he paid for it, and measure and test the liquor.

(6) Each Mámlatdár and Chief Constable shall submit a report every six months to the Assistant Collector, stating the number of shops he has examined, and the result of such examination. If there is anything worth reporting at the time of any visit, a special report shall be made immediately after the visit.

(7) The "visit books" of all shops in the táluka shall be sent by the Mámlatdár to the Assistant Collector at the end of the year.

(G. Rs. Nos. 6664, dated 17th August 1885, and 4340, dated 11th July 1887.)

7. The amount of additional labour which the performance of the duty of inspecting liquor shops periodically will throw upon Mámlatdárs, Mahálkaris and Chief Constables will be inconsiderable, and in the interests of Government it is desirable that these inspections should be made by the officers in question in addition to, and as a check on, the examination performed by the officials of the A'b-kári Department. (G. R. No. 5383, dated 12th October 1880.)

8. It is not expedient to consult Municipalities and Local Boards regarding the licensing and location of spirit shops within their respective areas. All that is needed is that each Collector should, when considering the question of the establishment of a new, or the transfer of an existing, shop in his district, follow the procedure described by the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium, and A'b-kári in the following extracts from his letter No. 4440, dated 3rd August 1889:—

"So far as liquor shops in places other than Municipal districts are concerned, it hardly seems necessary to make any change in the existing procedure, which has been described in Mr. Trevor's Report No. 1085, dated 1st March last. No formal instructions have, it is true, been issued, but the practice is well understood in every district, and each Collector, knowing that his recommendation is closely scrutinized by the A'b-kári Commissioner, is careful not to recommend the opening of new shops, unless he can show good reasons for so doing. My own practice as Collector, and I have no doubt that a similar one is followed by other Collectors, was first carefully to consider the representation made by the A'b-kári farmer in all its bearings (he as a rule is the applicant for opening a new shop) such as the proximity of other shops in the district, the distance of the village from neighbouring foreign territory where liquor is easily procurable, the chances whether if a shop were not opened the people could or would resort to illicit distillation or smuggling. I then ascertained the population of the village, the castes of the villagers, their general character as to drinking proclivities and crime, and I finally used to ask the opinions of the village people themselves as to whether they wanted a shop opened there. Whenever I found that the people themselves opposed it, or that they were as a rule people whom facilities to drink would lead to crimes of violence, I invariably refused the permission asked for. If I had any doubts as to the advisability of opening the shop I always consulted the District Superintendent of Police on the matter."

(G. R. No. 8281, dated 30th October 1889.)

A'BA'RI.]

9. The Commissioner of A'bkári should bear in mind the expediency of diminishing the number of liquor shops, wherever diminution may be possible, without the risk of inciting the sale of illicit liquor, especially in the towns where the rate of consumption is high. (G. R. No. 5741, dated 13th July 1892.)

VIII.—SPECIAL PROVISIONS AS TO MHOWRA FLOWERS.

2. The licensee shall reside in his said shop, and shall personally carry on the business thereof. If the licensee shall wish to absent himself from the said shop at any time, or to appoint any other person to officiate for him in carrying on the business of the said shop, he shall first obtain the sanction of the Collector in writing endorsed on the back of this license. The licensee shall be responsible for the acts of every person so appointed to officiate for him in carrying on the business of the said shop and of all his servants.

3. The licensee shall not sell any mhowra flowers after 9 o'clock P.M. or before 6 o'clock A.M.

IX.—DUTIES, TAXES AND FEES.

4. Condensed or concentrated beer is clearly not a liquor and cannot, therefore, be charged with customs import duty like beer imported in a drinkable condition. The proper course to adopt is to bring the article under the operation of the Inland Excise law. Accordingly this condensed beer, when obtained by local manufacture in a state fit for sale as beer suited for immediate consumption, should be dealt with exactly as all other locally produced beer. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 61, dated 14th May 1878; vide G. R. No. 2644, dated 22nd idem.)

5. Liquor imported by the Commissariat Department into Aden for Government use is exempted from import duty. (G. R. No. 1620, dated 24th March 1879.)*

6. Ether should not be subjected to duty under the A'bkári Act at Aden. (G. R. No. 4423, dated 23rd August 1879.)

7. Under Section 23 of the Bombay A'bkári Act, V of 1878, Government are pleased to declare the provisions of the said section applicable to the undermentioned areas in the district of Karáchi†:—

the area contained within the municipal limits of the city of Karáchi,

do. do. the Deh of Malir, táluka Karáchi,

do. do. the municipal limits of the town of

and to authorize the farming of the right to sell toddy drawn from toddy-producing trees within those areas.

(G. R. No. 4412, dated 22nd August 1879.)

8. The A'bkári Act extends to the whole Presidency of Bombay, and Section 20 enacts that "for every toddy-producing tree from which toddy is drawn there shall, if Government so direct, be levied, for any period during which such tree is tapped, such duty as Government from time to time directs." This enactment overrides the provisions of all sanads and kowls and Government Resolutions not saved by the Act, and makes every toddy-producing tree in the Presidency liable to such duty as Government directs. Sections 64, 65 and 66 contain certain provisions in favour of the persons and classes of holders therein specified, and do not affect the sweeping provisions of Section 20. (Adv. Gen. Nos. 116, dated 31st December 1880, and 34, dated 5th August 1881; vide G. Rs. Nos. 354, dated 18th January 1881, and 4750, dated 16th August 1881.)

* By Government Resolution, Military Department, No. 1713, dated 15th September 1892, the system under which British troops at certain stations in the Bombay Presidency have been permitted to make their own arrangements for the supply of malt liquor was extended to Aden. Government Resolution No. 2523, dated 11th April 1893, negatived a proposal to exempt from duty malt liquor imported regimentally for the use of troops at Aden.

† As regards Hyderabad, vide Government Notification No. 1900, dated 6th March 1883, given at p. 433 of the Compilation of General Rules.

9. The previous sanction of Government to any increase of still-head duty or of the tree-tax should be obtained. (G. R. No. 7037, dated 23rd November 1881.)

10. The sanction of Government, which is necessary to legalize measures for the introduction of tree-tax rates, &c., should be obtained before and not after they have been introduced. (G. R. No. 7102, dated 2nd September 1885.)

11. It is a wise policy to raise the tree-tax, but sudden and violent increases would create much dissatisfaction and loud outcry, and it is more politic to enhance the tax gradually, working it by degrees up to the full rate considered necessary to equalize the Government duty on, and the cost of, mhowra liquor and toddy spirit. (G. R. No. 2354, dated 18th March 1884.)

12. The A'ākārī Department should aim at avoiding enhancements, and especially sudden extreme enhancements, of the tree-tax and pay careful attention to the interests in land which are affected by the enhancement of the tax, following as closely as possible the principles laid down by Government in regard to land revenue. (G. R. No. 973, dated 5th February 1886.)

13. The tax on fermented toddy should be a reasonable and even impost on that article such as will neither encourage its abuse on the one hand, nor prohibit its legitimate use on the other. Taxation on distilled spirit, on the other hand, should have regard to the establishment of the same excise duty everywhere on the same alcoholic strength. (G. R. No. 973, dated 5th February 1886.)

14. The Mahārs of Pimpri in the Haveli Tāluka of Poona District are not to be exempted from the payment of tapping fees on trees growing on their service lands. A cash allowance should be granted to the Mahārs equivalent to the amount of the tree-tax due according to the rate now in force and the Mahārs should be required to pay in future the tapping fees for the time being in force. The case of the Dheds of Tithal and other villages in the Bulsār Tāluka, who draw toddy from the trees growing on their service lands for their own use and not for sale, may be similarly treated.

There must be a large number of cases in different parts of the Presidency in which persons holding service ināms were able to tap toddy-producing trees growing on their service lands without license or payment of fee up to the time of the enhancement of the Bombay A'ākārī Act, 1878, and it is manifestly desirable that all these cases should be treated on one and the same principle. Survey occupants of lands on which toddy trees grow, as well as Ināmdārs of all descriptions, were possessed of precisely similar privileges with respect to their toddy trees up to the same time, but all of them have been alike deprived of these privileges by the Act of 1878, which in fact imposes a new tax on unfermented toddy. All applications for special remissions of ábkári taxation should be refused, and in cases in which special consideration is called for, it may be granted in the shape of a cash allowance. (G. R. No. 1826, dated 17th March 1882.)

15. The foregoing order does not authorize the annual payment to the grantees of a sum varying according to the number of trees tapped by them in each year and the rate of tree-tax for the time being in force. The intention was that the cash allowance to be made in each case should be made permanently with reference to the then number of trees tapped by the grantees and the rate of tree-tax then in force. (G. R. No. 3426, dated 3rd May 1883.)

16. The Mahárs of Avlas and Pimpri should in accordance with the principle laid down in the above orders be granted a fixed cash allowance of Rs. 15 and Rs. 8, respectively. (G. Rs. No. 5357, dated 19th July 1883, and No. 4394, dated 2nd June 1884.)

17. Káliparaj occupants, inhabiting the south-east tracts of the Surat District, should be granted the concession of tapping toddy trees on their own land on payment of a nominal fee. Care should be taken that the people to whom this concession is made actually consume the toddy and do not sell it, and that it is not appropriated by their creditors. The concession should be regulated by the following rules :—

(1) Tapping licenses for date trees at the nominal rate of 2 annas* per tree may be granted in the tálukas of Chikhli, Bulsár and Párdi to persons of the following classes :—Dublas, Chodharas, Náikas, Dhondias, Kotwálias, Gamets, Kolis, Bhaváds, Dheds, provided they are Khatedárs or Halis of Khatedárs; provided also that the trees are growing on their own land in the former case, or on their employer's land in the latter case, whatever the caste of the employer.

(2) The privilege is to be allowed to the extent at any one time of half tree per adult member of the applicant's family. Provided that the number of trees allowed within the year to each family shall not exceed ten (10) as a maximum.

Note.—For the purposes of this rule the Commissioner of Ábkári should define the age of an adult, for the guidance of the local officers.

(3) A tapping license on the above terms may be granted by the Mámlatdár on the direct application of the applicant if accompanied by a certificate by the Pátel and Taláti that the case comes within these rules, that the trees are growing on his or his employer's land, as the case may be, and that they have been duly marked and numbered. If no such certificate is presented with the application, the Mámílatdár should call for a report.

* It was decided in Government Resolution No. 4398, dated 23rd June 1890, that the distinction between Káliparaj and other tree owners should be abolished gradually by levelling up the tree-tax. The Káliparaj rate has accordingly been gradually raised to 10 annas per tree (vide Government Resolutions Nos. 4497, dated 22nd June 1893, and 4838, dated 5th June 1894).

(4) Trees tapped under these rules are to be for the domestic use of the holder only. If any holder sells toddy or otherwise transfers the privilege, the pass may be summarily cancelled.

(5) Licenses to sell at the tree foot to be no longer issued, and no sale allowed except in shops which have paid the special shop-fee.

(6) The Mámílatdárs to keep in a separate file of all passes issued under these rules and to forward copies to the Taláti concerned and to the Abkári Inspector.

(7) The village officers are to be held specially responsible that no pass is taken out under these rules, except by persons entitled to them, and that the benefit of them is bona fide enjoyed by the same. The Mámílatdár and his establishment on tour are expected to ascertain that the rules are in no way abused.

(8) A tapping license under these rules may be refused or cancelled by the Collector for reasons recorded.

18. In cases in which payments on account of tree-tax cannot be conveniently made by the licensees direct into Government Treasuries, the tree-tax should be collected by the village officers. (G. R. No. 2091, dated 12th March 1885.)

19. No collections on account of bud-dene should be made in the Thána and Kolába Districts.

Trees which have been relinquished by their occupants have reverted to Government, and it is not expedient to revive the interests in the trees of the ex-occupants in cases where the trees stood on land not held by them. Such trees when relinquished by the original holders should be handed over to and registered in the name of the occupant of the land on which they stand and treated in precisely the same manner as other trees already vested in the occupant.

Trees not held by any person standing in waste or forest lands should be let at the market rate, which can be decided by the Collector in each instance where circumstances do not admit of a public auction. Where there is a monopoly for tapping trees for toddy, the market rate should be introduced, but where, as in Bassein and Sálsette, there is no such monopoly, an auction can be held.

In the case of Watan Settlement Ináms and Sarákati villages, where no special agreements exist, exemption from the bud-dene should be allowed as in the case of ordinary occupants. In the case of leasehold villages and of Summary Settlement Ináms where bud-dene is entered in the sanads, the terms of the agreements or sanads should be adhered to. (G. Rs. Nos. 1859, dated 10th March 1886, 4307, dated 16th June 1886, and 8420, dated 29th November 1886.)

20. In the Surat and Thána Districts the tree-tax (bud-dene) on palm trees in occupied holdings should be remitted. Trees in unoccupied lands should be rented either by auction or at a rate to be fixed by the Collector in such cases as he finds auction to be impossible. But the general rule should be sale by auction of the yearly lease of all toddy-producing trees by villages. If land on which such trees stand is asked for in occupancy, the Collector should proceed under Section 62 of the Land Revenue Code, and Rule 96 to dispose of Government rights in the trees together with the occupancy, putting the market value of the trees as an upset price. (G. Rs. Nos. 3447, dated 2nd June 1887, and 6019, dated 7th September 1887.)

21. Steps should at once be taken to encourage the revival of the industry of manufacturing vinegar from the juice of brab trees previously carried on in the Surat District, and to this end the tree-tax on brab trees licensed to be tapped only for the manufacture of vinegar in the Chorási and Olpád Talukas should be reduced to Rs. 1-8-0 per tree, the following precautions being observed :—

(1) No vinegar should be manufactured without a license, which may be granted free for brab trees.

(2) Such license to specify, among other details, the place of manufacture, which should always be at or near the trees. Sale or removal absolutely forbidden until acetous fermentation is complete.

(3) Daily accounts of toddy drawn, &c., to be kept.

(4) No toddy to be destroyed or thrown away without permission of the Pátel or Inspector. This rule would be necessary because toddy often goes bad in the process, and this fact would often be used as a plea to cover any suspicious disappearance.

(5) Any abuse of the privilege to involve cancellation of the license, and the Collector to have power to forbid that another be ever issued, not only to a particular person, but for particular trees.

(G. R. No. 973, dated 5th February 1886).

22. A'ĀkĀ'ri contractors are liable to the payment to owners of trees in private lands of a fee for the use of the toddy trees owned by them in addition to the ābkā'ri tax, and there appears to be no reason whatever for exempting farmers from the payment when the trees happen to be the property of Government. Accordingly in addition to the tree-tax leviable under the A'ĀkĀ'ri Act a fee should be levied at the rate of one anna per tree for permission to tap toddy trees growing in reserved or protected forests or in the beds of tanks or on the banks of canals and waste lands in charge of the Irrigation Department. The fees should be collected by the A'bkári Department. These orders do not authorize the levy of the fee on trees situated in Government waste or unoccupied land. (G. Rs. Nos. 3479, dated 30th April 1884, and 4708, dated 16th July 1888.)

23. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 19 of the Bombay A'bkári Act, No. V of 1878, and in supersession of Government Notifications Nos. 8312 and 8683, dated 5th and 21st December 1887, published at pages 956 and 984 of Part I of the Bombay Government Gazette of 1887, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that a duty at the rate chargeable under the Indian Tariff Act in force for the time being shall be levied on all spiced liquor not being of a strength exceeding 10° U. P., or below 25° U. P., issued from the public distilleries at Uran in the island of Karanja in the Kolába District for transport to the Town and Island of Bombay and on all similar spiced liquor issued from the Central Distillery at Surat for transport to the Town and Island of Bombay or for consumption within the limits of the Surat District, the duty being reduced in proportion as the strength of the spirit is less than London proof. The duty shall be calculated on the strength of the spirit ascertained by test before it is sweetened. (G. N. No. 7443, dated 20th October 1890.)

24. All malt liquor issued from the brewery established by Messrs. Meakin and Co. at Dápuri should be charged with an excise duty at the rate of one anna per Imperial gallon from 1st January 1891, the cost of any establishment which it may be necessary to employ for the collection of the duty being recovered from that firm. The duty paid on any beer and porter which may be returned to the brewery unsold should be refunded. (G. R. No. 4275, dated 19th June 1890; vide also G. N. No. 9244, dated 27th December 1890.)

25. The provisions of Section 28 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, do authorize a Collector of Customs under certain circumstances to remit excise duties on rum exported as ships' provisions and stores, notwithstanding the provisions of the Bombay A'bkári Act.

The Legislature is reasonably presumed not to intend to alter a special provision by a subsequent general enactment unless it manifests that intention in explicit language (Maxwell on Interpretation of Statutes, page 158).

(Solicitor to Government No. 313, dated 20th March 1891; vide G. R. No. 2454, dated 8th April 1891).

XI.—LICENSES.

1. Cancelled licenses should not be restored as an act of favour except on a special agreement by the licensee that he will not seek further redress and that he admits the restoration to be an act of grace. (G. L. No. 365, dated 21st January 1861).

2. The restriction against removing liquor from the premises should be omitted in the case of licenses granted to the Railway Companies.

Licenses for the sale of liquor at the refreshment rooms of railway stations on the G. I. P. Railway line should be issued in the name of the General Traffic Manager.

(G. Rs. Nos. 4599, dated 8th November 1865, 1917, dated 25th May 1866, and 1189, dated 25th March 1868.)

3. In the City of Bombay the following regulations for the licensing of shops for the sale of liquor should be put into force. The same system may be applied to the licensing of shops where preparations of opium are consumed or sold :—

(a) Three months before the time arrives for any general issue of licenses for the retail sale of liquor in the City of Bombay the Commissioner of Police and the Collector of Bombay should meet and consult together as to the number of licenses to be issued, the localities in which shops are to be opened, and the conditions to be inserted in the licenses, and should forward their recommendations with a report to the Commissioner of A'bkári. The Commissioner of A'bkári will submit this report to Government with his remarks, and apply for the orders of Government under Section 30 of the A'bkári Act to the conditions proposed to be inserted in the licenses, as well as in the event of any difference of opinion between the Commissioner of Police and the Collector as to the licensing of any particular shop, determining himself the number of licenses to be granted as prescribed by Section 35 of the A'bkári Act.

(b) All applications for licenses for the sale of liquor in the City of Bombay should be made to the Collector.

(c) When applications are made for the opening of shops not licensed at the periodical settlements, the Collector if willing to grant them should refer them to the Commissioner of Police for his opinion. If the Commissioner of Police and the Collector are agreed, licenses may be issued, the previous sanction of the Commissioner of A'bkári being obtained (under Section 35 of the A'bkári Act) to the opening of any shop in excess of the sanctioned complement. If the Commissioner of Police and the Collector do not agree, report should be made to the Commissioner of A'bkári, who will refer the case for the orders of Government.

(d) Licenses for the retail sale of liquor prepared and signed by the Collector should be forwarded* to the Commissioner of Police as his authority for the issue of Police licenses under the provisions of Section 12, Act XLVIII of 1860, and should be delivered to the licensees by the Commissioner of Police along with the licenses last mentioned. Government will not claim the fee of one rupee charged for each license issued by the Commissioner of Police under Act XLVIII of 1860.

(e) As all conditions necessary for Police as well as Revenue purposes must be entered in licenses issued under the A'bkári Act, in order to make such licenses liable to recall in the event of breach of Police as well as of Revenue Regulations, and as licenses issued under Act XLVIII of 1860 become void (see Section 12) when the corresponding licenses issued under the A'bkári Act terminate or are recalled, and, further, as the penalties prescribed for the breach of license conditions by the A'bkári Act more than cover those prescribed by Act XLVIII of 1860, it will not be necessary to repeat the Police conditions in licenses issued under Act XLVIII of 1860.

(f) If the Collector should be unwilling to recall any license which in the opinion of the Commissioner of Police ought to be recalled, the Commissioner of Police should refer to the Commissioner of A'bkári.

(G. R. No. 2726, dated 23rd May 1879).

4. The Commissioner of A'bkári need not submit licenses for the sanction of Government, unless they embody changes of the forms in force. (G. R. No. 3712, dated 15th July 1879).

6. The following form is prescribed for counterpart agreements to be executed by excise contractors in cases in which no security deposits are demanded :—

I _____ in consideration of the Collector of _____ granting to me a license under the Bombay A'bkári Act, 1878, for the wholesale (or retail) vend of _____ in the district or mahál of _____ for the period of _____ commencing from the _____ day of _____ 18 and ending on the _____ day of _____ 18 both days inclusive, do hereby agree with the said _____ to all the conditions written and expressed in the said license, a copy of which is subjoined hereto.

(G. R. No. 3030, dated 2nd May 1890.)

7. The attestation of counterpart agreements executed by excise contractors under Section 31 of the A'bkári Act should be dispensed with. (G. R. No. 8916, dated 4th December 1893.)

8. It is not desirable to grant retail liquor licenses to persons holding the office of Consul or Vice-Consul for Foreign States at Aden. (G. R. No. 1849, dated 10th April 1880.)

9. In such a special case as that in which a shop-keeper, who sells among other things imported wines and spirits, keeps a shop at Mahábaleshvar for a portion of the year and for the rest of the year transfers his goods and establishment to Sátára, a single license and a single fee may be held to be sufficient. A separate license and a separate fee for each shop are not necessary. (G. R. No. 4080, dated 14th July 1881.)

10. His Excellency the Governor in Council does not consider that clubs established in this Presidency can be regarded as institutions which sell liquors to their members. They serve merely as agencies for the supply of the liquors required by the members for their own use, and cannot, therefore, be called upon to take out licenses so long as they confine themselves to their legitimate functions. If they deal in such articles with non-members they would subject themselves to the usual penalties, as they can have no right of exemption.

(G. R. No. 7655, dated 26th September 1884.)

11. All ábkári licenses, including tapping licenses, should be prepared and issued by Collectors, Assistant and Deputy Collectors or by Mámlatdárs or Mahálkaris as the Collector may in each case direct. (G. R. No. 2091, dated 12th March 1885.)

12. Licenses under Section 14 of the A'bkári Act must be granted by the Collector himself, unless under Section 5 some other officer has been appointed to exercise the powers of a Collector under the Act, in which case such officer should issue the license and sign it as a 'Collector for the purposes of

13. A correct valuation of distilling plant is important for the reason that Government may be obliged to purchase it at the discretion of the licensee and may or may not choose to oblige a new licensee to purchase. It is very necessary, therefore, that the property should be appraised as fairly as possible. The Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'ĀkĀ'ri should take early steps to get on record the date of acquisition and actual age and cost of each article of any value in the distilleries under his charge; he should ascertain the proper amount to allow annually for depreciation by fair use and have this written off, leaving questions of excessive wear and tear to be decided should they arise. With a record so kept, on a distillery changing hands, there will be little or no motive for an outgoing or incoming contractor to object to the valuation which the Collector will arrive at. (G. R. No. 8256, dated 2nd December 1887.)

14. There is nothing in the Bombay A'ĀkĀ'ri Act which renders Government competent to hear and decide an appeal from a farmer against the Collector's decision fixing under the terms of a license the price or valuation of the distillery plant, nor is there any provision of law under which Government can entertain such an appeal. By Section 4 of the A'ĀkĀ'ri Act the Collector is charged with carrying out the provisions of the Act, 'subject to the orders of Government,' but this enactment although it would authorize Government to direct the Collector what terms to insert in licenses which he has to issue under the Act, would not justify Government in setting aside or varying an order passed by the Collector in exercise of a power expressly conferred upon him, and upon him alone, by a clause in an existing license. (L. R. No. 419, dated 9th April 1888; vide G. R. No. 2616, dated 28th idem.)

15. When licensees of liquor shops in the Town and Island of Bombay are allowed to transfer their licenses to other sites or to other names they should be charged fees according to the following scale:—

| Class of license.                     | Fee fortransferringlicenses toother names. | Fee fortransferringlicenses toother sites. |

| Permanent refreshment stall licenses. | 10                                                     | 10                                                     |

A fee of Re. 1 should be charged in cases where documents (such as permits issued to the Dādar distillers) are allowed to be amended. A fee of Re. 1 should also be charged when duplicates are given. (G. R. No. 2336, dated 17th April 1888.)

A'BKÁRI.]

16. Under the A'bkári Act (Bombay V of 1878) no license is necessary except for the—

(a) Manufacture of

- (1) liquor,
- (2) country-liquor, or
- (3) intoxicating drugs, or for

(b) Materials, stills, utensils, implements, or apparatus used or kept for the purpose of such manufacture.

A still kept for any other purpose does not require a license, but the onus of accounting for the possession of any such still as is "ordinarily used" for the manufacture of liquor; intoxicating drugs, &c., would be on the person in possession thereof (Section 53). It is only if a person uses or keeps such still, &c., for the purpose of manufacturing liquor or intoxicating drugs that he would commit an offence punishable under Section 43.

The Act does not authorize the issue of licenses (which carry with them certain liabilities) for the manufacture of any thing which is not either liquor, country-liquor or intoxicating drug.

"Liquor" as defined in Section 3 (7) of the Act applies to spirits of wine, spirits, wine, toddy, beer, and all liquid consisting of or containing alcohol. "Country liquor" is any such liquor, if manufactured in India. "Intoxicating drug" applies only to an intoxicating drink or substance.

Licenses for the distillation of rose, peppermint, aniseed, and other waters, that do not contain alcohol, are not for the manufacture of liquor or country liquor. No person could be called on to take out a license for any such waters, unless they were intoxicating drugs.

But if any person having no license for the manufacture of liquor or intoxicating drugs, introduced alcohol or any intoxicating drink or substance into any preparation, he would be liable under Section 43 of the Act. No preparation without such admixture would require a license for its manufacture. The power to enter and inspect under Section 36 (a) the premises of a licensed manufacturer extends only to premises in which the manufacture or sale of any "liquor" or "intoxicating drug," is carried on. But under Section 36 (b) power is given to enter any place where there is reason to believe any liquor or intoxicating drug is manufactured, or any still is kept for the purpose of manufacturing such "liquor" or "drug".

Unless the waters in question contain alcohol or intoxicating drink or substance, the A'bkári Act has nothing to do with them, and the licenses should therefore be confined to such as do contain alcohol or some intoxicating drink or substance.

If it is meant to license waters which do contain alcohol or other intoxicant, the license should, I think, specify the quantities of such alcohol or other intoxicant which the waters may contain. (L. R.

No. 95, dated 22nd January 1889 ; vide G. R. No. 1038, dated 8th February 1889.)

17. In all liquor-shop licenses in the City of Bombay, the following clause should be inserted:—

“It is entirely within the discretion of the Collector whether he will or will not renew this license at the expiration of the term for which it is granted. It is also entirely within the discretion of the Collector whether he will or will not permit the assignee of the holder of the license in case of sale or transfer or the heir or legal representative of the holder of the license in case of death to have the benefit of the license for the unexpired portion of the term for which it was granted.”

(G. R. No. 4, dated 3rd January 1888.)

18. As regards all liquor-shop licenses in the City of Bombay not acquired in 1886 or 1889, the license of a deceased licensee should be put up to auction at the next periodical renewal of licenses. The heir of a deceased licensee may with the permission of the Collector of Land Revenue, Customs and Opium, Bombay, hold a license for its unexpired period only. Transferred licenses should be dealt with in the same manner, being recognized only for the unexpired part of the term for which they were originally granted.

The Collector should keep separate lists of the privileged licenses of 1886 and 1889, the holders of which possess the right of renewal during their lifetime subject to conformity with the conditions of the licenses, and to payment of the fee assessed by the Collector. This class of licenses should become extinct as they fall in from time to time. (G. R. No. 9470, dated 2nd December 1892.)

19. The Commissioner of A'bkári should require in all cases a close adherence to the conditions sanctioned by Government and prescribed in the licenses issued under the A'bkári Act. (G. R. No. 7960, dated 19th October 1889.)

20. Section 31 of Bombay Act V of 1878 does not require the execution of a counterpart agreement, in conformity with the tenor of every tapping license (in Form No. 18) issued to each employé of a farmer holding a license to tap (in Form No. 11). Section 31 only requires a counterpart agreement to be executed by a person taking out a license for the manufacture or sale of liquor or intoxicating drug under the Act.

Manufacturing liquor and drawing toddy from a tree are spoken of severally and distinctly in Section 14 and again in Section 43 (c) and (d), and it is possible, therefore, that the Legislature did not regard the drawing of toddy as the manufacture of liquor.

But, if this point be doubtful, Section 31 would still be inapplicable to a license to an employé for the drawing of toddy for which authority had already been given to his employer.

For Section 31 applies only to licenses taken out under the Act.

ABKARI.]

But the Act does not require that each individual employed in the tapping or in the manufacture should take out a license. Section 14 requires merely that toddy shall not be drawn or liquor manufactured except under the authority and subject to the terms and conditions of a license. If the drawing is authorized, and is in accordance with the terms and conditions of a license that has been granted, it is not essential under the Act that each drawer should also hold a license.

For departmental purposes it seems to be found convenient to issue, in addition to the license authorizing the drawing, a document to be held by each employé which is apparently intended merely for purposes of identification.

Such document is not required by the Act, and is not taken out under the Act, but as contractually required by the terms and conditions on which the license is given. The terms and conditions might have required each tapper to wear a badge instead, or merely to send his name and address to the Collector.

If, as is understood, No. 11 is itself the license required by Section 14 authorizing the drawing and prescribing the terms and conditions, the mere mention therein of such a document as Form No. 18 as a license, does not make Form No. 18 a license under the Act without which no drawing could take place.

It is only in the case of the license required by the Act as indispensable to manufacture or sale that Section 31 requires also a counterpart agreement and security for the performance thereof.

Form No. 18 is required by paragraph 3 of Form 11 and is not apparently the license required by the Act at all and, therefore, neither counterpart nor security is necessary in respect of it.

21. A farmer under the Bombay Abkari Act (Bombay Act V) of 1898, being bound by his license to take over from the preceding year's farmer an amount of liquor fixed by the Collector as being sufficient for the new farmer's requirements for 15 days, voluntarily took over from his predecessor the whole of his surplus stock. By the terms of the predecessor's license any surplus stock he might leave at the end of his term over and above the 15 days' supply required for his successor became the property of Government. Consequently the new farmer took over stock which belonged to Government and he was liable to Government for the value of it. The point is whether this value is "an amount due from the farmer" within the meaning of Section 34 of the Act.

The words of Section 34 are "all amounts due from any farmer under this Act may be recovered from the person primarily liable to pay the same or from his surety (if any) as if they were arrears of land revenue."

The words "under this Act" appear to govern "farmer" and not "amounts due"; therefore, all amounts due to Government by such a farmer are recoverable as arrears of land revenue; i.e., of course all amounts due by him quá farmer.

In accordance with this view the price of the additional stock taken over by the farmer in question from his predecessor is lawfully recoverable under Section 34 as an arrear of land revenue. (L. R. No. 1227, dated 24th July 1891; vide G. R. No. 5416, dated 8th August 1891.)

22. The Ábkári Act contemplates that the authority given to a licensee should be subject to the conditions of the license. This implies that the license is to define the licensee's obligations. But the obligation to guarantee, in circumstances unknown to the licensee and beyond his control, a minimum yearly revenue the limit of which is not indicated in the license at all, but is left entirely to future orders, can hardly be regarded as defined. Such a condition is not one imposing an obligation, but giving power to impose in the future an obligation of unknown and unascertainable extent. (L. R. No. 1101, dated 20th July 1892; vide G. R. No. 6679, dated 19th August 1892.)

XI.—OFFENCES AND PENALTIES.

1. It is the duty of the Collectors, with the aid of the Police, to proceed against parties endeavouring to export liquor by Railway contrary to law. (G. R. No. 3662, dated 1st August 1870.)

2. Liquor and spirits illegally imported by sea into Bombay when seized by the Police should be first handed over to the Customs authorities to be dealt with according to law. Then, if the liquor should not be confiscated, it should be handed over to the Traffic Manager, Port Trust, to be dealt with according to law for non-payment of town duty. (G. R. No. 190, dated 14th January 1878.)

3. The question having been raised whether the arrests of persons apprehended by ábkári officers, and handed over to the Police are to be treated as arrests made by private persons, Section 59, Criminal Procedure Code, or by the Police, Section 60 of the Code, the following opinion was recorded by the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs:—

"In the Criminal Procedure Code a 'Police officer' means an officer duly enrolled under any law in force as a Police officer and not an officer of any other department who under special laws has power to arrest, without warrant for certain offences. Officers of the latter description, not being Police officers, must be deemed to be private persons for the purposes of Section 59 of the Criminal Procedure Code. The law provides no other course, the intended meaning of the words 'private person' being no doubt 'any person who is not a Police officer.'" exempted from the transport duties to which they are liable under the rules issued under Section 27 of the Act. The Medical Storekeeper to Government, before bringing the gánja or bháng to Bombay, should inform the Collector of Land Revenue, Customs and Opium, Bombay, of the quantity to be brought, the place from which it was brought and the route to be taken in transit. The Collector should, on receipt of this information, issue a permit without charge, and this permit should eventually be returned to the Collector with a certificate from the Medical Storekeeper to Government, showing the quantity of gánja and bháng received at the Medical Stores under permit. (G. R. No. 7885, dated 26th October 1893.)

XIII.—MISCELLANEOUS.

1. A'bkári management of Native States.—The Government of India have prescribed* certain formalities which are to be observed in the execution of "Treaties and formal agreements with Native States." The lease of the ábkári management of the Native State must be regarded as a "formal agreement," and it must accordingly be executed with all the formalities directed.

2. The Solicitor to Government should send direct to the officer executing on behalf of Government an agreement for leasing the ábkári management of a Native State, a copy of the agreement he proposes to engross, so that any changes in the personnel of the office or otherwise may be rectified at the last moment. (G. R. No. 3697, dated 21st May 1886.)

3. The sale-proceeds of property confiscated under the ábkári law in Native States the ábkári revenue of which has been leased to Government, should be credited to the States concerned, subject to the conditions that the confiscation in all such cases must be adjudged by the Collector of the district to which the Native territory concerned may for the time being be attached for ábkári management, that the Collector shall dispose of the

* The Government of India attach much importance to the observance of the formalities which have been recognized as applicable to the execution of Treaties and formal agreements with Native States. The usual procedure, after the terms of the agreement have been settled by negotiation, is as follows:—The agreement is headed by its title and object, and the names of the contracting parties and their executing agents, if necessary, are recited. Then follow the articles as agreed upon. Duplicates are engrossed on parchment, either by the officer negotiating the Treaty, or in the Foreign Office; and after formal signature and execution by the contracting parties, both copies are transmitted for ratification. One copy is then sent back to the Political Agent for delivering to the State, and the other is sent for record among the archives of this office. The English version can alone be taken as the accepted text, and all agreements must be executed in English. It is also necessary to be precise as to the titles used by the Native Chief, which should only be those that are formally recognized by the British Government. (G. I., For. D., No. 921-I, dated 13th March 1884; vide G. R., P. D., No. 3097, dated 13th June 1884.)

lishment, especially at Castle Rock, the Coast Guard establishment and the Customs establishment at all ports and landing places. The Collectors of Belgaum, Kánára and Ratnágiri, the Political Superintendent of Sávantvádi and the Superintendent, Southern Marátha Railway Police, should co-operate with the Customs Department in all possible ways for the suppression of the smuggling. (G. R. No. 1568, dated 28th February 1893.)

XII.—INTOXICATING DRUGS.

1. Local Governments should endeavour, wherever it may be possible, to discourage the consumption of gánja and bháng by placing restrictions on their cultivation, preparation and retail, and imposing on their use as high a rate of duty as can be levied without inducing illicit practices. (G. I., F. D., No. 3773, dated 17th December 1873, and S. of S., No. 99, Rev., dated 20th October 1892; vide G. R., G. D., No. 140, dated 15th January 1874, and G. R. No. 1347, dated 17th February 1893.)

2. Bona-fide travellers entering the Bombay Presidency from foreign territory and possessing bháng and gánja in quantity not exceeding 10 tolas in each case should be exempted from prosecution under Sections 9 and 43 of the A'bkári Act, 1878. (G. R., No. 3995, dated 4th June 1886.)

3. When a farmer of intoxicating drugs is allowed to sub-let a part of his farm, there is no legal necessity to issue a separate license to the sub-contractor.

Section 16 of the A'bkári Act lays down that, except as otherwise provided, no intoxicating drug shall be sold without a license from the Collector. But in cases in which the Collector has under the farmer's license permitted the right of vend to be sub-let in whole or in part, it cannot be said that the drug sold by the sub-contractor is sold without a license. In such case it is sold in accordance with the terms of the license.

But though there is no legal necessity for a separate license to the sub-contractor, an additional clause is necessary so as to make it clear that the original license is liable to be recalled in case of breach of the conditions by him or his servants.

4. The time for closing the shops for the sale of intoxicating drugs in Bombay should be fixed at 11 P.M. In the Mofussil, 9 P.M. is considered late enough, and the Collectors may at their discretion enter in the licenses any hour not later than 9 P.M. that they may think suitable for the requirements of their respective districts. (G. Rs. Nos. 6327, dated 2nd December 1880, and 5806, dated 18th August 1890.)

5. Gánja and bháng transported for use at the Government Medical Stores are under Section 11 proviso (2) of the Bombay A'bkári Act, V of 1878,

ÁBKÁRI.]

4. The insertion in an ábkári license of a provision enabling the Collector to fine the licensee up to a fixed sum for any infringement, by him or by his servants, of the license or of the ábkári law and still leaving the licensee liable to be criminally prosecuted under the Ábkári Act if the Collector deems it expedient to institute such prosecution, is inconsistent with Section 56 of the Act, which directs that all offences against the Act (including breaches of licenses) shall be cognizable by a Magistrate. It offends also against the general principle of criminal law that no man shall be punished twice over for one and the same offence. Moreover, the Act does not require the sanction of the Collector to authorize prosecutions for offences against it, and such prosecutions might, therefore, be instituted in spite of the Collector's refusal to institute them. (L. R. No. 439, dated 24th March 1884; vide G. R. No. 3220, dated 21st April 1884.)

5. Sections 43 to 46 of the Ábkári Act render punishable every possible contravention of a license and Section 56 directs that all offences against the Act shall be cognizable by a Magistrate. An order of Government sanctioning the insertion in a license of a clause empowering the Collector to punish contraventions of that license by fine would, therefore, be illegal, because Section 30 of the Act expressly directs that the orders of Government as to the form of and particulars to be contained in a license shall not be inconsistent with the Act. (L. R. No. 538, dated 15th April 1884; vide G. R. No. 3644, dated 7th May 1884.)

6. It is doubtful whether the provisions of Section 43 (a) and (b) of the Ábkári Act can be enforced against common carriers, e.g., Railway Companies, nor is it necessary or expedient that Railway servants should be made Ábkári officers, the persons who have already been invested with powers under Section 37 (including all Police officers) having full authority to seize liquor in possession of the Railway Company when the liquor is suspected to be liable to confiscation. The only course which the Railway Companies can legally adopt in the circumstances is to refuse to receive consignments of liquor known or suspected to be illicit, or to direct Railway servants to give the requisite intimation to the Railway Police in view to the seizure by them of such consignments under Section 37 of the Ábkári Act. (L. R. No. 7052, dated 31st August 1885; vide G. R. No. 7052, dated 31st idem.)

7. The infamous devices, by which in the last century Police agents (called on the Continent agents provocateurs) sometimes deliberately seduced men into committing crimes in order that they might gain rewards for denouncing or arresting them, have long since been finally condemned alike by morality and law. Customs and Excise cases differ from these in that an offence under the Revenue laws is far less shocking to the moral sense than one against life or property. The temptation to it, therefore, involves a much lower degree of turpitude than an incitement to murder or burglary. It may under circumstances involve no turpitude at all any more than lying in wait for a suspected highwayman or keeping him amused until help arrives is a dishonourable betrayal of innocence. It is only by offering to buy that it can generally be discovered whether a suspected vendor is willing to sell and trying the inclination in this way involves no temptation as it is exactly what the vendor wants and invites in all cases wherein the device is successful.

But while this is so and while officers of the Customs and Excise are to be highly commended for displaying skill in their very necessary functions, this skill should never be allowed to degenerate into a deliberate endeavour to force or persuade or cajole a person really undesirous of breaking the law into a breach of it. To try an illicit inclination is a different thing from creating or inflaming it. The dividing line between the two classes of cases may not be quite easy to determine in actual examples, but the distinction of principle should always be borne in mind. The object is to keep lawless people within the law, not to seduce weak people to transgress it, and mere convictions so far from being a good in themselves are a great, though necessary evil.

In every case in which money has been paid after a supply of liquor or other contraband article it may fairly be presumed that the payment has been made for that along with the other articles, if any, supplied. Why should a customer be presented with liquor gratis? Even when the liquor was supplied after payment for the other articles and nominally supplied gratis it may still reasonably be inferred that the liquor was the real consideration given and received for the payment, if the price of the other articles was at all above the ordinary. The presence of spirituous liquors at all in a shop ostensibly kept for the sale of non-intoxicating drinks is a very suspicious circumstance because needless and incongruous. The supply of liquor to customers who pay money for other supplies in the shop can very rarely be deemed innocent. Such reasonings as these have been made the basis of many convictions under the Excise Laws in England and there is no reason to suppose that they will not be generally accepted as of equal force in India. Suspected illicit dealers in liquor or opium must be tried as the only effectual test of their innocence. They must not be bullied or seduced into offences which they would otherwise not have thought of committing.

(G. R. No. 7698, dated 10th November 1887.)

4. A'bkári receipts and charges of Cantonments.—The ábkári receipts and charges of Military Cantonments should be treated as receipts and charges of the Civil Department. (G. R. No. 4315, dated 30th August 1872.)

5. A'bkári year.—The ábkári year in Bombay should be assimilated to that obtaining in the rest of the Presidency. (G. R. No. 5304, dated 8th October 1880.)

6. The ábkári year in Aden should end on 31st July. (G. R. No. 4127, dated 31st May 1883.)

7. Compensation for abolition of A'bkári rights.—The summary settlement should be applied to the allowances* granted as compensation for the abolition of ábkári rights, but this order should be made applicable only to those cases in which the holders of rent-free estates have agreed to the payment of the quit-rent.

If the principles of the summary settlement are accepted by the holders of such allowances, they should be made applicable by reducing at once the amount of the allowances. A uniform rate of 5 annas should be applied throughout the Presidency to this class of allowance.

The former orders are to continue applicable to the cases of such holders as may refuse to accept the summary settlement.

† "In 1863 a case arose which was disposed of by Government Resolution No. 1683 of that year. Mr. Hart was then Revenue Commissioner. He had for some years been at the head of the Inám Commission and had thus had quite exceptional experience in construing grants. The Inám Commission was reasonably strict in scrutinizing the claims of alienees of revenue. Yet, with regard to the grant in the above-mentioned case, containing the expression used in the Peishwa's confirming grant in the present case, Mr. Hart recommended and Government decided that kul-bab kul-kánu conferred a title to ábkári revenue 'of right and not of grace'. Mr. Hart stated that he was not aware of the existence of any sanads at all in which the 'right to ábkári revenue would be found to be distinctively alienated (along) with the rest of the village.' Kul-bab kul-kánu, where supported by actual possession and enjoyment, he considered sufficient to embrace the right to ábkári revenue. This view, fully adopted by Government as a ground on which an application for compensation might be based, appears equally applicable in Native States, regard being had to the fact that the grants were made by the same class of rulers under similar circumstances." (Extract from para. 2 of G. R., P. D., No. 8051, dated 23rd December 1890.)

8. Holders of estates which have already been formally adjudicated to be continued hereditary should be admitted to the benefits of the ábkári settlement, provided that they consent to the conditions proposed, one of which as regards the districts hitherto under Act XI of 1852 is the payment of a quit-rent.

The payment of nazrána will be optional and will depend on whether the holders desire to secure the privilege of transferring their right to the allowances in question.

(G. R. No. 601, dated 25th February 1863.)

9. The compensation granted by Government for ábkári rights is not watan property, i. e., property held or acquired for the performance of the duty appertaining to any hereditary office; and Bombay Act III of 1874 has no applicability to it. Section 11 of Act XXIII of 1871 applies only to pensions granted on grounds personal to the recipient and, therefore, it too does not apply to compensation for ábkári rights. (L. R. No. 454, dated 4th August 1875; vide G. R. No. 4993, dated 31st idem.)

10. Compensation to Bombay Municipality.—The annual payment to the Municipality of Bombay on account of ábkári compensation should be made by the Accountant General in advance on April 1st for the whole year from April 1st to March 31st following. (G. R. No. 3224, dated 21st April 1884.)

11. Fines and confiscations.—Proceeds of fines and confiscations should be credited to Law and Justice—

(1) when imposed by and realized by Judicial officers, and,

(2) if there should be such cases, when imposed by Revenue and realized by Judicial officers;

and to Excise—

(G. R. No. 8432, dated 27th October 1892.)

13. Periods for A'bkári farms.—It is not desirable that periods for which ábkári farms are granted should all expire on the same date. It is preferable to continue the system as now existing under which some farms are given out in one and some in Receipt of A'ākārī Revenues by the Mahālkārī of Guhāgar.—In modification of the orders contained in Government Resolution No. 4270, dated 7th December 1867, under which the Mahālkārī of Guhāgar Petha in the Ratnāgiri District is specially authorized to receive revenue instalments only on fixed instalment days, he is allowed to receive all the ābkārī revenues whenever they are paid. (G. R. No. 5896, dated 20th August 1890.)

15. Sankheda Mewās.—For the purposes of entry No. 24 Appendix 26, Civil Service Regulations, the Sankheda Mewās should be considered as a district consisting of more than two tālukas. (G. R. No. 7155, dated 27th October 18818.)

17. Spirits of wine.—Spirits of wine are required for many purposes in arts and manufactures, and it is absolutely necessary that they should be readily procurable. For the present, however, only the Collectors of Bombay and Poona and the Collector of Salt Revenue (for Uran) should be authorized to issue special licenses to distillers to distil spirits up to any strength on payment of duty laid down in the Indian Tariff Act. (G. Rs. Nos. 112, dated 18th January 1879, and 764, dated 12th February 1879.)

18. Tenders.—The practice of the A'ākārī Department of calling for fresh tenders for ābkārī farms without cancellation of the tenders received at the first invitation should be amended. When fresh tenders are called for, those already made should be formally rejected. (G. R. No. 5497, dated 2nd August 1886.)

19. Transhipment of liquor from Diu.—Country liquor exported from Diu for transmission to Lisbon should be allowed to be transhipped at Bombay. (G. R. No. 3175, dated 49th May 1888.)

20. Translations of Notifications.—The Oriental Translator to Government should translate the notifications that may be issued from time to time under the A'ākārī Act into Marāthi, Gujarāti and Kānārese, and forward the translations to the Superintendent, Government Central Press, to be printed. Copies of the translations should be supplied to the officers concerned in accordance with their requirements, which should be communicated direct to the Superintendent of the Press. (G. R. No. 8113, dated 13th October 1892.)

CASH ALLOWANCES.

I.—PENSIONS.

1. Section 5 of Regulation II of 1815 declares that all pensions granted to fakirs or other religious persons for the purpose of lighting or repairing mausoleums or mosques and for the performance of religious ceremonies, shall be continued, but that pensions of this description cannot be considered as of a personal nature.

Under Section 16 of this Regulation, a Collector was authorized to adjudicate on claims less than Rs. 100 in amount.

If, while the Regulation was in force, a Collector decided a pension to be continuable under the Section 5 above quoted, Government must recognize that decision as conferring on the pension a right to treatment under the Rules for Permanent Institutions, and not under "the rules now in force" which would dispose of many as personal allowances.

This seems beyond question, but if the Collector to the extent of his authority classed a claim under Section 5 and decided on its continuance, Government would be bound to recognize the allowance permanently, for the personal character of the pension is specifically negatived in Section 5; and Section 15 seems to be merely a provision to prevent the orders of Government being questioned in a Civil Court. The Regulation could not have intended to lay down in one section that a certain class of allowances should be divested of all personal character, and in another of the same Regulation that such pensions were liable to resumption on the death of the incumbents.

(G. R. No. 1414, dated 17th April 1860.)

2. All new entries of the names of claimants to cash allowances should be made by the order of the Assistant or Deputy Collector, on whom will rest the responsibility that no new names are entered otherwise than in accordance with the decisions of competent authority. (G. R., F. D., No. 595, dated 20th May 1867.)

3. In all applications for the grant of pensions to the members and dependants of Sind jághirdárs, whose jághírs have lapsed to Government, information regarding the value of the lapsed jághírs should invariably be supplied. (G. I., F. D., No. 675, dated 31st January 1878; vide G. R. No. 829, dated 15th February 1878.)

Disbursing officers will, on the 1st of May of each year, or as soon after as possible, prepare a ledger (khatewahi) agreeably to the Táluka Form* No. 21 contained in Hope's Manual of Accounts, and will keep a book in the Táluka Form No. 12 contained in that Manual, and will be held responsible for the correctness of the entries in the ledger and book and for their being properly filled in from time to time.

26. "Sanads" in the name of the Secretary of State for India in Council will be executed by the Collectors as authorized in the Government of India's Resolution No. 684, dated 31st May 1878, Home Department (vide Government Resolution No. 3518, dated 14th June 1878, Judicial Department), in favour of the payee or payees for the time being of every pension or grant in respect of which the issue of such "sanads" has been or may hereafter be sanctioned by Government. Such "sanads" will be issued once for all, and "sanads" already issued by the Commissioner in Sind or by Collectors, or by any other officer authorized by Government in this behalf, shall be deemed to have been issued under this Rule.

The terms and conditions to be inserted in these "sanads" will be such as Government may from time to time authorize, or as may already have been so authorized.

27. Registers of these sanads will be kept by each Collector, and a general register by the Commissioner in Sind.

The said registers shall be open to public inspection during office hours, and extracts from the same shall be obtainable, subject to the same rules and to the payment of the same fees as apply to the case of registers of the documents mentioned in clause (d), Section 90 of the Indian Registration Act, 1877.

28. Reference to the Civil Court under Section 6 of the Act of any person claiming a right of succession to or participation in any pension or grant, or any other right relating to any pension or grant, shall be made in accordance with Rule 3 by the Collectors, granting to such person a certificate in the form of Appendix B authorizing the Civil Court to try the case set forth in such person's claim.

This is to certify that I, E. F., Collector of _____, do hereby allow, under Section 6 of the Pensions Act, 1871, that the said claim may be tried by any Civil Court otherwise competent to try the same.

(Notification by the Commissioner in Sind, No. 5753, dated 14th December 1881; vide G. R. No. 7171, dated 28th November 1881.)

7. Sharers of sub-divisions of a pension or grant are not joint payees. Rule 19 contemplates two sorts of payees, those persons to whom the whole of a pension or grant is payable jointly and not in shares. These persons can together, that is, jointly, receive payment in a lump sum. Rule 19 also contemplates persons to whom a pension or grant is payable separately in distinct individual shares, and therefore not jointly in a lump sum. The rule provides that if these shares have been recognized and the shares registered separately in the names of the representative co-sharers, these entries shall hold good. Further, the Collector has power to direct the disbursing officer to sub-divide a pension or grant at the time of payment.

Rule 20 applies only to the first sort of payees and not to co-sharers, whether those who are registered sharers or those who have special permission in writing from the Collector. This rule provides that the lump sum, otherwise payable to two or more persons jointly, may, under certain circumstances, be paid to one or more only of such joint payees.

Rule 21 following provides that the recorded joint payees to whom the lump sum has been paid or those of such joint payees to whom under the last preceding rule the lump sum has been paid, shall be responsible for the proper distribution of the said lump sum.

One or more of several joint payees having an interest in the entire pension or grant may obviously be allowed to receive payment on behalf of the others; but when the shares are separately registered, why should one or more sharers be allowed to take the shares of the others in which they have no concern or interest.

Rule 19 provides that the Collector may allow the disbursing officer to make the sub-division. It follows the disbursing officer must pay each sharer his own share separately according to the sub-division.

8. It is not seen what objection there can be to the payment of a sub-share under the Collector's special written order being made to the applicant and entered in his name whether the registered payee appears or not 'at the time of payment.' There is nothing in Rule 19 which prohibits such payment and entry. The words 'no such new entries shall be made in the record' in the first paragraph of the rule refer to entries 'which may hereafter be continued,' that is to say, permanent or continuous entries, and these, of course, require the sanction of the Commissioner. But a single payment, to be made once, under a special order, at the time of a particular payment, can, on the authority of that order, be entered by the disbursing officer against the name of the applicant.

Rule 15 requires the payment of pensions or grants to be made only to those persons whose names have been authorizedly entered in the records as the payees thereof. The Collector's written special order sanctioning a sub-division should expressly authorize for that one occasion the entry of the name of the payee of the sub-share and the consequent payment to him.

9. Section 8 of Act XXIII of 1871 (Pensions Act), provides that all pensions or grants by Government of money or land revenue shall be paid in accordance with the rules prescribed by the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority. The rules which have been prescribed relate to the payment of pensions and grants which are made in cash by the Collector or the Deputy Collector or other authorized disbursing officer. These rules are not applicable to the payment of dues collected by village officers and payable to the superior holder of an alienated village, and which the superior holder may with the Collector's consent recover direct from the inferior holders in default of payment by the village officers. (L. R. No. 469, dated 20th April 1882; vide G. R. No. 2758, dated 27th idem.)

10. The rules framed under the provisions of the Pensions Act regarding the payment of pensions and grants, should be considered as strictly applicable to registered pensions and grants, the sub-division of which Government consider it desirable should neither be countenanced nor given effect to, beyond giving the Collector a discretionary power to allow disbursing officers to make sub-division at the time of payment.

The particular rule which authorizes the Collector to exercise this discretion should not be applied to doubtful cases, or to sharers whose claims are resisted and denied by the registered holders of the pension or grant.

The Act and the rules made thereunder contain ample provision for the disposal of claims relating to any pension or grant. (L. R. No. 490, dated 27th April 1882; vide G. R. No. 3331, dated 20th May 1882.)

11. Rule 11 of the rules made under the Pensions Act, 1871, is not applicable to the case of minors, and payment of arrears should be authorized under Rule 10, notwithstanding no application for payment has been made for more than six years: provided the Collector is satisfied that the minor, on whose behalf the application is made, is the legal heir of the deceased person to whom the arrears are due.

2. Section 6 of the Limitation Act, 1877, provides that nothing contained in that Act shall affect or alter the period specially prescribed by any special or local law; but this provision does not bar the exemption in favour of minors which is provided in the next following section, and which is applicable to all cases of applications made under any general, special or local law for which a period of limitation is prescribed either by the Limitation Act or by the law itself.

12. A cash allowance payable to two persons, A and B, was disbursed to them in alternate years, so that if A received payment of the whole allowance during 1882, the other became entitled to receive it during 1883, and so on. A not having presented himself before the Mámlatdár to demand the money payable when his turns came, it remained unpaid for over six years. The other co-sharer B had, however, received payment of the allowance during the years in which it was payable to him according to the arrangement mentioned above. A having subsequently appeared and demanded payment of the money which he had not been able to receive for more than six years, the question was raised whether Section 11 of the rules published under Government Resolution No. 6849, dated 23rd December 1879, should be strictly applied to the case. The following opinion (No. 1650, dated 18th December 1882) recorded by the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs was circulated by Government to all Collectors and Commissioners :—

“ It appears that the pension receivable by A and B in alternate years is one and the same pension. B has duly applied for and received the pension in the years in which he was entitled to payment and his applications should, I think, be held to have kept the title to the pension both of himself and of A alive. The terms of No. 11 of the rules under Section 8 of the Pensions Act do not apply to the case any more than they would be applicable if A and B were one and the same individual who for some reason of his own had neglected to apply for payment in alternate years. Rule 9 is, I think, the only rule that can be fairly applied to the case.”

(G. R. No. 22, dated 3rd January 1883.)

13. The Collector of Bombay is authorized under Section 5 of the Pensions Act XXIII of 1871 to investigate claims to fazendári allowances and other similar claims payable in Bombay. Rules and orders issued from time to time under the Pensions Act will be communicated to him. (G. R. No. 909, dated 9th February 1887, and G. M. No. 1381, dated 4th March 1887.)

14. It has been held by the High Court that Rule 16 of the Rules under the Pensions Act, 1871, does not apply to rights acquired to pensions before the Act came into force, as there is nothing to show that the Legislature intended it to have retrospective effect. (G. R. No. 7309, dated 28th September 1889.)

15. An application to be furnished with a certificate under Act XXIII of 1871 (Pensions Act) in order to enable the applicant to claim in the Civil Court the amount of certain haks due to him from the Inámdár and the village officers of a certain Inám village in the Poona District, was refused by the Collector on the strength of the ruling in Government Resolution No. 477, dated 17th January 1885, that Sections 4, 5 and 6 of the Act are not applicable to haks payable by Inámdárs; and the Collector's decision was confirmed by the Commissioner. The applicant then filed a suit in the Civil Court. The District Judge came to the conclusion that a certificate was necessary, and granted two months' time to enable the applicant to procure it. On the matter being referred to Government for orders, the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs was consulted, and the following opinion recorded by that officer was circulated by Government to all Collectors and Commissioners:—

"The question whether the Pensions Act applies to baks payable direct by Inámdárs is not free from doubt. But as the District Judge holds that it does apply, there is no reason for combating that opinion, and if there is no other objection to the grant of the certificate which the plaintiff asks for, it may, I think, be granted."

(G. R. No. 8718, dated 17th December 1891.)

16. A question having been raised whether clause (b) of Rule 10 of the Rules under the Pension Act empowers Collectors to authorize the payment of the arrears of pension due to a deceased pensioner, if he has no legal heir, to the person who bears the expenses of his or her burial, it was directed that in such cases the Collectors may make payments at their discretion provided that the amount paid does not exceed the burial expenses incurred by the payee. (G. R. No. 1441, dated 27th February 1892.)

17. The applicability of Act XXIII of 1871 depends upon whether a grant is essentially one of land revenue merely or whether it is a grant of the soil. If it is a grant of the soil, i. e., of the free hold or proprietary right therein, then as was held in Raoji Narayan Mandlik vs. Dadaji Bapuji Desai (I. L. R., 1 Bom., 523) the Act does not apply to it. But if it is essentially a grant of land revenue only, then the Act is applicable to it, as was held in Ramchandra Maruti vs. Venkatrao and B. Mantri (I. L. R., 6 Bom., 598). The incidental rights which accompany a grant cannot be held to override the plain intention of Act XXIII of 1871, if the grant is a grant of land revenue only. The latter point has been very clearly decided by the High Court of Madras in Rama vs. Subba (I. L. R., 12 Mad., 98), which was a case of a grant of land revenue coupled with the power of collecting it. (L. R. No. 512, dated 4th April 1892; vide G. R. No. 3369, dated 12th idem.)

18. The decisions at I. L. R., 1 Bom., 75; I. L. R., 1 Bom., 523, and I. L. R., 7 Mad., 191, show conclusively that the Pensions Act, 1871, is inapplicable to a grant of a village in Inám. (L. R. No. 316, dated 23rd March 1893; vide G. R. No. 3541, dated 15th May 1893.)

II.—DEVASTHÁNS AND OTHER RELIGIOUS ALLOWANCES.

1. The allowances to temples and other religious institutions formerly paid from the Khasgi or private funds of the Rájá of Sátára and transferred by him to the public treasury in 1841, should be continued. Such items as were bestowed on individuals, and any others not partaking of the nature of permanent grants, should be resumed. (G. R. No. 863, dated 1st March 1862.)

[CASH ALLOWANCES.]

2. The revenues of the State should not be thrown away on shrines or temples which are deserted. (G. R. No. 945, dated 7th March 1862.)

3. Allowances on account of "Shivrātri," "Now-ratri," "Rāmnaymi," "Janmashtami" and other special ceremonies, and other similar allowances regarding which doubts as to whether or not they are bonā fide temple grants may arise, should be subjected to a deduction of one-third, and the remainder continued as permanent temple grants. (G. R. No. 2884, dated 25th August 1863.)*

* The Resolution was passed by Government in reference to a question raised by the Revenue Commissioner, N. D., in connection with the orders passed in Government Resolution No. 4309, dated 27th November 1862, on the general subject of cash alienations in Gujarāt. The Resolution of 27th November 1862 is quoted below for ready reference :—

"The work of the Alienation Department in Gujarāt has hitherto been mostly experimental, but the character of the several descriptions of grant has been ascertained, and little more information now remains to be collected. The settlement, therefore, should be prosecuted diligently on rules based on the experience obtained.

"2. The principal classes are below disposed of :—

Emoluments of Hereditary District Officers.

"3. The work to be done under this head is to prepare in every tāluka an accurate record of the emoluments of each vatan or office, whether in land or in cash. The record should also show the date of every former enquiry, the names of the persons by whom the vatans are now held, and all other particulars.

Gameti Hissa.

"4. These are usually of a permanent character, and should be continued in the terms of the agreements under which they are held. If the terms of the agreements are found to be still observed, nothing further is required.

Devasthāns (charged on the Huzūr or Tāluka revenue).

"5. The past policy and proceedings of Government in regard to devasthān allowances or impersonal grants to temples and religious institutions are well summarized by Mr. Peile in the 12th to 27th paragraphs of his report. His Excellency the Governor in Council concurs with the Revenue Commissioner, Mr. Mansfield, in opinion that, giving due consideration to these past proceedings, an enquiry into titles should be waived in the case of all bonā fide temple grants which were submitted to the notice of Government at the beginning of British rule, and have since been deliberately continued.

"6. The records of former proceedings described by Mr. Peile should be carefully compared with the present payments, and a detailed report of the result should be submitted to Government through the Revenue Commissioner. The payments or grants should be recorded in the names of the temples and distributed to such agents as hold sanads empowering them to receive the money, or who may from time to time be appointed by the Committees, or by the persons who are recognized as the recipients of the money or managers of the temples.

Dharma'da'ys and Varsha'sans, (payable from the Huzur or Tāluka Treasuries.)

"7. Mr. Peile has shown that in the earlier period of our rule in Gujarāt, as elsewhere, personal charitable allowances were treated quite differently from grants to temples. The Governor in Council considers that the 'amended rules of 1842,' if a liberal interpretation be placed on the evidence available, are sufficient. These rules have been generally applied to the same

CASH ALLOWANCES.]

4. Allowances to idols not in a temple or place of public worship, but in a private dwelling class of allowances in other districts, and are not inconsistent with the previous policy of Government in Gujārat.

Village Devasthāns.

" 8. The village devasthāns usually originated in grants by village officials from the village funds. In stating that these devasthān grants are as old as the villages themselves, Mr. Mansfield appears to have had in view only the 'Gaom Dev,' or village temple, founded when the village was established. He has overlooked a number of grants subsequently obtained by the managers of other temples from the Pátels who, until quite recently, had the management of village funds. It was owing to the change in the revenue system that direct payments were commenced from the Government treasuries, and the method already sanctioned for the treatment of these devasthāns is intended to restore the management of the funds to the village communities, and remove all entries on account of them from the Government books. An exception should be allowed in favour of the village temples, which, from their antiquity and co-existence with the village itself, are fairly entitled to a continuance of the ancient contribution from the revenues of the villages in which they are situated.

Village Dharma'dā'ys.

" 9. The holders of these, whether their future titles be decided under the amended rules of 1842, or on an equitable consideration of their claims on the State, cannot be entitled to more than a continuance of their allowances for life. When the survey is about to be introduced into a district, it is better to buy up the remaining allowance according to the scale sanctioned for life holdings.

" 10. Of the other allowances described by Mr. Peile, two items, viz., the compensation to Hakdārs and that to the Dhollera Grassias, require no remark. They have been already disposed of.

" 11. The allowance called 'Kothlisánthi' are properly rents or profits derived from lands now held by Government but which were either the property of the sánth holders, or mortgaged to them by the village officers responsible for the Government dues, who, instead of allowing the mortgagees to remain in possession, resumed the land, and charged the village revenues with these annual allowances or sánths.

" 12. The Governor in Council concurs with the Revenue Commissioner in considering these allowances to be entitled to the same consideration as if the holders had remained in possession of the lands for the deprivation of which this compensation was granted. All such allowances, therefore, if plainly stated in the earliest extant account, to be held in exchange for lands resumed, (whether the land can now be identified or not,) and since paid without objection, should be continued on the terms on which the lands for which they were exchanged would now be continuable, provided that whenever by the terms of a mortgage-bond a sánth can be redeemed, or whenever owing to circumstances it is advisable to restore the land originally taken, the Revenue Commissioner should exercise his discretion so as to get rid of the annual money payment, if this can equitably be done.

" 13. All small Kothlisánths under Rs. 2 should be disposed of by payment of the present valuation, and holders of larger sums should be encouraged to accept the same terms.

" 14. Whenever there is no proof that land has been taken by Government in exchange, the recognition of the grant as a sánth should be disallowed, and payment should cease on the death of the present holder, unless a claim to longer continuance under any other rules be made out.

" 15. In settling this numerous class of allowances by the above rules, the Revenue Commissioner should be careful to economise labour by having all ordinary cases reported to him in a tabular or other succinct form, special cases only being submitted to Government. A record should be kept showing the house, cannot be considered bonâ fide temple grants and should be dealt with as personal grants to the proportion which these payments bear to the present value of the land for which they were exchanged.

"16. With respect to the kothlisánth allowances in the Mullik villages, the Governor in Council considers that the settlement of them should take place simultaneously with the revision of assessment in these villages.

"17. Government did not initiate these payments, but found them, on obtaining possession of the country, generated by the disorders of the previous rule. The holders were treated with unexampled indulgence, but the peace of the country called for the policy then adopted, and faith should now be kept with their descendants, although they are no longer dangerous to the State. This the Governor in Council is prepared in the strictest sense to do, but he cannot allow that a tax at first so irregularly imposed on the community should now be extorted by the aid of legal proceedings from the public purse by others than those in whose favour the original arrangements were made, or that Government should be compelled to continue its good offices between the Grássias and the village communities in a manner to which it never pledged itself. It should, therefore, be publicly declared in every taluka, as the revenue survey settlement is introduced, that the new rates of assessment do not include any such collections, and that Government will in future not aid or take part in the collection of Grássias.

"18. In thus placing the Grássias in the same position with respect to the village communities which they originally held, the Governor in Council cannot allow them to resort to other than legal means to enforce their claims, and if any village communities decline to accede to the Grássias' demands, the latter must resort to the Civil Courts. At the same time the Governor in Council is not unwilling to make some sacrifice of revenue in order to relieve the Grássias from the necessity of resorting to law, and he is prepared, whenever the Grássia may be willing to receive from Government his present income, instead of collecting it direct from the villagers, to continue that income to him under such reasonable rules and restrictions as it may seem fit to Government to impose.

"19. The conditions on which this arrangement will be entered into are that the Grássia shall consent to abandon for the future his claims against the village communities, and in return the allowances he has hitherto enjoyed shall be continued by the State hereditarily (during good behaviour) to the male issue of the first person who receives the girás from the British treasury. The girás, or any portion of it, may further be continued to the lineal male issue of a brother of the first British recipient, in any case in which on enquiry the Revenue Commissioner may find that hardship would be felt by the discontinuance of the girás. If in any case, however, the allowance has been enjoyed on condition of service, that condition of service will not be abandoned, although it is not expected that such service can now be taken with advantage to the public.

"20. The amount of the allowances which will thus be paid shall in future be the sum as ascertained from the earlier records to be the original net payment to the Grássia, all extra payments or fees being discontinued. The only exception to this rule is the class of dharmádáys in Broach, which His Excellency in Council perceives to have been in some cases assigned by Grássias out of their allowances. If the connection with the girás be clearly traced, the amount should be added to the girás, and the recipient referred to the Grássia. If, on the other hand, the connection is not traceable, the allowance should be adjudicated under the amended rules of 1842.

"21. The allowances known as salámi or khichri are hereditary, and should be so settled.

Moghlái Jaghír.

"22. The Moghlái jaghír allowances are peculiar to Surat. They are not numerous, but are of large amounts, and generally individuals in whose houses the offerings are made. But this order is not to apply to cases already adjudicated on. (G. Rs. Nos. 621, dated 28th February 1863, and 452, dated 2nd February 1865.)

5. Government approve of the action of the Revenue Commissioner, N. D., in continuing permanently as devasthán grants certain allowances in Gujarát held on account of idols situated in private dwelling-houses, because they have been entered as such (and so continued ever since) in the early records, which Government have declared to be sufficient authority for their continuance, and also because the Hindu community is admitted to the worship of the idols just in the same way as in other cases. (G. R. No. 1160, dated 20th March 1865.)

6. Allowances held on behalf of devasthán in private dwelling-houses should be entered in the accounts as hereditary and continued for so long as there may be in existence any heirs of the original grantees, or of the earliest recorded recipients, in cases in which decisions declaring the grants to be permanent have been passed. Where such decisions have not been passed, the allowances will appear in the accounts under the heading "not specified", which includes all grants the tenure of which has not yet been finally determined. (G. R. No. 2626, dated 21st June 1865.)

7. There would be no anomaly in keeping the former subha summundhi devastháns of Rs. 5 and under as payments from the district treasury, the fact being that they were always paid from the district, while the gám summundhi were originally paid from the villages, and there would be no objection on the ground that village summundhi small sums will again be paid from the village, were small payments of subha summundhi to be continued from the district treasury. But as it is convenient to the Account Department to get rid of small payments from the district treasuries, and involve questions which require special treatment. Separate reports on these cases should, therefore, be submitted to Government.

"23. With regard to the Moghlái haks or allowances belonging to the late Naváb, extract paragraphs 46 and 47 of Mr. Peile's report should be transferred to the Political Department; the Bukhshi's allowances having, as reported by the Revenue Commissioner, been already disposed of in that Department.

Gamti Sirpav.

"24. The few cases under this head should form the subject of one general report, upon which the instructions of Government will be issued.

Life Property.

"25. Regarding the life payments referred to in paragraph 53 of Mr. Peile's report, specific instructions are not at present called for. If special cases requiring the orders of Government should arise, separate reports should be made.

"26. The Governor in Council trusts that those instructions will enable the Revenue Commissioner to bring speedily to a conclusion the enquiry into the cash alienations of Gujarát."

convenient to the recipients to be saved the journey for small amounts, it will be better to transfer for payment through the Pátels all amounts of Rs. 5 and under. Care must be taken to give the recipients a sanad recording that the allowances were formerly subha summundhi, and are now and henceforth to be paid through the Pátel. (G. R. No. 4662, dated 12th December 1868.)

8. The disbursement of all devasthán allowances of Rs. 5 and under may be entrusted to the hereditary Pátels.* But care should be taken to let the managers and others know the sums they are entitled to. Government do not want to resume any of the village petty devasthán allowances amounting to Rs. 5 and under, on the ground that the holders have not received payment within six years, but prefer to leave it to the Pátel to expend the amount himself towards the devasthán, if the holder be not present, he (the Pátel) remaining personally responsible to the holders for such expenditure or for non-payment in time, &c. The Pátel need not show the amount in the village books, nor keep any account further than is necessary for him to save himself from any civil action. Government will not trouble themselves any further after the sum is once paid from taluka treasuries to the Patels. (G. Rs. Nos. 2762, dated 10th June 1870, 1892, dated 10th April 1874, and 2960, dated 11th June 1874.)

9. In cases where these petty devasthán allowances are paid to hereditary Pátels, a case requiring the operation of Rule XI of the Pension Rules is not likely to occur, as Government divest themselves of all responsibility, as regards the allowances after they are once disbursed. But when there is no hereditary Pátel in the village in which a religious institution is situated, the payment of any grant pertaining to it, whether it exceeds Rs. 5 or not, is to be made under the rules at the treasury of the district or taluka in which the village is situated. In such cases, Rule XI of the Pension Rules of course applies, and under it any pension or grant, whatever be its amount, for payment of which no application is duly made for more than six years, should be struck off the books and all arrears forfeited. (G. R. No. 3625, dated 5th May 1885.)

10. Before Government Resolution No. 3625, dated 5th May 1885, is applied, at least a three months' notice should be given to the holders of the allowances, so that they might claim the arrears within the notified time, failing which the allowances should be struck off. (G. R. No. 929, dated 4th February 1886.)

11. Payments on account of devasthán allowances should be made in accordance with the rules under the Pensions Act. (G. R. No. 8649, dated 14th November 1889.)

12. Government do not wish to have anything further to do with temple grants than merely to hand them over to the recognized or legal recipients whenever they appear and apply for them. If contending parties assert that they are the legal recipients, the Collector should not enter into or listen to their discussions, but should refer them for redress and settlement to a Civil Court. Any interference or connection with native religious establishments on the part of Government servants (excepting the mere payments of trust monies to the legal representatives) is in direct opposition of the orders of Government. (G. R. No. 4712, dated 29th November 1864.)

13. It is not the duty of Government to consider the propriety of the life and conduct of the recognized manager for the time being of a temple endowment. (L. R. No. 915, dated 29th July 1882; vide G. R. No. 5686, dated 22nd August 1882.)

14. The non-interference with temple endowments has reference not to the recognition of a proper claim to receive the allowance but to the mode in which the allowance when received is expended. (G. R. No. 6216, dated 31st July 1885.)

15. Government and their officers are precluded from taking any part whatever in the nomination or appointment of any trustee or manager of religious endowments by Section 22 of Act XX of 1863, which is by its terms of general application throughout British India, though the rest of the Act has not been extended to any part of this Presidency except Kánara (Bombay Act VII of 1865). Nor can the validity of an election be scrutinized by Government or their officers. (L. R., Nos. 1268, dated 24th November 1883, and 1145, dated 5th September 1889; vide G. Rs. Nos. 8593, dated 24th December 1888, and 7982, dated 21st October 1889.)

16. The Collector of Ahmedabad is authorized to exercise the powers named in Section 539, Civil Procedure Code, in the case of the religious endowments of the old mosques in Ahmedabad. He should, however, follow the usual rules relating to suits to which Government or a Government officer is a party, in respect of any suit which he proposes to institute, that is, the proposal should be referred through the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs with full details for the orders of Government before any plaint is filed, and all subsequent proceedings should also be governed by the same rules. (G. R. No. 3645, dated 28th May 1891.)

17. Bombay Act VII of 1865 having, extended the provision of Act XX of 1863 of the Government of India to the district of Kánara, the following rules were framed by the Collector of that district, with the approval of Government, for the management of the religious endowments in that district :—

[CASH ALLOWANCES.]

I.—The Committees contemplated in Section 7 of Act XX of 1863 shall be composed of members to be nominated by the Collector of Kánara and appointed by Government. Written notices, in the vernacular, of the appointments so made should be communicated to the Mámlatdár, who should post a copy at his kacheri, and a few more at conspicuous parts of the town.

II.—On the occurrence of a vacancy, the remaining members of the Committee shall forthwith give public intimation of such vacancy by a notice to be posted at the Mámlatdár's kacheri, and by causing a written or printed notice thereof to be affixed to some conspicuous place in each religious institution under their management.

III.—The notice shall set forth the name of the member in whose stead a new member is to be elected, the date on which the vacancy occurred, and the place, day, and hour fixed for the election by the remaining members of the Committee.

IV.—The place of the election shall be the principal religious institution under the management of the Committee, or the kasha town of the district, or of the taluk, in which the institution, where the vacancy occurs, is situated.

V.—The day to be fixed for the election shall not be earlier than one month, or later than three months, from the date on which the vacancy occurred, and within those limits shall, as far as practicable, be so fixed as to enable persons living within the jurisdiction of the Committee, and entitled to a vote at the election under Rule XIII, to attend and vote for a new member.

VI.—The voting shall commence at 6 A.M. and close at 5 P.M. of the day fixed for the election.

VII.—The remaining members of the Committee shall appoint a sufficient number of respectable and trustworthy persons as tellers to receive and register the votes of the electors. No person shall be appointed a teller who is himself a candidate for the vacant office, or the agent of such candidate.

VIII.—The remaining members of the Committee shall make such arrangements for taking the votes of the electors as will admit of all voters having reasonable time and opportunity to register their votes within the hour fixed, and shall appoint not less than two tellers to each office where the votes may be given. Each elector shall declare to the tellers in writing the name, residence, occupation, or other description, of the person for whose appointment he votes, as well as his own.

IX.—The tellers shall immediately enter the names, &c., of the elector and his nominee in a book which shall be provided for the purpose by the Committee, and shall require the voter to attest the registry by signature or mark. The vote-papers shall also be duly filed by the tellers.

CASH ALLOWANCES.]

X.—The books of registry shall be in the annexed form, and at the close of the voting shall be signed by the tellers who took the votes therein registered.

XI.—The result of the election shall be declared by the remaining members of the Committee within twenty-four hours after the closing of the voting.

XII.—A notice containing the result of the election, and signed by the remaining members of the Committee and the tellers, shall, without delay, be published by notices to be posted in the Mámíatdár's kacheri, and affixed to some conspicuous place in each religious institution under the management of the Committee.

XIII.—The registry book of votes and files of voting papers shall be kept open for the inspection of the electors for a fortnight after the result of the election has been declared in a convenient place at the town where the election took place, and shall be carefully preserved by the Committee among their records.

XIV.—The following persons will be entitled to vote at elections of members of Committees :—

(1) Owners of lands situated within the jurisdiction of the Committee, and paying an annual revenue to Government of not less than Rs. 20.

(2) Owners of landed property, situated as aforesaid, wholly or partially exempted from the payment of revenue to Government, but which, if not so exempt, would be liable to an annual payment of Rs. 20.

(3) Owners of house property, situated as aforesaid, of the estimated value of Rs. 250 and upwards.

(4) Occupiers of houses, situated as aforesaid, of the annual rental of Rs. 50 and upwards.

(5) Persons in the employment of Government on salaries of Rs. 150 per annum and upwards, or in the receipt of pensions from Government of the like amount.

(6) Possessors of private property income to the amount of Rs. 150 and upwards.

(7) Persons supporting any religious endowment under the management of the Committee by annual payments of not less than Rs. 50 or a donation of Rs. 500.

(8) Graduates of any University who have resided for six months prior to the election within the jurisdiction of the Committee.

(9) Any person not qualified as aforesaid, and claiming to vote, must establish his right to the satisfaction of the Committee :

Provided always that no persons shall be entitled to vote at any election unless he professes the religion for the purposes of which the institution under the management of the Committee was founded or maintained, and is interested in its maintenance, and is not a minor.

Provided also that no person shall be entitled or allowed to vote unless he has been registered as a voter at least seven days before the occurrence of the vacancy at which he desires to vote.

XV.—Every Committee shall keep a register of voters, in which shall be entered the name, occupation, or other description and qualification, of every person entitled to vote at their elections; and every person satisfying the Committee that he possesses the qualifications hereinafter mentioned shall be entitled to be registered as a voter, and be furnished with a copy of the entry of his name, &c., in the register.

XVI.—No person shall be entitled to more than one vote for each vacancy.

XVII.—Voting by proxy shall be allowed only in the case of absentees supporting institutions under the management of the Committee by annual payments of Rs. 500 or upwards, or donations of Rs. 5,000. The authority produced by the proxy must have been executed before a public officer not below the grade of Mahál-kári, and attested by him.

XVIII.—Voters proved to have wilfully registered more than one vote for each vacancy shall thereby be disqualified for again voting, and their names shall be removed from the register.

XIX.—The person who receives the largest number of votes shall be declared duly elected as a member of the Committee, and, in the event of two or more persons having an equal number of votes, the selection shall be determined by lot.

XX.—Any person proved to have given directly, or indirectly, any valuable consideration whatsoever in return for a vote shall be thereby disqualified from being elected.

XXI.—The election of any person except in conformity with these rules shall be null and void.

(G. R. No. 1662, dated 7th May 1866.)

18. It does not appear necessarily to follow from the provision in Section 7 of Act XX of 1863, "the local Government shall, once for all, appoint one or more Committees in every division or district," that a Committee should be appointed in each taluka.

If the Committee which was appointed under Government Resolution No. 1397 of 9th April 1867 for the management of the Hindu religious endowments in the Kumta Taluka, including what has recently been constituted the Ankola Taluka, is still sufficient for the purpose, it is not necessary under the Act to appoint a separate Committee for the Ankola Taluka, though it will be more convenient if in future the Committee is denominated the Committee for the management of the Hindu religious endowments in the Kumta and Ankola talukas of the Kánara District.

Section 10 of the Act merely lays down the procedure to be followed in filling up vacancies by the remaining members of the Committee, and should they fail to take the necessary steps, any person whatever may apply to the Civil Court which is empowered by the Act to fill up the vacancies.

Whether the vacancies which may occur in the Committee are filled up or not in accordance with the provisions of Section 10 of the Act, so long as there are not less than three remaining members the Committee is a legally constituted one.

Should the number of members ever become reduced by vacancies below three, the Committee would become extinct, and it would be necessary to appoint a fresh one.

19. The lease of lands assigned for devasthán purposes granted in perpetuity for an annual rent by the manager of the devasthán for the benefit of the institution is valid under the provisions of clause 3 of Section 8 of Act II of 1863. (G. R. No. 654, dated 3rd February 1870.)

20. In preventing misappropriation of religious and charitable endowments, the same policy should be pursued in the old provinces to which Bombay Act VII of 1863 and the new provinces to which Bombay Act II of 1863 are applicable. (G. R. No. 6411, dated 9th November 1876.)

21. An allowance made by Government for the support of a Hindu temple is not liable to attachment in satisfaction of a debt incurred by the manager of the temple on his own account. The power of a manager of a temple to deal with its property has been discussed by the Privy Council in the case of Prosunno Koomari Débya vs. Golabchund Babu (L. R., 2 Ind. App., 145). In giving judgment, their Lordships say:—"There is no doubt that, as a general rule of Hindu Law, property given for the maintenance of religious worship and of charities connected with it, is inalienable. It is, however, competent for the Sebait of property dedicated to the worship of an idol, in the capacity of manager of the estate, to incur debts and borrow money for the proper expenses of keeping up the religious worship, repairing the temple or other possessions of the idol, defending hostile litigious attacks, and other like objects. The power, however, to incur such debts must be measured by the existing necessity for incurring them. The authority of the Sebait of an idol's estate would appear to be in this respect analogous to that of the manager for an infant heir,—a limited and qualified power, which can only be executed rightly in a case of need, or for the benefit of the estate. It is only in an ideal sense that property can be said to belong to an idol, and the possession and management of it must in the nature of things be entrusted to some persons as Sebit or manager. It would seem to follow that the person so entrusted must of necessity be empowered to do whatever may be required for the service of the idol, and for the benefit and preservation of its property, at least to as great a degree as the manager of an infant heir. If this were not so, the estate of the idol might be destroyed or wasted, and its worship discontinued for want of the necessary funds to preserve and maintain them."

Such being the limits of the manager's power to deal with the funds, or charge the property of a temple, it follows as a matter of necessary inference that he cannot lawfully apply the funds or property of the temple to his own purposes. Nor can they be made answerable for debts incurred by him otherwise than for necessary purposes as above explained.

It is perhaps doubtful whether allowances to temples, though unquestionably granted and continued by Government on political considerations, come within the terms of Section 3 of Act XXIII of 1871; but the above decision of the Privy Council renders it unnecessary to discuss this point. In cases in which Government allowances to temples have been attached in satisfaction of the private debts of the pujari, and there is no Panch or Committee to interfere to protect the rights of the temple, the Collector is the proper person to do so, on behalf of the Hindu community. He should instruct the Government Pleader to apply for the removal of the attachment in the ordinary way, under Section 246 of the Civil Procedure Code.

(Adv. Gnl. No. 33, dated 2nd August 1875; vide G. R. No. 4665, dated 18th idem.)

22. Government should not interfere to have set aside the mortgage of a temple allowance effected long before it was enacted by the Legislature in Section 8, clause 3 of Bombay Act II of 1863, that such alienation is illegal.

The High Court have held (see I. L. R., 5 Bom., 393), that the above mentioned law merely declares the pre-existing common law of this country, that religious endowments, whether Hindu or Mahomedan, are not alienable.

Government have decided in the rules they have laid down on the subject that it is not desirable the Collector should bring a suit to enforce the proper application of an endowment.

Should the endowment ever come under any process by way of attachment or sale in execution of any decree of the Civil Court, it will be open to the Collector to intervene under the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code, and prevent any further alienation of the endowment.*

CASH ALLOWANCES.]

23. By Section 8, clause 3, of Bombay Act II of 1863, religious endowments, wholly or partly exempted as such from land tax, are declared inalienable. They are equally inalienable where the Act is not in force, for though Bombay Act VII of 1863 contains no such provisions as Section 8 of Bombay Act II of 1863, yet religious endowments are in their very nature inalienable. In the case of a religious endowment or public institution no sanad at all is necessary as has been decided by the High Court in the printed judgment in the case of Manohar Ganesh vs. Lakhmiram.* A declaratory entry in the Government registers is quite sufficient, and any one thereafter interfering with the property assumes the responsibility of a trustee.

The Collector may anywhere outside the Presidency Town take steps under Section 539 of the Code of Civil Procedure to prevent the fraudulent alienation of land or of revenues constituting an endowment. The simplest course to follow in such a case is to give notice and thereafter exact the full assessment. The possessor who had taken the land by alienation or who declined to fulfil the conditions as trustee of the holding could not take advantage of his own fraud as the Acting Remembrancer of Legal Affairs seems to have thought he could in such a case (see Report† No. 1117 of 1887, * Printed Judgments of 1887.

† "I.—The answers to the questions put by the Commissioner appear to be as follows:—

(1) Under Hindu Law, devasthan lands are inalienable (I. L. R., V Bom., page 393), but may perhaps be temporarily mortgaged (I. L. R., IX Bom., page 422). The matter does not seem to be affected by Bombay Act VII of 1863. It is true that Section 6 says that when the Governor in Council shall under clause 1 of Section 2 finally authorize and guarantee the continuance in perpetuity to the holders, their heirs and assigns of land wholly or partially exempt from the ordinary payment of annual land revenue, the said lands shall (subject to the enactments contained in Section 7) be the heritable and transferable property of the said holders, their heirs and assigns. But this section is qualified by the proviso in Section 7: 'Provided always that the said rightful owner, his heirs and assigns shall not by this Act or anything therein contained be deprived of any rights or remedies to which he or they would be entitled against the said holder, his heirs or assigns for the recovery of the said lands or any part thereof if this Act had not been passed.' The result is that by the application of the summary settlement under Act VII of 1863 the continuance for ever of the exemption from the assessment has been guaranteed by Government without regard to the person who may for the time being be in possession. But the rights of persons beneficially entitled to the property are not affected inter se. In the case of devasthan lands there may be a good deal of difficulty in deciding who is the real owner, but I think there can be no doubt that the community for whose benefit the temple exists have an interest in the grant which is preserved by Section 7 and which gives them power to sue in the proper way for the restitution of the property if diverted to secular uses. The managers for the time being are certainly not the owners. They are mere trustees and the summary settlement does not confer on them any rights of alienation which they did not before possess.

(2) I think in the revised sanads the name of the person who was manager at the time the settlement was accepted should be inserted. The usual way in which I have seen sanads for devasthan land drawn up is in the name of the god annexed to Government Resolution No. 6595 of 1887). By taking or giving in alienation, by refusing or omitting to perform the service annexed to the holding, the occupier would have estopped himself from alleging it was sacred property. In the case of land sold in execution, this would be especially the case, unless indeed the land had been sold under some special circumstances as sacred property—a case that would very seldom occur.

In the printed judgment* in the case of Narayanrao vs. Raji Mahomed, it is pointed out that a Musalmán's duty in relation to a grant for a pir's tomb is not transferable to a Hindu. Such a trans-with the addition of the manager (e.g., Shri Vithoba, vahitadár). The right to a sanad was complete as soon as the settlement was accepted under Section 2, and as it may be difficult to ascertain to whom the right of management may have subsequently passed, the safest course will be to enter the name of the manager at that time.

(3). I do not think that Government can levy full survey rates from the alienees when devasthán land has been alienated from the institution to which it was granted. According to Hindu Law, a grant to a temple is permanent and cannot be resumed (L. R., VI Bom., page 546). And the fact that the managers may have illegally alienated it will not have the effect of making it revert to Government, or justify it in, as it were, participating in the sacrilege by imposing a full assessment on the land. Least of all can this be done in cases to which the summary settlement has been applied. In whatever terms the sanad may have been worded, the effect of Section 6 is to guarantee for ever the exemption of the land from assessment wholly or partially as the case may be. In regard to this point I would call attention to Mr. Naylor's opinion No. 757 of 17th November 1875, referred to in Government Resolution No. 6921 of 9th December 1875.

"II.—The only thing I think that can be done when the Collector finds that devasthán land has been diverted from its legitimate uses is to take action under Section 539 of the Civil Procedure Code with a view to its restoration. No other remedy seems possible in the present state of the law, and probably owing to the difficulty of obtaining accurate information this is not one that can often be resorted to. A Bill for the better administration of the Hindu and Mahomedan endowments was submitted by Mr. Naylor with his letter No. 43 of 15th January 1879, but the proposed legislation was not carried out.

"III.—In the above remarks I have referred only to Hindu devastháns. They apply, however, with equal force to Musalmán wakf property which by Mahomedan Law is similarly inalienable." (L. R. No. 1117, dated 25th August 1887.)

"With regard to the sanads, the safest and simplest course will be to have them made out in the name of the institution, adding the name of the manager with whom the summary settlement was effected, if he is still living, and provided he was the vahitadár at the time of settlement. If he is dead, the name of the actual manager should be entered, and the sanad should be handed over to the manager whose name is entered in it. But if the person who would thus be entitled to receive the sanad desires that it be delivered to some other person, his request should be complied with, and where there is a person in possession of the institution and of the property appertaining to it who is not the manager with whom the summary settlement was effected or his regular successor, and the person in possession claims the sanad against the wish of the said manager or of his regular successor, it should be given to the person with whom the settlement was effected as above shown. In any other case delivery of the sanad should be withheld until the parties obtain a decision in the Civil Courts declaring who is entitled to it." (Para. 2 of G. R. No. 6595, dated 29th September 1887).

fer therefore would estop the Hindu transferee from setting up any exemption on account of the sacred character of the tenure.

In all instances of alienation of religious endowments it is for those who are really interested in the celebration or other continuation of the pious service to come forward and require that it be performed. The Collector's duty is merely to see that an alienation of the public property or revenue is not enjoyed under false pretences. In each case before taking any active measures, the Collector should convince himself, from such inquiry as he may deem necessary, that there is at least prima facie proof that there has been a defeat of the object of the endowment, as by the transfer of a sacred endowment to purely secular hands and purposes. Transfers within a family or priestly class are sometimes allowed, but an alienation to other than sacred uses is not permissible.

If the Collector does interfere under Section 539, Civil Procedure Code, he should always demand his costs from the defendant and alternatively from the endowment. These costs will in general be only those of taking legal advice and may generally be recovered directly from the relators who appear as plaintiffs in the suit.

(G. R. No. 2023, dated 28th March 1888.)

Note.—This Government Resolution has been modified by Government Resolutions Nos. 5255, dated 26th July 1890, and 5066, dated 24th July 1891 (vide Government Resolution No. 7728, dated 29th September 1892).

24. The Hindu Law, like the Roman Law and the systems derived from it, allows both enforcement of a consequent duty and revocation of a gift made for a particular purpose which is not fulfilled by the donee (see W. and B. Hindu Law, 204). The English Law does not admit revocation. The principles applicable to religious property are explained very fully in the High Court's Judgment in the Dákor Temple Case (I. L. R., 12 Bom., 247), and are recognized in the Honourable Sir Charles Sargent's judgment at page 299 of the Printed Judgments for 1884. That a person endowed for a public purpose or discharging the duties of a religious office can anticipate and alienate the income by which he is supported, is not universally true under the English Law, as, e.g., in the case of a judge. A sequestration of the profits of a parson's benefice has to be carried out subject to limitations and he cannot encumber his benefice even for his life or incumbency (Shaw vs. Pritchard, 10 Ba. and Cr., 241). Nor can any ecclesiastic alienate the church lands except for short terms regulated by Statute (see Burton's Real Property, Sections 217—218).

But the Courts have proceeded generally on narrower principles. They have not regarded Hindu benefices as essentially extra commercium so as to be absolutely insusceptible of any alienation or incumbrance except for their benefit. The principle has been partially but not completely applied. A temporary alienation may not involve a complete defeat of the law as administered. Hence when the institution from which land or an allowance has been diverted can be ascertained, any interference on the part of Government seems undesirable. The beneficiaries interested should be left to assert their rights by suit. But when the supposed institution does not exist or cannot be ascertained, the cause for the remission has failed. The Indian Common Law right of the State to levy a land tax (see the Kánara Land Case, 12 Bom. H. C. R.) revives and the non-exercise of the right tends to tie up property, i. e., the capital value of the remission, in a perpetuity not justified by any public purpose subserved by it. When the institution cannot be pointed out, the allowance or remission made in favour of it need not be conceded or continued.

(G. R. No. 5255, dated 26th July 1890.)

25. The orders in Government Resolution No. 5255, dated 26th July 1890, apply to cash as well as land alienations of religious endowments. The Courts would generally uphold an alienation of a cash allowance during the alienor's life. As a religious grant it could not be properly alienated, but as against the vendor the alienation would be upheld. The payment, however, usually remains, it is presumed, in the Government accounts as one made to the person directly entitled, while the vendee receives payment on an order from the vendor. On the vendor's death the vendee's right expires, as it was a personal right against the vendor to which Government for convenience sake gave effect, but which has now ceased to exist. If the allowance stands in the accounts as one to an institution, it cannot be payable to any one not representing the institution. No one else is capable of taking it with a legal title, and payment may properly be withheld, subject to the persistence of the alienee's right during the life of an alienor, who would himself be entitled to claim payment. In such cases the grant while it subserves its purpose is irrevocable, but when there is not even a pretext of its serving the purpose, the whole reason for the payment fails and it may be refused. As a service grant Government has of course full control over any payment. The Pensions Act XXIII of 1871 affords a safeguard in most cases of payment from treasuries.

The Government Resolution No. 5255, dated 26th July 1890, does not differ in principle from the earlier one, No. 2023, dated 28th March 1888, asserting the right of Government. But it would be a vain and unprofitable course for Government to rescue property from alien hands merely to hand it over to pious beneficiaries and thus save the latter the expense of legal proceedings. When the institution or the intended service has no longer any one to represent it, Government can take the benefit for the public.

(G. R. No. 5066, dated 24th July 1891.)

26. The following opinion (No. 60, dated 15th January 1891) of the Remembrancer of Legal

CASH ALLOWANCES.]

Affairs on the subject of the resumption of devasthāns, was communicated to all Commissioners and Collectors :—

"The devasthān grant which formed the subject of the reference reported on in my Report No. 1665 of 30th October 1890 is, it now appears, an endowment for watering the village cattle.

"2. The Collector states that its conditions may be looked on as the same as those of a devasthān grant.

"Probably the endowment was originally so regarded, kine being invested by Hindu religious feeling with a peculiar sanctity.

"The grant might also enure for the benefit of the villagers for the gratuitous watering of whose cattle the endowment provides. In neither aspect of the case would Government be justified, in my opinion, in resuming the grant on failure of performance of service. If it has a religious object, the grant would be protected from resumption by the general principles of Hindu Law referred to at Indian Law Reports, 5 Bombay, 396. If it is purely secular, it is for the benefit of the villagers whose interests therein would be annulled by the proposed resumption.

"3. The present incumbent can be compelled to perform the duties attaching to the grant, whether he has alienated his life-interest in the remuneration or not, or his place may be supplied by appointment of another in his default, whereon the alienated interest would determine. In any case the alienation cannot extend beyond his life-time.

"4. But if Government have any interest in the performance of the duties, they cannot enforce it by putting an end to the endowment.

"5. It is remarkable that the Collector states 'The land is held under a Summary Settlement Sanad by the Pátel and Kulkarni.' This apparently means that the land is held by those officers and not that the sanad was granted by them. It does not appear under what authority the sanad was granted. But if the settlement were made under any section of Bombay II of 1863, other than Section 8 of that Act, the land must have become the transferable property of the holder. If the settlement were made under Section 8, the land might be recoverable from the mortgagee (vide Section 16 (g) ), but the recovery could not be effected by the resumption proposed on behalf of Government.

"6. I do not think the resumption of devasthān by imposition of full assessment can ever be legal. The only cases, in which such property can become liable to full assessment, appear to me to be cases in which the class of beneficiaries being wholly extinct, the property reverts to Government by a quasi escheat."

(G. R. No. 1604, dated 2nd March 1891.)

27. The following opinion (No. 1096, dated 29th August 1889) of the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs on the question whether a suit between the claimants to a devasthān cash allowance requires a certificate under the Pensions Act, and whether in the absence of such certificate execution can be withheld by the Collector, was circulated to the Divisional Commissioners and Collectors for information and guidance :—

"The cases noted in the margin are authorities which appear to support the Subordinate Judge who decided the suit in his view that the Pensions Act would not bar the suit. There has never, I think, been any decree precisely on the point in the Bombay High Court. But I think it very probable the question would in this Presidency be decided on the same grounds as in Madras.

"Pensions and grants imply pensioners and grantees, personal recipients of the bounty of Government, and Government alone have a right to decide as to the distribution of that bounty.

"But religious endowments are at least in theory impersonal, and are either for the support of some services deemed religious, or the maintenance of some building regarded as sacred. The object of the bounty is not a man at all, although the fund must necessarily be administered by some trustee or manager who no doubt practically exercises proprietary rights over it. Government have no particular interest in seeing that such trustee performs the duties of his trust. If he neglects them or wastes the funds, those interested might bring a suit under Section 539, Civil Procedure Code, to compel performance, and the Courts might appoint some other trustee or manager, and Government would pay the cash allowance to the trustees so appointed.

"Religious endowments are no doubt inalienable under Hindu Law and also, if they take the form of land, under Bombay II of 1863, Section 8, Clause 3.

"But the restriction applies rather to the corpus than to the revenue, or management would be impossible. Alienation is perfectly justifiable within certain limits as to time, justifying necessity and provision for performance of the duties, and Government can hardly in the case of a Hindu religious endowment be in a position to dispute these points with the recipients, even if Government had any interest in doing so.

"I must also note that in a very recent decision it has been held that the Pensions Act would not restrict the jurisdiction of the Courts to entertain suits relating to allowances for which Government are admittedly liable to some one or other. The Act is always construed strictly, and according to the Allahabad High Court, even if the cash allowance were a pension, no certificate would be necessary to a suit between rival claimants thereto, if Government admitted that some one or other was entitled to it. In the case of a devasthan cash allowance, it would probably be held that it was neither a pension nor a grant within the meaning of Sections 4, 5 and 6 of the Pensions Act, but an endowment. Government do not dispute their liability to pay the allowance. It seems to be utterly immaterial to Government who is the actual payee.

"It could not for a moment be urged that Section 11 of the Pensions Act would exempt the allowance in question from attachment. That section refers to pensions granted on political considerations on account of past services or present infirmities or as a compassionate allowance. It has no reference to any but personal grantees."

(G. R. No. 7099, dated 20th September 1889.)

28. No general orders have been passed by Government authorizing Collectors to exercise the powers specified in Section 539 of the Civil Procedure Code, and it is usual for the Collectors to report each case as it arises for the orders of Government. (G. R. No. 7728, dated 29th September 1892.)

29. All religious endowments in this country are inalienable independently of I. L. R., 5 B., 393. Section 8 (3) of Bombay Act II of 1863 and notwithstanding Section 6 of Bombay Act VII of 1863, and suit would be maintainable under Section 537, Civil Procedure Code, to prevent malversation by a manager, committee or trustee.

The word 'holder' does not, in connection with a mosque, mean a person in possession, but a person or body of persons, such as a committee, manager or trustee, that has accepted certain trusts and responsibilities in respect of the management of and dealing with the property.

If a person in possession has not the status of a trustee, &c., but is a mere caretaker, then apparently Government could recognize his connexion with the mosque by issuing a service sanad such as that which in the case at I. L. R., X B., 34, appears to have been held as conclusively establishing the inalienability of the land beyond the life-interest of the person in possession.

III.—HAKS AND RASAMS.

1. As regards bonds granted in compensation for haks abolished by Acts XXVII of 1837, I of 1838 and XIX of 1844, such bonds as are held for the benefit of religious and charitable institutions stand in a different position from bonds in the possession of individuals. The haks which they represent were intended as perpetual endowments, and the payment of the principal sum into the hands of the managers would involve the risk of its being dissipated, and the consequent permanent loss to the institution of the funds provided for its support. The Government of Bombay is accordingly authorized to declare bonds of this description to be irredeemable (except when otherwise desired by the holders), the payments in respect of them being debited to their appropriate head in the public accounts, as provided for in Government Resolution * No. 3126, dated 20th September 1858. (S. of S. No. 2, Rev., dated 12th January 1860; vide G. R. No. 631, dated 15th February 1860.)

2. The allowances granted to Meyási Chiefs in the Kaira and Khándeshi Collectorates as compensation for the abolition of the transit duties which they formerly levied from travellers and merchandise passing through their nákas are to be continued to the heirs of the parties from whom agreements were taken in 1841-42, or to those of any near relatives whose name may have been subsequently entered in the accounts under proper authority. The name of the eldest representative of the family should alone appear in the accounts, those of all subordinate sharers being excluded. (G. R. No. 3590, dated 22nd August 1865, and G. L. No. 3957, dated 20th September 1865.)

* Government approve of the proposal of the Revenue Commissioner for alienations as modified by the Accountant General that payments on account of compensation bonds to temples should be debited to the appropriate head in the public accounts of "Grants to Mosques and Temples." (G. R. No. 3126, dated 20th September 1858.)

3. The allowances to the Mevási Chiefs and Bhils in Khándesh in pursuance of the orders in Government Resolution No. 3957, dated 20th September 1865, should be continued hereditarily, and the sanads should contain a proviso that, in the event of the direct male line becoming extinct, payment will be withheld pending the orders of Government. The rule that payment is to be made only to the eldest representative of the family is not to be retrospectively applied. Separate sanads should be issued and separate payments continue to be made to those who have drawn their allowances direct from Government. (G. R. No. 2117, dated 25th April 1874.)

4. The practice regarding succession before the foregoing orders of 25th April 1874 does not limit the discretion of Government in applying the rules laid down in those orders. (G. R. No. 5781, dated 25th April 1874.)

5. The jakát haks were a species of black mail levied by the Bhil Náiks in Khándesh and Násik, for the protection of traders or travellers passing through their jungles. These exactions were stopped by the British Government, which consented to pay the Náiks an annual allowance as compensation for the loss thus sustained by them. This allowance is a pension granted or continued by Government on political considerations, and is therefore not liable to attachment in satisfaction of a decree of a Civil Court; but is protected from such attachment by Section 11 of Act XXIII of 1871. Political considerations are not defined in the Act, but apparently this must be taken to be a pension or grant of money payable on the part of Government in respect of a privilege or perquisite enjoyed by the Bhil Náiks which it was deemed politic to abolish; and it cannot be doubted that it was of political importance to give travellers and traders the protection of a regular Police instead of the irregular convoy of a Bhil Chief.

But while it is considered that this allowance is protected by the Act, the Civil Court must determine whether or not it is so protected. The Act does not provide that Government shall decide what pensions are payable on political considerations, and that its decisions shall be binding on the Courts. As the law stands, every case of attachment of pension must, I think, be decided on its own merits by the Court which issues the attachment. It may be hard on a Bhil Chief, that he should have to employ a vakil, and be put to the trouble and expense of an enquiry, when the matter might be settled by the Collector's certificate; but it is an inconvenience caused by the law, and must therefore be endured. The Collector should come to the assistance of the Bhil Chief, and instruct the Government Pleader to take the necessary steps to have the attachment removed. It would be of evil example, and tend greatly to diminish the just authority of the Civil Courts, were the Collector simply to refuse compliance with the Court's order, instead of taking the proper steps to have it set aside.

(Adv. Gen. No. 33, dated 2nd August 1875; vide G. R. No. 4665, dated 18th idem.)

6. The Kasab and Betheli Veros paid by persons in Government and alienated villages in the Panch Maháls should be abolished. (G. R., F. D., No. 1699, dated 6th July 1887.)

7. As girás payments are now made from Government treasuries, inám, sirpáv, chendu and other allowances granted by Grássiás for the trouble of collecting their girás should cease to be paid on the death of the persons holding them at the date of this order. Such allowances should be escheated and will not be available for increasing the remuneration of insufficiently paid Pátels. (G. R. No. 3757, dated 24th August 1861.)

8. When Grássiás die leaving no male heirs, their widows should be paid the whole allowance during their life-time. In the event of there being more than one widow, the allowance is to be continued until the death of the last survivor. (G. Rs. Nos. 4059, dated 16th July 1873, and 7381, dated 6th November 1888).

9. By the decision of the High Court to be found at page 203 of the Indian Law Reports, August 1876, it is clear that a toda girás hak comes within the meaning of the definition contained in Sections 3 and 4 of the Pensions Act XXIII of 1871, and that no suits will be successful against Government with reference to such haks. (G. Rs. Nos. 4384, dated 17th July 1877, 4929, dated 13th August 1877, and 5977, dated 4th October 1877.)

10. The following opinion of the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, No. 1108, dated 6th October 1888, was concurred in by Government :—

“In the matter referred for my opinion by Government memorandum No. 3073, dated 16th May 1888, one I. V. has purchased, at a Court auction sale for Rs. 26, the right, title and interest of M. D. and G. B. in toda girás allowances worth respectively Rs. 6 and Rs. 74 per annum.

“2. The holders of these girás allowances had executed kabuláyats binding themselves not to alienate their girás out of their families, and admitting the right of Government to suspend or discontinue the allowances on their failure to comply with these and other conditions.

“3. The Collector reports that certain statements as to the limited rights of the judgment-debtors were made at the time of the auction. Such statements could have no effect on the right, title and interest sold, though they may have deprecated them at the sale

"4. It appears that the sales took place before the new Act VII of 1887 became law.

"5. The question for consideration is whether the girás allowances should be continued or should be withheld from the auction-purchasers.

"6. It is true that girás allowances have been recognized as a species of property (8 M. I. A.) and capable of alienation and attachment and sale in execution of decree (4 B. I. L. R. 432 confirmed by the Privy Council at 5 B. I. L. R., 408).

"7. But I need hardly point out that these rulings cannot affect the rulings at 1 B. I. L. R. 203, 4 B. I. L. R. 437 and 443, which decide that Section 4 of the Pensions Act XXIII of 1871 bars a suit against Government to enforce payment of such haks unless a certificate from the Collector be produced, and that therefore the auction-purchaser could not maintain a suit against Government, should Government decide to discontinue the allowances.

"8. I assume, therefore, that the question referred is not so much whether a suit would be against Government if the allowances were discontinued as whether Government could equitably withhold from the purchaser.

"9. It may, however, be well to note that the latest ruling on the Pensions Act, reported at X, All., I. E. R. 399, lays down that no certificate is necessary if Government admit the existence of the grant, and where the only contention is as to the person entitled to receive it. The Allahabad case distinguishes the case reported at 1 B. I. L. R. 75 and I do not think it would affect the present case if Government asserted its right to discontinue the allowance altogether on its alienation from the holder's family. For in such case there would obviously be no admission but a denial of the continued existence of the grant. But if Government continued the allowance but refused payment to the auction-purchaser, then apparently under the recent Allahabad ruling, the purchaser could enforce his right without a certificate.

"10. Thus Government could without fear of suit discontinue the allowance, but the alienation prior to the Toda Girás Act VII of 1887 might, under the Allahabad ruling, still be enforced against the holders, if the allowance were continued to them.

"11. The clause against alienation, if correctly recited in the Collector's report, does not appear to me to be sufficient to justify Government in discontinuing the allowance. It refers only to voluntary alienations and not to alienations by process of law.

"The distinction is taken at 7 B. I. L. R. 256 and 7 B. I. L. R. 262 from which it appears that a restriction in a lease on alienation by mortgage, sale or otherwise must be taken as confined to some act of the lessee ejusdem generis with those expressly mentioned, and would not apply where the alienation was by act of law. Unless therefore the kabuláyat contain a provision that the holder shall not allow the grant to be attached and sold in execution and that if he did the grant should be discontinued, I do not think the auction sale would operate as a forfeiture justifying a withholding of the allowance.

"12. The recognition of an alienation is of course a question distinct from the operation of an alienation as a forfeiture of the grant.

"13. The recognition of alienations made before the grant is governed by Section 6 of the Act. Under the section if the alienation is not by instrument the Collector must, on proof of the alienation within six months of the passing of the Act, give the alienee a certificate under his official signature and seal that the allowance is not subject to the provisions of the Act. If no such proof be adduced before the Collector within six months after the date on which the Act came into force, i.e., before the 28th October 1888, the Collector would not be bound to recognize the alienation. Apparently proof has been already produced and if so there is no alternative but to recognize the alienation.

"14. As the auction-purchaser has bought only the right, title and interest of the holders of the allowance he is bound by all conditions that were binding on the judgment-debtors, and if, as I gather from the concluding paragraph of the Collector's letter No. 808 of 22nd March 1888, the holders were bound to give security for their good behaviour, those and all other terms on which their rights were conditioned would be binding on the auction-purchaser.

"15. It appears from the report of the Honourable Mr. Naylor, No. 1310, dated 27th September 1883, that the course to be taken in respect of sale of such allowances was laid down in Government Resolution* No 5118 of 12th September 1873, and has since been followed (vide Government Resolution† No. 8168, Revenue Department, dated 6th Nov-

RESOLUTION.—The course recommended by the Alienation Settlement Officer, N. D., in his report to the Revenue Commissioner No. 295, dated the 24th June 1873, may be adopted, viz.—

"As the allowance in question was sold before the passing of the Pensions Act XXIII of 1871, the purchaser's name may be entered in the accounts subordinate to that of the girassia and the allowance paid to him on the production, at each payment, of a life certificate of the girassia so long as the girassia's male line may be in existence."

(G. R. No. 5118, dated 12th September 1873).

† Letter from the Collector of Broach to the Commissioner, N. D., No. 1397, dated 1st May 1883 :—

"In the case of toda girás hak purchased by one Utamram Jamietmal of Broach at a public sale by the Civil Court, Government, in their Resolution No. 5118 of 12th September 1873, have on the recommendation of the late Alienation Settlement Officer decided that because the hak in question was purchased by Utamram before the passing of the Pensions Act XXIII of 1871, his name be entered in the Government books subordinate to that of the girassia and the allowance paid to him on production; at each payment, of a life-certificate of the girassia so long as the girassia's male line may be in existence.

"2. But there is now a case before me in which one Bhvānishankar Tolāshankar has purchased a girás hak standing in the name of Thākor Chhatrasangji Parbatsangji also at a public sale effected by the Civil Court, but after and not before the passing of the Pensions Act, the date of the purchase being 15th March 1882.

"3. I have therefore the honour to request instructions as to whether I should order in this case the name of Bhvānishankar Tolāshankar to be entered in the Government books against the hak that he has purchased as above, and if so whether it should be entered in lieu of or subordinate to the name of the girassia, and if the latter, whether the payment to him should be subject to the condition of his producing at each payment the life-certificate, of the girassia as long as the latter's male line is in existence as in Utamram's case."

Memorandum from the Commissioner, N. D., No. 3009, dated 29th May, 1883 :—

"Forwarded to Government for orders.

"2. The undersigned thinks that the name of the purchaser should be entered subordinate to, and not in lieu of, the name of the girassia, without prejudice to the claims of sub-sharers, if any, and payment made to him on production of a life-certificate. It appears that Government are not interested so long as the male line continues and the above certificate is produced."

Memorandum from the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, No. 1310, dated 27th September 1883.

RESOLUTION.—In the circumstances stated, His Excellency the Governor in Council concurs with the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs in thinking that the course prescribed in Government Resolution No. 5118, dated 12th September 1873, should be adopted in the present case.

Copies of Mr. Naylor's report should be forwarded to the Commissioner, N. D., and the Collector of Broach.

(G. R. No. 8168, dated 6th November 1883.)

ember 1883). Government Resolution No. 5118 of 1873 is not, however, on the records of this office. Apparently its directions are alluded to in the concluding paragraph of the Collector's letter No. 808 of 22nd March 1888, and if so, there appears to be no reason why they should not be followed in this case.

"16. Whether alienations of this nature are restricted to the life interest of the judgment-debtor, is a question not referred for my opinion, and appears to be set at rest by the correspondence which preceded the passing of the Toda Girás Act."

(G. R. No. 7450, dated 9th November 1888.)

11. Since the Toda Girás Allowances Act VII of 1887 has become law, no object is to be gained by the issue of sanads for such allowance, and it is therefore best that none be issued. The Act in question was passed for the purpose of declaring the law relating to those allowances (vide its preamble), and it would not be competent to Government, if it were desired, to impose any conditions upon their continuance other than those set forth in the Act; and as the Act appears to determine everything which it is necessary to have determined in respect of the allowances, no further document seems to be called for in the interests either of Government or of the recipients. (L. R. No. 1525, dated 2nd October 1890; G. R. No. 7327, dated 15th idem.)

IV.—MISCELLANEOUS.

1. The Commissioners are authorized to re-enter in the accounts, without reference to Government, cash allowances which may have been erroneously struck off. (G. R. No. 2327 dated 13th June 1862.)

2. Where no valid title-deed is forthcoming, the regular practice is to consider the first recognized recipient under the British rule as the first grantee of an allowance. (G. R. No. 3903, dated 11th October 1864.)

3. Allowances such as that on which the following reference No. 437, dated 20th October 1875, was made by the Alienation Settlement Officer, S. D., are to be continued hereditarily in the line of the recipient at the introduction of British rule:—

"I now do myself the honour to enquire whether the simple word hereditary used in their letter No. 2135, dated 1st June 1847, should not be interpreted to mean hereditary to the incumbent at the introduction of the British Government, and not to the recipient only of that year.

"2. The intention of the Government of the day seems to have been to confirm the Collector's recommendation, and this was that the allowance should 'be considered hereditary under the rules dated 23rd June 1842' (para. 13 of Report No. 68 of 13th January 1847.) Now the particular rule runs thus:—

'All (allowances) enjoyed for a period of sixty years, and in possession of a second successor in lineal descent from the original grantee at the introduction of our Government, to be considered hereditary to male offspring.'

"3. This rule, indeed, is not so clear as it might be. Still, interpreted by the Amended Rules of 1842 published in 1852, there can be no doubt that it was the male offspring of the recipient at the introduction of the British Government that was meant."

(G. R. No. 6441, dated 13th November 1875.)

CASH ALLOWANCES.]

4. Except under exceptional circumstances, application for the interference of the Courts, in cases of attachment of cash allowances granted for political considerations, should not be made unless the pensioner agrees to pay the cost of the application. (G. R. No. 7234, dated 23rd December 1875.)

5. There is no reason for holding that a gameti's share in a khālsa village is protected from attachment by Section 11 of Act XXIII of 1871. It is not a "pension" in the ordinary acceptance of that term, and if the word "pension" in that section be held to mean any kind of payment, still the payment in question is not granted or continued by Government "on political considerations or on account of past services or present services or as a compassionate allowance." It appears to be a payment to which the former proprietor of a village is entitled in consequence of his having contracted with Government to resign his village on Government's undertaking to pay him a certain portion of the revenue of the village annually in perpetuity. There is nothing of the nature of a grant or of a pension in such a payment. (L. R. No. 1225, dated 2nd November 1877; vide G. R. No. 7102, dated 28th idem.)

6. Haks are saleable property, moveable or immoveable, according to their origin, and are, therefore, liable to be attached and sold in execution of decrees. Varshāsan allowances appear, from the particulars given in the Law Reports, to be in many cases in the nature of perpetual annuities, and where of that character, and not protected from attachment by Act XXIII of 1871, would be regarded as saleable moveable properties, and liable to attachment and sale. Varshāsan allowances and amals vary much in their character, and some would be protected from attachment by Act XXIII of 1871, while others would not; thus it is impossible to lay down any general rule, but each case as it occurs, with full particulars of the character of the allowance attached, should be referred for legal advice. (Adv. Genl. No. 68, dated 22nd October 1878; vide G. R. No. 5946, dated 19th November 1878.)

7. Copies of the following* opinion No. 1280, dated 1st October 1885, of the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs were forwarded to all Commissioners and Collectors:—

"I do not think that Government can raise any objection to the attachment by the Civil Court of the allowance*, which by the sanad is to be continued without objection or question on the part of Government as to the rights of any rightful holders thereof, whether such rights shall have accrued by inheritance, adoption, assignment or otherwise.

"2. The allowance is not protected from attachment by Section 11 of the Pensions Act (XXIII of 1871), for it is not a pension granted or continued by Government on poli-

*The particular allowance with reference to which the Legal Remembrancer's opinion was recorded was a cash allowance of Rs. 19 entered as mokāsa amal payable from the Karmāla Treasury. The character of the allowance was not clear from the sanad nor could it be ascertained from the Māmlat-dār's records. In the margin of the sanad the allowance was classe as "transferable private property."

(G. R. No. 8644, dated 24th October 1885.)

8. Cash allowances should appear in the registers of talukas or villages to which they originally belong, but there is no objection to payments being permitted from the treasuries of places where the recipients reside and their adjustments by the usual method of debit and credit in the financial accounts. (G. R. No. 3186, dated 30th May 1876.)

9. Due attention should be paid to the correction of the alienation lists. Any laxity in this respect may lead at some future time to the commission of fraud, and it is therefore of great importance that all necessary alterations should be carefully and punctually made in the printed copies of the lists supplied to Collectors, and all orders regarding such alterations should be sent through the officers in charge of talukas with a view to their being noted in the taluka lists. (G. R. No. 7257, dated 6th December 1877.)

10. The Commissioner, C. D., in whose office cash alienation lists are prepared, should not forward the lists to the Commissioners and Collectors of such districts as have no concern with them. (G. R., G. D., No. 137, dated 13th January 1888.)

11. The alienation office should be supplied with two copies of every Government Resolution on the subject of cash allowances whether payable from the central or any other Division. (G. R. No. 8093, dated 12th October 1892.)

12. The Government of Bombay is empowered to sanction charitable allowances not exceeding Rs. 50 per annum in the aggregate in any one case to the destitute relatives of deceased revenue freeholders. All cases in which the aggregate annual grant proposed exceeds Rs. 50 should be submitted for the sanction of the Government of India. (G. I., H. R. & A., No. 317, dated 14th July 1880; vide G. R. No. 3909, dated 27th idem.)

13. The name of a widow who holds an allowance (no matter on what tenure it be held) and who remarries into a distinct family and thus severs her connection with the said allowance, should be struck off. The fact that an allowance is entered as being given to a widow "for life" is not a bar to withdrawing the allowance when she remarries. The words "for life" must reasonably be held to refer only to such period as the widow remains unmarried after the decease of her first husband. The allowance is granted to her for her maintenance after his death, but when she remarries, her maintenance devolves upon her second husband and she has consequently no claim to an allowance from the State for the purpose. To avoid, however, any possible doubt in any future cases which may arise when an allowance is given for the maintenance of a widow, it should be specified that such allowance is granted "for life or until remarriage." (G. R. No. 9501, dated 26th December 1883.)

CATTLE-POUNDS.*

1. Under the provisions of Section 2 of Act V of 1868, the Governor of Bombay in Council is pleased, with the consent of the Governor General of India in Council, to delegate to the Commissioner in Sind the powers of a Local Government, under Sections 4 and 18 of Act I of 1871 (The Cattle Trespass Act). (G. N., J. D., dated 24th June 1871.)

2. Government have no objection to the delegation of the general control vested in Government by Section 4 of Act I of 1871 to the Revenue and Police Commissioners, with the exception of the power to dispose of the surplus proceeds, which are credited to Local Funds. (G. R. No. 3933, dated 10th August 1872.)

3. The Commissioners should issue strict orders that all the gross cattle-pound receipts should be credited, and all disbursements debited, according to the general rule so that uniformity may exist. The gross proceeds to be brought to account should include only those sums which are levied as fines and those collected on account of the sale-proceeds of cattle. Charges on account of feeding cattle during the time they remain in the pounds, which are taken from the owners and paid at once to the parties to whom due, are not to be brought to account in the Mamlatlárs' books. (G. Rs., G. D., Nos. 1725, dated 22nd April 1872, 2118, dated 27th May 1872, and 2612, dated 2nd July 1872.)

4. Section 12 of the Cattle Trespass Act prescribes the fines that may be levied in respect of cattle impounded. It indicates also what 'charges' may be levied for releasing impounded animals. No other claim can be legally made. (G. R., G. D., No. 1894, dated 2nd May 1888.)

5. Where practicable, the necessity for bringing stray animals from beyond municipal limits to municipal pounds should be obviated by establishing pounds for circles of villages in convenient situations. (G. R., G. D., No. 3498, dated 10th October 1873.)

6. The system of farming out cattle-pounds to contractors is objectionable, inasmuch as it seems to hold out direct encouragement to the contractor to abet, or connive at, illegal seizure. The system is not recognized by the Cattle Trespass Act, and is opposed to the spirit of that Act, though it may not be expressly prohibited. (G. I., H. D., No. 5-337, dated 11th March 1891, to the Government of Bengal; vide G. R., G. D., No. 1141, dated 31st idem.)

Note.—The practice of farming out cattle-pounds to contractors does not prevail in any of the districts in the Bombay Presidency: vide G. R., G. D., No. 1641, dated 9th May 1901.

* This subject was dealt with by the General Department up to the end of February 1893.

7. The following rules have been prescribed for the information and guidance of all officers concerned in the management of cattle-pounds:—

1. Under the provisions of Act I of 1871 the Police Pátel is ex-officio keeper of the pound in his village and is answerable for the proper carrying out of the provisions of the Act. Where there is no Police Pátel to a village, the person who is specially appointed for this purpose by the District Magistrate will be a special pound-keeper in that village.

2. The Act contains all necessary information with regard to mode of seizure of cattle, and so forth. The forms necessary for carrying on the duties of pound-keeper are hereto appended. Printed copies of these forms will be furnished on indents submitted through the Mámlatdár of the taluka. In most instances these forms require no explanation, but in case of doubt explanatory notes have been given at the foot of the form.

3. Printed lists of fines, as specified in Section 12 of Act I of 1871, will be furnished on application to Mámlatdárs. The pound-keeper shall post up such lists in a conspicuous part of the pound and of each village.

4. As every pound-keeper is bound to feed and water all impounded animals until such time as the same are either delivered over to the owners or otherwise disposed of, he may in those cases, where an advance is necessary, be allowed to meet such charges by an advance not exceeding Rs. 10 from the Cattle-pound Fund. The pound-keeper shall keep the account of such advance as per Form No. VI, hereto appended. Such advances shall be adjusted yearly according to the orders in force. When a pound-keeper delivers over charge of his office, he and his successor shall jointly report to the Mámlatdár their having respectively delivered over and received charge of the money received as an advance.

5. The feeding charges of the impounded cattle shall not exceed the rates which may have been or may hereafter from time to time be sanctioned by the District Magistrate. Printed lists of such rates will be furnished to each pound-keeper through the Mámlatdár of the taluka. Copies of such lists must be posted up in a conspicuous part of the pound and of each village.

6. All fines collected by the pound-keeper shall be retained in his custody and when these amount to or exceed Rs. 10 he shall, subject to the provisions of Rule 12, remit the same to the Mámlatdár's treasury with a duplicate memorandum, as per Form No. VII, showing the amount so remitted. On the 20th March of each year the pound-keeper shall, with a similar memorandum, remit to the Mámlatdár's treasury any balance in hand, however small it may be. The Taluka Treasury Officer, after crediting the amount received, should return one copy of the memorandum duly receipted to the cattle pound-keeper and the duplicate copy should be retained by the Treasury Officer as a chellan for the receipt.

7. The officer in charge of the Police Station shall keep a register, Form No. IX, of all cases referred for disposal under Section 14 of Act I of 1871. He shall also keep a day-book, Form No. X, in which he shall enter all sums realized by the sale of cattle, all sums remitted to the taluka treasury, as also the charges of feeding, &c., paid to pound-keepers.

8. Subject to the provisions of Rule 12, the officer in charge of the Police Station should, as a rule, remit the cattle-pound receipts to the taluka treasury, the day on which they are received by him. The money should be accompanied by a remittance report in duplicate. The amount due to fine and that due to surplus sale-proceeds should be shown separately. No other detail is necessary. The Treasury Officer should return one copy of the remittance report duly receipted and shall retain the other copy as a chellan for the receipt.

9. The Mámlatdár (the Taluka Treasury Officer) on receipt of this amount should at once credit to the Cattle-pound Fund the amount of penalties, and bring the balance, being the amount of surplus sale-proceeds, to the head of Judicial Deposits, to be disposed of as detailed below.

10. The Mámlatdár shall then issue a notice, as per Form No. XI, to be posted on the notice board in the kacheri, inviting claimants for the money in deposit within three months from the date of the notice. At the end of three months, if no person should appear to claim the money, it shall be carried to the credit of the Cattle-pound Fund.

11. If any claimant come forward within the time allowed, the Mámlatdár, after due enquiry and upon being satisfied that the claim is proved, shall, after receiving the sanction of the District Magistrate, make over to such claimant the amount held in deposit.

12. In the case of cattle-pounds situated within the limits of any Municipality, the sums collected shall be credited to the Municipality instead of to the Cattle-pound Fund. The receipts on account of such pounds shall be remitted, with a separate remittance report, as hereinbefore provided, in order that the money may be sent to the Municipality with such remittance report. The Municipality shall, in acknowledging the receipt of the money so remitted, act as provided in Rule 6 or 8, as the case may be.

13. The Assistant Collector in charge of the taluka should, as often as possible, examine all the registers and accounts kept by the pound-keepers and by the officers in-charge of the Police Station. The Mámlatdárs and Police Officers must, on their periodical tours, examine the registers kept by the pound-keepers and give the requisite instructions for their being correctly and neatly kept. The Mámíatdár shall further examine the registers kept by the Officer in charge of the Police Station.

14. The ex-officio and special pound-keepers will be remunerated out of the Pound Fund for their duties as pound-keepers according to the scale fixed by orders of the Local Government.

15. If the ex-officio pound-keeper be unable to write, he shall employ the Village Accountant to keep the pound register and other documents relating to the pound, but the pound-keeper shall attest these papers by his signature or mark. The pound-keeper and the Village Accountant shall be jointly responsible for the correctness of all the papers. In such cases the Village Accountant shall receive one-half of the amount paid to the pound-keeper out of the pound-keeper's remuneration.

16. The remuneration of the pound-keeper shall be disbursed when the Potagi (or Pátel's salary) is disbursed, i. e., in the months of January and July. The Mámíatdárs should prepare half-yearly bills for this purpose, and should, prior to their disbursement, obtain the sanction of the Huzúr Deputy Collector. The first bill should be prepared for the months from December to May. The bill should be submitted to the Huzúr Deputy Collector for sanction by the 10th of June, and the payment thereof should be made in the month of July. The second half-yearly bill should be prepared for the other six months, i. e., for the months from June to November. The second bill should be punctually sent by the Mámíatdár to the Huzúr Deputy Collector by the 10th of December and the payment made in the January following.

17. In preparing bills, care should be taken that no pound-keeper is allowed remuneration in excess of the maximum amount fixed by the Local Government.

(G. Rs., G. D., Nos. 3, dated 3rd January 1876, and 1161, dated 12th April 1877.)

(Note.—See G. Rs., G. D., Nos. 1653, dated 24th May 1878, and 3377, dated 6th November 1878, which modify the rules regarding the sale of cattle by Chief Constables.)

Notice is hereby given that a sum of _____ being the surplus sale-proceeds of (description of animals) brought to the cattle-pound of _____ from _____ is now in deposit in the Taluka treasury. Any person having a claim thereto is hereby required to prefer and substantiate the same within three months from this date before the undersigned, _____ Class Magistrate of Taluka _____; failing to do which the amount will be disposed of according to the provisions of Act I of 1871.

Mámlatdár and Magistrate, _____ Class.

8. In those districts of the (old) Northern Division in which the Talátis or Kulkarnis have extensive charges and the Pátels are generally illiterate and unable to keep the forms of account prescribed by the rules under Act I of 1870 for the management of cattle-pounds sanctioned by Government Resolution, General Department, No. 3, dated 3rd January 1876, the old forms may be adhered to at the discretion of the Commissioner. (G. R., G. D., No. 2201, dated 19th July 1876.)

9. The District Magistrate may nominate the Mámlatdár or Mahálkari, and in his absence the Aval Karkún to conduct sales of cattle under the Pound Act and to keep the accounts relative to such transactions. (G. R., G. D., Nos. 1653, dated 24th May 1878, and 3377, dated 6th November 1878.)

10. In the case of the outlying cattle-pounds in Thar and Parkar, the District Magistrate may authorize the sales of unclaimed cattle being conducted by the Police Thánadár. (G. R., G. D., No. 2009, dated 3rd July 1878.)

11. No authority is vested by the Cattle Trespass Act* I of 1871, in any office to set aside sales of cattle under the Act. (L. R. No. 142, dated 27th January 1885; vide G. R., G. D., No. 432, dated 7th February 1885.)

12. The passing of Act I of 1884 has not, so far as can be seen, made any difference in the manner of disposing of surplus cattle-pound receipts, and no orders, under clause (g) of Section 44 of Act I of 1884, directing that the surplus accruing after the District Local Board has provided for the expenditure under Section 18 (a) and (b) of Act No. I of 1871 should be credited to the Local Funds of the district, appear to be called for. The net receipts have hitherto been credited to Local Funds and the practice will be continued by the Accountant General without any formal orders from Government. (G. R. No. 6565, dated 12th August 1885.)

13. The intention of the Legislature is that the District Magistrate should ordinarily appoint the pound-keeper and pay his remuneration and that all realizations should be sent to the District Magistrate, the surplus, if any, being disposed of periodically in such manner as Government direct. This should be the practice for all pounds in respect of which the District Magistrate's functions under Sections 5, 6, 12 and 17 have not been legally transferred to some local body. In the case of any pound in respect of which the said functions have been transferred to a local body, the proceeds will be paid to that body instead of to the District Magistrate, and that body will dispose of the surplus by appropriating it or otherwise as Government may from time to time direct under Section 1 (b) of Act XVIII of 1883. (L. R. No. 1439, dated 10th November 1886; vide G. R. No. 333, dated 17th January 1887.)

14. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 1 (b) of Act XVIII of 1883, the Governor in Council is pleased to direct, in supersession of all previous orders and rules on the same subject, that the whole of the surplus accruing in any Municipal District or Cantonment under Section 18 of the Cattle Trespass Act I of 1871 shall be placed to the credit of the municipal fund or cantonment fund of such municipal district or cantonment, and that the surplus accruing under the said section in any portion of a district not included in a municipal district or a cantonment shall be placed to the credit of the local fund of such district. (G. N. No. 383 A, dated 17th January 1887.)

15. In modification of Notification No. 383 A, published at page 44 of Part I of the Bombay Government Gazette for 1887, the Governor in Council is pleased, for the reasons given in paragraph 4 of Government Resolution, General Department, No. 3047, dated 1st October 1887, to direct that in the Municipalities in Sind, noted in the margin, the sums specified against the name of each shall severally be deducted annually from the funds accruing under Section 18 of the Cattle Trespass Act I of 1871, which were directed by the said notification to be placed to the credit of the said Municipalities, and shall be credited to Government, and that only the surplus of the said funds, after deducting the said sums, shall be credited to the said Municipalities respectively. (G. N., G. D., No. 2667, dated 7th December 1887.)

CIVIL SERVICE.

1. The principle of special selection for promotion referred to in the following extract paragraph 18 of the letter from the Government of India to the Government of Bombay, No. 301, dated 14th February 1890, will be strictly carried out by the Government of Bombay :—

“Lastly, I am to invite attention to paragraph 23 of the Government of India's Despatch of the 9th October 1888, and to say that the principle of special selection must be rigidly enforced on all occasions of appointments made from the Provincial Service to the posts of District Officer, Sessions Judge and the ungraded appointments made under the statute. I am also to take this opportunity generally to say that the Governor General in Council fully accepts the 46th recommendation of the Public Service Commission that, inasmuch as the administrative charge of a district involves very responsible duties, the principle of selection should be more completely adopted even when a member of the Indian Civil Service is to be promoted to such office. His Excellency in Council has had occasion, in connection with memorials, in which officers have complained of their supersession by juniors in the post of Divisional Commissioner, to express his adhesion to the principle that selection and not seniority should govern such high appointments. The principle of selection must be more absolute in respect of such appointments as that of Commissioner than it is in respect of the appointment of District Judge or Magistrate and Collector, but it should be distinctly recognized that mere length of service gives no claim to promotion in the Indian Civil Service above the rank of First Assistant Magistrate, and that no officer should be appointed to the charge of a district, who has not in the course of his previous service given distinct evidence that he is fit for such office.”

(G. R. No. 2443, dated 8th April 1890.)

2. A Statutory Civilian who has exercised the option of remaining in his former position, instead of being transferred to the Provincial Service, the maintenance of the status quo would simply mean that his appointment would continue as hitherto to be specially treated outside both the Covenanted and Provincial Services. He would not belong to any organized service in which he would, under ordinary circumstances, rise by seniority to certain posts. His claims to advancement would depend entirely on the merit and ability that he might display, and each step that he might gain would be treated as a fresh appointment under the rules passed under the Act of 1870. (S. of S. No. 104, dated 12th September, 1884, and G. I., H. D., No. 2329, dated 2nd December 1890; vide G. R. No. 9008, dated 17th idem).

3. As it has been decided by the Secretary of State that a Statutory Civilian is the incumbent of a particular office and not a member of an organized service, proposals for the appointment to fresh offices of individual Statutory Civilians must be referred for the sanction of the Government of India. This decision will not apply to promotions merely from grade to grade which do not involve a change in the duties and responsibilities discharged, such as that of a Second Assistant Collector and Magistrate to be a First Assistant, or of an Assistant

Commissioner of the 3rd Class to the 2nd or 1st Class. Such promotions can be made by the Local Government of its own motion. The sanction of the Government of India is, however, required before any promotion, however temporary, of a Statutory Civilian is made to the office of District Magistrate or District and Sessions Judge, or to any other office the duties of which differ in character from those of the substantive appointment of the officer whom it is proposed to promote. In urgent cases there will be no objection to recommendations for merely temporary promotions being made by telegraph. (G. I., H. D., No. 353, dated 24th September 1891; vide G. R. No. 7106, dated 15th October 1891.)

4. With the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, the Governor in Council is pleased to notify that the following appointments in the Bombay Presidency, to fill which members of the Civil Service of India have hitherto been recruited, shall be appointments to which members of the Bombay Civil Service can properly be appointed, subject to the rules for the time being in force under 33 Vict., Cap. 3, Section 6 :—

2 posts of Collector and District Magistrate.

5. In the case of officiating appointments of provincial officers for short vacancies, not exceeding three months at a time, to Headships of Districts and District Judgeships, no reference to the Government of India need be made. Such short vacancies will afford the means of testing an officer's fitness for more extended employment in those posts; and in reporting to the Government of India for sanction nominations for longer periods it should always be stated whether an officer has been tried in this manner, and with what result. As a general rule it will be prudent to take every suitable opportunity of thus ascertaining an officer's capacity before proposing to employ him permanently in these important and responsible posts. The Government of India desires to correct the impression which appears to have prevailed in some quarters, that it will be necessary for a Provincial Civil Servant to go through the whole succession of subordinate grades in the executive or Judicial Service before he can be selected for a scheduled post. On the contrary, it will always be desirable to select persons for higher executive office who, while they have given proof of distinguished ability by sufficiently long service, are still comparatively young, and possess that bodily activity which is a sine quâ non for such employment. Every appointment of the kind must be based wholly upon fitness and merit, seniority being regarded only when the claims of two or more officers who are equally fit come into competition. Nor does the Governor General in Council intend that selection should be less absolute, or more restricted to the higher grades of the Provincial Service, in the case of judicial appointments. It has been too much the custom to regard promotion from grade to grade of the Subordinate Executive and Judicial Services as a mere matter of seniority; and it should be made publicly known that every Government and Administration reserves liberty to make promotions in these grades without regard to seniority.

The present Uncovenanted Service Leave and Pension Rules, or, in other words, the provisions of Part *Note—It rests with the Honourable the Chief Justice to nominate an officer for the appointment, subject to any rules and restrictions prescribed by His Excellency the Governor in Council.

† It was suggested by the Government of India in paragraph 7 of their letter No. 2195, dated 10th November 1892, (G. R. No. 9499, dated 3rd December 1892) that in future similar notifications the Provincial Service in the Bombay Presidency should be designated the 'Bombay Provincial Civil Service' in conformity with the wording of the rules sanctioned by the Secretary of State.

III, Chapter XIV, of the Civil Service Regulations, regarding leave, and of Part IV, Chapters XV to XIX, regarding pension, will be applied to the Provincial Service. But the present Statutory Civilians whether they enter that service or not, will continue to be governed by the Leave and Pension Rules now applicable to them.

(G. I., H. D., (Public) No. <sup>2</sup> Publi:
1312-1352, dated 21st April
1892; vide G. R. No. 6768, dated 23rd August 1892.)

6. Of the general conditions, subject to which alone appointments can be made from the Provincial Service to the scheduled posts, the first and paramount condition is absolute and proved fitness, opportunity of testing which will be afforded by the officiating appointments for short periods, which Local Governments and Administrations will be able to make. Secondly, the maximum extent to which room in the higher offices will gradually become available for competent members of the Provincial Service, is one-sixth of the appointments in the cadre of the Indian Civil Service or the Commission, except in cases where Military officers in a fixed proportion are still, in Non-Regulation Provinces, recruited for the Commission, when the maximum is one-sixth of the total after deducting the proportion reserved for Military officers. Thirdly, such appointments save in the exceptional circumstances contemplated in paragraph 21 of the Secretary of State's Despatch of the 12th September 1889, are subject to the preferential right of officers who entered the service before the reduction of the recruitment in 1880—that is of Indian Civil Servants who passed the competitive examination in or before the year 1879, and officers of the Commissions appointed in or before 1881. An instance of the exceptional circumstances contemplated by the Secretary of State would be the creation of a new appointment outside of the existing cadre, to which no officer in the service could have a preferential right. Fourthly, such appointments are further subject to the right of the remaining officers of the Indian Civil Service or Commission (as the case may be), recruited after 1879—81, to have their claims considered to the extent to five-sixths of the posts for which recruitment was or might have been made in any one year. Thus, if it be assumed that the vacancies in the cadre for which recruitment of Indian Civilians in any one year after 1881 had to be made were ten, this, representing five-sixths of the total recruitment, would give two posts in that year to fill which recruitment might have been made for the Provincial Service; but the claims of officers in the Provincial Service to succession to those posts would not come into consideration until those of the ten members of the Indian Civil Service, or the survivors of them, had been considered; and when the two posts had been given to the Provincial Service, no more scheduled posts (always subject of course to the maximum of one-sixth of the total) could be allotted to that service till the legitimate claims to promotion of the Indian Civilians of the following year had come under consideration. Fifthly, if no member of the Provincial Service who is fully fit and competent be available for any listed office which may become vacant, a member of the Indian Civil Service may be appointed to it. (G. I., H. D., No. 1536, dated 27th May 1892; vide G. R. No. 7070, dated 5th September 1892.)

CIVIL SERVICE.]

7. The conditions which the Government of India and the Secretary of State have determined must be satisfied by candidates for admission to the Provincial Service, are the following :—

I.—Every candidate for appointment by recruitment must furnish satisfactory evidence—

(a) that he is not over 25 years of age, except in the case of Barristers, Advocates or Pleaders appointed to the Judicial Branch otherwise than by competitive examination. In these excepted cases article 63 of the Civil Service Regulations fixes the maximum age at 30 ;

(b) that he has attained a prescribed preliminary standard of education, and especially of qualification in one of the vernacular languages of the Province in which he is to be employed. The vernacular standard should be a high one, involving a thorough knowledge of the language and ability to write and read the written character with facility. In the case of Europeans and Eurasians, this requirement will have to be enforced by means of a special examination ; in the case of Natives, evidence of it will be provided by the candidate having passed the University or School Standard Examinations ;

(c) that he is of sound health, good physique, and active habits ; and

(d) that he is of good character.

II.—Every person appointed to the Provincial Service by recruitment shall be subject to a period of probation or training during which time his appointment will be probationary only, unless in especial cases the Local Government declares such probation or training to be unnecessary.

III.—The subjects of Native Princes in alliance with Her Majesty shall be eligible for appointment, provided they are qualified in other respects.

IV.—Recent residence of at least three years in the Province should, as a general rule, be an essential condition of admission, and no Barrister, Advocate, or Pleader should be appointed as such unless he has been at least three years actually practising his profession in India and can speak the Provincial vernacular.

V.—Europeans who are not Natives of India shall be eligible, if qualified by the above conditions, for appointment in the Bombay Presidency with the sanction of the Secretary of State.

VI.—No member of the Provincial Service shall be dismissed otherwise than on the result of a judicial or formal department inquiry.

(G. I., H. D., No. 1536, dated 27th May 1892; vide G. R. No. 7070, dated 5th September 1892.)

8. In exercise of the power conferred by Statute 33 Victoria, Chapter 3, Section 6, and in supersession of the rules published in Notification No. 1534, dated the 22nd August 1879, the Governor General in Council has been pleased to make the following rules, which have been sanctioned by the Secretary of State in Council with the concurrence of a majority of the members present:—

1. The Local Government may appoint any member of the Provincial Civil Service subordinate to it, who is a Native of India and of proved merit and ability, to any of the offices, places and employments ordinarily held by members of the Civil Service of India, to fill which it has been declared by such Local Government (by notification in the official Gazette) that members of such Provincial Civil Service can properly be appointed; provided that no appointment shall be made to the office of District and Sessions Judge, or Chief Administrative Officer of a district, or to any administrative office of higher rank, if the vacancy to be filled is permanent, or for a period of more than three months, without the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council.

2. The Local Government may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council (but not otherwise) at any time appoint any Native of India of proved merit and ability to any of the offices, places, and employments specified by such Local Government in any such notification as in Rule 1 is mentioned; provided that not more than one-fourth of the offices, places, and employments so specified shall at any one time be held by Natives of India not members of the Provincial Civil Service subordinate to that Local Government; but this proviso shall not apply to or include any Native of India (not a member of a Provincial Service) who has, prior to the making of these rules, been appointed under Statute 33 Vict., Cap. 3, Section 6, to an office, place, or employment in the Civil Service of India.

3. The Local Government may (with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council in any case in which such sanction is required for a permanent appointment) declare any appointment to be made on probation only, and may prescribe the terms on which it is made and the conditions with which the person appointed must comply before he can be confirmed.

4. The Local Government may at any time suspend and, with the previous sanction of the

CIVIL SERVICE.]

Governor General in Council, remove any person appointed by such Local Government under these rules.

(G. I., H. D., Notn. No. 2159, dated 2nd November 1892, republished under G. N. No. 8813, dated 9th idem).

9. No. 1 of the above rules applies only to the appointment to reserved posts of members of the Provincial Civil Service, including such Statutory Civilians as may have been transferred to that service, or as may have availed themselves of the option of joining it offered in Home Department letter No. 1536, dated 27th May 1892.

The case of Statutory Civilians who have elected to remain in their original position will be governed by Rule 2 under which the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council is required to their appointment to any listed post. Such Statutory Civilians hold appointments outside both the Covenanted and the Provincial Civil Service, and the effect of Rule 2 is to continue in their case the principle of the existing orders* regulating their promotion. The sanction of the Government of India will not be required to promotions merely from grade to grade which do not involve a change in the duties and responsibilities discharged, such as that of an Assistant Collector to be a Second or First Assistant. These promotions may continue to be made by the Local Government of its own motion. The sanction of the Government of India will, however, be required before any promotion, however temporary, of a Statutory Civilian who remains in his present position is made to the office of Collector and District Magistrate, or of Judge and Sessions Judge, or to any other office which is entered as a separate office in the schedule to the Statute 24 and 25 Vict., Cap. 54, or the duties of which differ in character from those of the substantive appointment of the officer whom it is proposed to promote.

From the nature of the case, Europeans who are Natives of India within the definition contained in Section 6 of Statute 33 Vict., Cap. 3, cannot be appointed to any listed posts under the rules in question, inasmuch as the rules themselves and the Statute under which they are framed only authorize the appointment of Natives of India, as defined in Section 6, to posts ordinarily held by members of the Indian Civil Service. If it is considered desirable at any time in the public interests to appoint a European member of the Provincial Service to any of the listed posts, the appointment, in a Regulation Province, can only be made in accordance with the procedure of Sections 3 and 4 of the Civil Service Statute of 1861 (24 and 25 Vict., Cap. 54), if the office in question is entered in the Schedule to that Statute. In the non-Regulation Provinces, or in the Regulation Provinces if the office in question is not a 'scheduled' post but only reserved for members of the Indian Civil Service by executive order, the appointment of a European member of the Provincial Service can only be made with the previous sanction, as an executive measure, of the Secretary of State.

(G. L., H. D., No. 2195, dated 10th November 1892; vide G. R. No. 9499, dated 3rd December 1892.)

10. A Statutory Civil Servant who does not join the Provincial Service, although legally the incumbent of a specific post, in practice obtains officiating promotion to higher posts pari passu with his contemporaries in the Indian Civil Service. His claims to promotion rest on seniority combined with fitness. His promotion therefore from one specific post to another is governed by principles analogous to those regulating the promotion of the members of the Indian Civil Service, and this being so the ordinary rules as to acting allowance in privilege leave vacancies (Art. 120 of the Civil Service Regulations) necessarily applies to his case. (G. L., H. D. No. 379, dated 9th June 1893; vide G. R. No. 4915, dated 7th July 1893.)

11. Although a Statutory Civilian does not belong to an organized service, his claims to promotion in the ordinary line of appointments reserved for Indian Civilians will, subject to his merit and fitness, be considered after the claims of the Civilian who ranks as his immediate senior under the standing orders for purposes of promotion have been satisfied or considered. Statutory Civilians who have elected to retain their present position are equally eligible with officers of the Provincial Civil Service for selection to all the posts in the cadre of the Indian Civil Service listed as open to the Provincial Service (vide No. 2 of the Rules under Statute 33 Vict., Cap. 3, Section 6, published with Home Department Notification No. 2159, dated 2nd November 1892). Statutory Civilians who have elected to retain their present position are not eligible for offices in the regular grades of the Provincial Civil Service. The Statutory Civilians who have joined the Provincial Service are on the other hand eligible for promotion to the posts in the regular grades of that service, such as those in the senior grades of Deputy Collectors or Subordinate Judges. Both classes of officers (i.e., Statutory Civilians as well as ex-Statutories transferred to the Provincial Service) are equally eligible for the listed posts. (G. L., H. D. No. 1136, dated 14th August 1893; vide G. R. No. 6583, dated 11th September 1893.)

12. For the purposes of the Travelling Allowance Regulations, all Statutory members of the Provincial Civil Service should be treated as officers of the first class, irrespective of the pay which may be drawn by them. (G. L., H. D. No. 1302, dated 11th September 1893; vide G. R. No. 7171, dated 2nd October 1893.)

13. No Military or Uncovenanted Officers will be appointed to the revenue establishment in Sind. (G. R. No. 1482, dated 23rd February 1886.)

CIVIL SERVICE.]

14. The scheme sanctioned by the Secretary of State for India, in his Despatch No. 119, dated 3rd December 1885, for facilitating the employment of Covenanted Civil Servants in the Revenue Branch of the Sind Commission, is that —

(1) all names of Covenanted Civilians should be removed from the list of the Sind Commission.

(2) in the grade of Collectors, an increase to the Presidency cadre should only be made when an actual appointment of a Civilian to a similar appointment in Sind is made and the increase is counterbalanced by a decrease in the Sind cadre.

(3) as regards the appointments of First and Second Assistant Collectors, officers in Sind must receive their promotion at the same time as their contemporaries in the Presidency, each such promotion, which will increase the cadre up to a limit of three in each grade, being made as required to carry out the above scheme, without reference to the fact whether such increase causes an increase over the present combined Sind and Presidency cadres. Increases once made are to be permanent.

(G. R. No. 4573, dated 30th June 1890.)

15. A Covenanted Civilian serving in Sind can only be promoted when the Civilian next below him on the Presidency list becomes eligible for promotion. (G. L. H. D. No. 2399, dated 16th December 1889; vide G. R., No. 130, dated 8th January 1890.)

16. The Uncovenanted Officers of the Sind Commission are not under any legal disability in the matter of eligibility for appointment to the grade of Collector in Sind. (G. R. No. 313, dated 15th January 1892.)

17. The postings of Junior Civilians in Sind will be under the Commissioner. (G. R. No. 573, dated 26th January 1892.)

18. Special Sind allowances should be granted to Covenanted Civil Servants serving in the Land Revenue Department in Sind, namely, to a Collector or First Assistant Collector, substantive or acting, Rs. 100 a month; to a Second Assistant Collector, substantive or acting, Rs. 50 a month. (S. of S. No. 119, dated 3rd December 1885; vide G. R., No. 1482, dated 23rd February, 1886.)

19. Members of the Covenanted Civil Service below the rank of Second Assistant Collector who may be employed in the Revenue Department in Sind should be granted a special allowance of Rs. 50 a month. (S. of S. No. 60 (Public), dated 8th July 1886; vide G. R. No. 6097, dated 25th August 1886.)

20. The two appointments of Deputy Commissioners in Sind are special and, carrying special pay, are not included in those for which the Sind allowance is granted. (G. R. No. 5041, dated 14th July 1886.)

21. The order of seniority of the Civil Servants who come out to India in any year is decided by the Despatch of the Secretary of State in which their appointment is communicated and is accepted by Government on that authority. The order can be altered by the Secretary of State only. (G. R. No. 6309, dated 25th October 1881.)

22. Having regard to the announcement made by the Civil Service Commissioners, with the permission of the Secretary of State, that 'the seniority in the Civil Service of India of the selected candidates shall be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the final examination,' the position of Civil Officers in the Provincial Civil Lists should be regulated by the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the final examination in England, and should not in any way depend on the Departmental Examinations in India. It is, however, open to Local Governments to insert in the Civil List a separate statement showing the order of Civilians according to the date of passing the Departmental Examinations; but for the purposes of the general list the position of officers should, in the opinion of the Government of India, be determined by the order of merit shown at the final examination in England. (G. I., H. D., No. 11-415, dated 18th March 1885; vide G. R. No. 2894, dated 9th April 1885.)

23. Newly appointed Civilians are required to report their arrival in India within such period after the grant of their certificate of qualification as the Secretary of State may in each case direct. The general practice is to allow Civilians to report their arrival within five months from the date of their being certificated by the Civil Service Commissioners, but this practice does not admit of any one breaking or delaying his journey after leaving England without the special permission of the Secretary of State. (S. of S. No. 3, Public, dated 12th March 1885; vide G. R. No. 3024, dated 14th April 1885.)

24. The Comptroller of India Treasuries should be informed, when occasion arises, of the dates from which members of the Bombay Civil Service are permitted to retire from the service as well as of the amounts of annuities payable to each. (G. R., No. 8303, dated 13th October 1885.)

25. Under instructions from the Secretary of State, it is hereby notified for general information, that at and after the examination to be held in the year 1892 for the selection of candidates for the Civil Service of India, no candidate will be admitted to the examination whose age was less than 21 years and more than 23 on the 1st April preceding the date of examination. (G. I. Notn. No. 2183, dated 22nd November 1889; vide G. R. No. 9256, dated 6th December 1889.)

26. The concession of allowing newly appointed Civil Servants to remain in England an additional year for the purpose of graduating in Honours at the Universities has been withdrawn, and no exception to this decision will be made. The young Civilians will be required to report their arrival in India within the prescribed period after passing their final examination. (S. of S. No. 4, Public, dated 9th January 1890; vide G. I., H. D., No. 316, dated 15th February 1890, and G. R. No. 1712, dated 4th March 1890.)

27. Information as regards casualties among Civil Servants of the Bombay Presidency occurring out of India, will be communicated to the Government of Bombay from the Home Department of the Government of India. (G. I., H. D., No. 428, dated 27th September 1892; vide G. R. No. 8219, dated 17th October 1892.)

28. The Secretary of State for India has decided that a Covenanted Civil Servant who is permanently transferred from one Presidency to another should, as heretofore, execute a fresh covenant, but that he must continue to subscribe to that fund (and that fund only) to which, at the time of transfer, he subscribes. (G. I., H. D., No. 1493, dated 9th October 1883; vide G. R. No. 7954, dated 26th idem.)

29. The following orders were issued in the case of an Indian Civil Servant who had been removed from the European General Hospital to the Lunatic Asylum:—

“Mr.— seems to have been treated with all kindness and consideration both in the Hospital and at the Asylum, but he should not have been sent by the Hospital authorities to the Asylum as a pauper, or through the intervention of the Commissioner of Police, under Section 4 of Act XXXVI of 1858, until at any rate other means provided for obtaining his admission into the Asylum had been exhausted. The course which should have been taken is that pointed out in the two last paragraphs* of the Surgeon General’s letter. That officer should be so informed and requested, to issue orders accordingly for the information and guidance of the officers of the Medical Department.”

* “4. But in Bombay, where there are many medical officers, Mr.— should have been sent to the Lunatic Asylum under Section 7 and without the intervention of the Commissioner of Police, by having Form A, signed by two medical officers and Form B by any one interested in the patient, by myself or any Government Secretary. This would have been the best procedure in such a case as Mr.—’s. Still, had the papers been made out in Ratnagiri, they must have been so under Section 4, because there only one medical signature could have been obtained and a Magistrate’s order must have been the authority for taking the insane person to the Asylum.

“5. I could not make any report to Government regarding Mr.—’s case, because the Physician in charge of the European General Hospital did not report to me, and indeed your letter under reply gave me the first information I had of the case. Considering Mr.— was a Government servant, his case should have been reported for the information of Government, and had it been so I would have appointed a Medical Board to report on the state of mind of Mr.— and he would then have been sent to the Lunatic Asylum without any order from the Commissioner of Police.”

† G. R., G. D. No. 2473, dated 11th July 1891, directs that if a Covenanted Civil Servant should be brought to the European General Hospital, steps should be taken for the assembling of a

30. It is considered very important to have all the funds which are now, or may hereafter become Government funds like the Bombay Civil Fund, or in the management of which Government to any extent takes a part, dealt with in one special office. It is, therefore, undesirable to remove the management of the Bombay Civil Fund from the office of the Examiner of Funds, Calcutta, unless very strong grounds can be shown for the change.

Under the orders conveyed in the Despatch from the Secretary of State, No. 2, dated 21st February 1884, deductions on account of subscriptions to the Civil Fund will be made in England from the furlough allowances of a member on leave, any adjustment rendered necessary by changes in the families or other causes, being made by the Accountant General, Bombay, on the return of the member to duty in India. A member proceeding on furlough should be careful to see that the necessary particulars as to the recoveries to be made on account of the fund are duly noted in the last pay certificate by the Accountant General, Bombay, if he elects to arrange for the payment of his subscriptions in the manner abovementioned. While absent in England, the members are required also to report any changes both to the India Office and to the Examiner of Funds, Calcutta.

The authority to grant loans rests with the Government of Bombay, and the recovery of loans follows the grant of loans, and is watched by the Accountant General, Bombay.

With a view to remove any inconvenience which might arise from the time required for formal report from the Examiner of Funds, the Government of Bombay is authorized to admit families of deceased members provisionally to the benefits of the rules, pending receipt of report from the Examiner of Fund Accounts, under such precautions as the Local Government may think fit to prescribe.

(G. I., F. & C. No. 2186, dated 26th July 1884; vide G. R. No. 6681, dated 19th August 1884.)

31. The practice of the Bombay Civil Fund has been to charge interest on loans received by officers returning to India from an extension of ordinary furlough on medical certificate. The authority to issue orders regarding the grant and recovery of loans rests with the Government of Bombay, but in doubtful cases reference should be made to the Government of India, which will, if necessary, address the Secretary of State. (G. I., F. & C., No. 508, dated 30th April 1885; vide G. R. No. 3921, dated 15th May 1885.)

The following "Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations" are designed to secure suitable provisions for the widows and orphans of members of the Covenanted Indian Civil Service not being subscribers to the Bengal, Madras, or Bombay Civil Funds.

The Secretary of State for India in Council reserves to himself the absolute right to regulate from time to time the contributions to be required from Civil Servants under these regulations, and to make any alterations in the regulations themselves that may appear to him equitable; provided always that the scale of pensions fixed thereby shall not be reduced in the case of actual incumbents. The Secretary of State in Council will endeavour to adjust the contributions to be levied from officers exactly, so that they shall neither be too large nor too small to supply the pensions provided for by these regulations. But if it should appear on experience that they have been fixed too low, the Government will not require any supplementary retrospective payments; and if they are found to have been fixed too high, no claim to refund will be admitted.

No insurance fund is established by these regulations. The contributions will be credited and the pensions charged directly to the Indian revenues as civil receipts and charges. But in order to adjust the rates of contribution from time to time to what is necessary to supply the pensions provided for by these regulations and no more, a separate pro forma account will be kept of all contributions levied and all payments made under these regulations, and of the interest which would have been allowed upon such contributions if a mutual insurance fund had actually been established.

In accordance with the principle announced in this notification, that the Government does not intend that the pensions provided by these regulations shall bring any charge on the Indian revenues in excess of the amount specially sanctioned for the purpose, the rates of interest and of exchange with England to be allowed in this pro forma account will be the rates which may be fixed from time to time by the Secretary of State in Council upon a consideration of the market rates of the day.

All needful statistics of ages, births, deaths, and marriages will be carefully registered, and these statistics, with the pro forma accounts, will be submitted at such periods as may be determined by the Secretary of State in Council to such actuary or actuaries as he may select, with instructions to investigate and ascertain whether the rates of contribution are such as will, at the rate of interest and exchange then to be reconsidered and refixed, supply the pensions payable under these regulations, and no more. The expense of such actuarial inquiries and reports shall be debited in the pro forma accounts reported upon.

Upon the report of the actuary or actuaries, the Secretary of State in Council will order any necessary alterations in the rates of contribution.

The report of the actuary or actuaries, with the orders of the Secretary of State in Council thereupon, shall be published in the Gazette of India, and no alteration ordered in the rates of contribution will take effect before the beginning of the month following the date of such publication. No retrospective adjustments will be made.

The benefits provided at the cost of the State are shown in the regulations; but should it at any time appear from a valuation that the aggregate liabilities on account of those benefits, when the pension list shall have reached a normal state, will exceed £35,000 per annum, they will be subject to such reduction as may be necessary to restrict the annual assistance to £35,000 per annum, but the reduction shall in no case affect the benefits payable to incumbent annuitants.

The pensions of motherless orphans at all ages will be made up by the Government to £100.

On marriage, daughters will be granted a donation of £250 to be provided by the Government.

Annuity holders residing in India may either receive their pensions in Indian currency at the official rate of exchange, or in England in sterling; but having once exercised the option, any subsequent change can only be permitted at the commencement of the official year.

5. The pension of a minor orphan will be paid to his or her mother, or other duly appointed or recognised guardian.

Contributions.

6. The contributions for pensions under these regulations and the pensions of widows will be regulated by the class of the contributing member. A subscriber cannot secure a higher pension for a widow by contributing as if he belonged to a higher class.

7. Contributions will be deducted from salaries at the time of issue.

8. The circumstance that an officer is not in receipt of pay does not relieve him from the necessity of paying his contributions.

9. Donations may be paid in one sum, or in twelve equal monthly instalments. If a donation be paid in instalments, interest on the unpaid portion will be levied at the rate of  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum. Instalments will be liable to alteration in amount according to the rate of exchange which may be enforced for the year during which they are recovered, in accordance with the principle laid down that the equivalent of sums payable in sterling shall be paid by the subscribers in India. The balance of any contribution due at an officer's death will be recovered rateably, without interest, from the pensions of his widow and orphans in four quarterly instalments.

10. Contributions which become due from subscribers when in Europe must be paid in England in sterling. If a subscriber, previous to quitting India, has commenced the payment of any donation by instalments, he may either complete the payment of the donation in India before leaving, or pay the remaining instalments in England at English rates.

* Misquoted
for G. N. No.
4437, dated
1892.

1. The Assistant Collectors in charge of the Import and Export Departments of the Bombay Custom House—Sections 24, 29, 42, 55, 57, 58, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 86, 120, 121, 128, 137, 141, 143, 158, 159, 160, 161, 195 and 201.

2. The Superintendent, Preventive Service—Sections 59, 67, 85 and 201, and to the extent of granting written permission (a) under Section 70 when a vessel has been entered inwards under Section 57, or outwards under Section 61, for the discharging and shipping respectively without the presence of a Customs officer, of all cargo—

(1) to be discharged or shipped in the Wet Docks ;

(2) to be discharged or shipped in the stream by a steamer or square-rigged vessel, except dutiable, restricted or doubtful goods ;

(3) to be discharged or shipped by a country craft at the free anchorage ;

and (b) under Section 72 for discharging and shipping or water-bearing goods beyond the notified hours on other than Sundays, holidays or prohibited days.

3. The Preventive officers in charge of the Máhim, Warli and Arthur Bandar Custom Houses—Sections 158, 159, 160 and 201.

4. All Preventive officers in the Town and Island of Bombay to the extent of granting under Section 72 written permission to land, at the several wharves where such landing is allowed, fresh fruit, vegetable and live-stock on all days, including Sundays and holidays.

(G. N. No. 4437-A., dated 25th May 1892.)

Note.—A similar notification prescribing and limiting the powers and duties of officers of Customs at the ports of Karachi, Keti-Bandar and Sirganda has been issued by the Commissioner in Sind under Section 9, and will be found reproduced in its proper place.

In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 6 of the Sea Customs Act VIII of 1878, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased, in supersession of clause (1) of sub-paragraph (a) of Notification No. 3651A, dated 15th May 1897, to appoint the Collector of Customs and Salt Revenue in Sind to be Chief Customs Officer for all ports in Sind and to be Chief Customs Collector in Sind.

(G. N. No. 9231, dated 20th December 1897.)

5. Section 6 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, does not limit the power of a Local Government to appointing officers of Customs only in places where duties of Sea Customs are leviable. No such limitation is either expressed or intended in that section. The section runs, 'the Local Government of every place in which duties of Sea Customs are leviable, may appoint such persons as it thinks fit to be officers of Customs, and to exercise the powers conferred, and to perform the duties imposed, by this Act on such officers.' But the words 'of every place in which duties of Sea Customs are leviable' qualify the words 'Local Government' only, and not the officers of Customs who may be appointed. No Local Government could, under that section, appoint officers of Customs unless it were the Local Government of a place in which duties of Sea Customs are leviable. The powers and duties conferred and imposed by the Act on Customs officers may be prescribed and limited with the sanction of the Local Government by the Chief Customs Authority under Section 9 (a), and when there is no Customs House the duties of officers of Customs would, unless the Local Government otherwise direct, be performed by the Collector of the District and his subordinates. But it is open to the Local Government to direct that in such places Customs officers should perform such duties, and then the Chief Customs Authority can, with the sanction of Government, prescribe and limit the powers and duties of such officers of Customs. Section 8, it may be noted, provides only for the performance, by Collectors and their subordinates, of duties imposed, not for the exercise by them of powers conferred. (L. R. No. 238, dated 18th February 1891; vide Government Resolution No. 1638, dated 3rd March 1891.)

6. His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased under the powers vested in him by Section 7, Chapter II, of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, to delegate to the Commissioner in Sind authority to appoint officers of Sea Customs to the charge of the ports and wharves in the Province of Sind declared to be such under the foregoing notifications*). (G. N. No. 5725 C, dated 27th October 1879.)

*J. e. Notification Nos. 5725 A and 5725 B, dated 27th October 1879; vide Orders Nos. 4 and 5, Sub-head III.

7. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 7 of Act VIII of 1878 (The Sea Customs Act, 1878), the Governor of Bombay in Council is pleased to delegate the following powers, vested in Government by the first clause of Section 6 of the Act, to the following officers in the manner hereinbelow prescribed, namely :—

- |                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| (1) To the Chief Customs Authority.                                | { The power of making all appointments of persons to be officers of Customs, excepting the appointments of gazetted officers in the Customs Department.                                                                                           |
| (2) To the Collector of Customs and the Collector of Salt Revenue. | { The power to appoint persons to be officers of Customs within their respective jurisdictions on salaries under Rs. 100, subject to such limitations as the Chief Customs Authority may impose on such power of appointment under Section 9 (a). |
| (3) To the Deputy and Assistant Collectors of Salt Revenue.        | { The power to appoint persons to be officers of Customs within their respective jurisdictions, subject to such general or special rules as may from time to time be prescribed.                                                                  |

(G. N. No. 6512 B, dated 20th September 1882.)

(Commissioner of Customs No. 783 of 26th January 1884.)

The Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bkári, with the sanction of Government, hereby authorizes the Superintendent, Coast Guard Service, and Coast Guard Inspectors of the Salt and Continental Customs Department and their crews to exercise the powers and perform the duties indicated in Section 166 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878. (Commissioner of Customs No. 785, dated the 26th January 1884.)

9. In exercise of the power conferred in this behalf by Section 188 of Act VIII of 1878 (The Sea Customs Act, 1878,) and in supersession of all previous notifications on the same subject, the Governor of Bombay in Council is pleased to empower the following officers of Customs, in virtue of their office, to hear appeals under the provisions of the said Act, namely :—

12. The Customs Department, Bombay, is authorized to purchase canoes at prices varying from Rs. 60 to Rs. 150. (G. R. No. 2112, dated 11th June 1860.)

13. The authority conveyed in the foregoing Resolution is applicable also to the Collector of Salt Revenue. (G. R. No. 2514, dated 1st May 1875.)

14. The Commissioner of Customs, Salt and Opium is authorized to dispose of dead-stock articles to the same extent as the Revenue Commissioners. (G. R. No. 388, dated 30th January 1865.)

15. The Port Officer, Kárwár, is a Customs officer under the Collector of Salt and Continental Customs, but requisitions by the Collector of the District should be attended to by the Port Officer, and he should also be consulted on local matters in which he necessarily has an interest, and on which his local knowledge will be valuable. (G. R. No. 6, dated 2nd January 1877.)

16. As a rule, all Resolutions or orders relating to the port of Kárwár should be addressed to the Collector of Salt Revenue and not communicated direct to the Port Officer, Kárwár. (G. R. No. 5521, dated 10th September 1877.)

17. Orders to the Port Officer, Kárwár, will in future be issued through the Collector of Salt Revenue. (G. R. No. 2346, dated 2nd May 1879.)

CUSTOMS.]

22. The Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium, and A'bkári may reside in Poona during the monsoon months, on the distinct understanding that Government are not called on to incur any expenditure on account of providing office accommodation for his office establishment. (G. L. No. 9463, dated 15th December 1889).

23. The rules made by the Chief Customs Authority must be consistent with the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1878. He cannot by rule vary the imperative requirements of the Act. (L. R. No. 162, dated 3rd February 1890; vide G. R. No. 1278, dated 18th idem.)

24. Looking at Section 9 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, as a whole, it as well as the chapter in which it occurs is plainly concerned with the appointment, powers and duties of officers of Customs, and the general words used in clause (c) must according to ordinary principles of construction be limited by the more specific words of the preceding clauses (a) and (b). Of course it is possible that the effect of a rule relating to the powers or duties of Customs House officers might incidentally be to impose a liability on the public, and it cannot be said that the rule would be thereby invalidated. But the primary object of the rule must be to carry out some one or more of the provisions of the Act through the instrumentality of the officers of Customs. (Adv. Gen. No. 53, dated 9th May 1891; vide G. R. No. 3687, dated 24th idem.)

- (b) that the provisions of sub-section (3) of Section 4 and sub-section (1) of Section 5 of the Metal Tokens Act I of 1889, in relation to the offence of making in British India, in contravention of Section 3 of that Act, any such piece as is mentioned in that section shall apply, so far as they can be made applicable, to the offence of contravening the foregoing prohibition under Section 19 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878.

**Note.*—With reference to Bombay Government Notification No. 4817, dated 27th June 1883, which originally prohibited the import of salt into Aden, it was ruled in G. I., F. & C., No. 625 dated 9th May 1885, that the prohibition should not be enforced in the case of table-salt so long as the imports continued to be small; vide G. R. No. 4240, dated 27th May 1885.

8. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 19 of the Sea Customs Act VIII of 1878, the Governor General in Council is pleased to prohibit, with effect from the 15th January 1892, the bringing or taking by sea or by land into any part of the Presidency of Bombay of country liquor produced or manufactured in any part of the Indian Possessions of His Majesty the King of Portugal and the Algarves. Provided that the bringing of such coin into British India by a traveller, in any quantity not exceeding one rupee's worth at any one time, in good faith for his own use, shall not be deemed to be prohibited by this notification. 12. Section 19 of the Sea Customs Act only authorizes the prohibition of the import of specified goods into any part of British India from outside British India. (G. I., F. & C., No. 3053, dated 18th July 1891.)

13. The Commissioner of Customs and the Commissioner in Sind should take the necessary action for stopping the importation of the American publication entitled 'Webster's Encyclopædic Dictionary of the English Language' by Noah Webster, which contains in its Appendix reprints of a portion of the English copyright work 'Encyclopædic Dictionary' published by Messrs. Cassels. (G. R. No. 217, dated 12th January 1892.)

V.—LEVY OF CUSTOMS DUTIES.

1. The Governor General in Council desires to call attention to certain provisions in the Sea Customs Act, 1878, which were the subject of much discussion when the Act was under consideration.

Section 32 deals with the case of goods undervalued for duty. It takes the place of Section 27 of Act VI of 1863. A new power is given to the Customs Collector when goods taken over by the Government have been brought to sale by public auction and when the highest offer made at such sale is, in his opinion, inadequate. Under such circumstances the Customs Collector is empowered either to adjourn the sale or to buy in the goods and dispose of them for the benefit of the Government.

Some apprehension has been expressed that this power may be abused. It has been pointed out that when a firm imports goods out of season, and has to hold them over for some months before it can dispose of them, it must take into consideration interest, storage, cost of establishment, fire insurance and other charges to which it will be put before the goods are disposed of. If the Customs Collector is not satisfied with the valuation of such goods and takes them over for the use of Government, it is feared that the goods may be kept until the season when the prices have risen, the Customs Collector not being deterred by the consideration of the charges of the kind above mentioned and using his own judgment as to what is an 'unnecessary delay.'

It is needless to say that such a use of the power given by Section 32 to the Customs Collector, involving, as it would, a commercial speculation, would not be approved by the Government.

Then, again, the power of adjournment of the sale, or of buying in the goods for subsequent disposal for the benefit of Government, is one which should only be exercised on clear necessity being shown for such a course. In the Presidency town, it will probably be less necessary than in smaller centres of commerce, for the large number of dealers would be generally a sufficient safeguard against inadequate offers.

It is desirable that periodical returns should be made by the Customs Collector, showing the instances in which he has delayed the original sale by auction beyond one fortnight and those in which he has either adjourned the sale or bought in the goods, and in the latter case how and when he has disposed of them, with explanations of his reasons for so acting. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 50, dated 21st March 1878; vide G. R. No. 1776, dated 6th April 1878.)

2. Half-yearly returns of the nature referred to above should be furnished by the Customs authorities. (G. R. No. 3171, dated 24th June 1878.)

3. The definition of the words "wholesale lots" occurring in Section 32 of the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1878, must mainly be governed by the custom of the trade, and should, therefore, to a great extent, be left to the discretion of local Customs authorities. On the whole the Government of India is disposed to think that the following course might reasonably be taken as a guide by Customs officers in dealing with such cases, viz., that the words "wholesale lots" should be taken to signify, as far as may be, such lots as wholesale dealer would be willing, in the ordinary course of business, to sell at wholesale rates; that lots such as a retail price would be demanded for by the trade, as when goods taken over consist of, or include, single articles, should be sold singly; that the valuation of imported goods being based on the wholesale cash price, the sale of goods taken over should be effected on the basis of wholesale cash terms, and the time within which the sale must take place should be specified.

It has been ruled in a case appealed to the Government of India against the decision of the local authorities in Calcutta, in connection with the sale of a consignment of corals taken over for undervaluation, that goods entered in two or more bills of entry and parcels of goods separately valued in one bill of entry should not be sold in one lot, but separately. This ruling should be carefully observed in all ports when goods are sold which have been taken over as undervalued. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2860, dated 22nd September 1879; vide G. R. No. 5409, dated 8th October 1879.)

4. When an overcharge of duty has been made, a written intimation should be sent to the parties concerned as soon as may be after the error has been discovered. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 138, dated 4th December 1878; vide G. R. No. 6392, dated 11th idem.)

5. The Sea Customs Act, 1878, being an Act imposing burdens must receive a strict construction in a sense favourable to the subject. Thus goods must not be removed before payment of duties (Section 88). The bill of entry must not be amended after the goods are removed (Section 36). But a refund may be claimed within three months from payment of duties (Section 40.) Therefore repayment can be made without any legal necessity to amend the bill of entry. Similarly other sections must not be strained by argument against the subject; on the contrary their wording must be construed strictly, but beneficially to the subject, so as to consist with Section 40, and not so as, if possible, to negative the benefit conveyed by the terms of the latter section. Section 40 also must receive a strict, but liberal, construction beneficial to the subject, and must not be restricted by mere inferences. It is not open to the Customs authorities to say that the section refers to inadvertence, error or misconstruction on the part of Customs officers only, or that it must be discovered before the goods leave the Custom House; those restrictive conditions are not to be found in the section.* (Solicitor to

* In this connection reference may be made to the following paragraphs of the Legal Remembrancer's memorandum No. 735, dated 12th September 1878 (vide G. R., F. D., No. 3384, dated 20th idem), the opinion contained in which was concurred in by the Solicitor to Government:—

"4. In the second place, however, Section 36 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, is quoted in support of the refusal to grant repayment of the duty paid through error. That section prohibits any amendment of a bill of entry relating to goods Govt., No. 658, dated 29th January 1879; vide G. R. No. 618, dated 5th February 1879.)

6. It has been brought to the notice of the Government of India, that articles liable to Sea-Customs duty are frequently imported into India through the Letter Post and thus escape the duty to which they are liable. Such importations are in direct contravention of the Indian Post Office Act, 1866, Section 60 of which Act declares that any covers supposed to contain articles subject to Customs duty may be opened by the Post Office authorities after due notice to attend has been given to the addressee.

His Excellency the Governor General in Council desires to remind the public, that the importation through the Letter Post of goods liable to duty is illegal, and to notify for general information that the provisions of Section 60 of Act XIV of 1866 will be strictly enforced. (G. L., F. D., No. 1170, dated 7th March 1879; vide G. N. No. 1352, dated 12th idem.)

7. Particular care is essential in the examination of goods imported by Overland Parcel Post, and the Customs authorities should give special attention to this matter. (G. L., R. & A., No. 95, dated 3rd July 1879; vide G. R. No. 3686, dated 14th idem.)

• Now Act
VIII of 1894.

8. The Indian Tariff* Act (XI of 1882) extends to the whole of British India except Aden. The repeal by it of Section 8 and the second Schedule of the Indian Arms Act (XI of 1878) is, therefore, applicable to every port of British India except Aden. In Aden that section and schedule of the Arms Act are still in force.

Aden is, generally speaking, a free port and in order to secure it this privilege the Sea Customs Act (VIII of 1878) classes it for the purposes of that Act as a foreign port. Therefore under Section assessed for duty on the declared value, quantity or description thereof' after such goods have been removed from the Custom House, and this is interpreted by the Customs authorities to mean that no repayment of duty shall be made after the goods have passed out of the Custom House, because such repayment 'would involve an amendment of the bill of entry.' If this had been the intention of the Legislature I think it would have been clearly so stated in Section 40, and not have been left to inference. There is, moreover, nothing in the Act that requires a bill of entry to be amended when repayment of duty is made. The bill of entry is, I presume, finally filed and recorded as soon as the goods are removed from the Custom House. If repayment of the duty, or of any part of the duty paid in accordance with it, is afterwards at any time paid back again it may be the custom of the Department to note this fact on the bill, but this can hardly be called an amendment of the bill.

"5. Sections 36 and 40 must be so construed as not to be inconsistent the one with the other, and it seems to me that the intention is that if an error in a bill of entry or shipping bill is discovered after the goods have left the Custom House, the owner shall not be allowed to get the bill amended, but must bring his claim under Section 40, and satisfy the authorities by such other trustworthy evidence as he can bring forward that a mistake has been made in consequence of which he has paid more than he ought to have paid."

CUSTOMS.]

20 (a) of that Act, goods imported from Aden into any Customs port are liable to the import duties prescribed in Schedule II of the Indian Tariff Act (XI of 1832), because they do not come from a port in British India on importation into which they have already been charged those duties. (L. R. No. 430, dated 21st March 1884; vide G. R. No. 3366, dated 25th April 1884.)

9. Whenever there is any doubt as to the correct interpretation of the Tariff, reference should be made to the Government of India, and not from one Custom House to another (G. I., R., A. & C., Nos. 443, dated 24th October 1877, and C. 561, dated 26th November 1878; vide G. Rs. Nos. 6745, dated 12th November 1877, and 6274, dated 4th December 1878.)

10. All articles paid for from Local Funds, when liable to duty under the Tariff, should pay duty. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 380 C., dated 29th August 1878; vide G. R. No. 4725, dated 14th September 1878.)

11. Canned fruits and vegetables are dutiable under No. 47,* 'Provisions and Oilman's Stores' of Schedule A of the Indian Tariff Act, XVI of 1875. Such heading is more appropriate for such articles than that of "Fruits and vegetables" which is only intended to include such articles as dates, cocoanuts, pistachio nuts, walnuts, &c., imported in bulk, and largely consumed as food by various classes of the native population. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 71, dated 17th July 1878; vide G. R. No. 3725, dated 24th idem.)

* Cf. 6 of Schedule IV of the Indian Tariff Act,
VIII of 1894.

12. Toilet or violet powder and tooth powder and other such articles should be classed as toilet requisites both for assessment of duty and for statistical purposes.

As a general rule, under the head of Perfumery can be classed only such articles the primary use and object of which is to create a pleasant odour. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 74, dated 1st February 1879; vide G. R. No. 718, dated 11th idem.)

13. For purposes of Customs duty, Eno's Fruit Salt and Easton's Syrup should be classed as "Drugs and Medicines" and "Eye-protectors" as "Optical Instruments." (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 73, dated 5th May 1879; vide G. R. No. 2582, dated 15th idem.)

14. An article may not be mentioned under a Tariff heading, and may yet belong to a class of goods which is subject to duty under the Tariff. For example, certain articles made of caoutchouc fall appropriately under the heads of "Apparel," "Stationery," "Toys and Requisites for Games," and "Piece-goods not otherwise described," and being dutiable under those heads have been properly so taxed. The rule to observe in regard to manufactures of caoutchouc is to consider the articles to be free or dutiable accordingly as the head under which they may reasonably be classified is exempted from or is subject to duty. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1710, dated 19th July 1879; vide G. R. No. 3927, dated 29th July 1879.)

* Vide Schedule II of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894.

15. Powder-flasks fall under the definition given in clause 8, Schedule* II of the Arms Act, X of 1878, being tools for loading fire-arms, and shot-pouches and capping-machines for muzzle-loaders fall under the same category. This decision, however, does not apply to bullet moulds, since bullet moulds are not articles employed in the process of loading, but machines for manufacturing ammunition. (G. I., II., R. & A., No. 1614, dated 4th September 1879; vide G. Rs. Nos. 4927, dated 15th idem, and 5619, dated 18th August 1888.)

16. Cod-liver oil should be classed and charged with duty under the head "Drugs and Medicines," whether imported in casks or bottles. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2747, dated 13th September 1879; vide G. R. No. 5110, dated 24th idem.)

Tamarind and dried lemons are clearly not fresh fruit and free from duty. Bearing in mind the purposes for which these articles are imported, and the uses to which they are turned, they should be treated as coming under the head "Groceries not otherwise described" and held liable to the payment of duty. (G. R., F. D., No. 4484, dated 17th December 1879.)

17. Townsend's Sarsaparilla should for Customs purposes be treated as a medicine, but should be subjected to occasional analysis in order to ensure that the proportion of 20 per cent. of alcohol is not exceeded. (G. R. No. 6988, dated 31st December 1879.)

18. Weighing machines, including those in the shape of weigh-bridges, should be treated as hardware for Customs purposes and should be entered under the head of "Hardware and Cutlery" in the trade returns. (G. I., F. & C., No. 54, dated 10th January 1880; vide G. R. No. 327, dated 21st idem.)

19. Tamarinds and dried lemons should for the purposes of the Customs Tariff be classed for assessment for duty under † item 47, Provisions and Oilman's Stores—sub-head, Groceries not otherwise described.

† Cf. Item 6, Schedule IV, Act VIII of 1894.

For statistical purposes both tamarinds and dried lemons should be classed under Provisions—sub-head, Fruits and Vegetables, dried, salted or preserved. (G. I., F. & C., No. 35 C, dated 28th January 1880; vide G. R. No. 670, dated 7th February 1880.)

20. Bedmushk, which is used principally as a drug, should be classed for assessment to duty and for statistical record under the head of "Drugs and Medicines."

Bazarbattu nuts, which are the inedible fruit of the Corypha umbraculifera from which beads are made, should be classed under "All other articles" in the Trade Returns instead of under "Fruits and Vegetables." (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 42-C., dated 31st January 1880, and 89-C., dated 16th March 1880; vide G. Rs. Nos. 707, dated 10th February 1880, and 1601, dated 29th March 1880.)

CUSTOMS.]

21. The provisions of item 1 ("Firearms other than pistols, for each duty Rs. 50") and Proviso I, Schedule II to the * Tariff Act, 1882, mean that a gun imported for sale pays Rs. 50, whatever be its value, but that a gun imported for private use pays only 10 per cent. of its value, if it be worth less than Rs. 500, but never more than Rs. 50. (G. R. No. 5125, dated 9th July 1883.)

VIII of 1894.

22. In dealing with consignments of different descriptions of blasting powder, the practice which obtains at the Calcutta Customs House of classing blasting powder, whether coarse or fine, as common powder for purposes of tariff valuation, commends itself to the Government of India. It is always within the discretion of the Collector of Customs to decide that a consignment of what is declared to be blasting powder is manifestly sporting powder, and to treat it accordingly. (G. I., F. & C., No. 196-S., dated 28th December 1883; vide G. R. No. 266, dated 11th January 1884.)

23. Ornamental arms possessing only anti-quarian value are not to be treated as arms for Customs purposes and should not be subject to the restrictions imposed upon arms, and should be registered as curiosities in the trade returns. Care should, however, be taken that weapons which might prove of use for purposes of offence or defence are not passed as curiosities. (G. I., F. & C., No. 40-S., dated 3rd March 1884; vide G. Rs. Nos. 2509, dated 21st idem, and 3028, dated 10th April 1884.)

24. The Government of India have held that hunting-knives fall within the scope of the Arms Act. They are accordingly liable to duty under the Indian Tariff Act under the head "All other sorts" of Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores. (G. R. No. 6894, dated 26th August 1885.)

25. A vernier is not, strictly speaking, a component of a firearm and is, therefore, not liable to Customs duty as such and is exempt from the provisions of the Arms Act requiring a license for its possession. Foresight definers, sight protectors and swivels should be treated in the same way as verniers. (G. Rs. Nos. 6886, dated 29th September 1886, 397, dated 17th January 1887, and 8352, dated 4th December 1891.)

26. All clothing, military equipments or other stores, such as the men are bound to provide for themselves under regulation, are liable to Customs duty when imported for the use of native regiments either direct or through the Clothing Department, and this duty must be paid by the regiment importing them. These orders are applicable to all native regiments. (G. I., M. D., No. 982-S.D., dated 13th July 1886; vide G. R., M. D., No. 3118, dated 26th idem; G. M. No. 5676, dated 9th August 1886; and G. R. No. 4420, dated 14th July 1887.)*

27. The practice followed at the Karachi and Calcutta Customs Houses of charging duty on concentrated compounds containing spirits for the manufacture of ginger-beer, ginger-ale, ginger-champagne, orangeade, lemonade, &c., and flavouring essences according to the proportion of proof spirit contained therein should be adopted at the Bombay Customs House. (G. R. No. 6565, dated 16th September 1886.)

28. The salt manure termed Kainit should be treated as salt for purposes of import duty. (G. R. No. 6206, dated 13th September 1888.)

29. A knife with a cartridge extractor as one of its fittings does not form part of a firearm for the purposes of the Arms Act, and no license is required under that Act for the importation of such knives. (G. R. No. 36344, dated 28th August 1889, and 3164, dated 2nd April 1892.)

30. Chura† and curmura‡ should be treated as rice for Customs and statistical purposes. (G. I., F & C., Nos. 53-S., dated 5th February, and 3236, dated 4th July 1890; vide G. Rs. Nos. 1296, dated 19th February 1890, and 5060, dated 19th July 1890.)

31. Air guns other than toys should be treated as arms for the purposes of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, and the rules thereunder. (G. I., M. D., No. 3697-D., dated 24th September 1891; vide G. R., M. D. No. 1926, dated 2nd October 1891, and G. M. No. 7199, dated 20th idem.)

VI.—EXEMPTION FROM DUTIES, AND REFUNDS.

1. The Government of India has always been very particular not to relax the rule against special exemptions from payment of Customs duty, such being made only in very exceptional cases. If a claim for exemption is held to merit consideration, the proper course for the applicant to adopt is to pay the duty and then apply for a refund. In this way the claim will be considered on its merits as what it really is, namely, a claim for a grant of public money in aid of some object. But the cases must be very rare in which the Government can properly be called on to repay charges of this kind

* The Government of India have decided that the amount of Customs duty paid on arms, or component parts thereof, imported for the use of native troops, will be refunded to regiments on the presentation to the Military authorities of a bill for the amount so paid by the Officer Commanding the corps concerned. These amounts will form items of military expenditure. (G. I., M. D., No. 811 D., dated 20th February 1893; vide G. R., M. D., No. 457, dated 6th March 1893.)

† "Chura" is made by boiling unhusked rice, drying it in a pan on a fire, and then pounding it till the grains flatten out.

by a grant of public money. Customs duties must be looked on in exactly the same light as any other necessary charges connected with the importation of the articles such as freight, insurance, &c., and there is no more reason for Government paying these duties than there would be for Government paying the freight. (G. I., F. D., No. 4530, dated 29th October 1869, and G. I., F. & C., No. 1036, dated 10th June 1881; vide G. Rs. Nos. 563, dated 17th December 1869, and 3518, dated 20th June 1881.)

2. No exemptions from payment of Customs duty should be granted by the Government of Bombay in anticipation of the sanction of the Government of India as was done in December 1890 in the case of Prince Christian Victor. The action of the Government of Bombay should, in similar cases, be limited to the exemption of personal baggage from examination, and the acceptance of the declaration made in respect of the baggage. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1994, dated 12th May 1892; vide G. R. No. 4916, dated 11th June 1892.)

3. Only arms of regulation pattern, forming part of the equipment with which, by the rules of the service, an officer entitled to wear diplomatic, military or police uniform is bound to provide himself, are free of duty, but this exemption does not extend to other arms with which an officer is not required to furnish himself en officio. All these should be charged with duty, unless it can be shown that duty has been paid thereon on previous importation, or that they form part of the obligatory equipment of the officer importing them. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2498, dated 30th August 1879; vide G. R. No. 4828, dated 10th September 1879.)

4. The Governor General in Council is pleased to concede, as a matter of courtesy, to ruling Chiefs of Feudatory States in India, who are entitled to be called His Highness, arriving by sea in the Bombay Presidency, the privilege of exemption of their baggage from Customs duty. The concession will apply to all British ports within the Presidency and to all occasions when such Chiefs are travelling.

Under orders issued in 1861 the Gaekwár of Baroda and the Mahárájas Scindiah and Holkar have the privilege of importing, free of Customs duties, articles intended for their personal use. The same concession may be made to other Native rulers of equal rank, such as His Highness the Nizám of Hyderabad, His Highness the Mahárája of Mysore, and any Chief whose permanent salute is not less than 19 guns. (G. I., For. Dept., No. 2340-I., dated 13th June 1888; vide G. R., P. D., No. 4686, dated 11th July 1888, and G. M. No. 4987, dated 26th idem; also vide G. R. No. 7729, dated 29th September 1892.)

Resolution by the Government of India in the Financial Department, No. 12355, dated the 28th September 1861.

5. The Political Department may include in the orders regarding the embarkation and disembarkation of Native Chiefs the recital of the exemption of their baggage from Customs duty sanctioned by the Government of India, without a reference in each case to the Revenue Department. (G. M. No. 4988, dated 26th July 1888.)

6. The following revised rules for giving effect to Article IX of the Treaty between the British Government and His Highness the Mahārāja of Jammu and Kashmir of 2nd May 1870 in respect of the treatment of claims for exemption from import duty made in respect of goods transmitted in bond through British India to the territories of His Highness the Mahārāja of Kashmir and Jammu or (through those territories) to Russian and Chinese Turkistan are published :—

I.—Procedure at the Custom-house.

1. Customs duty should be levied on all goods liable to such duty imported into India and declared and sealed for transmission in bond to Jammu or Srinagar.

2. Such goods should be brought by the owner to the Custom-house for examination and identification as in the case of imported goods exported to foreign ports, under claim for drawback, and the owner should present with the goods an application in Form A.

3. After identification of the goods the packages should be sealed, and an invoice in Form B prepared by the Customs authorities for delivery to the owner, who may then remove the goods. The counterfoil of the invoice should be retained in the Custom-house.

4. The Customs authorities should send direct and immediately to the Resident in Kashmir a duplicate of the invoice (Form B).

II.—Procedure of the Kashmir State Officials

5. On arrival of the goods in Jammu or Kashmir, the packages should be examined and compared with the invoice by an official appointed for the purpose by His Highness the Mahārāja and by an official of the British Government appointed by the Resident in Kashmir. If the seals on the packages are intact, and the packages and their contents correspond with the description in the invoice, the officials should, after attesting the invoice, make it over to any officer whom the Kashmir Darbār may direct to receive it for delivery to the Resident.

III.—Procedure of the Resident in Kashmir.

6. On the Resident, or a responsible officer delegated by him, satisfying himself as to the identity of the goods, he should, after comparing the invoice with the duplicate received by him from the Customs authorities (Rule 4), record on the invoice an order for the credit to the State of the amount of duty levied on the goods.

7. Every invoice on which such an order has been recorded, should be forwarded to the Account-tant General of the Kashmir State, who will arrange with the Accountant General, Punjab, to credit the State with the sum due in the manner usual with all money transactions between the State and the Government of India.

8. The Resident should maintain a record of the invoices on which refunds are made, and compare monthly or quarterly the total sums paid to the State with the total of the sums noted on the duplicates received from the Custom-houses in accordance with Rule 4. He should also submit annually, for the information of the Government of India, a brief report on the working of the system now prescribed.

(G. R., R. D., No. 335, dated 14th January 1898.)

7. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 23 of the Sea Customs Act (VIII of 1878), the Governor General in Council is pleased to exempt from the whole of the duties of Customs leviable thereon all arms, ammunition, and military stores imported into British India, with the sanction of the Government of India, for the use of any portion of the military forces of a Native State in India which may be maintained and organized for Imperial Service. (G. of I., F. & C., Notn. No. 3028-S, dated 21st July 1892; vide G. N. No. 6089 of 27th idem.)

8. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 23 of the Sea Customs Act (VIII of 1878), the Governor General in Council is pleased to exempt from Customs duty all guns brought into British India from the French settlements of Pondicherry, Karikal, or Mahe by residents of any of those settlements being Europeans:

Provided that the guns are covered by a pass issued under the authority of the Government of the settlement from which they are brought, and countersigned by a British Magistrate, certifying that the holders are entitled to carry the guns for sporting purposes.

2. Notification No. 2257, dated the 15th December 1879, issued by the Government of India in the Home Department is hereby cancelled. (G. I., F. & C., Notn. No. 2001-S, dated the 12th May 1893; vide G. N. No. 3606, dated 17th idem.)

9. Customs Circular No. VI of 1895.—* * To establish a claim for exemption from duty on lost goods it must be shown that the goods when lost had not actually been entered for warehousing or for home consumption, or that they were lost after entry for home consumption while they were in the custody of the Customs officials. When the goods have been lost before entry for home consumption, or after it has been completed, and while the goods are in the custody of the importer or his agents, such loss must be accepted by the importer as a trade risk against which the Government cannot undertake to insure him. (Vide G. N. No. 3441, dated 8th May 1895.)

10. Customs Circular No. X of 1895.—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 179—L.M. 7 No. 57, dated the 14th September 1894, requesting sanction to the continuance of the procedure which was, until recently, in force in Bombay, of granting refunds of import duty on goods received by foreign parcel post which cannot be delivered in India and are re-exported beyond the limits within which they are liable to Customs duty, and to its application at all other ports at which parcels are received in India by the foreign parcel post.

2. I am to state that the Governor General in Council sanctions the proposal.

(G. N. No. 4619, dated 19th June 1895.)

CUSTOMS.]

11. Customs Circular No. XI of 1895.—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 13 C.—L.M. 7-57 No. 1, dated the 16th April 1895, requesting sanction to the exemption from import duty of the contents of postal parcels originally posted in India and returned to the Indian Post Office as unclaimed, refused, or redirected from any place whether in or out of India, without having at any time left the custody of the Post Office.

2. I am to state that the Governor General in Council sanctions the proposal.

(G. N. No. 4619, dated 9th June 1895.)

12. Customs Circular No IX of 1897.—I am directed to state, for the information of His Excellency the Governor in Council, that the Governor General in Council has decided that mess-plate brought into India by British Regiments arriving in this country, and certified by the Commanding Officer to have been in use for twelve months, shall be exempted from Customs duty. This exemption applies only to mess-plate brought with the Regiment on arrival in India, and not to articles of mess-plate imported by the Regiment after its arrival in India. (G. N. No. 5282, dated 14th July 1897.)

13. When stores are imported by Government they are properly landed duty-free; but when articles are purchased by Government in this country after duty has been paid upon them, the price should be paid including the duty. The Governor General in Council observes that to pay the price minus the duty, and obtain a refund of the duty from the Customs, saves nothing, while it causes delay and unnecessary labour, and complicates the accounts. (G. I., F. D., No. 1672, dated 2nd August 1864; vide G. R. No. 3325, dated 31st idem.)

14. Articles imported for charitable purposes should not be exempted from Customs duties. (G. I., F. D., No. 1672, dated 2nd August 1864; vide G. R. No. 3325, dated 31st idem.)

15. As a general rule no duties should be received in Petty Customs* on the Import side on goods of a greater value than Rs. 200 and on the Export side on goods of a greater value than Rs. 400; refunds of payments made in Petty Customs are not to be allowed. (G. R. No. 361, dated 25th January 1872.)

16. Passengers may be allowed to carry specie as personal baggage without declaring the amount thereof. (G. R. No. 5576, dated 13th September 1877.)

17. The practice of the Bombay Custom House to pass free all apparel intended for personal use, whether new or not, is reasonable, but Custom House

* The "Petty Customs" is an off-shoot of the regular establishment developed for the convenience of the public, to pass without the usual formalities articles of small value upon which the duty is trifling and for which no receipts are granted. (Commissioner of Customs' No. 3559, dated 11th October 1871.)

officers should exercise judgment and discretion in this matter. It is obvious that a strict rule exempting all new apparel from duty, because it forms part of a passenger's baggage, would open the door widely to evasion of the revenue and illegitimate competition with ordinary trade. Whether new apparel imported as baggage should be exempted from duty or not, should depend upon the position of the owner and the circumstances of the case generally. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2498, dated 30th August 1879; vide G. R. No. 4828; dated 10th September 1879.)

18. If any article of foreign production on which import duty has been once paid is subsequently exported, it should on re-import be exempted from duty on the following conditions :—

The Collector of Customs must be satisfied—

- (i) Of the identity of the articles.
- (ii) That no drawback of duty was paid on its export.
- (iii) That the ownership has not changed.
- (iv) That it is private personal property re-imported for personal use, not merchandise for sale.
- (v) That not more than three years have passed since it was re-exported.

The third condition should be liberally construed, so that it should extend to the family of the original importer, but no exemption should be made in any case unless the Customs Collector is satisfied of the identity of the goods, and that ownership remains in the family of the first importer.

Each case in which exemption of duty is sought in respect to general merchandise re-imported under similar circumstances, must be referred for the consideration of the Local Government, because special care will be necessary in such cases to prevent frauds upon the revenue.

These rules should always be applied, irrespective of the manner of importation, the local rule that no refund of duty is on any account to be granted after a package has once passed the Customs House (Government Notification No. 987, dated 16th February 1881) being superseded not only when the goods are imported by Parcel Post, but otherwise. If the Customs Authorities take measures to make the rules generally known, and to bring them to the notice of passengers when landing, it will probably be found that in most cases claims for free admission of property which has once before paid duty will be made before the goods pass out of the Custom House.

(G. I., F. & C., Nos. 2377, dated 25th August 1879, 83 C., dated 10th March 1880, and 1368, dated 30th June 1881; vide G. Rs. Nos. 4781, dated 8th September 1879, 1500, dated 22nd March 1880, and 4166, dated 19th July 1881.)

CUSTOMS]

19. Iron drums, &c., used in the packing of jingily oil, &c., exported from Bombay to the Persian Gulf and other foreign ports should be allowed to be re-imported free of duty. (G. R. No. 5532, dated 15th October 1879.)

The Collector of Customs, Karáchi, is authorized to allow returned empty aerated water bottles to be re-imported free of duty without insisting on strict proof of actual identity, so long as he is satisfied that the re-imports are not greater than the exports, and that the bottles bear the name of a manufacturer of aerated waters in Karáchi. Similar arrangements are also sanctioned for Bombay. (G. R. No. 2162 dated 10th March 1896.)

20. Customs duty is leviable on old copper sheathing taken from the bottom of a ship from a foreign port. But where it can be proved that the ship from which the old copper has been removed was last coppered in this country, it may be assumed; for the purposes of the Custom House, that the copper has already paid duty, and it may be allowed re-importation as old copper free of duty, even though more accurate identification of the copper, as duty paid copper, is not forthcoming. But exemptions shall not be allowed in cases in which any drawback may have been given. (G. I., F. & C., No. 383, dated 6th May 1880; vide G. R. No. 2733, dated 26th idem.)

21. With reference to the question whether salt used for packing hams, bacon and other salted provisions imported by sea is liable to duty, the Government of India have decided that, except where the salt is declared by the appraiser to be in trifling quantity and unmerchantable, in which case it need not be noticed by the Custom House, duty should be taken on the declared quantity verified by the appraiser, and a special pass should be given to the importer for the protection of the salt. In case the importer objects to pay the duty, the salt should be destroyed in the presence of Customs officers. (G. I., F. & C., letter No. 46-S., dated 20th February 1883; vide G. R. No. 2031, of 10th March 1883).

22. With reference to the importation of fruits preserved in spirit, the Government of India remarks as follows:—

Fruit preserved in brandy or cordials is so costly on importation into India, that it would not be profitable to import it for the purpose of defrauding the revenue by the admission duty free of the spirit in which the fruit is preserved. The form of fraud to be guarded against is the attempt to pass free bottles containing spirit with little or no fruit in them. It is possible that the chances of this form of fraud being practised may be greater now, when most articles are free, than when preserved fruit was liable to a duty of 5 per cent. advalorem and Customs officers were stricter in the examination of packages.

To prevent such fraud what is necessary is, that packages declared to contain fruit preserved in spirit should be examined in every case, to see whether the bottles are filled with fruit or not : if they are, they may be passed free ; if they are not, the importation should be taxed as spirit, and the case dealt with under the law as one of false declaration.

(G. of I., F. & C., letter No. 181, dated the 10th April 1883 ; vide G. R., R. D., No. 3380, dated 2nd May 1883).

23. The practice of passing free the usual trade packing of goods whether the goods themselves are free or dutiable and of charging duty on any unusual packing having a separate dutiable value is a reasonable practice, and should be adopted in such cases as those of the earthen jars and leaden cases in which sulphuric acid and the iron drums in which linseed oil, &c., are imported. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1135, dated 14th June 1880 ; vide G. R. No. 3264, dated 24th idem.)

24. Articles produced or manufactured in Foreign States beyond the land frontier of British India, and which have been exported from British Indian ports, should on re-importation be treated in the same way as British Indian produce is treated under Section 25 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2083, dated 31st July 1880 ; vide G. R. No. 4266, dated 14th August 1880.)

25. His Excellency the Naval Commander-in-Chief may have wines and spirits passed free for his personal consumption while on duty in his official residence on shore. His Excellency is also allowed to have passed free of duty from the Depôt of Transport Service Stores at Her Majesty's Dockyard, wines, spirits and provisions required for his servants and for sailors on guard duty at his residence. (G. I., F. & C., No. 921, dated 31st May 1880 ; vide G. R. No. 3061, dated 14th June 1880 ; vide also G. R. No. 8842, dated 22nd December 1891).

26. Spirit landed in Bombay from vessels of Her Majesty's Navy for the use of the seamen of such vessels during their temporary residence on shore should be exempted from the payment of import duty. (G. I., F. & C., No. 301-S., dated 28th December 1891 ; vide G. R. No. 434, dated 21st January 1892.)

27. The payment of duty on wines at Malta does not exempt them from payment of the duty prescribed by the Indian Tariff Act on import into British India. (G. R. No. 2339, dated 19th March 1885.)

28. In the letter from the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department, No. 469, dated 26th April 1884, it was held that a foreign ruler, like H. H. the Amir of Afghanistan, is not a ' person lawfully entitled to possess arms for his own private use ' within the meaning of the law, the wording of which refers to possession in British India by a person in British India, and that therefore the proviso in the Tariff Act under which the difference between specific and ad valorem duty may be refunded was not applicable to the case of persons who residing out of British India purchase arms for their personal use from an importer or seller in British India. It was decided that when it might be considered politic or desirable in any particular case to allow a refund to a foreign ruler, a specific reference should be made to the Government of India in the Foreign Department.

The principle of that ruling must be held to apply to all cases of arms purchased for the private use of persons residing in Native States as well as in States beyond the Indian frontier, and the procedure prescribed should be applied to all such cases, no certificate being granted by Political Authorities except in cases where, as a matter of courtesy, it is considered expedient to allow a refund on arms (other than military arms) purchased for his own private use by the Chief or any notable of the State.

These orders should not be held to apply to the Hyderabad Assigned Districts. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 469, dated 26th April 1884, 4106, dated 26th July 1888, and No. 8-S., dated 6th January 1892; vide G. Rs. Nos. 3973, dated 17th May 1884, 5616, dated 18th August 1888, and 480, dated 22nd January 1892.)

29. The orders contained in the letter from the Government of India, No. 4106, dated 26th July 1888 (vide Government Resolution No. 5698, dated 20th August 1888) do not apply to the case of European British subjects residing in Native States, and who are lawfully entitled under the Arms Act to possess arms if residing in British India. They should be allowed a refund of duty on a certificate from Political Officers as heretofore.

2. It is not desirable to make any difference in this respect between European British subjects and those classes who are in other respects treated in the same way under the Arms Act rules, and the concession regarding the refund of the difference between the specific and ad valorem duty on arms purchased for the private use of European British subjects residing in Native States applies to all Europeans, Eurasians, Armenians, &c., who are natural born or naturalized subjects of Her Majesty.

30. The Commissioner of Customs, Bombay, and the Commissioner in Sind should submit direct to the Government of India quarterly returns of refunds of the duty on arms and ammunition purchased by Princes and others residing in Native States, for their own private use, from importers in British India. (G. I., F. & C., No. 15-S., dated 10th January, 1885; vide G. Rs. Nos. 1035, dated 4th February 1885, and 6053, dated 25th July 1885.)

32. Foreign Consuls in Her Majesty's Dominions are not entitled to the immunities and exemptions from Imperial Customs duty granted to members of the diplomatic service. (G. I., F. & C., No. 96-S., dated 11th March 1891; vide G. R. No. 2293, dated 1st April 1891; and G. I., For. Dept., No. 2216-I., dated 27th May 1891; vide G. R., P. D., No. 4806, dated 17th June 1891.)

33. Exporters of rice from a British Customs port to any district above the Ghâts via Marmagao and the West of India Portuguese Guaranteed Railway can obtain a refund of the export duty paid by them on production to the officer in charge of the Custom House at the port from which the consignment was exported within one month from the date of export of a certificate from the Customs Manager at Castle Rock that the consignment has been re-imported into British territory.

2. An exporter wishing to claim a refund under this notification must, as soon as his consignment arrives at Castle Rock, present to the Customs Manager, along with the import application prescribed under Section 8 of the Land Customs Act, the receipt for the duty paid on the consignment and the shipping bill granted at the port of export.

3. The consignment will then be compared with the entries in these documents specifying its weight and the number and description of the packages containing the rice, and if found to correspond, the Customs Manager will retain the shipping bill and endorse on the receipt for the duty paid a certificate that the consignment to which it relates has been passed through the Custom House.

4. No refund can be granted on a portion of a consignment which has broken bulk en route.

(G. N. No. 6290, dated 3rd August 1892.)

34. Exporters of rice from a British district above the Ghâts to Marmagao via Castle Rock and the West of India Portuguese Guaranteed Railway for importation at any British Customs port can obtain a refund of the export duty paid by them on production before the Customs Manager at Castle Rock, within two months from the date of export from Castle Rock, of a certificate from the officer in charge of the Custom House at the port at which the consignment was imported that the consignment has been re-imported into British territory.

2. An exporter wishing to claim a refund under this notification must, as soon as his consignment arrives at the port of import, present to the officer in charge of the Custom House, along with the bill of entry or import application prescribed under Section 86 of the Sea Customs Act, a certificate from the Customs Manager at Castle Rock containing a description of the consignment and an acknowledgment of the receipt of the duty.

3. The consignment will then be compared with the entries in those documents specifying its weight and the number and description of the packages containing the rice, and if found to correspond, the officer in charge of the Custom House will endorse on the certificate a declaration that the consignment to which it relates has been passed through the Custom House.

4. No refund can be granted on a portion of a consignment which has broken bulk en route.

(G. N. No. 3981, dated 31st May 1893.)

35. Fire-arms landed by officers of steamers and square-rigged vessels lying in harbour when proceeding on short shooting excursions should be exempted from Customs duty, provided that the arms are landed solely for the use of the officers landing them, that they are re-shipped within a month from the date of landing, and that a deposit equal to the amount of duty on them is paid into the Customs House. (G. Rs. Nos. 8057, dated 11th October 1892, and 9305, dated 26th November 1892.)

VII.—DRAWBACKS.

1. Under Section IV of Act* VI of 1863 (The Consolidated Customs Act), His Excellency the Governor in Council directs that all drawback bills, payment of which is not applied for within six calendar months from their being notified at the Town Custom House as having been passed by the Civil Pay Master, be cancelled, and that no subsequent payment be made, or claim admitted, on account of the drawback to which such bills relate. The day on which any bill is notified as having been passed is to be included in the period of six calendar months within which payment of it can be claimed. (G. N. dated 9th November 1864.)

*Repealed
of 1878.

2. The law not prescribing where the drawback payable under Section 43 of the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1873, should be paid, it is open to the Government to issue executive orders on the point. On full consideration it seems to the Governor General in Council that it will be most convenient to the person claiming the drawback that it should be paid at the place whence the goods on which the drawback is claimed are shipped from India. (G. I., F. & C., No. 3615, dated 25th August 1891; vide G. R. No. 6437, dated 18th September 1891.)

3. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 49, clause (a), of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, the Governor General in Council is pleased to declare that gum arabic, gum benjamin, and gum olibanum or frankincense shall not, for the purpose of Chapter VI of the said Act, be deemed to be capable of being easily identified. (G. I., F. D., Notn.

No. 1117, dated 10th June 1881; vide G. R. No. 3851, dated 2nd July 1881.)

Note.—On the re-export of the gums mentioned, drawback is not to be granted; vide the Government Resolution quoted above.

4. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 49 (b) of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, the Governor General in Council is pleased to prohibit the payment of drawback upon the re-exportation of goods to any of the undormentioned foreign ports in India; and in exercise of the power conferred by Section 134 of the said Act the Governor General in Council is also pleased to prohibit at all Customs ports the transshipment of goods liable to Customs duties on importation when such goods are destined for any of the said foreign ports in India; and in exercise of the power conferred by Section 111 of the said Act the Governor General in Council is further pleased to prohibit the shipment for exportation to any of the said foreign ports in India of warehoused goods in respect of which payment of drawback and transshipment are hereby prohibited under Sections 49 and 134 of the said Act, respectively.

In the case of any steamer or-square-rigged vessel arriving at any Customs port in the Presidency of Bombay, directly from and proceeding directly to foreign ports not on the continent of India, the officer in charge of the Custom House may, in his discretion and subject to the proviso hereinafter contained, permit all goods intended to be taken on to another port to be lumped-together in the import and export general manifests in one or more entries according to general description and destination instead of being shown in detail as at present :

Provided that this rule shall not apply to dutiable or restricted articles

1. In specifying in the import general manifest, as required by Section 55 of the Sea Customs Act, all goods intended to be landed at the port of Bombay from any steamer or square-rigged vessel arriving from a foreign port, it shall be sufficient to describe the contents of packages which contain a variety of free and unrestricted goods covered by one bill of lading under one or more general heads, but a description which does not indicate the class or character of the goods shall not be deemed to be sufficient.

IX.—ENTRY OUTWARDS, PORT CLEARANCE AND DEPARTURE OF VESSELS.

1. Rules for regulating the entry and clearance outwards of native craft in the port of Bombay have been made by the Commissioner of Customs with the sanction of His Excellency the Governor in Council in exercise of the power conferred by Section 9, clause (c) of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and are hereby notified as required by Section 204 of the said Act :—

(1) Outward entry of native craft shall in no case be allowed at either the Town Customs House for foreign ports or at the Prince's Dock, Máhim, or Arthur Bandar Custom Houses for Customs ports without presentation of the duplicate import general manifest, on which the Index Clerk of the Custom House concerned will note the words "Loading for a Foreign Port" or "Loading for a Customs Port" as the case may be, and initial the entry.

CUSTOMS.]

(2) The tindal or agent of a native craft which has once entered outwards at either the Prince's Dock, Máhim or Arthur Bandar Custom Houses for a Customs port desiring to load for a foreign port also, shall, before commencing to load for a foreign port, give intimation of his intention to do so, and again present his duplicate import general manifest to the Index Clerk at the Custom House at which the vessel was in the first instance entered outwards for the Customs port.

(3) The Index Clerk will then close the outwards entry for the Customs port and make a note as to his having done so alongside the previous entry on the duplicate import general manifest, and return it to the tindal or agent of the vessel after initialling the note.

(4) The vessel if loading at the free anchorage may then be removed to the dutiable anchorage, or if loading at a wharf at which the shipment of goods for both Customs and foreign ports is not permitted, to the wharf at which the goods for the foreign port are to be shipped, and on arrival at the former, the tindal or agent of the vessel shall present the duplicate import general manifest to the officer in charge of the anchorage, or at the latter to the Wharf Officer, who will certify thereon that the vessel has taken up her proper berth at the anchorage or wharf, as the case may be, and return it to the tindal or agent of the vessel.

(5) The tindal or agent of the vessel will then present the duplicate import general manifest to the Index Clerk, Export Department Town Custom House, who will enter the vessel outwards for the foreign port. Passes will then be granted by the Assistant Collector in charge of that Department for goods to be shipped to the foreign port, for which port the vessel may then commence loading.

(6) On the entry outwards for a Customs port being closed at either of the abovenamed Custom Houses, no further passes will be granted for the Customs port, and all those which may have been granted before, will be forwarded to the Export Department, Town Custom House, where port clearance will be granted to the vessel, and the whole of the cargo for all ports will be included in a single export general manifest.

(7) Native craft which have once entered outwards at the Town Custom House for a foreign port need not enter at either of the other Custom Houses in the event of their desiring to take cargo for a Customs port also, but may complete their loading at the Town Custom House.

(4) It is hereby agreed that any sum or sums due by me (or us) under this agreement may be deducted from any monies to be deposited by us as security for due performance of this agreement.

X.—GENERAL PROVISIONS AFFECTING VESSELS IN PORTS.

1. As regards the question as to whether the Collector of Sea Customs can exercise supervision over the transhipment of ballast, the Government of India is advised that the word 'goods' in Sections 70 and 136 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, certainly includes "ballast", and as the transhipment of goods necessarily involves their being discharged and water-borne or shipped, those sections (whatever view be taken of the application of Sections 123—134 of the Act) provide sufficiently for the necessary supervision of the transhipment of ballast not urgently required for a vessel's safety. (G. I., F. & C., No. 91, dated 11th January 1881; vide G. R. No. 368, dated 18th idem.)

2. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 75 of the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1878, the Governor of Bombay in Council is pleased to direct that a fee of one anna and a half shall be chargeable on every package and on every parcel made over to an officer of Customs for the purpose of being landed.

XI.—DISCHARGE OF CARGO AND ENTRY INWARDS OF GOODS.

1. With a view to simplifying and curtailing the work of the Bombay Customs Department, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to sanction the following arrangements by the Chief Customs Authority in supersession of existing practice * * *

(1) Duty bills are to be dispensed with, and in lieu thereof importers will be required to submit their import private manifest in triplicate in accordance with the form to be obtained from the Deputy Commissioner of Customs, P. D. The original and duplicate of the manifest will be dealt with as at present, and the triplicate after having been signed by the Deputy Commissioner of Customs will be handed to the importer as a receipt for the payment of the duty, and will be treated in all respects as the duty bill in cases of application for drawback, refund, &c.

(2) The import entries for free goods imported in country craft from free ports are to be dispensed with, no other check being substituted for them.

(G. R. Nos. 2019, dated 29th May 1867 and 2293, dated 19th June 1867.)

2. Under the provisions of Section 1 of Act XVII† of 1869 the Right Honourable the Governor in Council is pleased to order that the period to be allowed to importers, owners, or consignees for landing goods after the entry of the vessel importing the same, shall be as follows :—

4. In exercise of the power vested in the Government of Bombay by Section 85 of the Sea Customs Act, No. VIII of 1878, His Excellency the Governor of Bombay in Council is pleased to declare that on and after the date of publication of this notification the provisions of Section 85 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, shall be applicable to the port of Karachi. (G. N. No. 7450, dated 24th October 1882.)

5. Under the provisions of Section 57* of the Consolidated Customs Act, VI of 1853, it is not competent to the Customs authorities to send to England for sale by public auction goods not cleared within the period therein mentioned. (G. I., For. Dept., No. 2778-P., dated 16th December 1874; vide G. R. No. 251, dated 15th January 1875.)

6. The following opinion of the Solicitor to Government, No. 1238, dated 30th August 1880, was communicated to the Collector of Customs, Bombay, and the Commissioner of Customs for information and guidance:—

“The S. S. ‘V.’ landed on the 23rd of March last in excess of her manifest some packages. They were not consigned to any one in Bombay, and it appears, from Messrs. * *’s letter of the 9th instant, that the articles were probably put on board the ‘V.’ by mistake. The four months having expired within which under Section 88 of Act VIII of 1878 the goods should have been claimed, and no claim having been made, the Commissioner of Customs, &c., propose to sell them in the manner authorized by the Act. Messrs. * * have applied to have the goods delivered to them on their giving indemnity to the Custom House for so doing. The plea put forward by Messrs. * * for the goods being delivered to them as the agents for the owner of the ship, viz., to help to recoup the owner the payments made on account of short deliveries of other parts of the cargo, is in my opinion not a good one. As the packages in question were not consigned to any one, and as they came from on board the S. S. ‘V.’, I think the owner of the steamer might have laid claim to them as his property; but this he has not done. I think, therefore, the safest course to pursue will be for the Customs Authorities to sell the goods and after payment of the expenses, &c., authorized by the Act the surplus (if any) might be paid to Messrs. * * as agents for the owner of the ship, on their giving an undertaking to hold Government harmless for so doing.

“If the goods in question had been consigned to some person, but the consignee had not come forward to take delivery of them, I would have advised that Messrs. * *’s claim should be rejected altogether, as there would not in that case be any ground for considering them or the person they represent as the owners of the goods.

“In reply to the 8th paragraph of the letter of the Collector of Customs and Opium dated the 10th instant, I think that any undertaking not in the nature of a bond should be stamped as an agreement with an eight-annas stamp, and that Messrs. * * should be required to pay the stamp duty and all the legal expenses of preparing the indemnity according to the usual practice in such cases.”

(G. R. No. 4746, dated 9th September 1880.)

XII.—WAREHOUSING.

1. The following rule made by the Commissioner of Customs, Bombay, with the sanction of His Excellency the Governor of Bombay in Council, in exercise of the power conferred by Section 9 (c) of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, is published for general information :—

Under Section 93 and clause 41 of Section 167 the Sea Customs Act, 1878, three days are hereby fixed as the time within which goods for the warehousing of which a bond has been executed shall be carried into the warehouse. The period of three days shall count from the date on which the order has been granted to warehouse such goods, and shall not include Sundays and holidays.

(G. N. No. 1029, dated 15th February 1888.)

2. The following rule made by the Commissioner of Customs under Section 9 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, with the sanction of Government is published for general information, viz. :—

Liquors in wood which are removed from a bonded warehouse for shipment shall, before shipment, be gauged, and import duty shall be charged on any deficiency in excess of such allowance as would be made under Sections 116 and 117 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, if such liquors were cleared for home consumption.

(G. N. No. 3301, dated 23rd May 1888.)

3. Although Section 100 of the Sea Customs Act would seem from its wording to have been drawn with special reference to the ordinary case of a portion only of the goods in bond being found on examination and sorting to have become damaged, it is obvious that it should apply also where the whole is found to be damaged. (G. L., F. & C., No. 2748 dated 13th September 1879; vide G. R. No. 5236, dated 30th idem.)

The Governor General in Council agrees in the opinion of the Government of Bombay and considers that there is no necessity for allowing the practice of mixing spirit in bond with water in the case of spirit for home consumption. The practice may be permitted in the case of spirit intended for exportation from bond, but not in regard to other spirit. (G. L., F. and C., No. 5303 S. R., dated 6th November 1895; vide G. R. No. 9276, dated 25th November 1895.)

4. The period to be specified in a bond taken under Section 106 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, within which the goods in respect to which the bond is taken shall be conveyed to and re-warehoused at the port of destination, shall be determinable in each case at the discretion of the Chief Customs Officer of the port at which the bond may be taken, having regard to the distance between the port of removal and the port of destination, the mode of conveyance and other conditions affecting the duration of the voyage. (G. R. No. 7421, dated 7th December 1881.)

5. The practice, which existed in Bombay of putting in an application for the delivery of goods from bond for home consumption without also depositing the duty as required by Section 110 of the Sea Customs Act was not warranted by the law. Under Section 110, one of the two conditions precedent to clearing the goods is the payment of the duty assessable thereon. The application for leave to clear the goods is, as Section 113 shows, merely ancillary to clearance under Section 110 and would, therefore, expire if not acted on within a reasonable time. Reading together the three Sections 37, 110 and 113, it is clear that no amendment of the law is required, and that the object, which it is desired to attain, can and should be attained under the law as it stands, the Collector refusing to receive an application for permission to clear goods unless the duty payable thereon is tendered therewith, and returning it to the applicant as not having been made in accordance with the law.

If it should be considered desirable, the Chief Customs Authority might, under Section 113, so frame the form of application that it shall require (1) the deposit in the Custom House of the duty payable along with the application, and (2) the clearance of the goods within a reasonable time thereafter. But the insertion of these provisions in the form of application is in no way necessary for the purpose of preventing the practice reported. (G. I., F. & C., No. S.—3269, dated 8th August 1892; vide G. R. No. 7130, dated 7th September 1892.)

XIII.—TRANSHIPMENT.

1. In supersession of Government Notification No. 67, dated 6th January 1880, published in the Government Gazette Extraordinary of the same date, and in exercise of the power conferred by Section 133 of Act VIII of 1878 (The Sea Customs Act), His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased, with the previous sanction of His Excellency the Governor General of India in Council, to declare that a fee on opium, not the produce of India imported by sea into the ports of Bombay, Karachi, Aden or Perim and transhipped in any of the said ports, shall be levied at the following rates on each chest not exceeding 140½ lbs. avoirdupois net weight:

|                                            |     |     |              |
|--------------------------------------------|-----|-----|--------------|
| When the consignment does not exceed . . . |     |     |              |
| 150 chests, at Rs.                         | ... | ... | 5 per chest. |
| From 151 to 300 chests, at Rs.             | ... | 4   | „            |
| From 301 to 600 chests, at Rs.             | ... | 3   | „            |
| From 601 chests and upwards, at Rs...      | 2   | „   | „            |

Opium on which a transhipment or re-export fee has been levied at one of the said ports shall be exempt from the payment of a transhipment fee at any other of the said ports. (G. Ns. Nos. 221, dated 10th January 1883, and 6718, dated 11th September 1883, and G. N., P. D., No. 7483, dated 18th December 1886.)

Note.—The term “consignment” means the quantity brought in one vessel (G. I., F. & C., No. 66, dated 7th January 1887; vide G. R. No. 575, dated 24th idem.)

[CUSTOMS.]

2. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 130 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, the Governor in Council is pleased to make the following rule as to transhipment in any port* in the Presidency of Bombay to which the provisions of Section 128 of the said Act are applicable (namely) :—

Leave to tranship any goods of the nature hereinbelow described shall only be given by the Customs Collector, when such goods are destined for any foreign port on the continent of India or any port in Ceylon other than a port included in any Customs union with the British Indian Government, if the vessel into which such goods are to be transhipped for conveyance to the said port is propelled by steam.

The goods to which this rule is applicable are dutiable goods and goods in respect of the importation of which into British India some restriction has been placed by or under some enactment at the time in force and the transhipment of which is not subject to special regulations. (G. N. No. 5752, dated 16th July 1884.)

3. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 134 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, the Governor General in Council is pleased to prohibit the transshipment, under the provisions of Chapter XII of the said Act, at the ports of Bombay and Karachi, for conveyance to any Customs port, of petroleum which under Act II of 1888 is liable to Customs duty unless and until Customs duty has been paid upon such petroleum at either of the said ports of Bombay or Karachi. (G. I., F. & C., Notn. No. 2276, dated 2nd May 1888; vide G. N. 2922, dated 9th idem.)

XIV.—EXPORTATION OR SHIPMENT AND RELANDING.

4. The following opinion (No. , dated ) was recorded by the Honourable the Advocate General as to the legality for the demand made by the Customs Department for the payment of duty a second time upon a consignment which was originally intended to be shipped in one steamer, but which was afterwards shipped in another steamer :—

“I am of opinion that the Customs Department were right in demanding payment of duty a second time upon 28 bags of linseed which were originally intended to be shipped per S. S. C. and which were afterwards shipped per S. S. B. The shipper by not giving notice of non-shipment within three days from the date of the S. S. C. leaving the port, lost all right to recover the refund under Section† 132 of Act VI of 1863, and the amended section in Act X of 1868.

“The power to amend a shipping bill conferred by Section 191‡, was not intended to be exercised so as to deprive the Government of funds which had already vested in it by the negligence of the shipper. Looking at the way in which the application to amend the shipping bill was made by Messrs. ....and their subsequent protest against payment of a second duty, it would appear as if they intended from the time of the application to make use of the amended document as one on which the duty had been paid, and so evade a payment of second duty to which by their negligence they had become clearly liable by the Act. The Customs Authorities were quite right in refusing to allow the amendment.

"Such an amendment, if made at all after the three days for claiming a refund have expired, should only be made contemporaneously with the receipt of the duty to which the goods are again liable on being shipped."

(G. R. No. 5084, dated 10th October 1872.)

5. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 9 (c) of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and with the sanction of His Excellency the Governor of Bombay in Council the Chief Customs Authority is pleased to make the following rule, viz. :—

The presentation of an export shipping bill for cancellation or amendment within the period of five days prescribed in Section 140 of the Act shall be deemed to be equivalent to giving the information required by that section, so far as regards the goods in respect of which such cancellation or amendment is applied for.

Note.—A similar notification was published by the Commissioner in Sind under No. 3565, dated 30th August 1892, at page 218 of the Sind Official Gazette of 1st September 1892.)

6. The charge to be levied, under Section 139 of the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1878, on goods passed through the Customs House after the grant of port clearance to the vessel in which they are to be shipped should in no case exceed one-half per cent. with a maximum of ten rupees. The charge should be levied first and refunded afterwards on sufficient cause being shown. This order should be applied only to shipping bills other than those presented to Preventive Inspectors for vessels loading in the Docks. (G. I., F. & C., No. 4546-S., dated 4th November 1892; vide G. Rs. Nos. 9517, dated 5th December 1892, and 7284, dated 6th October 1893.)

XV.—SPIRIT.

1. The practice hitherto observed for ascertaining the quantity of spirit, viz., to assume, with the consent of the importers, that the quantity of spirit in all preparations in which spirit was used, that were found in the British Pharmacopœia, was 20 per cent. and upwards, may be continued. (G. I., F. & C., No. 800, dated 5th May 1882; vide G. R. No. 3491, dated 27th idem.)

2. The following rules for the importation of spirit rendered unfit for human consumption under the provisions of Section 155 of the Notification No. 7574, dated 5th October 1883, published at page 773 of the Bombay Government Gazette for 1883, Part I; and Notification No. 4359 A, dated 1st June 1896, published at page 565 of the Bombay Government Gazette for 1896, Part I.

Sea Customs Act VIII of 1878, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor in Council, are published for general information, as required by Section 201 of the Act, in supersession of the Notifications specified in the margin, and shall come into force in three months' time from this date* :

I.—Whenever spirit said to have been rendered unfit for human consumption for which the reduced rate of duty under Schedule III (1) of the Indian Tariff Act, 1896, is claimed, is imported into the port of Bombay or Karachi, the Collector of Customs at the said port shall (subject always in Karachi to the provisions of Rule II) respectively send a sample of such spirit to the Chemical Analyser to Government for examination and report at the expense of the importer. After considering the Chemical Analyser's report and other circumstances, if any, bearing upon the case, the Collector will decide whether the claim is to be admitted or not. In the case of importation of such spirit in quantities of ten gallons and less, the Collector of Customs may, however, at his discretion have the spirit examined by a Custom House gauger and determine on the gauger's report whether the spirit shall be admitted at the reduced rate of duty or not.

II.—If the spirit is imported from the United Kingdom and the importer produces a certificate signed by a Customs or Excise Authority of the United Kingdom, and himself makes a declaration on the face of his bill of entry each to the effect that the spirit has been rendered effectually and permanently unfit for human consumption by the admixture of one part by volume of caoutchoucine to 99 parts by volume of the spirit, which shall not be of less strength than 30 per cent. over-proof, such spirit may, if the Collector of Customs after such examination of the spirit as he considers necessary is satisfied with the certificate produced, be admitted on payment of the special ad valorem duty.

III.—Whenever imported spirit is to be rendered effectually and permanently unfit for human consumption by officers of the Customs Department, the ingredient to be used for admixture with the spirit shall be caoutchoucine, and it shall be mixed with the spirit in the proportion of one part by volume of the caoutchoucine to 99 parts by volume of the spirit, which shall not be of less strength than 30 per cent. over-proof.

IV.—The admixing of the spirit must be effected and the requisite caoutchoucine must be procured by the importer or his agent, or authorized servant, at his own expense.

V.—The caoutchoucine, before its admixture with the spirit, must be tested by the Chemical Analyser to Government, who must certify to the Collector of Customs that it is of the proper strength, fitted, if used in the proportions mentioned in Rule II, effectually and permanently to render unpalatable and unfit for human consumption the spirit with which it is mixed.

VI.—Any expense which may be incurred by the Collector of Customs in rendering spirit unfit for human consumption, or in ascertaining that it has been so rendered, must be paid by the importer before removal of the spirit is allowed.

Notice.

In connection with the above published rules, His Excellency the Governor in Council has been pleased to issue the following instructions for the guidance of the Collectors of Customs at the ports of Bombay and Karachi :—

The Collector shall ordinarily admit, at the reduced rate of duty prescribed in Schedule III (1) of the Indian Tariff Act, only such spirit as may have been effectually and permanently rendered unfit for human consumption by the admixture of caoutchoucine in the proportion of at least one part by volume of the caoutchoucine to 99 parts by volume of the spirit. The Collector may, however, also admit, specially at the reduced rate of duty, spirit which has been methylated with wood naphtha, if he is satisfied that it is required for a purpose for which caoutchoucined spirits are not suited and that it will be used after admission in such a way that there will be no danger of its passing into consumption as potable spirit.

(G. N. No. 5728, dated 7th September 1898.)

3. Act XVI of 1863, Section 1, provides that 'spirits intended to be used exclusively in arts and manufactures or in chemistry may be removed from any licensed distillery in any part of British India' on payment of a special ad valorem excise duty of 10* per cent., provided that 'no spirits shall be so removed until they have been effectually and permanently rendered unfit for human consumption.' The section is permissive merely, but excise duty at the special rate prescribed in the Act is only chargeable when spirit is rendered unfit for human consumption before removal from the place of its manufacture.

Section 144 of the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1878, renders it lawful for spirit manufactured in India to be exported under bond for excise duty and this would apply to the excise duty on spirit rendered unfit for human consumption before removal from the place of its manufacture. Section 155 of the same Act authorizes the framing of rules for rendering imported spirit for human consumption, but the section contemplates only such spirit as is liable to Customs duty; and the rules framed under that section by Government (Bombay Government Gazette for 1883, pages 773—774) have reference only to spirit chargeable with the special ad valorem Customs duty of 5 per cent. under the Indian Tariff Act, 1882, Schedule II, Article 2.

There is, therefore, no authority in the law, as it stands, for permitting spirit manufactured in India to be exported under bond and to be imported at a Customs port and there rendered unfit for human consumption. Such spirit can only be exported under bond for the full excise duty, or, if it has been already rendered unfit for human consumption under Act XVI of 1863, for the special excise duty to which it is liable under that Act. (L. R. No. 983, dated 25th July 1884; vide G. N. No. 7195, dated 9th September 1884.)

XVI.—COASTING TRADE.

1. It is hereby notified that in the event of steamers other than those that have not obtained general passes under Section 156* of Act VI of 1863, requiring either port clearance or permission to clear out before or after office hours, which have been fixed to be from sunrise to sunset, the same will be granted at the coast ports on payment of a fee of Rs. 3 in lump sum to the Customs officer, whose attendance will be required for performance of such extra work out of office hours. (Notice by the Commissioner of Customs, dated 10th September 1870; vide G. R. No. 4287, dated 6th idem.)

* Cf. Section
164 of the Sea
Customs Act

2. Collectors of Customs should be instructed that when a vessel is transferred to the regular coasting trade, the master should be called upon to declare the stores remaining on board and be required to pay duty on such stores as are dutiable. A Collector of Customs can always judge correctly when a vessel is thus transferred. Generally if a vessel is going to another Customs port to take in cargo for a foreign port, or when it is going to a foreign port but carries some cargo for a Customs port at which it is to touch en route, it is not transferred to the coasting trade. But if a vessel is carrying cargo exclusively for a Customs port and is not about to proceed at once on a foreign voyage or is going to a Customs port seeking cargo for another Customs port, it may be considered as in the coasting trade. (G. I. F. & C., No. 3275, dated 29th September 1881; vide G. R. No. 6062, dated 14th October 1881.)

3. Masters and owners of native craft engaged in the coasting trade should be required to prepare in future the documents usually presented by them at the Customs Houses, in English instead of in the vernacular. (G. R. No. 1517, dated 25th February 1889, and 1124, dated 11th February 1890.)

4. The following rules framed with the sanction of Government by the Commissioner of Customs under Section 9, clauses (a) and (c), of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, prescribing and limiting the powers, duties and procedure of officers of Customs in respect of general passes valid for the ports of more than one Presidency, and in carrying out the provisions of the Act relating to vessels sailing under such passes are published for general information :—

Interpretation.

1. In these rules the word “Agent” shall include masters and owners.

The words “Notified Port” mean any foreign port regarding which it has been notified under Section 13 of the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1878, that all goods imported from or exported to the same shall be treated as goods imported from or exported to Customs ports.

The words “Foreign Port” shall include all foreign ports whether on the continent of India or not, except those regarding which a notification has been issued as above.

The words “Dutiable cargo or dutiable goods” shall be held to mean—

(a) All goods shipped from foreign ports for Customs ports or notified ports, whether transhipped at any Customs or notified port or not ;

Nothing in this condition, however, shall be held to prejudice their right to appeal as provided by Section 188 of the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1878, in any case in which they may consider themselves aggrieved by the Collector's decision.

4. (a) A cargo book in the form B should be kept on board every steamer sailing under a general pass. The said cargo book shall be kept in accordance with the requirements of Section 165 of the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1878, and shall further show separately the dutiable and free cargo received at each port for each port, whether Customs or foreign. Cargo received for transshipment shall be shown as for the port at which transshipment is to take place, but the port of ultimate destination shall also be given.

(b) The keeping of the said cargo book shall not be held to dispense with the presentation of manifests, except in so far as may be hereinafter provided.

The agents shall be at liberty to add to the form prescribed any columns they may require to adapt it to their own purposes.

5. No general pass shall be held to exempt the agents or masters of vessels sailing under a general pass from payment of any fees for special services or from any restrictions as to lading or discharge of dangerous goods imposed upon them by the rules of any port at which the pass is valid.

Lading and Clearance.

6. At all intermediate ports vessels sailing under a general pass may be entered outwards and shipping bills granted in anticipation of arrival. At final ports the special permission in writing of the Collector will be required.

7. No goods except transshipment goods and passengers' baggage shall be received on board without a shipping bill. All shipping bills shall be in English; and at ports where there are no facilities for their preparation in that language, the agents of the vessel shall be bound to provide for this requirement. Shipping bills shall be in the annexed form C. For free goods they shall be prepared in duplicate, printed in black and blue. For dutiable goods they shall be in triplicate, printed in black, blue and red, with the word "dutiable" printed across in large type in red ink.

8. Free cargo may be shipped at any time day or night, except on Sundays or holidays, without special permission or supervision: provided that no goods shall be shipped at night without supervision except such as have been water-borne for shipment during ordinary working hours.

9. Dutiable goods shall not be shipped except under Customs supervision. The original shipping bill shall be filed at the Customs House, and the duplicate shall accompany the goods on board. The triplicate shall be retained by the officer supervising the shipment, either at the wharf or on board, who, after endorsing upon it the particulars of the goods actually received on board, shall return to the Customs House for use in checking the vessel's export general manifest, as provided below.

10. The agents shall cause the endorsements so made upon such triplicates to be copied on the duplicate shipping bills for dutiable goods, and shall also be responsible that the particulars of the free goods actually received on board are endorsed on the duplicate shipping bills relating thereto. Those for dutiable goods shall accompany the vessel; those for free goods shall be retained by the agents for presentation with the export manifest.

11. Port clearance must be applied for during office hours, unless otherwise directed by the chief Customs officer, and at least four hours before the departure of the vessel, and must be sent on board before she actually leaves the port.

12. The export manifest shall be in the same form as is prescribed for the cargo book by Rule 4. It must be put in by the agents within five clear working days from the date of sailing, and must be accompanied by a duplicate prepared in separate parts one for each port for which goods have been shipped, and by the duplicate shipping bills for free goods endorsed with particulars of actual shipments as required by Rule 10.

13. After the original and duplicate have been compared and checked with the triplicate shipping bills for dutiable goods, and the duplicate shipping bills for free goods, the different parts of the duplicate manifest shall be sent by post, together with the corresponding duplicate or triplicate shipping bills, as the case may be, to the Custom Collector at the ports to which they respectively relate, and the original export manifests shall be retained for use in conjunction with the original shipping bills in recording export statistics.

Entry and Discharge.

14. Within 24 hours after arrival in any Customs port, final or intermediate, a duly authenticated extract from the cargo book kept on board as required by Rule 4, showing all cargo, free or dutiable, to be discharged, whether for landing or transshipment at that port, shall be presented at the Customs House, together with the duplicate shipping bills referred to in Rule 9 for all dutiable cargo comprised in the extract which may have been shipped at Customs ports.

Note.—The form of the extract may be modified by the substitution of columns for record of presentation of bill of entry and final clearance of dutiable goods, for columns 7 and onward in the form of cargo book.

15. At ports where the cargo is to be discharged direct on to a wharf, a duplicate of the extract from the cargo book shall be furnished for use in checking the cargo as it is landed. When the cargo has to be discharged into boats, the duplicate copy may be dispensed with, but a boat note showing clearly all particulars necessary to the identification of the packages, and signed by a responsible officer of the ship, shall accompany each boat load ashore :

Provided that at ports of call where the extract from the cargo book to be put in under Rule 14 or a list of the cargo is handed to the Customs officer on board, or accompanies the goods ashore, no boat notes or duplicate extract from the cargo book need be insisted upon.

16. At ports in the Lower Provinces of Bengal and at ports in the Madras Presidency (the chief port of Madras excepted) discharge may be commenced as soon as the vessel drops anchor, when free cargo may be landed at any time, day or night, without special permission or supervision, but no cargo from any foreign port and no cargo from any Customs port, which was transhipped from a foreign port, shall be discharged except under the written authority of the proper officer of Customs.

17. At ports in the Bombay Presidency discharge may be commenced as soon as the vessel drops anchor, and cargo, whether dutiable or free, may be landed at any time, day or night, except on Sundays and holidays, without special permission or supervision, except in respect of work at wharves where supervision may be necessary out of hours: provided that the agents shall be responsible that dutiable cargo shall be covered by separate boat notes or lists if the cargo is discharged by boat and stacked separately on the wharf, and that it shall only be delivered on production of bills of entry duly passed by the Customs Department, and on payment of any duty that may be due upon them.

18. These bills of entry shall be in the usual form for goods imported by foreign-going vessels, and shall be granted upon the extract from the cargo book filed at the Customs House as required by Rule 14, after check, if the goods are said to have come from a Customs port, with the shipping bills filed with the extract.

NOTE.—See note to Rule 14.

19. At the ports of Madras, subject to the right of the Master Attendant to regulate the boat traffic on considerations of weather, goods may be landed on the beach or at the pier at any hour between 6 A.M. and 6 P.M. of sunrise and sunset, but not afterwards, unless the cargo boats have left the ship's side by 6 o'clock P.M., in which case they shall be entitled to discharge at the pier up to 6 P.M. on Sundays and holidays as well as on ordinary work days. The Collector of Sea Customs may, at his discretion, extend the time for the landing of goods on good cause for granting the extension being shown. The regulated fees must be paid to the subordinates of the Customs and Marine Departments in accordance with the prescribed rules in consideration of the extra labour entailed, whenever they are called upon to work overtime or on Sundays and holidays under the orders of the officer in charge of the Customs House.

20. Except at ports in the Lower Provinces of Bengal free cargo may be removed by the owners as soon as it has been checked off on the extract from the cargo book furnished for the purpose or cargo list, or boat notes, as contemplated in Rule 15; when the cargo has not been checked off on the original extract from the cargo book, the cargo list, duplicate extract or boat note used, for the purpose, as the case may be, shall be retained for subsequent comparison with the original extract from the cargo book.

21. The agents of the vessel shall be bound to account, on being called upon to do so, for all discrepancies both as to free and as to dutiable cargo, and to make all amendments necessary to secure the correctness of the documents put in by them.

22. The agents shall further be bound to undertake that when the Agents to arrange for despatch certificates from foreign ports as to shipments, vessel touches at any foreign port in the course of any coasting voyage, a certificate under the signature of the chief officer of Customs at such port shall be despatched within 24 hours of her departure to the Customs Collector of every Customs port for which she has taken in cargo at such foreign port, giving number and description of packages, numbers and marks they bear, and a general description of their contents.

They shall also be bound to furnish to the chief Customs officer of any Customs port from which and as to discharge of goods under bond or on drawback, any goods may have been shipped under bond for Customs or Excise duty or under claim for drawback, for any foreign port, a certificate from the chief Customs officer of the said foreign port showing particulars of discharge of such goods.

Conditions as to Transshipment applicable to all Ports elsewhere than in the Lower Provinces of Bengal.

23. All transshipment cargo to be discharged

Separate entry for transshipment, or received by a vessel sailing under a general pass shall be separately entered as such in the cargo book of such vessel, and in the extract from the cargo book, or the export general manifest to be put in under Rule 14 or 12 respectively, as the case may be.

24. The particulars of all cargo discharged for transshipment shall be entered Discharge of transshipment goods to be entered on boat notes with counterfoils, by the Customs officer on board the discharging vessel, or if there be no Customs officer, then by a responsible officer of the ship in a boat note or boat notes with counterfoils, and no such cargo shall be received on board without a boat note, which shall be endorsed by the receiving officer in the same manner as a shipping bill.

Separate boat notes shall be given for free and dutiable goods respectively, Distinct for free and dutiable goods respectively, those for the latter being rendered readily distinguishable by having the word "dutiable" printed across the face in large type in red ink.

25. The counterfoils shall be sent to the Customs House before the Counterfoils how to be dealt with, vessel sails, and shall be afterwards checked with the inward extract from the Cargo book, put in by the discharging ship under Rule 14, and if the goods are from a Customs port or Indian foreign port, with the export manifest and shipping bills, or the certificate of shipment, received from such port as provided by Rules 12 and 22.

26. The boat notes shall also be sent ashore and shall be presented by the agents of the receiving ship in support of the export general manifest to be put in by them after the vessel's departure, as provided by Rule 12. If the goods covered by them are for a Customs port, they shall, after the export general manifest has been checked, be forwarded as accompaniments with the duplicate manifest to the port of destination. If the goods have been shipped at a Customs port, the shipping bills relating to them, received from the port of shipment, shall be sent on with the boat notes and the duplicate of the export manifest to the port of destination.

27. Free goods may be transhipped as above without supervision. Dutiable goods shall not be transhipped unless otherwise directed by special order in writing, except in the presence of an officer of Customs, who shall fill in the boat notes and counterfoils required by Rule 24.

28. If any cargo on which duty has to be recovered at the port of discharge shall have been transhipped for any Customs port, the master of the receiving vessel shall, before he sails, present to the Customs officer on board a list in duplicate of all such cargo received by him for each such port. The Customs officer after verifying the lists shall retain one copy and return the other to the master for presentation on arrival to the Customs authorities at the port of destination.

In the case of dutiable transshipment goods from a Customs port the duplicate shipping bills brought on by the discharging vessel shall be transferred to the master of the receiving vessel with the copy of the transshipment list of goods on which duty is to be recovered, for presentation at the Customs port of discharge.

29. Transshipments of dutiable goods from foreign-going vessels shall be subject to general rules as to liability to fees and necessity for tranship permits before transshipment is allowed.

30. The foregoing conditions 23 to 29 are not applicable to ports in the Lower Provinces of Bengal. At those ports goods for transshipment shall be subject to the following conditions :—

Import general manifest or extract required under Rule 14 for each port to be in the form of a collection of entries of cargo shipped for that port under the various ports of shipment headings, with the addition of such columns as the local authorities of each Presidency may prescribe for clearance or registration purposes.

thereof, other than those specified in the two last preceding rules, are extended to all coasting vessels of the following descriptions and to all goods imported or exported therein, namely, steamers and square-rigged vessels engaged in any part of the Presidency of Bombay in coasting trade which do not possess a general pass under Section 164 of the said Act.

(4) The provisions of Sections 55 and 63 of the said Act shall so far extend to all coasting vessels to which they have not already been extended, as to require that every import and export manifest to be delivered at ports of final destination and first departure by the master of every such vessel, shall contain, and show separately particulars of all arms and ammunition kept or carried as part of the ordinary equipment thereof.

(5) The provisions of Sections 54, 55 and 86 of the said Act are extended to all coasting vessels of the following description and to all goods imported therein, viz., steamers engaged in any part of the Bombay Presidency in coasting trade which possess a general pass under Section 164 of the said Act other than one valid for the ports of more than one presidency granted under the rules issued under Government Notification No. 4581, dated 1st July 1890, published at page 596, Part I, of the Bombay Government Gazette dated the 3rd idem.

(G. Ns. Nos. 4026, dated 20th June 1888, 8769, dated 19th November 1889, and 7374, dated 26th October, 1891.)

6. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 157, clause (a), of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, the Governor of Bombay in Council is pleased to make the following rule, viz. :—

At the port of Bombay, the provisions of Sections 61 and 136 of the said Act are extended to all coasting vessels of the description known as country craft and to all goods exported therein.

(G. N. No. 4437-I., dated 25th May 1892)

7. Clause (b) of Section 157 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, does not authorize the Local Government to deprive coasting vessels of privileges which the Act specially confers upon them as upon other vessels; it merely empowers the Government to exempt such vessels from certain provisions of the Act. (L. R. No. 401, dated 6th April 1888; vide G. R. No. 4026, dated 20th June 1888.)

8. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 157, clause (c), of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, the Governor of Bombay in Council is pleased to make the following rule:—

A vessel arriving at a port in the Bombay Presidency with dutiable stores on board shipped at a foreign port may, when she becomes a coasting vessel, carry such stores on payment of the duty chargeable thereon: provided that if they are intended for consumption after the vessel shall have re-entered the foreign trade and shall have ceased to be a coasting vessel, such stores may be carried without payment of duty, on their being sealed up under a Customs seal kept unbroken until the vessel has obtained entry outwards for a foreign port.

(G. N. No. 4437 E., dated 25th May 1892.)

Note.—This notification is also applicable to Sind; vide G. Rs. Nos. 4437, dated 25th May 1892, and 6680, dated 19th August 1892.

9. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 157, clause (d), of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, the Governor in Council is pleased to make the following rule, viz. :—

The conveyance of country liquor, as defined in the Bombay A'bkari Act, between the ports of Bombay and Karachi in any coasting vessel, other than a vessel propelled by steam, is prohibited.

(G. N. No. 4437 K., dated 25th May 1892.)

10. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 53 (2) and (3) of the Native Passenger Ships Act X of 1887, the Governor of Bombay in Council is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to issue the following rules for observance by coasting steamers sailing under general passes granted to them under the provisions of Section 164 of the Sea Customs Act VIII of 1878, when embarking or discharging passengers at the ports under the control of the Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay Presidency :—

I. The owner of every such steamer shall provide two separate gangways on each side, two fore and two aft.

II. It shall be the duty of the master of every such steamer to have two of such gangways, one fore and one aft, lowered immediately after the signal referred to in Rule 1 of the Rules issued under Section 6 of the Indian Ports Act X of 1889 (Government Notification No. 1735 of the 5th March 1890) is exhibited.

III. No master of such vessel shall permit passengers to embark except by the aft gangway so lowered, or shall permit passengers to be discharged except by the fore gangway.

Every owner of such steamer shall for every breach of Rule No. 1 of these Rules be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees and, when the breach continues, shall be punished with a further fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every day after the first during which the breach continues. Every master of such steamer shall for every breach of No. II or III of these Rules be punished with a fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

(G. N. No. 3335, dated 20th August 1890.)

XVII.—OFFENCES AND PENALTIES.

1. The following opinion of the Honourable the Advocate General, No. 93, dated 5th October 1889, was communicated to the Commissioner of Customs for information and guidance :—

“I understand from the papers sent to me that it is not disputed that the bank took the shipping documents relating to the goods, in respect of which the offence of importation with a counterfeit trade mark applied is alleged to have been committed, as cover to or security for a bill of exchange discounted by the bank in the ordinary course of business, and that the bank had no knowledge or reason to suppose that the goods to which such documents related bore a counterfeit trade mark. If this be so, it is in my opinion impossible to consider that the bank was concerned in any offence within the meaning of Section 167 (8) of the Sea Customs Act; and I think that the fine of Rs. 500 if levied ought at once to be refunded. The goods, however, to which the counterfeit trade mark has been applied are liable to confiscation; as this penalty is attached to the goods whether or not their owner has been concerned in any offence.

“I have not seen the alleged counterfeit trade mark. But I wish again to repeat a caution which I have before given to the Customs authorities not to accept the statement of a person who asserts that his trade mark has been counterfeited except the case is free from any possible doubt. Few points are more difficult to decide than whether one mark is a counterfeit or colourable imitation of another mark or not; and the person who asserts that his trade mark has been infringed ought to be put to establish the infringement in a Court of Law before the Customs authorities act on his assertion. The certificate of registration under the Patents Designs and Trade Marks Act, 1883, proves the existence of the trade mark but not its infringement. If this caution be neglected, I am certain that Government will be plunged into costly litigation; as it will be the object of every person entitled to a trade mark to get the Customs authorities to fight his battles for him.”

(G. R. No. 8013, dated 22nd October 1889.)

2. The proper construction of the words “goods shall be liable to confiscation and any person concerned in any such offence shall be liable to a penalty” occurring in Section 167 of the Sea Customs Act is that both, or only one, and either, of the punishments therein mentioned, that is to say (1) confiscation and a penalty, or (2) confiscation only or (3) a penalty only, may be legally inflicted. (Adv. Gen. No. 65, dated 11th August 1890; vide G. R. No. 6161, dated 30th idem.)

3. Sections 55 and 167 (17) of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, give no authority to recover duty on shortages of bottled wines and spirits not satisfactorily accounted for, nor is there any other authority which entitles the Customs Department to charge the import duty on any article not actually imported into British India. The opinion expressed by the Advocate General in his memorandum No. 43*

* “The meaning of the phrase ‘imported by sea’ is now under consideration by the High Court in the case of Limji Jamsetji vs. The Secretary of State, in which the question arose with regard to the importation into the port of Bombay of a cargo of salt. Pending the decision of the High Court, I am of opinion dated 30th June 1874, is merely to the effect that goods brought into Bombay Harbour must be considered as "imported by sea." There is no doubt that duty is payable upon such goods as provided by Act VIII of 1878, but this is very different from saying that duty is payable upon goods which may not actually have been brought into the harbour, but which are treated by the Customs Authorities as having been imported merely because they are entered in the bill of entry. The duty is leviable upon the quantity and value of goods actually brought into the harbour, and the bill of entry or shipping bill is very good prima-facie evidence of this quantity and value, but there is nothing in the Act to prevent the shipowners from amending the bill within the time allowed by Act VIII of 1878. (Adv. Gen. Nos. 12, dated 2nd February, and 79, dated 17th August 1891; vide G. R. No. 6069, dated 4th September 1891.)

4. A master cannot be held responsible under No. 17 of Section 167 of the Sea Customs Act for any articles missing from a case on board his vessel if the case is unbroken and it appears in the manifest (as it always does) as a package the contents of which are unknown; but the master may be held responsible if the package is found broken on board and it can be shown by reasonable evidence that the contents are deficient. The master is in no case responsible if the breakage or deficiency is not discovered until after the goods have been landed under Section 85; nor is the agent of the vessel in any case made responsible by the law as it now stands for duty or penalties on goods landed under Section 85 into his custody.

It is, however, optional with the Collector to grant or refuse the permission required by Section 85, and if he considers it necessary to do so, for the protection of the public revenue, he is at liberty to refuse permission unless the agent agrees in writing to accept liability for all duties which would or might have been recoverable in respect of missing or deficient goods had the cargo been examined on board, or makes such other arrangement as satisfies the Collector that the public interests will not suffer by the cargo being discharged into the custody of the ship's agent. (G. I., F. & C., No. 4271, dated 15th October 1891; vide G. R. No. 8028, dated 24th November 1891; vide also G. R. No. 8114, dated 13th October 1892.)

that the words 'imported by sea' in Section 7 of Act VI* of 1873 must be construed according to their literal meaning, that is 'conveyed or carried into by sea.' The propriety of this literal interpretation of the words is supported by the subject-matter of the Act, as well as by the context of the section itself. The Act is one for the transshipment of goods; and the context refers to re-export by sea from the same port. No 'laying of the goods on land' is therefore contemplated; and the clear inference from the terms of the section is that the re-export may be in the same bottom, as the duty on such re-export is declared to be the same as the fee which would have been payable 'in case of transshipment'..... (Adv. Gen. No. 43 dated 30th June 1874; vide G. R. No. 3593, dated 13th July 1874.)

[CUSTOMS.]

2. The rule in force in Bombay of paying to pilots the fees recovered from vessels leaving port on Sundays, holidays and after hours should also be introduced in Karáchi. (G. R. No. 903, dated 19th February 1880.)

Note.—A similar privilege was granted by Government Resolution, Marine Department, No. 28, dated 10th January 1878, to the Native pilots and the crews of boats employed on night pilotage at Aden.

3. The following rules for the Port of Karáchi, in respect of working hours on board ships and on the wharves, prescribed by the Commissioner in Sind, with the approval of His Excellency the Governor of Bombay in Council, are published for general information :—

1. Ordinary working hours on board ships and at the wharves shall be from sunrise to sunset, except on Sundays, Christmas Day, Good Friday, New Year's Day, and the Birth Day of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress, and any day which Government may specially appoint to be observed as a general holiday, which shall be close holidays.

Such remission shall not ordinarily be made except in the case of mail steamers, for which Karáchi is a port of call only.

(G. R. No. 2294, dated 13th March 1896, and Commissioner in Sind's Notification No. 1200, dated 2nd April 1896.)

4. Government have sanctioned the arrangement made by the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bkári for the payment of extra remuneration to the officers and other employés of the Preventive Service engaged on patrol duty at night both in the harbour and at the Prince's Dock out of the fund raised by the imposition of special fees levied for the grant of permission to vessels to take in and discharge cargoes on Sundays and holidays. But the whole surplus balance standing to the credit of the fund on 1st April 1889 was ordered to be credited to Government, and it was directed that in future all surplus accumulations from the same source should be similarly credited at the end of each official year, the fees being credited to deposits and the remuneration charged to the same head. The same course is to be followed in Sind in respect of surplus accumulations of fees accruing at Karáchi. (G. R. No. 4488, dated 24th June 1889.)

5. The practice as regards the levying of fees for the working of cargoes on Sundays at the Karáchi Port should be entirely assimilated to that prevailing at Bombay, where besides the charges sanctioned by Government Resolution No. 251, dated 21st January 1865, and a minimum Customs charge of Rs. 50 and a maximum Customs charge of Rs. 200 for each ship on board of which work is carried on (the demurrage for this purpose being calculated at the rate of 6½ annas per ton of registered tonnage), a permit fee of Rs. 200 is levied by the Port Trustees. (G. R. No. 3157 dated 1st April 1892.)

XX.—LAND CUSTOMS.***

1. The Right Honourable the Governor in Council is pleased to declare that the Native State of "Jawhár" situated in the northern part of the Thána Collectorate between the talukas of Umbargaon and Tárápur shall be deemed to be foreign territory as regards the payment of duty upon salt and opium passing into or out of the said State to or from British Territory under the provisions of Section 3 of Act XXIX of 1857.

CUSTOMS.]

10. Section 2 of Act XXIX of 1857 provided for the levy of Customs on goods passing by land into or out of certain foreign European Settlements; and Section 3 of the same Act provided that the Governor of Bombay in Council had power to declare certain Native States to be foreign territory for the purposes of the Act, and to declare goods passing into and out of them liable to the duties fixed by Act I* of 1852.

Section 2 has been entirely repealed and in its place we now have Section 10 of Act XVI† of 1875 (The Indian Tariff Act). Section 3 was repealed by Section 2 of Act XI‡ of 1869, and Section 4‡ of Act XI of 1869 is now the law applicable to duties on frontiers of Native States. Although Section 2 of Act XI of 1869 was duly repealed, its repeal did not operate to revive Section 3 of Act XXIX of 1857. The recognised principle is that when an Act repealing, in whole or in part, a former Act is itself repealed, the last repeal does not revive the Act or provisions before repealed, unless words be added reviving them.

The notifications of the Government of Bombay noted in the margin were made under the provisions of Section 4 of Act XI of 1869. In the first notification of 23rd October 1872 (at page 1114 of the Bombay Government Gazette, 1872), the territories of His Highness the Gaikwār, the Rājās of Dharampor and Bānsda, and the Navāb of Baroda are declared to be foreign territories for the purposes of Act XI of 1869. The same notification declares that "spirits and fermented liquors" passing out of those territories into British territory will be liable to the duties specified for those goods in Schedule A of Act XIII§ of 1871 (The Indian Tariff Act).

As this notification expressly mentions the duties leviable under Act XIII of 1871 and as that Act is no longer in force, the notification so far as it relates to the said duties is no longer in force.

In the second notification of the same date the territories of His Highness the Gaikwār and the Rāja of Rājpipla are declared to be foreign territories for the purposes of Act XI of 1869; and "spirits and fermented liquors" are declared liable to the duties specified in Schedule A of Act XIII of 1871 (The Indian Tariff Act). This notification also, so far as it relates to those duties, is no longer in force.

Section 4 of Act XI of 1869 provides that the Local Government may declare goods passing into and out of such territories liable to the duties specified "in the law for the time being in force relating to the duties of Customs on goods imported and exported by sea," and goods so passing shall thereupon be liable to those duties. Accordingly to render "spirits and fermented liquors" passing from those territories liable to the duties specified in the schedule of Act XVI of 1875 (The Indian Tariff Act) fresh notifications under Section 4 of Act XI of 1869 would be necessary.

* Repealed by Act XIII of 1871, which has been repealed by Act XVI of 1875, which has been repealed by Act XI of 1869, which again has been repealed by Act VIII of 1894.

† Acts XVI of 1875 and XI of 1869 have been repealed by Act XI of 1882, which has been repealed by Act VIII of 1894.

‡ Cf. Section 5 of Act VIII of 1894.

G. N. dated 23rd October 1872, published at p. 1114 and 1115 of the B. G. G. of 24th idem. G. N. dated 11th January 1870, published at p. 19 of the B. G. G. of 13th idem.

§ Repealed by Act XVI of 1875, which has been repealed by Act XI of 1882, which has been repealed by Act VIII of 1894.

Section 9 of the A'bhkari Act, 1878, provides that no liquor or intoxicating drug shall be imported by land or by sea into any part of the Presidency of Bombay "unless it is liable to the payment of duty under the Indian Tariff Act, 1875," saving the power of the Collector under the order of Government to allow such liquor, &c., to pass on payment of the A'bhkari duties or on such other terms as he may see fit.

It follows, therefore, that "spirits and fermented liquors" passing from the above mentioned foreign territories may be dealt with under the A'bhkari Act, 1878, and that the notifications being no longer in force need not be expressly cancelled.

So too, with regard to the third notification of the 11th January 1870 declaring the dominions of His Highness the Nizam to be foreign territory for the purposes of Act XI of 1869, as liquor and intoxicating drugs have not been declared in that notification liable to the duties specified in the Indian Tariff Act, 1875, when imported into British India they may be dealt with under the A'bhkari Act, 1878.

4. With the previous sanction of His Excellency the Governor General in Council His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased, under the authority vested in him by Section 4 (a) of the Indian Ports Act, X of 1889, to extend the said Act to the ports of (1) Belikeri and (2) Manki. The limits of these ports are now declared to be as follows :—

Provided that all of the passengers and crew who, on inspection by the Health Officer, are found healthy may be allowed to leave at once under such precautions as he may consider necessary, the Health Officer of the Municipality being warned of the action taken.

In the case of small-pox, it shall be the duty of the Health Officer of the Port to cause to be vaccinated all those on board who appear to require this protection, and who are willing to accept it.

37. No person dying of any infectious disease of the nature contemplated in these or in the Quarantine rules shall be buried by sea burial within 10 miles of the port. Persons dying of the such disease in port shall be burnt, or, where burning is impossible, buried on shore. Bodies may be given to the relations or friends of the deceased for disposal, the Health Officer of the Port and Municipality and the Police being informed. The latter shall take steps to see that the burning or burying is carried out without undue delay, and that proper precautions are taken against the spread of the disease.

In the absence of friends or relations, the expense of disposing of the corpse must be borne by the Master or owner of the vessel, who will be held responsible that the requirements of this rule are attended to. In the case of infectious diseases in an epidemic form occurring among the Shipping and Native Craft, they will be removed to the appointed anchorage under arrangements to be made by the Port Officer, and the corpses either buried or burned on shore under special arrangements to be made by the Water Police.

30. The expenditure incurred both by the Civil and Public Works Departments debitable to Port Funds being duly provided for in the budget prepared by the Collector of Salt Revenue and charges only to the extent of the sums so provided being admitted by the Accountant General, the Collector is aware generally of the expenditure which is incurred. The Accountant General should as credits and debits are passed against the various heads inform the Collector* under what heads and to what amounts they are passed. (G. R. ## XXII.—LIGHT DUES.

1. The light due payable in respect of the Little Basses Rock Light-ship shall become due and shall be payable in respect of outward-bound vessels before the grant of port clearance, or, in the event of port clearance not being required, on the vessel preparing to leave port. A proper voucher should be given for all payments.

2. With respect to ships arriving at any port, the toll shall be levied, on arrival, whenever it shall be found that the payment of the amount due for the voyage just performed has not been made elsewhere, or that a proper voucher for such payment cannot be produced, or that other satisfactory proof of such payment cannot be given.

* The powers vested in the Collector of Salt Revenue in the matter of sanctioning estimates and outlay for original public works and repairs from the Northern and Southern Groups Port Funds as defined in the resume of orders published with Government Resolution, Public Works Department, No. 186 A.—218, dated 21st March 1876, only applied so long as the control of these funds remained with that officer. They ceased to be operative so far as the Collector was concerned, on the appointment, in 1882, of the Commissioner of Salt Revenue to the chief control over those funds under Government Notification No. 6512-C, dated 28th September 1882. By Government Resolution, Public Works Department, No. <sup>20A</sup>/<sub>30</sub>, dated 27th March 1890, formal sanction was accorded to the declaration of the powers in question to the Commissioner, and to the Collector of Salt Revenue sanctioning estimates, on account of ordinary repairs, up to a limit of Rs. 1,000.

3. The chief officer of Customs in each port is authorized to collect the toll in the manner prescribed for the collection of such tolls by Sections 399 to 402 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1864, so far as applicable, and to withhold port clearance until the light dues leviable from a vessel be paid.

4. The proceeds of the toll, less any expense incurred in collecting it, should be remitted to England, as directed by the 5th section of the Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1855.

5. The toll shall be enforced upon all ships whether British or foreign.

(G. I., H. D., Nos. 353 and 349, dated 11th January 1866; vide G. Rs. Nos. 331 and 385, dated respectively 25th and 30th idem.)

* The following Order of Her Majesty in Council, dated 9th May 1892, is republished for general information :—

" At the Court at Windsor, the 9th day of May 1892.

Present.

" The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

" Whereas by 'The Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1855,' it was enacted that in any case in which any light-house buoy, or beacon had been or should be thereafter erected or placed on or near the coasts of any British possession by or with the consent of the Legislative authority of such possession, Her Majesty might by Order in Council fix such dues in respect thereof, to be paid by the owner or master of every ship which passes the same, or derives benefit therefrom, as Her Majesty might deem reasonable, and might in like manner from time to time increase, diminish, or repeal such dues, and that from the time specified in such Order for the commencement of the dues thereby fixed, increased, or diminished, the same should be leviable throughout Her Majesty's dominions in manner therein-after mentioned.

" And whereas by an Order† in Council, dated the twenty-second day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, Her Majesty was pleased to direct that the dues to be paid in respect of ships passing, and deriving benefit from the lights exhibited from the Great Basses Rock, the Little Basses Rock and Minicoy Island should be those specified in the schedules attached to such Order in Council.

" And whereas by the Basses Lights Acts, 1869 and 1872, and the Public Works Loans Act, 1881, it is provided that so long as any money is due to the Public Works Loan Commissioners on account of any loan under those Acts, the dues payable in respect of the Great Basses Light-house and the Little Basses Light-house or the Minicoy Light-house, shall be altered only with the consent of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury.

" And whereas it has been made to appear to Her Majesty that all advances made by the Public Works Loans Commissioners for the purposes mentioned in the said Acts have been repaid, and that it is expedient that the amount of the dues herein-before referred to should be varied in manner hereinafter mentioned.

" Now, therefore, Her Majesty, in exercise of the powers vested in Her by the said recited Acts, and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is pleased to direct that from and after the first day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two, or from the time of the receipt of notice of this Order, if that be later, by the officers authorized to collect light dues, the dues heretofore levied in respect of the Great Basses Light-house, the Little Basses Light-house and Minicoy Light-house under the said Order in Council of the twenty-second day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three shall be subject to an abatement or discount of fifty per centum.

CUSTOMS.]

2. By the 4th section of the Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1855, dues levied under that Act are to be collected subject to the same conditions to which light dues leviable under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, are subject; and as vessels in ballast are exempt from light dues leviable under the latter Act, they are also exempt from Besses light dues leviable under the Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1855. (Letter from the Secretary to the Board of Trade, London, to the Under Secretary of State for India, No. F. 3040, dated 5th April 1872; vide G. R. No. 2908, dated 18th June 1872.)

3. The Collector of Customs, Karáchi, should forward quarterly statements of collections of Besses light dues at the port of Karáchi as soon after the close of the quarter as possible, direct to the Accountant General. (G. R. No. 5192, dated 11th September 1876.)

4. Besses Light dues should be brought to account in the financial year in which they are collected. (S. of S., No. 26, Finl., dated 9th March 1876; vide G. R., F. D., No. 1600, dated 7th April 1876.)

5. In the case of all ships clearing from the United Kingdom for voyages through the Suez Canal, the dues in respect of the Besses Lights will be collected previous to clearance, instead of on arrival at the port of destination. No dues in respect of the Besses Lights should be required to be paid upon any vessel arriving in India, unless her master is unable to produce a receipt for these dues from the Collector at the port of clearance. (S. of S., No. 75, Finl., dated 26th September 1878; vide G. Rs., F. D., Nos. 3959, dated 1st November 1878, and 4875, dated 31st December 1878.)

6. Under Act* XIII of 1854, the sums realized from light dues are required to be applied in the first instance to the defrayal of the necessary expenses of maintaining and keeping up the several lights, and next, i.e., after deducting such necessary expenses, the surplus is to be devoted to the liquidation of the moneys advanced by the East India Company towards the erection and completion of the Horsburgh Light-house, and the apparatus and furniture thereof. There is no objection to the whole of the collections being credited to the Government of the Straits, provided that the unrecovered balance, if any is still existing, of the cost of construction of the light-house referred to is repaid by annual instalments equal to the surplus of the light dues after deducting necessary expenses.

After the transfer of the Settlements to the Colonial Office the Departments at the several ports in British India, which may collect light dues* for those Settlements, should levy and credit

XXXIII.—TOBACCO (BOMBAY TOWN) ACT, IV OF 1857.

1. The following opinions of the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs and the Honourable the Advocate General on the question of the relative powers and duties of Customs officers and Police Magistrates under Act IV of 1857, were communicated to the Commissioner of Customs for information and guidance:—

“It is impossible to use language in framing Legislative Acts of a more extensive character and meaning than the language used in Section 6 of Act IV of 1857.

“A reference is made by that section to the powers of the Customs Department in respect of duties of Customs not specifying whether they are sea or land Customs, and, therefore, not limiting the reference to either, but extending it to both; and then the section expressly confers upon his Department, in addition to the powers and authorities specified in the Act IV of 1857, all the powers ‘they now have or shall have in respect of duties of Customs.’

“It follows of necessity from the use of such language as this that all the powers now in force for collecting and enforcing payment of duties of Customs, whether by sea or land, can be made use of for collecting and enforcing payment of the Municipal duty on tobacco under Act IV of 1857.

“From a perusal of the papers, it does not appear what the offence was for which the fines were inflicted. I assume the facts constituted some offence against some of the provisions of the Acts relating to Customs duties.

“I may also add it is not difficult to see how the Magistrate was led to take an imperfect and erroneous view of the matter. The Magistrate states in his letter that the Deputy Commissioner had inflicted the fines in question under Section 19 of Act IV of 1857, and on that basis the application was made to the Magistrate to enforce the fines under the provision contained in Section 224 of Act VI of 1863.

“Assuming the application to have been in this form and on this basis, and I must so assume it, it is obvious that it was imperfectly made. Section 19 of itself gave no such power to inflict fines, and the Magistrate applies himself chiefly to consider that section. The application ought to have been made on the basis of Section 6 of Act IV of 1857, and reference made to such sections of the Acts relating to sea or land Customs as empowered the Customs Department to confiscate or fine.

“Neither does it appear that when the Magistrate heard Mr. Judge on behalf of the alleged delinquents that any ment Notification, Marine Department, No. 104, dated 15th December 1886, at pages 1051-1052 of the Bombay Government Gazette of 16th idem, the tolls payable in respect of all vessels liable, under Indian Act No. XIII of 1854, to pay tolls for passing the Straits Lights have been fixed at the rates in the said Act specified (that is to say): If the voyage be one in the ordinary course whereof the vessel would pass the whole of the Straits Lights, at the rate of one anna per ton; and if the voyage be one in the ordinary course whereof the vessel would pass any one or more of the lights, but not all of them, at the rate of half anna per ton.

CUSTOMS.]

one appeared on behalf of the Customs Department to support the validity of their acts.

"I entertain no doubt that, if the facts charged amounted to a breach of the Regulations so as to warrant a confiscation or fine, it could have been shown to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the Customs Department had a power of adjudicating upon the matter, and that Section 20 of Act IV of 1857 must be read, in accordance with the very words used in it, as a clause enabling any Magistrate of Police for the Town of Bombay to adjudicate upon the offence as well as and not in exclusion of the Customs Department.

"The word used in that section is 'may,' and the Magistrate is wrong in saying that all confiscations and fines under that Act are to be adjudicated upon and levied by a Magistrate of Police and by no other authority.

"The Magistrate is also in error in supposing that the repeal of Act I of 1852 has anything to do with the question as to what are now the powers of the Customs Department. Act VI of 1863 supplies the place of Act I of 1852, and Section 6 of Act IV of 1857 refers to the powers which the Department shall have in the future." (L. R. No. 30, dated 18th March 1871.)

"Upon the general question of the relative powers and duties of Customs Officers and Police Magistrates under Act IV of 1857, there seems little room for doubt. By Section 6 'the Commissioner of Customs, Salt and Opium, and officers of Customs shall have all the same powers and authorities for collecting and enforcing payment of the said Municipal duty in addition to the powers and authorities specified in this Act, as they now have, or shall have in respect of duties of Customs.' Reading the words 'shall have' as 'shall hereafter have' (which I think is the true construction) the Customs officers are now entitled to use in collecting and enforcing payment of the tobacco duty the powers and authorities with which they are invested in respect of duties of Customs by Act VI of 1863. Among those authorities is that given by Section 224 of Act VI of 1863, viz., when a penalty has been adjudged by a Customs officer against any person, and the officer fails to realise it from such person's goods, he may notify the circumstances to any Magistrate within whose jurisdiction such persons or his goods shall be, and the Magistrate shall thereupon proceed to enforce payment of the amount in like manner as if the penalty had been adjudged by himself.

"There is, therefore, in my opinion a concurrent jurisdiction to adjudge penalties in regard to the collection and enforcement of payment of the tobacco duties vested in the Customs Officers and the Magistrates, and the latter are rendered auxiliary to the former as regards the enforcement of such penalties. This results, I think, not merely from reading the two Acts together, but from the express words of Section 20 of Act IV of 1857, which provides that 'all confiscations and fines under this Act may (not shall) be adjudicated and levied by any Magistrate of Police for the Town of Bombay'." (Adv. Gen., No. 65 of 1871.)

(G. R. No. 1444, dated 25th March 1871; G. R., J. D., No. 4680, dated 27th November 1871, and G. M. No. 6053, dated 2nd December 1871.)

2. The remission of duty to be allowed under Section 4 of Act IV of 1857 is confined to tobacco warehoused in a public or licensed warehouse, and when the tobacco is once removed from such warehouse for consumption, the right to such remission ends. If no right to such remission under such circumstances would exist under Act IV of 1857, no such right could be conferred on the Commissioner of Customs under the provision of Act VI of 1863, because the powers and authorities in respect of Customs duties by Section 6 of Act IV of 1857 conferred upon the Commissioner of Customs in respect of the Municipal Tobacco Duty are powers of collecting and enforcing payment only, and not powers of remitting.

The words of Act IV of 1857 must be considered and acted upon literally, as the duty on tobacco therein created is a special one not appertaining to Government but to the Municipality, for whom the Commissioner of Customs is as it were a trustee. (Solicitor to Government, No. 297, dated 21st March 1873; vide G. R. No. 1723, dated 26th idem.) But see also Government Resolution No. 5702, dated 15th July 1885, in the preamble of which the view was expressed that the transfer of the tax to the Municipality was merely a State contribution to municipal funds not affecting the legal nature of the tax.

3. The Governor in Council is pleased to confer upon the Collector of Customs, Bombay, and upon each of the Assistant Collectors of Customs, Bombay, the powers specified in Sections 7, 11, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 19 of Act IV of 1857. (G. N. No. 600, dated 21st January 1885.)

4. With a view to meet the difficulty arising from the fact that the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkari is the only officer legally competent to grant transport permits under Section 9 and the permission contemplated by the proviso to Section 10 of the Tobacco Act IV of 1857, the Commissioner should supply the Collector and his Assistants with blank forms of permits and permissions, signed by himself, so that they may be filled in and issued by them whenever requisite. Orders for destruction of refuse or waste under Section 10 can be made, without inconvenience, after reference in each case to the Commissioner. (G. R. No. 600, dated 21st January 1885.)

5. The arrangement of allowing certain respectable firms to issue their own permits for the transport of tobacco more than four seers in weight when taken for personal consumption would be diametrically opposed to the requirements of the Tobacco Act, IV of 1857, which imperatively require permits from the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkari. But if this requirement can be safely relaxed, there appears to be nothing to prevent the Tobacco Department from recognizing permits granted by respectable firms under due authority.

2. If there is reason to suppose that smuggling goes on under cover of foreign tobacco licenses, which could be checked by insisting on a strict observance of the Act in regard to accounts, &c., then the Act should certainly be enforced. But if such accounts have been dispensed with hitherto with no particular evil consequences, it will be best to avoid creating a fresh grievance and to let the existing system continue.

3. When a licensee asks for leave to appoint an officiator during his absence, the term for which leave is granted should be registered, and in case of the non-return of the licensee, the license should not be renewed. (G. R. No. 5891, dated 15th August 1893.)

6. The realization of the duty levied under Act IV of 1857 on tobacco and snuff in the town and island of Bombay was transferred to the Municipality of Bombay in 1866 and consequently the establishment for the realization, although under the control and orders of the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bkari, Bombay, was treated as one belonging to the Municipality. The transfer of the tax to the Municipality was, however, merely a State contribution to municipal funds not affecting the legal nature of the tax or the legal status of the officers empowered to collect it. These officers should therefore be treated as Government employés in all respects, the charges on account of their pensions and leave allowances being met by deduction from the amount made over to the Municipality of a sum representing those charges. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1590, dated 25th June 1885; vide G. R. No. 5702, dated 15th July 1885.)

7. The Commissioner of Customs should arrange for the recovery of the leave and pensions contributions on behalf of the establishment of the Tobacco Department at the new rates prescribed for foreign service of the third kind. (G. R. No. 1832, dated 10th March 1890.)

XXIV.—MISCELLANEOUS.

1. Wrecks.—"The Commissioner of Customs states that a private speculator proposes to remove the remains of vessels which may be sunk in the harbour of Bombay at his own cost, retaining as remuneration whatever he recovers from the sea.

"2. I do not think the Conservator of the Port has authority to enter into any such arrangement, or that it can be sanctioned by Government.

"3. By Section 23* of Act XXII of 1855 the Conservator is empowered to remove or destroy sunken vessels impeding the navigation of the port, and if the expense is not paid within a month he is authorized to recover the expenses by the 39th† Section of the Act, by which the Conservator is enabled, if the recovered property is unclaimed, or if the claimant refuses to pay the expense of its recovery, to sell it by public auction at once if perishable, but otherwise not until after the expiration of 6 months after its recovery; and after deduction of the costs incurred, the balance is to be paid to the person entitled to the recovered property.

*Cf. Section 14 of the Indian Ports Act, 1889.

†Ibid.

"4. I think it would be inconsistent with these provisions of the Act for Government to enter into any agreement of the nature proposed; and as the title of the owners of the sunken property is not divested by the mere fact of its sinking, it is impossible for Government to enter into any agreement vesting such property in a third person." (Solicitor to Government, No. 329, dated 9th May 1860; vide G. R. No. 1897, dated 25th idem.)

2. Clothing of peons employed at private bandars.—All proprietors of private bandars should be called on to pay the cost of their peons' clothing over and above the amount of cutting made from their pay. (G. R. No. 3099, dated 8th September 1860.)

3. Surveyor of the Port of Karáchi.—In exercise of the power conferred by Section 3 of Act XIV of 1874 (The Scheduled Districts Act, 1874) the Governor of Bombay in Council is pleased, with the previous sanction of the President in Council, to declare that—

(a) the enactments mentioned in Schedule A hereto annexed are in force in the Province of Sind to the extent to which they are in force in any part of the Presidency of Bombay not included in any Scheduled District;

Bombay Act X of 1841 relating to Registration of Ships.

(G. of I. Notn. No. 1254, dated 30th November 1880.)

In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 7 of the Registration of Ships Act, X of 1841, as amended, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to appoint the Port Officer, Karáchi, to be Surveyor for the purpose of examining and measuring ships or vessels, and granting certificates. (Bom. Govt. Notn. No. 6, dated 15th January 1896, Marine Department.)

4. Treatment of goods shipped from Narakal.—The Commissioner of Customs should treat goods shipped from Narakal under the arrangements sanctioned by the Government of Madras in their letter (No. 993, dated 8th June 1863) given below as if they had been shipped at British Cochin:

"I am directed to forward, for the information of His Excellency the Governor in Council, the accompanying correspondence regarding the shipment, during the monsoon months, of goods cleared from British Cochin at the adjoining port of Narakal.

"2. The Bombay Government are doubtless aware that during the monsoon ships are often unable to remain in the exposed roadstead of British Cochin. Two or three miles of British Cochin is the small place called Narakal, where the action of the sea is deadened by a mud flat, between which and the shore ships can lie and load when the Cochin roadstead is unsafe. Narakal is, however, situated in the Cochin State and is therefore 'Foreign territory.' Consequently goods exported thence are liable to duty when imported into any British Indian port. Arrangements have, however, been made with His Highness the Rāja of Cochin for the transit, across the very narrow slip of land on which Narakal is situated, of goods from British Cochin, and the Government have authorized their officers to allow goods cleared from the Customs House of British Cochin and manifested as intended for actual shipment at Narakal, to be shipped at the latter place during the monsoon.

"3. His Highness the Rāja of Cochin levies duties on imports into and exports from his own territories. The precautions adopted at British Cochin leave no opening for any evasion of British duties, and the Rāja would at once tax articles not cleared from British Cochin, passing into or out of Narakal. The concession is really no more than allowing goods during the monsoon to be embarked in a sheltered roadstead quite close to Cochin.

"4. I am to request that goods shipped under the above circumstances from Narakal and covered by manifests from the British Cochin Customs House may be treated in Bombay ports as if they had actually been shipped at British Cochin."

(G. R. No. 2237, dated 8th July 1863.)

5. Travelling Allowance, &c., to witnesses.—The rates of subsistence money and travelling allowances granted to witnesses in criminal cases under Government Notification,* Judicial Department, dated 11th November 1863, published at page 1240 of the Bombay Government Gazette of the 12th idem, should be conceded to witnesses whose attendance may be required in cases cognizable before the officers of Customs and Excise, under the rules set forth in the said notification so far as they may be applicable to those Departments. (G. R. No. 131, dated 15th January 1864.)

(G. R. No. 2496, dated 26th May 1870.)

8. Shipping Office, Kárwár.—Under the provisions of Section 11 of Act I of 1859, the Right Honourable the Governor in Council is pleased, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, to establish a Shipping Office at Kárwár in the Kánara Collectorate and to appoint the Port Officer at that place as Superintendent. (G. N. dated 24th February 1868; vide G. R. No. 741 of the same date.)

9. Firman Privilege.—The Honourable the Governor in Council is pleased to notify, for general information, that the Firman privilege under which Portuguese goods have hitherto been permitted to be imported into Surat at the uniform rate of 2½ per cent. duty, will cease from and after 1st September 1872. (G. N. dated 26th July 1872; vide G. R. No. 3612 of the same date.)

(1) In continuation of Government Notification dated 26th July 1872, the Honourable the Governor in Council is further pleased to notify, for general information, that the Firman privilege under which Portuguese goods have hitherto been permitted to be exported from Surat at the uniform rate of 2½ per cent. duty, will cease from and after 8th December 1872. (G. N. dated 8th November 1872; vide G. R. No. 5550 of the same date.)

(2) Any levy by the Marfatya of the Portuguese Factory at Surat of an import duty of 2½ per cent. ad valorem or any other duty on goods brought from Diu in a Portuguese vessel is illegal, and the importers are not bound to pay it. (L.R. No. 19, dated 21st February 1873; vide G. R. No. 1186, dated 28th idem.)

10. Uniforms.—It having been considered necessary, for the better efficiency of Her Majesty's Customs Preventive Service at Bombay, that the whole of the officers composing that body should be in uniform, the Honourable the Governor in Council is pleased to approve of and sanction, in supersession of previous orders, the following rules, and to declare that the same shall for the future be recognized and adopted as the "Dress Regulations" of that service:—

Cap.—Navy blue cloth, with plain silk or mohair band, ornamented with a badge with the letters "H. M. C." in silver or white metal, surmounted with a crown and enclosed in a laurel wreath worked in gold thread.

Jacket.—Pea, Navy blue cloth, serge or venetian, double-breasted with a gilt Imperial crown on each lappet and eight gilt Regulation buttons in front and three crossways on the cuffs of each sleeve.

Jacket.—For Superintendent, Deputy Superintendent and four Inspectors, same as above with distinctive lace on the cuffs of the sleeves in lieu of the buttons worn by the officers as follows:

CUSTOMS.]

Superintendent and Deputy Superintendent, double ring of gold lace round the cuff of each sleeve, half an inch in width.

Inspectors, single ring of gold lace on each sleeve of the same width.

Coat.—Surtout or frock with Imperial crowns as above and same number of buttons, and with the same distinctions as those adopted for the double-breasted jacket appointed to be worn on duty.

Vest.—White, or of the same colour and material as the coat, with six Regulation buttons.

Trousers.—White or Navy blue in the hot weather, and when exposed on duty the officers will be permitted to wear a white tunic instead of the blue pea jacket. The white tunic to have one row of five Regulation buttons down the front, the Imperial crowns to be worn, one on each side of the collar, and one-and-a-half inches from the opening in front.

Instead of the cap, a white helmet with a white pagri may be worn. (G. N. No. 2769, dated 8th April 1895.)

11. It having been considered necessary, for the better efficiency of Her Majesty's Customs Preventive Service at Karachi, that the whole of the officers composing that body should be in uniform, the Honourable the Governor in Council is pleased to declare that the Rules sanctioned in Government Notification No. 2769, dated 8th April 1895, shall (with the omission of the words "Deputy Superintendent") be recognized and adopted as the Dress Regulations of that service. (G. N. No. 4289, dated 8th June 1895.)

12. The Dress Regulations of the Customs Preventive Service at Bombay prescribed in Government Notification* dated 17th August 1874, with the substitution of the letters "H. M. C. & S." for the letter "H. M. C." on the badge of the cap, should be extended to the Coast Guard Service and Inspectors of the Salt Department. The Superintendent and five Senior Inspectors of the Coast Guard service should be deemed to be the officers entitled to wear the dress prescribed for the Superintendent, Deputy Superintendent and four Inspectors of the Customs Preventive Service. (G. Rs. Nos. 4856, dated 9th September 1874, and 19, dated 3rd January 1881.)

* Superseded by G. N. No. 2769, dated 8th April 1895.

13. Preventive officers of all grades should be required to provide themselves with uniforms at their own expense.

It does not appear requisite to supply the tally-men on salaries of Rs. 40 and Rs. 30 per month with uniform. All that is necessary is that they should, when on duty, wear some distinguishing badge to show that they are in Government employ, and arrangements may be made to supply them with such badges. (G. R. No. 2877, dated 11th April 1883.)

Registry of Vessels.—"If the schooner 'Nelly' (belonging to Port Louis, Mauritius, has been broken up in this port * * *, her certificate of registry should be forwarded by the Registrar of Shipping of this port to the Registrar of Shipping at her port of registry. This is provided by Section 53 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, which also requires that in such a case her certificate of registry should be delivered to the Registrar of Shipping at the port where the breaking up occurs." (Solicitor to Government, No. 991, dated 25th September 1875; vide G. R. No. 5644, dated 5th October 1875.)

of shipping, the particulars of the gross tonnage of sailing and steam vessels as well as the net register tonnage.

(2) Local Boards must be counted amongst "Her Majesty's subjects residing within the Presidency of Bombay," and therefore vessels belonging to them are liable to be registered under Act XIX of 1838, if they are employed in such places as would render them liable to be registered under that Act, if they were the property of private owners. The Act applies to 'harbour craft' and to vessels 'employed on the coasts,' i.e., on the sea-coast. It does not apply to vessels employed exclusively on rivers and creeks unless they ply to places which, although situated on such rivers or creeks, may reasonably be held to be on the sea-coast. (L. R. No. 231, dated 23rd February 1888; vide G. R. No. 1607, dated 8th March 1888.)

(3) Sections 4 and 6 of Act XIX of 1838 contemplate that, at each Continental port, the registry of vessels shall be made and the duty of marking or branding and of ascertaining the burthen of vessels shall be performed either (1) by the Collector of Sea Customs at such port, or (2) by such other person as the Government of Bombay appoints to act at such port in the execution of the Act. By clause (7) of Government Notification No. 6512-A. of 20th September 1882, (published in the Bombay Government Gazette for 1882, Part I, 717), all Sarkarkuns in charge of talukas were appointed Customs collectors under the Sea Customs Act, 1878, for the ports in their respective charges, and this officer is the person who for years past has made the registry of vessels at every Continental port, and the Department wishes him to continue to do so. No further notification or appointment appears, therefore, to be necessary under Act XIX of 1838. The Sarkarkun should, however, not only make registry of vessels, but also perform the duty, through his subordinates, and, when necessary, under his certificates, of marking or branding or ascertaining the burthen of vessels.

Coast Guard Inspectors have received special instruction in the rules regarding the measurement of vessels, and Sarkarkuns have had no such instruction. But as both Sarkarkuns and Coast Guard Inspectors cannot be appointed to act in execution of Act XIX of 1838, and the former are the officers already holding the office which qualifies them so to act, it is desirable that by Department arrangement the Coast Guard Inspectors should be made to act in subordination to the Sarkarkuns. Certificates of measurement, when necessary for evidentiary or other purposes, should be signed by the Sarkarkun, but the Coast Guard Inspector who actually made any measurement could be required to attach his initials to the certificate before it is signed by the Sarkarkun. (L. R. No. 1284, dated 3rd August 1891; vide G. R. No. 5730, dated 21st idem.)

17. Boxes, &c., intended for private or official use on board vessels of Royal Navy arriving manifested as cargo.—Boxes and parcels intended for private or official use on board vessels of Her Majesty's Navy, which arrive as manifested cargo, need not be treated as cargo for inclusion in the statistical returns, and may be passed on board the vessel for which they are intended or which is to convey them to their destination, on the Deputy Commissioner's order without documents, the manifest of the importing vessel being cleared by a note that this has been done. Government have no objection to cases for naval officers serving on distant stations being sent on board the flag or other ship in Bombay to be forwarded to them, on receipt of a written requisition by the Officer Commanding. (G. R. No. 562, dated 2nd February 1878.)

18. Sampling of goods.—The power given by Section 178 of Act VI of 1863 and continued by Section 195 of the new Customs Act VIII of 1878 to take samples of goods for the purpose of ascertaining their value, is viewed with some apprehension by merchants. It is alleged that in certain cases as those of prints or fancy goods, the ideas of the importers may be communicated to others who would pirate them to the detriment of the importer. The officers employed in valuing goods for the Customs House should be warned to guard against this to the utmost of their power, by taking care not to show the samples publicly or to persons who might make use of them in the manner apprehended. Any flagrant instance of carelessness in this respect would be deserving of punishment. (C. I. R., A. & C., No. 50 dated 21st March 1878; vide G. R. No. 1776 dated 6th April 1878.)

19. Interpretation of Section 201 of Act VIII of 1878.—Doubts have arisen as to the interpretation of the terms of Section 201 of the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1878, which provides that 'the Customs Collector may in his discretion, upon payment of one rupee, authorize any document, after it has been entered and recorded in the Custom-house, to be amended.' This section reproduces the last clause of Section 191 of Act VI of 1863, the fee being limited to one rupee by the new Act, whereas under the old law it might have amounted to ten rupees.

CUSTOMS.]

It seems that the practice under the old law in some Custom-houses was to levy a fee or not, according to the discretion of the Collector. This is the view still held in Calcutta, and perhaps in some other Custom-houses.

Another interpretation of the section, however,—and this is the interpretation which it appears has been adopted recently in the Bombay Custom-house,—is that the law allows of the exercise of the Collector's discretion only in regard to permission to make an amendment; but that if such permission is given, the payment of the fee of one rupee must be insisted on.

It seems to the Governor General in Council that this is in fact the correct interpretation of the section. The law, as framed, does not extend any discretion to the payment of the fee, which follows necessarily on authority for the amendment being given, and it is only in regard to the authorization of an amendment that a discretionary power remains.

It has, however, been represented that the levy of the fee in every case without exception causes unnecessary hardship and annoyance, and as it is clear that the authority vested by law with the entire disposal of the revenue realised by such fees, and which can also direct their refund, is competent to dispense with their payment, the Governor General in Council is pleased to authorize Customs Collectors to dispense with the payment of the fee in cases in which its enforcement is not considered necessary to check carelessness and prevent unnecessary trouble being given to Customs establishments. His Excellency in Council does not doubt that the discretionary power now vested in Customs Collectors will be wisely and liberally exercised, and the great importance of maintaining, so far as may be possible, friendly relations between the mercantile community and the Customs establishments always borne in mind.

Cases sometimes occur in which alterations are made in the quantities entered in the papers presented by importers, the actual quantity as ascertained by weighment being found to be less than the invoice weight. In all such cases, duty should, of course, be charged on the quantities and qualities specified in the papers as amended, not as originally entered at the Custom-house.

20. Vessels coming from or going to Camorta to be treated as vessels trading with Foreign Ports.

—As there is danger of illicit trade being carried on between the Straits Settlements and India via Camorta,* the Customs officers should treat all vessels arriving from that port or going thither as regards examination of goods and control by the Preventive Department as vessels trading with foreign ports. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 83-C., dated 18th April 1879; vide G. R. No. 2182, dated 24th idem.)

* Under the notification by the Government of India, Home Department, No. 87, dated 1st April 1879, Camorta and Port Blair were declared by the Chief Commissioner of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands under Section 11 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, to be ports for the shipment and landing of goods.

21. Arms.—Weapons and firearms lying unclaimed in the Bombay and Karachi Customs Houses should be handed over for disposal by the Collector of Customs, Bombay; to the Commissioner of Police, Bombay, and by the Collector of Customs, Karachi, to the District Superintendent of Police, Karachi. (G. Rs. Nos. 921 dated 21st February 1879, and 1865, dated 10th March 1886.)

(1) Under Section 27 of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, the Governor General in Council is pleased to exempt from the prohibitions and directions contained in Section 6 of the said Act, such arms, ammunition, and military stores brought into an Indian port as may be declared under manifest to be consignments, without transshipment, to another port, provided such other port be not situate on the coast of India, between the most westerly point of India and the most southerly point of British Burma, and provided such port be not a foreign port on the eastern sea-board of Africa.

This exemption will become void in the event of any of the articles claiming such exemption being landed at, or transhipped in, the port into which they may have been brought.

(G. I., H. R. & A., Not. No. 1572, dated 29th August 1879; vide G. R. No. 4848, dated 11th September 1879; vide also G. R., J. D., No. 1687, dated 14th March 1882.)

(2) In continuation of Notification No. 1572, dated the 29th August 1879, it is hereby declared that, under Section 27 of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, the Governor General in Council is pleased to exempt, from the prohibitions and directions contained in Section 6 of the said Act, such arms, ammunition and military stores brought into an Indian port as may be declared under manifest to be consignments without transshipment to another Indian port, provided that the port to which such arms, ammunition or military stores are consigned is one of the ports named in Rule 6 of the Rules published under Home Department Notification No. 518, dated 6th March 1879.

This exemption will become void in the event of any of the articles claiming such exemption being landed at, or transhipped in, any port other than that to which the articles are consigned.

(G. I., H. R. and A., Notn. No. 75, dated 14th January 1880; vide G. R. No. 377, dated 23rd idem.)

(3) Doubts having arisen as to the procedure to be followed in respect the export of arms and ammunition to persons in Native States who enjoy privileges when in British India under the Arms Act and Rules, the Governor General in Council has been pleased to specially empower the Commissioners of Police in Bombay and Madras and the Deputy Commissioner in Calcutta to grant export licenses subject to the conditions specified below, namely,—

CUSTOMS.]

(a) The consignment for export must consist only of arms and ammunition in reasonable quantities and for personal use.

(b) The consignee must belong to one of the classes of persons mentioned in clause I of Home Department Notification* No. 518 (Public), dated the 6th March 1879.

(c) In all cases of doubt, and specially when the consignee is not a European subject of Her Majesty, and a gazetted civil or commissioned military officer, the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of Police must refer to the Political authority in the Native State to which export is to be made.

(d) The licenses will be granted free of charge.

(e) The Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner will keep a list of such licenses.

(f) In all other respects the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner will be guided by the existing rules relating to export licenses; and more particularly it will be necessary for him to send a copy of each license, as it issues, to the Political authority in the State to which the export is made.

(G. I., For. Dept., No. 1051-I., dated 22nd March 1834; vide G. R. No. 765, dated 27th January 1885.)

22. Confiscations.—When articles likely to be of use to Government for any purpose are confiscated for any reason by the Customs Department, the instructions of Government in the Revenue Department as to their disposal should be applied for and obtained. (G. R. No. 2153, dated 24th April 1880.)

23. Customs Administration Report and Trade Review.—The Government of India will not press for the incorporation of the Trade Review which forms the introduction to the Annual Volume of Statistics with the Administration Report of the Customs Department which latter may expediently be retained as a separate publication.

The Trade Review which is in its proper place at the beginning of the volume of Statistics, and should remain there, is hardly even yet, though it has been much improved recently, as full and complete as it should be. The trade of the Continental ports is very scantily treated, and generally both as regards foreign and coasting trade the causes of the fluctuation of trade are not discussed with the clearness and fullness required for the adequate interpretation of the statistics of a Presidency of such great commercial importance as that of Bombay.

* Republished in the Bombay Government Gazette under Government Notification, Judicial Department, No. 1484, dated 11th March 1879.

In the Customs Administration report all figures concerning trade that may be commented upon should be taken from the volume of Trade Statistics in order to avoid discrepancies between the Trade Review and the Administration Report. (G. I., F., C., No. 3256, dated 27th September 1881; vide G. R. No. 5956, dated 10th October 1881.)

24. Buys.—No buoys should be removed from their position without the previous sanction of Government, for which timely application should be made. (G. R. No. 4630, dated 18th July 1882.)

(1) The 15th May should be fixed as the date before which no buoys should be removed. Timely notice should be given to Government every year of the exact date on which it is proposed to take up the buoys, the date being fixed in view of the circumstances of the season. It is essential that this should be done in order that the public may be informed in time of the date on which it is intended to raise each buoy. (G. R. No. 5990, dated 14th August 1883.)

25. Verification in Turkish Consulates and by Customs authorities of manifests of certain articles exported from India to Turkish Ports.—"With reference to a communication received from the Imperial Ottoman Embassy at London, I have the honour to state that, as the Roumanian Government, contrary to the interest of the Turkish Government, has increased the duties on the articles imported into that country from the Ottoman dominions, the Government of Sublime Porte have been compelled to make a similar increase, from the 21st of January 1886, in duty on the articles mentioned in the accompanying list, imported into Ottoman dominions from Roumania.

"I am, therefore, desirous to request that the Government of this country will be kind enough to instruct the authorities concerned, to require the parties sending those articles from this country to any Turkish port, to get their manifests verified in the Turkish Consulates in order that these articles may not be taken as exported from Roumania. Where there is no Turkish Consulate, the Customs authorities may be instructed to verify such manifests. In case of there being no such verification on the manifests, the goods will be considered as exported from Roumanian ports."

26. Turkish Vessels.—The Commissioner of Customs should supply the Consul General for the Ottoman Empire at Bombay at the end of every month with a list of all the vessels under Turkish flag, such as buglows, &c., passing and repassing the port of Bombay, showing their names, tonnage, the names of captains, the particular country to which they belong, and the number of crews. (G. R. No. 7933, dated 10th November 1886.)

27. Certificates of origin for British goods exported to Spain.—The following circular was issued by the Vice-Consul for Spain, Bombay, on 31st January 1898:—

Shippers to Spanish ports are informed that certificates of origin have to be made out in duplicate and in accordance with the model A annexed. The original must be signed by one of the following authorities before whom the shippers' declaration is to be made and the invoices of the goods be presented, viz.:—

The Chamber of Commerce, the Mayor, the Police Magistrate (not J.P.'s) and the Customs authorities. It will be viséd then by the undersigned. The duplicate will be retained at the Vice-Consulate, but need not be signed by the authorities.

It is recommended that certificates be made out in Spanish or French in order to avoid the trouble, expense and delay which may occur by their having to be translated if written in other languages.

28. Certificates of origin for goods exported to Italy.—The Italian Government having failed to renew the Treaty of Commerce with France have been compelled to adopt reciprocity of treatment towards almost all descriptions of French goods imported into Italy, enforcing a differential tariff. In order to avoid possible errors of judgment by subjecting other foreign goods to such differential treatment, the Italian Government have decided upon having recourse to certificates of origin to be enforced as per the following directions:—

The certificates of origin may be granted either by the Chambers of Commerce or similar authorities, by the Italian Consuls or Municipal authorities as also by Foreign Customs.

The required document should contain marks, quality and quantity of goods and certify that they are products of the soil or industry of the country from which they are shipped.

The Customs officers may be satisfied instead of the above certificates of origin with the simple original invoices, and they are authorized also not to request production of invoices for such goods that may bear the characteristic mark of the products of the country of origin or form almost a monopoly such as the typical wines, pilchards of Spain, English herrings, Sweden stock fish, &c., &c.

The said certificate of origin will not be wanted for goods coming directly from the country of production, provided they have not been transhipped or the steamer called at any intermediate French port or ports.

As for the parcels post, the declaration of the sender will stand for the certificate of origin.

The Customs authorities are allowed all discretion in dealing with such certificates of origin, provided they should be amply satisfied as to the origin of goods, and they are instructed not to embarrass or check the trade by enforcing this new rule until ample time has elapsed for it to be known abroad.

This new rule is not applicable to small parcels carried by passengers for which the usual Customs tariff will be enforced.

(G. R. No. 3323, dated 23rd May 1888.)

29. Establishments.—So long as arrangements are made for recovering the cost of pensions and allowances in accordance with Article 823 of the Civil Service Regulations, the sanction of the Government of India is not necessary to such appointments as that of a clerk on Rs. 40 a month entertained in the Prince's Dock establishment at the cost of Messrs. Shepherd & Co. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2934, dated 12th June 1889; vide G. R. No. 4923, dated 9th July 1889.)

(1) The establishments attached to the Chief Account Officer of Customs, Salt, and Opium and the office of the Reporter General of External Commerce which are under the direct control of the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bkári, should be considered as one in the matter of transfers and promotions. (G. R. No. 8927, dated 12th November 1892.)

30. Purchase, construction and repairs of launches, vessels, &c.—The obtaining of a steam launch from England through a private firm is inadmissible, being in contravention of the orders contained in the Resolution of the Government of India, Finance Department, No. 2586, dated 23rd May 1889, regarding the supply of European stores required for the public service. The Secretary of State has also clearly laid down in his despatch No. 139 (Military), dated 31st July 1890, that the purchase of a vessel in India without his previous sanction is a departure from the orders prohibiting local purchases.

The rules contained in the following Resolution of the Government of India in the Public Works Department, No. 455 M., dated 30th December 1890, do not make it compulsory on Local Governments or Departments to have their launches built in the Bombay or Kidderpore Dockyards under all circumstances. It is, however, considered desirable that those establishments should be employed as largely as possible : —

“ In supersession of previous orders on the subject the Governor General in Council is pleased to approve of the following modified rules on the subject of the construction and repair of steam-boats, launches and other vessels for the use of Government by the Government dockyards at Calcutta or Bombay, and by private firms.

“(2) In future, work which is connected with the construction of Government vessels must, in all cases, be carried out either by Government workshops or dockyards, unless for any special reason it appears that the employment of private firms will be more economical, or if workshops or dockyards are unable, by press of other demands, to execute the work as speedily as is necessary.

“(3) Local Governments and Administrations are at liberty in every case to call for estimates for any work which has to be done, both from Government dockyards and private firms simultaneously, and to decide, with reference both to the amount of the tenders received and to other considerations, how the work shall be executed.

“(4) An annual return is to be submitted on the 31st December of each year to the Government of India showing all cases in which work, of the nature referred to, has been given to private firms in preference to Government workshops or dockyards, with a full explanation of the reasons which led to the employment of the private firms.

“(5) As regards repairs to Government vessels, Local Governments and Administrations, except those of Bengal and Bombay, where Government dockyards exist, will probably find it to their advantage to have such repairs as may be required executed locally, and the return prescribed in the preceding paragraph need not therefore, in their case, specify repair work executed by private firms. In the case of the returns from Bengal and Bombay, the returns should, however, specify such repairs, which should be executed, whenever possible, at the Government dockyards.”

ENCUMBERED ESTATES.

I.--GUJARAT ENCUMBERED ESTATES.

1. In the case where the lands handed over to the manager appointed under Act XV of 1871* are in the possession of tenants of the mortgagees, the standing crops clearly belong to the tenants of the mortgagees, and the manager should only collect from them the rent in grain or in money which they had agreed to pay to the said mortgagees.

* Repealed by Act XIV of 1877, which with the exception of the last three sections has been repealed by Act XXI of 1881.

In the case where the lands were cultivated by the mortgagees personally, the standing crops should be enjoyed by the mortgagees personally in lieu of the landlord's rent; the Talukdári Settlement Officer should levy from them an assessment equivalent to the ordinary assessment collected by Government from similar lands in the neighbourhood.

In the first of the cases above mentioned, if the rents agreed to be paid by the cultivators to the mortgagees shall be found to be excessive, the manager need only levy from the cultivators rents equivalent to the ordinary assessment on similar lands held under Government in the neighbourhood.

The rents thus collected from the mortgagees or the sub-tenants of the mortgagees should be taken into account in the ultimate settlement of debts between the Talukdárs and the mortgagees. (G. R. No. 1351, dated 22nd March 1872.)

2. The manager may compel the production of any documents, no matter in whose possession, under Section 14† of the Broach Thákors' Relief Act, No. XV of 1871. (L. R. No. 80, dated 6th July 1874; vide G. R. No. 3608, dated 14th idem.)

† Cf. Section 35 of Act XXI of 1881.

3. If a Thákor whose estate is managed under Act ‡ XV of 1871 succeeds to an estate encumbered with debts, those debts cannot be settled according to the rules applying to liabilities for the liquidation of which the Thákor's original estate was brought under the Act. Section 9§ of Act XIV of 1877 describes the consequences which are to ensue upon the publication of the order of management, but each of the consequences refers only to "the debts and liabilities mentioned in Section 8," which are "all debts and liabilities to which the Thákor is subject, or which are charged on the whole or any part of his immoveable property" on the date of the publication of the order of management. And although Section 8 || expressly provides that the order of management shall extend to all immoveable property "which may be acquired by or devolve on the debtor during the continuance of the management," there is nothing in Part IV of the Act (which deals with "the proof of debts and the scheme for liquidation") to empower the manager to prepare a scheme for the liquidation of subsequently acquired debts and liabilities. (L. R. No. 1102, dated 25th September 1877; vide G. R. No. 6000, dated 5th October 1877.)

‡ Now Act XXI of 1881.

§ Cf. Section 9 of Act XXI of 1881.

|| Cf. Section 8 of Act XXI of 1882.

XXI of 1881.

4. A holder of wazifa land is not a Thákor within the meaning of Act XIV* of 1877. The tenures under which wazifa and jághír lands are held differ so materially that a jághirdár cannot include a wazifdár. A Thákor, the bulk of whose property is in a district other than those of Broach and Kaira, cannot be considered to be within the scope of the Act, because he may happen to have 15 or 20 acres of land within those districts. (Adv. Gen. No. 8 of 1878; vide G. R. No. 330, dated 21st January 1878.)

5. It appears that in the case of a joint application under the Broach and Kaira Encumbered Estates' Act, it is competent to the officer who makes the enquiry under Sections 5 and 6 to require the applicants to give precise information as to whether they are or are not divided in estate, and as to whether their debts are joint or separate debts, and it is competent to the Commissioner under Section 7 to direct further enquiry on this point.

But where both the debts and the estate are joint, the application ought to be made in the joint names of all the co-parceners, and the order of management ought to include all such co-parceners' names.

The individual liabilities of several separated brethren cannot legally be clubbed together. If the applicants are really divided in estate, the case of each one of them ought to be dealt with separately on its own merits. Undivided brethren do, it is true, occasionally own separate property of their own (see the note at page xli of the introduction to West and Bühler's Digest of Hindu Law, Book I and the authorities there referred to), but even then their debts are usually the joint debts of the family and not their own merely. And even if the debtor who makes an application under the Act is an undivided brother having separate property and separate liabilities, the order of management can only properly extend to his separate property and to his individual share in the undivided property. The Act would not justify the manager in interfering with the other parceners' shares in the undivided estate unless they also happened to have taken the benefit of the Act on separate applications, and each share would have to be separately released from management as soon as the liabilities charged upon it were liquidated. (L. R. No. 123, dated 12th February 1878; vide G. R. No. 903, dated 19th idem.)

6. The Commissioner should not grant applications under the Broach and Kaira Encumbered Estates Act except under peculiar circumstances, unless there is reason to suppose or know that the debts exceed the total amount of five years' net profits of the applicants' respective estates. The determination of what constitutes 'peculiar circumstances' is left entirely to him. (G. R. No. 4425, dated 29th August 1878.)

7. When a separate estate burdened with debts devolves on a debtor whose estate is already under management, the proper course is to notify the fact and to issue a separate notice to the creditors under Section 12 of Act XXI of 1881 as if the estate had been formally brought under management. (L. R. No. 1524, dated 27th November 1882; vide G. R. No. 8623, dated 9th December 1882.)

8. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 3 of the Broach and Kaira Encumbered Estates Act, 1881, the Governor in Council is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to declare that the Maliks of Thāsra in the District of Kaira are Thākors for the purposes of the said Act. (G. N. No. 5295, dated 16th July 1883.)

9. Under Section 9 of Act XXI of 1881, as soon as an order of management is published in the Bombay Government Gazette, all proceedings in respect to the debts and liabilities to which the debtor therein named is subject, shall be stayed, and the operation of all processes, executions and attachments then in force in respect of such debts and liabilities shall be suspended, and no fresh proceedings, processes, executions or attachments shall be instituted in or issued by any Civil Courts in British India in respect thereof.

**Vide* page 537 of the Compilation of General Rules in force in the Revenue Department, third edition.

Under No. 12* of the rules made under Section 31 of Act XIV of 1877 and saved by Section 2 of Act XXI of 1881, a copy of the Commissioner's notification shall be affixed in the Court of the Subordinate Judge within whose jurisdiction the debtor resides or the bulk of his estate is situated, and one copy in the Court of the District Judge to whom such Judge is subordinate.

This is intended to give the Courts intimation of the fact that a debtor's estate is under management.

But it does not appear that a Court could act on such an intimation alone.

The mere production of the published order would, under Section 78 of the Evidence Act, 1872, be sufficient proof of the notification.

But the Court must of course be satisfied that the debtor in respect of whom execution is sought, is the person referred to in the order of management, and cannot of its own motion raise an objection without evidence adduced or allegation made.

The Collector's certificate would have to be produced by somebody.

The Courts cannot carry on their judicial proceedings by official correspondence, and the certificate would be no proof that the debtor was the person referred to in an order.

The production of the order would do all that the production of the certificate could do, and if the identity of the debtor with the person mentioned in the order were challenged, the Court could not dispense with evidence on that point on the mere strength of the certificate.

If any proceedings in execution are instituted or continued after an order of management barring, staying or suspending them, they are absolutely void; and no sale under them will pass any property to the purchaser, and any attempt by the purchaser to obtain possession could be at once defeated on the production of the order of management by or on behalf of the manager.

No trouble would be saved by substituting a certificate as evidence for the order of management which is already evidence the genuineness of which the Courts shall presume (Section 81 of Act I of 1872).

It is not necessary to satisfy the Court that the property attached is under management, but only that the debtor is a person in respect of whose debts and liabilities an order of management has issued.

No formal application for the removal of attachment is necessary. Objection might be taken to the whole of the proceedings in execution at any stage as barred, stayed or suspended under Section 9 of the Broach and Kaira Encumbered Estates Act, 1881. (L. R. No. 286, dated 25th February 1891; vide G. R. No. 1916, dated 14th March 1891.)

10. Sub-section 4 of Section 11 of the Broach and Kaira Encumbered Estates Act XXI of 1881 contemplates that the periodical allowance for the maintenance and other necessary expenses of a debtor may be fixed from time to time by the Commissioner. But from its position in the Act, it seems probable that Section 11 was intended, though it is not expressly so stated, to apply only to the disposal of sums realized before the sanction of the liquidation scheme. There is no power expressly given by the Act to modify the liquidation scheme after sanction. (L. R. No. 464, dated 26th April 1893; vide G. R. No. 4200, dated 9th June 1893.)

11. It is not possible to amend the scheme which has been sanctioned by the Commissioner for the liquidation of the debts of a deceased Thákor by inserting therein the debts incurred by his successor before he succeeded to the estate, and providing for their payment. The only course which can be adopted is for the Thákor, when the management under the existing scheme terminates according to Section 26 of Act XXI of 1881, to make another application for the benefit of the Act. (Adv. Gen. No. 54, dated 16th May 1893; vide G. R. No. 4200, dated 9th June 1893.)

II.—SIND ENCUMBERED ESTATES.

1. By the Sind Encumbered Estates Act, the Commissioner in Sind is authorized to exercise general control over the Manager of the Estates in financial as well as other matters. (G. R. No. 6971, dated 21st November 1877.)

2. If the members of a family have divided their estate and have been separately assessed by Government in respect of the lands in their respective holdings, each such member must be dealt with under Act XIV* of 1876 separately, and will be entitled to relief only if the assessment on his own

* New Act
XX of 1896.

ENCUMBERED ESTATES.]

lands has amounted to not less than Rs. 300. Each of such separated members will have incurred distinct liabilities for which he alone is responsible, and there is nothing in the Act which authorizes the clubbing of several of such individual liabilities together. (L. R. No. 334, dated 9th April 1877; vide G. R. No. 2552, dated 20th idem.)

3. The amount of assessment recorded against a landholder in the Government accounts is what has to be looked to in determining whether he is a zamindar within the meaning of the Sind Encumbered Estates Act or not. Casual remissions do not affect the amount of assessment, and should not be taken into account. (L. R. No. 334, dated 9th April 1877; vide G. R. No. 2552, dated 20th idem.)

4. It is only "if the property be in possession of any person claiming to hold under a lease dated within three years immediately preceding the commencement of the management" that the sufficiency of the consideration for which the lease was given may, under Section 21 * of Act XIV of 1876, be enquired into. It is, therefore, immaterial when the lessee's possession commenced, but it is indispensably necessary that the lease, under which he bona fide claims to hold, should be dated within three years before the commencement of the management. (L. R. No. 675, dated 23rd July 1877; vide G. R. No. 4630, dated 30th idem.)

5. The Commissioner's sanction of a liquidation scheme should be notified at the Court of the Subordinate Judge within whose jurisdiction the debtor resides, or the bulk of his estate is situated, and at the Court of the District Judge to whom such Judge is subordinate. The sanction should also be notified in the Sind Official Gazette, both in English and in Sindhi. (G. R. No. 3306, dated 1st July 1878.)

6. Section 18† of Act XIV of 1876 enables the Commissioner, at any time before he has sanctioned a liquidation scheme, to retrace the steps taken in placing an estate under the Act and to restore the status quo ante. This then is the obvious course for the Commissioner to pursue whenever he has reason to think that the debts are of too insignificant an amount to justify his further intervention under the Act.

† Cf. Section 19 of Act XX of 1896.

But one of the results of the Commissioner's restoring the status quo ante is (vide Section 18, Clause d‡) that the debts and liabilities barred by Section 13§ (i.e., those which have not been notified to the manager within the time and in the manner required by his notice issued under Section 11¶), revive. If then creditors hold back in the hope of inducing the Commissioner to put an end to the management under Section 18¶, and that their claims may be thus revived, it is not desirable that they should be allowed so to frustrate the purpose of the Act. Although, therefore, the liquidation scheme in any such case may be so only in name, the Commissioner would be perfectly justified in

sanctioning it if he is satisfied that the case was a proper one for the application of the Act originally. He should sanction the scheme, and allow the management to continue long enough (1) to pay off the debts and liabilities, if any, which do appear in the scheme, and (2) to bar all the claims which have not been duly notified. Mention might be made in the scheme of the fact that several of the claims, believed from the result of the preliminary enquiry to have existed, have not been notified, and that these will, therefore, be deemed under Section 13 "to have been duly discharged" without any payment being necessary from the income of the estate, and this in itself would be a good reason for the Commissioner's sanctioning the scheme. The result will be that the termination of management will be notified by the manager under Section 25*, at a much earlier date than it otherwise could have been, and the debtor will be discharged from all liability to the creditors who did not, as well as those who did, notify their claims against him to the manager. (L. R. No. 875, dated 26th July 1879; vide G. R. No. 4134, dated 7th August 1879.)

* Cf. Section 27 of Act XX of 1826.

† Cf. Section 8 of Act XX of 1893.

7. Section 7 † of the Sind Encumbered Estates Act, 1876, enacted that the order of management shall extend to "all immoveable property of or to which the debtor is on the date of its publication possessed or entitled in his own right." All immoveable property of which the debtor is found in possession should, therefore, be taken into management by the manager, and he should not relinquish any portion of the property except upon due authority. His own opinion that a third party's claim to a portion of the property is well-founded would not be due authority, for the Act does not authorize the manager to determine questions of proprietary title between the debtor and other claimants. But the decree of a competent Court or the award of a duly appointed arbitrator would be due authority, and so also would the admission of the debtor himself; and if by any of these means the manager is satisfied that he has taken into his management property to which the debtor is not entitled, he would be justified in relinquishing possession of it to the rightful person, but not otherwise. (L. R. No. 384, dated 7th April 1880; vide G. R. No. 1962, dated 15th idem.)

8. When an estate is held jointly by a person who is a zamindár under the Sind Encumbered Estates Act (XX of 1881) and by one who is not a zamindár under the definition in the Act, the estate cannot legally be placed under management. Section 8 † of the Act enacts that the order of management "shall extend to all immoveable property of or to which the debtor is on the date of its publication possessed or entitled in his own right, &c." Now when property is held by two persons jointly, neither of them can be said to be possessed or entitled to any portion of that property in his own right, for they are each of them interested in every portion of it and, moreover, the provisions of Chapters III, IV and V of the Act are absolutely inconsistent with any person other than the zamindár being interested in the property put under management. The zamindár is entitled to have the estate partitioned, and after partition he would be entitled to the benefit of the Act in respect of the portion allotted to him. (Adv. Gen. No. 63, dated 31st August 1883; vide G. R. No. 6869, dated 15th September 1883.)

ENCUMBERED ESTATES.]

9. Jágírs held as life-holdings which after having come under management have lapsed to Government, owing to the deaths of the jágírdárs after they have been leased under Section 22* of the Act by the manager, are not jágírs to which provisions of Act XX of 1881 can be held to apply. A jágírdár under this Act means a person in possession of jágír land continued under the conditions described in Section 3†, and jágír land includes not only the land, but a share held hereditarily of the revenues of a Government village. A life-interest in a share of the revenues of a village is not a jágír within the meaning of the Act.

† Cf. Section 2, ibid.

The provisions of the Act apply to jágír, whether they are grants of land or of a share of the revenues continued as hereditary property, and the manager has power to demise either the land itself or the share of the revenues, as the case may be, for a term of two years, if his liquidation scheme has not yet been sanctioned, or a term of twenty years, if it has been sanctioned. Should the jágír revert to Government as ultimus heres through failure of heirs and intestacy of the jágírdár, if the management has not been terminated, Section 27 of the Act provides that the management shall continue and proceed in all respects as if the jágírdár were still living. Under all circumstances all leases lawfully granted by the manager must continue in force for the full period for which they have been granted.

With regard, therefore, to the jágírs held as life-holdings which have been illegally brought under management, the occupants who hold the lands under the jágírdár are entitled on his death to be entered as registered occupants, and all leases of the property constituting the jágír are liable to be set aside as invalid, the manager having no authority to grant them.

With regard to the jágírs which have been legally brought under management, leases of the property constituting the jágír are valid for the time they are fixed to run, that is to say, if the manager grants a lease of the jágír land, the expression "Jágír land" in the lease must be understood to mean either the actual land or the jágírdár's share of the revenue, according to the nature of the grants. Where the lessees actually hold the land, whereas the lease only entitles them to hold a share of the revenues, they must be restricted to the terms of the lease. The cultivators with zamindári rights will not be the lessee's tenants but inferior holders paying the land revenue to the lessee as superior holder for the period of his lease.

Government is not bound to recognize any leases which the manager may have made of jāghír property held as life-time holdings, and on such property reverting to Government by reason of the death of the holder the survey settlement may be introduced and the rates thereof enforced regardless of any more favourable rates under which any lessees hold the land.

The Collector has power, under Section 111 of the Land Revenue Code, to let out the lands belonging to any jāghír estate under management at survey rates or such other rates as he may deem to be reasonable, and the terms of any lease which the jāghírdár (or his agent, the manager) may have made relating to the land, shall not operate to the detriment of the lawful claims of Government on the land. (L. R. No. 415, dated 10th April 1892; vide G. R. No. 2759, dated 27th idem.)

* Cf. Section 10 of Act XX of 1896.

10. Under Section 10* of Act XX of 1881 the manager shall, during the management of the property, have all powers which the owner thereof might, as such, have legally exercised. The manager, therefore, can legally sell the property. This power, however, is limited by the proviso of the same section to the effect that he may not, before the liquidation scheme has been sanctioned, demise the property for any term exceeding two years.

Again, under Section 24† of the same Act, at any time after the liquidation scheme has been sanctioned, the manager, with the previous assent of the Commissioner, shall have power to raise any money required for carrying out the liquidation scheme, by

- (a) mortgaging the whole or any part of the property,
- (b) selling such portion of it as may appear expedient,
- (c) borrowing money from §Government.

Section 26‡ of the same Act provides for the restoration of the property or such part thereof as has not been sold by the manager under the powers conferred by Section 24.

While, therefore, all the legal powers of the owner are vested in the manager, the exercise of these powers is made entirely subject to the control of the Commissioner and is limited to such portion of the estate as it may be considered expedient to sell in order to give effect to the liquidation scheme.

A liquidation scheme which contained a proposal to sell the whole estate under management in order to pay off the total amount of debts shown in the schedule, including advances and cost of management, would, therefore, be entirely opposed to the spirit and object of the Act, and should not be sanctioned.

The liquidation scheme should show how the estate under management can be disencumbered with a view to its ultimate restoration to the owner, and not how it should be severed from the owner. If it is proposed to sell any portion of the estate to raise funds, the liquidation scheme should, if possible, show what definite portion of the estate should be sold; and as the proper working of the provisions of the Act must depend altogether on the kind of discretion exercised by the Commissioner in sanctioning the sale of any portion of an estate under management, it is clear that any proposal to sell the whole or the greater portion of an estate should be discountenanced as illegal and impolitic.

It seems only too obvious that if the sale outright of an estate would suffice to pay off the total amount of the owner's debts, a fortiori prudent management for a number of years would lead to the same result and preserve the estate intact.

It seems also clear that a sale of the entire estate to pay off only a small proportion of the debts marshalled under Section 11* of the Act would be a direct breach of the contract which the liquidation scheme represents, under the terms of which the creditors are entitled to receive the amount awarded them in respect of the debts or liabilities due or owing to them which the liquidation scheme has operated to extinguish. (L. R. No. 618, dated 31st May 1882; vide G. R. No. 3906, dated 17th June 1882.)

11. The views expressed in the following opinion of the Advocate General No. 111, dated 11th December 1882, should be acted on:—

“In answer to query 1† it seems to me that, having regard to Section 2 of Act XIV of 1876 and Section 3‡ of Act XX of 1881, the time to which it is necessary to look, in order to determine whether the character of the jāghīr in question was hereditary or not, is the 17th of February 1843. I think that if the share of revenue was then held hereditarily and if the person whose status as a jāghīrdār has to be decided was found at the date of the application contemplated by Section 3 of the Act of 1876 or 4§ of the Act of 1881 to have that share of revenue or a portion thereof continued to him, and to have a sanad granted to him or his ancestor in conformity with terms of Sections || 2 and 3 of these Acts, respectively, he was a jāghīrdār in whose behalf an order might be made under Section 6 of Act XIV of 1876 or Section 7¶ of Act XX of 1881. I have not come to this conclusion without hesitation; as the language of the Acts admits of more than one interpretation, and as I doubt whether the interpretation above given is that which was intended by the framers of the Act: but it seems to me to be the one most in conformity with the words used, and I can see no reason why ‘portion’ should not be a portion in duration as well as a portion in extent. When the jāghīr consists of land there can be no difficulty * * *

"In answer to query 2 * I think that, having regard to Sections † 26 and 27 of Act XX of 1881, the share of revenue still remains under management for the purposes of the Act notwithstanding that the interest of the jaghirdar may have lapsed pending the management. I also think that, notwithstanding such lapse, leases made by the manager in conformity with Section 22 of Act XIV of 1876 or Section 23 ‡ of Act XX of 1881 and the rules, if any, made in that behalf by the Commissioner under Sections § 30 and 31 of the Acts, respectively, hold good until the expiration of the terms for which they may have been granted, which terms cannot exceed 20 years in duration."

¶ Now Act XX of 1896.

12. Expended advances made before a liquidation scheme is sanctioned, are part of the 'costs of the management' and by clause (1), Section 11 of Act XX ¶ of 1881, they are made a first charge upon the sum received or recovered by the manager under Section 10, whether before or after a liquidation scheme is sanctioned. They may, therefore, be recovered, before an order is made under Section 19 of the Act for relinquishing the estate, by the exercise of any of the powers with which the manager is invested by Section 10 previous to the sanction of a liquidation scheme. One of these powers is the grant of a lease for any term not exceeding two years of the whole or any part of the property under management. (L. R. No. 650, dated 6th May 1883; vide G. R. No. 4166, dated 23rd idem.)

¶ Cf. Section 27 of Act XX of 1896.

13. According to Section 26 ¶ of Act XX of 1881 the Manager, Sind Encumbered Estates, cannot terminate his management of any part of the estate until the whole of the debts and the amount of any loan received are paid off. But when there is no other creditor but Government, there is nothing to prevent Government from consenting, on such terms as they think fit, to allow certain portions of the estate to be freed from management. (L. R. No. 649, dated 6th May 1884; vide G. Rs. Nos. 4176, dated 23rd idem, and 5270, dated 2nd July 1884.)

14. According to Section 20 of the Sind Encumbered Estates Act, the sanction, by the Commissioner, of the liquidation scheme bars for ever all proceedings by a creditor in a Civil Court for the recovery of any debt due by the debtor to him, and the creditor is entitled to receive under the liquidation scheme only the amount finally awarded to him under Chapter IV of the Act in respect of such debt. In the case, therefore, of a creditor who holds moveable property in pledge for the repayment of the debt due to him, his legal lien upon that property determines the moment tender is made to him under the liquidation scheme of the amount finally awarded to him under Chapter IV. If, however, he refuse to restore the property to the debtor, it does not appear that the manager has any summary power to compel him to do so. (L. R. No. 1696, dated 22nd December 1884; vide G. R. No. 111, dated 7th January 1885.)

15. The system of making State loans to embarrassed estates under the management of Government is accepted in no other part of India. Bankers, both European and native, are elsewhere found ready to come forward and lend money at rates of interest ranging from 6 to 8 per cent. on the security of Government management. It is on all grounds expedient that the same system should be introduced into Sind and that a serious effort should be made to secure the necessary loans in the local market. It is obvious that at the best of times the money which Government can afford to spare for such an object must be very limited in amount and must, moreover, be taken from other and very pressing claims. When the local money market is once attracted to these schemes, the operations in aid of encumbered proprietors can obviously be carried out on a very much larger scale. The native bankers of Sind are already disposed to invest their capital in land, and it cannot be doubted that, if the matter is properly presented to them, money will be advanced in Sind, as elsewhere, on the security of Government management.

The real obstacle at present appears to lie in the low rate of interest charged on State loans. Nowhere else will the native capitalists, who give Government the principal help in the consolidation of debts in the estates of Wards of Court, lend money at so low a rate of interest as 5 per cent., and they will not in Sind seriously compete for investments under the Encumbered Estates Act, so long as they believe the Government is ready to pay off all debts at that rate. It is a matter of importance, if action under the Encumbered Estates Act is to be encouraged and developed, that this impression should be removed.

If the Collectors altogether fail in their endeavour to attract local aid, the Government of India will not refuse help in the matter; but they will be able to give it on a limited scale only, and for the reasons stated above they are of opinion that all such advances should bear interest at 8 per cent.

In accordance with the policy set forth above, the Government of India have retained Section 24 (c) in the revised Sind Encumbered Estates Act. But they are averse from giving formal legislative recognition to a practice which upon general grounds they consider to be objectionable in principle. They have, therefore, omitted the words "from Government" from Section 24 (c) and from all other sections in which they occur in the same connection. This will leave the question whether the necessary money should be procured from public or from private sources to be determined in each individual case; and no money can be lent by Government for the assistance of an encumbered estate under the Act without the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council. If in any case it should be found necessary to apply for that sanction, it should be fully explained why it is proposed to set aside the principles which have been explained above. (G. I., R. & A., No. 3499 (a)—177-6, dated 12th September 1896, and 4138—177-9, dated 4th November 1896; vide G. Rs. Nos. 8037, dated 13th October 1896, and 9585, dated 30th November 1896.)

16. The Manager, Sind Encumbered Estates, is authorized to deposit the funds of the Encumbered Estates in the Sind treasuries to the credit of 'Personal Deposits' and to withdraw the same as required by him on his cheques, which may be debited to the corresponding head of accounts on the disbursing side of the treasury accounts. The manager will keep his own detailed accounts and the treasury officer's duties will be confined to a simple entry of receipts and payments. (G. R. No. 2791; dated 8th April 1897.)

17. The charges incidental to the Sind Encumbered Estates Act, 1896, should be debited to 3, Land Revenue.

The manager and his establishment should be treated as in foreign service of the third kind and the recoveries should be taken as a set-off against the expenditure. (G. I., R. & A., No. 1014—8-5, dated 6th May 1897; vide G. R. No. 3896, dated 25th idem.)

The cost of the appointment of manager, including contribution for leave allowances and pension, should be recovered from each estate proportionately to its income at the end of the year. A maximum limit of Rs. 1,100 a month should be fixed for the emoluments (salary and special allowance) to be drawn by the manager, so that the officer holding the appointment may not continue to hold it when he is too senior. (G. I., R. & A., No. 1436-58-7, dated 28th June 1897; vide G. Rs. Nos. 5478, dated 22nd July 1897, and 6857, dated 16th September 1897.)

18. The establishment of the office of the Manager, Sind Encumbered Estates, is placed on the same footing for the purposes of travelling allowance as the establishments mentioned in clause (c) of Article 1262 of the Civil Service Regulations. (G. R. No. 4538, dated 16th June 1897.)

19. There does not appear to be any means of compelling an applicant under Section 3 of the Act to fill in the statement mentioned in Section 6 (1) if he refuses to do so and wishes to withdraw his application.

The Act is intended to give relief to jâghirdârs and zamindârs who are involved in debts. Looking to the whole spirit of the Act, it cannot be stated that on grounds of public policy an applicant who has applied for relief under the Act should be precluded from coming to an apparently amicable arrangement or settlement with his creditors.

ENCUMBERED ESTATES.]

Amicable settlements between insolvent debtors and their creditors are, as a rule, encouraged. In the Insolvency Court for the relief of debtors such amicable arrangement is allowed between an insolvent who has filed his petition and his creditors even after lengthy proceedings in Court. In the event of such an arrangement, a rule nisi is issued to the creditors to show cause why the petition should not be allowed to be withdrawn (11 and 12 Vict., C. 21, S. 40.)

This procedure allowed under the Insolvency Act in the Presidency towns goes to show that it can scarcely be argued to be against public policy to allow an indebted jāghirdār to compound with his creditors after he has sought the protection of the Sind Encumbered Estates Act—an analogous law.

By Section 19 (1) of the latter Act, at any time before he has sanctioned a liquidation scheme under Section 18, the Commissioner may direct that the management of an estate shall be relinquished. Under Clause (2) (b) of the same section the owner of the property under management is then restored to possession.

This section gives discretionary powers to the Commissioner to relinquish the management. Although, therefore, there is no specific provision allowing withdrawals of applications by applicants under the Act, the Commissioner may, it appears, in the exercise of his discretion, allow applications for such withdrawal and order the enquiry under Section 4 and the interim order under Section 15 to be relinquished if he is satisfied about the settlement and if there is no opposition or objection on the part of the creditors. Such relinquishment would, it may be noted, be at an earlier stage of the proceedings than the relinquishment under Section 19 (1) of actual management ordered under Section 8.

The penalty under the Act for a person not complying with the provisions of Section 6 would be a dismissal of his application under Section 7 (b). The application being a voluntary act on the part of the applicant, he is liable to punishment only under Section 6 (2) of the Act if he makes a false statement. It would follow, therefore, that the refusal of the applicant to submit a statement under Section 6 would not render him liable to any punishment under Section 179 of the Indian Penal Code. (L. R. No. 735, dated 9th June 1897; vide G. R. No. 4696, dated 24th idem.)

2. The salary of a Junior Civil Servant will be Rs. 400 per mensem from the date of arrival, increasing to Rs. 450 from the date of his passing the Departmental Examination, Lower Standard, and to Rs. 500 from the date of his passing the Departmental Examination, Higher Standard, and being invested with the full powers of a Magistrate.*

The Governor General in Council observes that the principle of granting increase of pay to Assistant Magistrates and Assistant Commissioners is not the same in different provinces. In some provinces the grant of higher allowances has hitherto depended on the investiture with increased magisterial powers as well as on passing by the lower and higher standards of examination, while in other on the latter alone. In order, however, to secure uniformity in this respect, His Excellency in Council is pleased to prescribe, as a rule for future guidance, that officers on passing the lower or higher standard of examination shall, as a rule, be at once invested, respectively, with the powers of a Subordinate Magistrate of the First Class (Second Class Magistrate), or with full magisterial powers (powers of a First Class Magistrate), and that they shall accordingly be entitled to the higher rates of pay from the date of their passing the examination. But if, in the case of any officer subordinate to him, the Magistrate of a District shows, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that investiture with higher powers ought to be deferred, then the mere passing of the examination will not establish a title to higher pay, nor shall such higher pay be granted until the investiture with higher powers takes place.

Subsequent Resolution of the Government of India, No. 2990, dated 17th June 1871.

Powers of a Subordinate Magistrate of the First Class (Second Class Magistrate) are not to be conferred upon an officer until he has exercised the powers of a Subordinate Magistrate of the Second Class (Magistrate of the Third Class) for six months; and full magisterial powers are not to be conferred upon an officer until he has exercised the powers of a Subordinate Magistrate of the First Class (Magistrate of the Second Class) for the same period: provided that no officer shall be entitled to a higher rate of pay by reason of exercising higher powers, unless he has passed in all the subjects of examination by the First or Second (Lower or Higher) Standards as the case may be.

Government of India, Home Department, No. 38-1295, dated 6th September 1881 (G. R. No. 5456, dated 21st idem).

The Government of India have decided after very careful consideration to maintain in force the existing rule under which the grant of higher pay to Junior Civil Servants is made contingent not only on passing the Departmental Examinations, but also on investiture with higher magisterial powers.

[EXAMINATIONS.]

Collector or other Chief Executive Officer of a District for the purpose of his qualifying himself in the languages and Departmental subjects of examination.

4. A Junior Civil Servant is required to pass examinations in Hindustáni and in one of the vernacular languages of the Presidency (Maráthi, Gujaráti, Kánarese or Sindhi) within fifteen months of his arrival. If he fails so to pass, a deduction of 10 per cent. will be made from his salary until he shall have passed the examination. For the standard of the examination in Hindustáni, see Rule 26.

Note 1.—Any native gentleman appointed in India on probation to the Civil Service must, if posted to a district of which the language is not his own vernacular, pass in the language of that district. (G. R. No. 1881, dated 21st March 1882.)

Note 2.—The Accountant General should see that in all cases in which Junior Civil Servants become liable to the 10 per cent. deduction rule for failing to pass the necessary examination in the vernacular, the rule is strictly enforced at the time. (G. R. No. 890, dated 5th February 1889.)

5. On passing either in Hindustáni or in a vernacular language, a Junior Civil Servant will ordinarily be gazetted as an Assistant Collector, and invested with the powers of a Magistrate of the Third Class.

6. It is optional with a Junior Civil Servant who may not have passed either in Hindustáni or in any vernacular language to present himself for the Departmental Examination, Lower Standard. In the event of his passing that examination, or the language part of it, he shall be considered as having passed in the vernacular language in which he has been examined at such examination.

7. A Civil Servant who has passed in one vernacular, and who at any time before he has completed ten years' residence in India joins an appointment in a district in the vernacular of which he has not passed, must pass in the latter language, according to the Higher Standard, within one year from the date of his joining such appointment. On his failing so to do, a deduction of 10 per cent. will be made from his salary until he passes or is removed to a district the vernacular of which is different.*

8. Except for special reasons a Junior Civil Servant who has been appointed an Assistant Col-

The word "pay" as used in the rules of 1871 was not intended to be construed, as in the Civil Service Regulations, as meaning substantive pay only, but to include acting allowance.

District Magistrates should submit promptly their recommendations for the grant of magisterial powers to Junior Civil Servants under the Resolutions of the Government of India, Nos. 377, dated 20th January 1871, and 2990, dated 17th June 1871. (G. R., J. D., No. 2841, dated 7th April 1897.)

lector will not receive permanent charge of a taluka, or be invested with the powers of a Magistrate of the Second Class, until he has passed the Departmental Examination, Lower Standard, or the part consisting of Judicial, Revenue and Miscellaneous subjects.

9. Except for special reasons, a Junior Civil Servant will not be appointed to be or act as Second Assistant Collector or Assistant Judge and Sessions Judge, or be invested with the powers of a First Class Magistrate, until he has passed the Departmental Examination, Higher Standard, or the part consisting of Judicial, Revenue and Miscellaneous subjects.

10. A Junior Civil Servant desirous of entering the Judicial branch of the Service may, on application made to the Secretary to the Central Committee for Departmental Examinations, one month before the date of the Departmental Examination, Higher Standard, be examined in an extra paper relating to judicial matters as hereinafter provided. The Junior Civil Servant will not, by passing in this paper, bind himself to enter the Judicial branch, but he will be freed from obligation to pass any other examination in judicial matters.

11. Substantive promotions to the grade of Second Assistant Collector as also officiating promotions to this as well as the grade of First Assistant Collector will, under ordinary circumstances, be regulated according to the date of passing the Higher Standard Departmental Examination. Passing the Departmental Examination, however, will not entitle to promotion any one whose conduct is not otherwise satisfactory. The names of officers holding the substantive appointments of First and Second Assistant Collectors will be printed in the Civil List in the order of their seniority in the service.*

12. A Junior Civil Servant will not be entitled to travelling allowance for attending the examination unless the Central Committee for Departmental Examinations, or the Sub-Committee for Vernacular Examinations of the Central Committee, as the case may be, shall certify that his proficiency was such as to entitle him to the allowance †.

* Rule 11 will be strictly enforced in every case, and no departure from that ruling will be permitted for any cause whatever. Due notice should be given by the Collector under whom he is placed, to every young Civilian joining the service in this Presidency, that his prospects of promotion during the early portion of his career will materially depend upon the passing by him of the prescribed examinations with the least possible delay, and his particular attention should be invited to Rule 11 and to this order. (G. R. No. 4093, dated 6th August 1880.)

Rule 11 constitutes an exception to the ordinary principle of seniority in order to furnish officers with an additional motive for passing their examinations quickly. The principle should not be carried further than is distinctly stated in the rules. (G. R. No. 2309, dated 24th March 1897.)

† Note.—The practice of the Central Committee is to refuse certificates for travelling allowances to candidates who obtain less than a half of the minimum number of marks required to pass.

13. Half-yearly examinations of Junior Civilians and others who may be permitted to appear shall be held at Bombay or Poona, under the supervision of the Central Committee for Departmental Examination, on 1st April and 1st October, or such other dates as may be notified to the examinees by order of the President. Examinations in languages only are also held before the Sub-Committee for Vernacular Examinations of the Central Committee.

14. The Central Committee for Departmental Examinations will consist of the Chief Secretary to Government, or such other officer as may be nominated by Government as President, the Secretary or Under Secretary to Government in the Revenue Department, the Accountant General, his Deputy or Assistant, the Registrar of the High Court, and the Oriental Translator to Government, who shall also be Secretary, and such other members as Government may from time to time appoint. The Inspector-General of Registration and Stamps will be an ex-officio member of the Committee for the purpose of preparing questions relating to the Indian Registration and Stamp Acts and the rules framed thereunder.

15. (a) There shall be two standards of qualification—the Lower and Higher. The Lower Standard must be passed before a candidate can present himself for examination according to the Higher Standard.

(b) The examination in the case of both the Lower and Higher Standards, consists of two parts (I) Language and (II) Judicial, Revenue and Miscellaneous subjects. It is optional for a Junior Civil Servant to appear for both of these parts at the same time or separately for either.

(c) It will not be necessary for a native Junior Civil Servant to undergo the language part of the examinations by the Lower and Higher Standards.

LOWER STANDARD.

(See Appendix A.)

16. The principal object of the Lower Standard of examination shall be to test the candidate's proficiency in the vernacular language of the district. The further objects shall be to test his general acquaintance with the leading principles of Revenue Administration and Criminal Justice, and especially with so much of the Laws of Procedure as it is necessary for an officer to know in order to exercise properly the functions of an Assistant Collector and Subordinate Magistrate, and his power of dealing with conflicting arguments and evidence. With these objects the following scheme of examination is laid down:—

1. Papers and questions are to be proposed to the candidate for the purpose of ascertaining his knowledge of the language of the district.

EXAMINATIONS.]

2. Papers on Revenue and Judicial questions are to be answered without reference to any books, except the text (without commentary) of Regulations and Acts and the printed rules for administration of revenue survey settlements, and such other books of reference as may be prescribed by the Central Committee. These questions will be so framed as not to involve difficult and rare points, or recollection of forms, dates, &c., but must be sufficient to test the candidate's general knowledge of the subject of examination. The Indian Evidence Act will also be a subject of examination, and questions in it are to be answered without books. (G. N. dated 31st May 1872; vide G. R. No. 2618 of the same date.)

Note.—The Notification of 31st May 1872, prescribing a separate paper without books on the Indian Evidence Act, is applicable both to the Ordinary and Special Lower Standard Departmental Examinations. (G. R. No. 2755, dated 6th April 1883.)

3. (a) The candidate is to be required to answer ordinary questions showing a general acquaintance with the principles and system of Huzúr, Táluka and Village Accounts as given in Hope's* Manual, and of Treasury and Local Fund Accounts as given in the Civil Account Code, Vol. I, and the Pay and Acting Allowance Code.

(b) The candidate shall produce a certificate from the Collector of the district that he has duly attended to and satisfactorily discharged the duties of Treasury Officer for a period of not less than six weeks in the twelve months immediately preceding the examination. No candidate shall be declared as passed without such certificate (G. Ns. Nos. 2036 dated 28th March 1882, and 1128 dated 6th February 1884).

Note.—If a Junior Civilian, who has been in charge of a District Treasury for six weeks in January and February, or February and March, passes the Lower Standard Departmental Examination in April, he can present himself for examination in the following October, and pass it without being required to hold charge of a District Treasury for another period of six weeks in the interval between the two examinations. (G. R. No. 424, dated 16th January 1885.)

4. With a view of testing the power of the candidate in dealing with conflicting arguments and evidence, a decided case which he has never before seen (from a Magistrate's record) of the nature of those which come before Assistants in charge of districts, is to be placed before him, the final proceeding in the case being withdrawn, as also any English translations or summary. The papers may then be read over to the candidate by a native officer, and the explanation of any difficult word or phrase asked for and given in the vernacular, the circumstance being on each occasion noted. The candidate may make notes as the record is read over. Finally, he must write out in English a summary of the evidence of each witness and his decision upon the question or questions at issue, with a sufficient statement of the grounds on which it is based. (G. R. No. 2075, dated 31st March 1877.)

HIGHER STANDARD.

(See Appendix A.)

17. The Higher Standard of Examination shall be similar in its nature to the Lower, but more difficult in degree. Its object shall be to test the fitness of the candidate to transact creditably the ordinary business of a Collector and Magistrate, and the examination will be conducted in conformity with the following scheme:—

1. The candidate must show an unimpaired acquaintance with the vernacular of the district, the papers selected as tests being of a more difficult description than those in the former examination. The candidate's power of explaining himself clearly in the vernacular is to be tested by an argument of some difficulty such as may occur in official business.

2. Questions of law and practice are to be selected from the whole range of the duties of a Collector and Magistrate, and arranged in two classes: one comprehending important and leading points, in answering which no books shall be allowed, and the other comprehending less general and less common points, in answering which the assistance of books shall be allowed. (No guides, digests, or summaries, however, are to be used, but only the original laws, circular orders, and interpretations, with rules relative to different departments printed by authority). The object of this class of questions is to test the candidate's capacity readily to find the law or practice in the less common points which arise in business. It is not to evoke subtlety or ingenuity, but merely to ascertain whether or not the acquisitions of the person examined are such as to enable him fitly to perform the important functions of a Magistrate and Collector.

3. A magisterial case is to be selected from those possessing enough of complexity to test the candidate's ability to master all ordinary difficulties, and especially to test his power of minute attention to and just appreciation of evidence, and his knowledge of one or two nice points connected with native custom. The course laid down in sub-para. 4 of the preceding paragraph should be adopted. (G. R. No. 2075, dated 31st March 1877.)

4. The candidate is to be examined relative to revenue administration, and especially the principles of a survey settlement, and the rules laid down for the guidance of Revenue officers in connection therewith. A special paper on subjects connected with survey and settlement will be set by the Survey Commissioner and will include questions on the subjects dealt with in (1) the Survey and Settlement Manual, (2) the Land Revenue Code, Chapters VIII, IX and X, and the rules under Section 214 of the Code relating to the provisions of those chapters together with all recent orders and rulings* of Government on the subject of survey and settlement; (3) the latest Red Letter Chapter in the General Administration Report of the Bombay Presidency on the character of Land Tenures and system of Survey and Settlements, and (4) Government Resolution No. 2619 of 16th March 1884. (G. Rs. Nos. 4958, dated 27th August 1881, and 159, dated 8th January 1894.)

Note.—Government do not consider it necessary at present that candidates for the Higher Standard Examination other than Junior Civilians should be examined in the paper on Revenue Survey and Settlement matters. (G. R. No. 1530, dated 7th March 1882.)

5. The candidate is to be tested in the Penal Code, the Criminal Procedure Code, the Police Acts, the Summary Settlement Acts, the District Municipal Act, the Salt Act, the Watan Act, the Opium Act, the Forest Act, the A'bkári Act, the Bombay Revenue Code, the Local Boards Act, and other Acts and Regulations commonly referred to in practice. (G. Rs. Nos. 2313, dated 25th March 1886, and 7841 dated 16th November 1887.)

6. (a) The candidate is to be required to show his knowledge of the accounts of a Collectorate, whether Village, Táluka, or Huzúr, and to have a satisfactory general acquaintance with the subjects treated of in Mr. Hope's† Manual, and with the whole system of Treasury and Local Fund Accounts prevailing in the Presidency as given in the Civil Accounts Code Vol. I., and the Pay and Acting Allowance Code.

(Note.—Vide note below clause 3, rule 36, supra.)

7. He will also be examined in Mr. Field's Law of Evidence in British India, the examination being limited to the part which deals with general principles only, and the Indian Evidence Act and the Indian Contract Act (Nos. I and IX of

8. The candidate will be examined in a paper in subjects connected with the Indian Registration Act, the Indian Stamp Act and the rules laid down thereunder. (G. N. No. 7841, dated 16th November 1887.)

18. The extra paper on judicial matters described in Rule 10 will consist of questions on the following subjects :—

The Civil Procedure Code,
The Law of Limitations,
The Law of Contracts,
The Law of Evidence,
The Specific Relief Act,
The Indian Succession Act,
The Principles of Hindu Law, and

The leading cases decided by the Bombay High Court.

(G. R. No. 2313, dated 25th March 1886.)

The marks obtained in answering this extra paper will be reckoned towards the Junior Civil Servants' passing the Departmental Examination, Higher Standard, provided the minimum in all other branches of examination has been duly attained.

Local Committees.

19. On application made one month previous to the ordinary date of an examination, Local Committees will be appointed for the examination of candidates stationed in the Province of Sind, the Persian Gulf, or Arabia.

20. The Central Committee for Departmental Examination will fix the half-yearly examination days. If local examinations are sanctioned, they must be held on the same days. The Central Committee shall prepare beforehand for each examination sets of questions, a sufficient number of copies of each of which sets shall be forwarded to each Local Committee in a sealed packet, not to be opened until the moment of examination. The Central Committee shall, subject to the general control of Government, frame rules for the general guidance of the Local Committees, in order to ensure a fair and uniform method of fixing the degree of attainment upon each point of examination.

21. * The Local Examination Committee will consist of the Chief Judicial and Chief Revenue Officer of the District, the senior of whom shall be

President, and the other members shall consist of one experienced native officer from the Judicial, another from the Revenue branch of the service and a third from the Educational Department. When the Chief Judicial or Chief Revenue Officer is unable to attend, an experienced Assistant or Subordinate will perform his duties as member of the Committee.

22. The Local Examination Committee will conduct the examinations and, after due deliberation in respect of each candidate examined, will record the result so far as regards the points on which their report is due, and the President shall transmit the record to the Central Examination Committee. The President will be responsible for the fairness, impartiality, and proper strictness of the examination. The written answers of the candidates and the other papers written by them either in the vernacular or in English shall be forwarded with the record.

Results of Examinations.

23. The Central Examination Committee shall report to Government the names of such candidates as have successfully passed.

Hindustani and Vernacular Examinations.

24. Examinations in languages only are also held before a Sub-Committee for Vernacular Examinations of the Central Committee for Departmental Examinations, consisting of the Secretary or Under Secretary to Government in the Revenue Department, the Oriental Translator and two other members appointed by Government, the Oriental Translator being the Secretary.

25. The Sub-Committee will meet at Bombay or Poona quarterly on such date as they may appoint for examination of Junior Civil Servants and others who are desirous of being examined in any of the vernaculars of the Presidency. Civil Servants and others desirous of being examined in Sindhi are examined in that language by a Branch Committee at Karachi.

26. The standards by which the Sub-Committee for Vernacular Examinations examines are the Lower and Higher Standards, except in the case of Hindustani, the examination in which shall contain the following exercises :—

(1) Translation viva voce into English from a fairly written Hindustani letter or petition—60.

(2) Written translation into Hindustani from an ordinary English narrative or from a letter or petition or a Government order or regulation—120.

(3) Conversation on ordinary subjects including commercial, revenue and magisterial matters, to test the candidate's capability of understanding and making himself understood in a conversation on such subjects—35.

[EXAMINATIONS.]

27. An officer of any Department who has passed before the Civil and Military Examination Committee an examination in any language shall not be required under these rules to undergo any examination in the same language by an equivalent or inferior standard before the Central Committee for Departmental Examinations or the Sub-Committee for Vernacular Examinations. For the purpose of this rule the Higher Standard Examination in Arabic, Maráthi, Gujaráti or Kánarese conducted by the Civil and Military Examination Committee, shall be deemed to be of equal difficulty with the Higher Standard Test in the same language to be passed before the Departmental or Vernacular Examination Committee.

Note 1.—A candidate who obtains at least one-half of the marks under each head and at least 60 per cent. of the aggregate in the subjects offered in either part of the examination will be considered to have passed in that part, unless the Central Committee for special reasons reported see fit to rule otherwise.

Note 2.—The following are the heads under which the subjects of examination are arranged, each head being considered as one subject when calculating the minimum marks entitling a candidate to pass:—

In the Lower Standard.

Part I.

I.—Languages, Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

Part II.

II.—Judicial, Nos. 1 and 2.

III.—Revenue, No. 3.

IV.—Accounts, No. 4.

In the Higher Standard.

Part I.

I.—Languages, Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

Part II.

II.—Judicial, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5.

III.—Revenue, Nos. 6 and 7.

IV.—Revenue and Survey Settlement, No. 8.

V.—Accounts, Nos. 9 and 10.

Note 3.—Any candidate for the Lower or the Higher Standard Departmental Examination who obtains the minimum qualifying marks out of the aggregate total for all the subjects, and passes in all the subjects but one, will not be obliged to present himself again for examination except in the subject in which he may have failed, but he will not be declared to have fully passed until he has successfully undergone examination in every subject: provided that the candidate must, in order to have the benefit of this rule, come up and pass at the next ensuing examination in the one subject in which he may have failed.

Note 4.—The papers for translation from English and into English will be of a general literary character, while the vivā voce examination will be devoted to subjects more immediately connected with the Department in which the candidate is serving.

(G. N., G. D., dated 12th July 1871, and G. R. No. 405, dated 18th January 1898.)

2. Kánarese must be held to be the vernacular of the Belgaum Collectorate for the purposes of the examination rules of Junior Civilians. (G. R. No. 1120, dated 15th March 1862.)

[EXAMINATIONS.]

3. When a Junior Civilian is transferred to a district in the vernacular language of which he has not passed, he should be distinctly informed of his obligation to pass, and the Account Department should see that the penalties under the rules for the examination of Junior Civil Servants are duly enforced in cases of default. (G. R. No. 30, dated 3rd January 1866.)

4. The dates on which Civil Servants pass the Departmental Examinations should be notified in the Government Gazette. (G. R. No. 1388, dated 8th April 1867.)

5. It should be a rule that all officers, whether Uncovenanted or Military, who are called on to perform the duties usually performed by Covenanted Civilians should be required to pass the same Departmental Examinations. (G. I., H. D., No. 2584, dated 7th June 1869; vide G. R., G. D., No. 1573, dated 2nd July 1869.)

6. Three spare copies of the examination papers of the Junior Civil Servants should be sent to each Collector for the use of any young Civil Servant who may be sent to study. (G. R. No. 4171, dated 28th September 1869.)

7. The printing of 200 copies of the examination papers set to Junior Civil Servants is sanctioned. No copies should be furnished gratis; a price should be fixed, and all copies applied for should be sold at that price. (G. R. No. 1615, dated 29th March 1880.)

8. Revenue Commissioners are authorized to dispose of applications from Junior Civilians and others for permission to appear for examination before the Central Committee for Vernacular Examination. (G. R. No. 4926, dated 13th October 1870.)

9. It is not considered advisable to lay down any precise rule regarding the time that should be spent in study before a Junior Civilian is permitted to appear before the Committee for Departmental Examination, especially as the requirements of the public service frequently render it necessary that men should qualify with as little delay as possible. (G. R. No. 5553, dated 20th October 1874.)

The following extract from a letter No. 2483, dated 9th October 1874, from the Collector of Surat, Mr. (now Sir) T. C. Hope, were circulated to all Collectors:—

"2. The system which I have followed with the numerous Junior Civilians who have in the past seven years been placed under me on their first arrival from Europe has been as follows.

"3. Hindustani is first attended to, and they usually pass in it by the end of January or beginning of February. They then at once join my camp in the districts and remain with me till June. They go through with me in that time the jamabandi of one taluka, and about five talukas' treasury examinations; they inspect boundary marks test rayats' receipt-books, and visit Local Fund works in progress. They also see the whole of the English correspondence of my office, and correct and initial drafts and fair copies. I get them, assist me with very minor routine vernacular papers, examine Subordinate Magistrates' returns, and read the records generally. During the monsoon they try as many third class criminal cases as they are able, and have charge of the treasury for a month or six weeks.

"4. Having thus seen some actual work in all branches, they pass their First Departmental Examination in October, not unfrequently with credit. I always discourage their attempting the First Departmental in April, because I consider it simply impossible for any one to acquire by that time the practical knowledge which that standard requires."

(G. M. No. 5627, dated 23rd October 1874.)

10. For the purpose of qualifying in vernacular languages, a Junior Civilian may be deemed to be one who has not completed ten years' service.
(G. R. No. 7611, dated 27th December 1876.)

11. Government are opposed to the grant of any special exemption from the general rule requiring candidates to pass before the Central Committee, and in future Local Committees for examinations in vernacular languages will not be granted. (G. R. No. 6695, dated 18th December 1880, and G. R. No. 885, dated 11th February 1881.)

12. The rules for the examination of Junior Civil Servants should not be substantially modified without reference to the Secretary of State. (S. of S. No. 7, Public, dated 14th April 1881.)

13. The following amended rules for the encouragement of the study of Oriental languages among the Junior Members of the Bombay Civil Service have been substituted for those notified under date the 17th July 1868 and are published for general information, together with extracts* from the Civil Leave Code relating to these examinations, and with a detailed list of authorized text books. These rules will come into force from 1st July 1882.

1. The rules published in the Bombay Government Gazette of the 23rd July 1868, Part I, pages 682-3, are cancelled.

3. No Civil Servant will be permitted to present himself for examination by two standards of the same language simultaneously, but he may have the option of competing for the higher examinations in any languages without first undergoing any inferior test.

4. No Civil Servant will ordinarily be permitted to appear more than twice as a candidate at any examination, but, if a special recommendation be made by the Examiners, a candidate will be allowed to appear a third time.

5. No Civil Servant will be allowed any pecuniary reward for passing the Higher Standard, High Proficiency or Honour Examinations, after the expiration of five, ten and fifteen years, respectively, counted from the date of his first arrival in India. No exception to this rule will be made on account of leave or any other cause. Civil Servants may be permitted to attend the examinations after the expiration of the periods specified in this rule, but no reward will be granted to them if they pass; and their leave must be limited to such time as may be necessary to enable them to attend the examination, and no extra expense must, under any circumstances, be caused to the State. In such cases it will be within the competence of the Local Government to refuse applications for permission to attend any particular examination when compliance with such applications would involve inconvenience to the public service. Civil Servants who pass the examinations after the expirations of the periods specified will be entitled, however, to the usual certificate or diploma declaring the successful result of the examination.

6. Civil Servants who may have passed examinations under any former rule shall not be eligible to compete at corresponding examinations in the same language or languages under the rules now passed.

7. Civil Servants who are natives of India and who have entered the service either by competition in England or by appointment under the Statutory Rules, shall not receive the donations prescribed in these rules when such native Civilians pass in the vernacular of the district in which they were born or educated, Government determining in each case what languages come within this definition. Probationers under the Statutory Rules shall not be allowed to appear at these examinations.

8. The Civil and Military Examination Committee will meet on the first Monday in every

The Committee will also hold special meetings whenever directed to do so, either by His Excellency the Governor or the Commander-in-Chief, for the examination of any candidate or candidates who cannot attend during the regular monthly meetings.* Should the 1st of January fall on a Monday, the examination will be held on the following day. Civil Servants desirous of attending examinations must apply to Government for leave to do so at least three months before the date of examination. When a Covenanted Civilian who has been granted permission to appear for examination does not propose to avail himself of such permission he should intimate his change of mind to the Civil and Military Examination Committee at least ten days before the date of examination, so as to save unnecessary trouble to the Examiners.

EXTRACTS FROM THE CIVIL SERVICE REGULATIONS.

Examination Leave.

The following extracts from the Civil Service Regulations are given for purposes of easy reference :—

Art. 313.—Examination leave may be affixed or prefixed to privilege leave provided that privi-

EXAMINATIONS.]

leave prefixed to the three months' examination leave under clause (d) of Article 314 must be spent in, or in the journey to, one of the appropriate countries mentioned in that clause, and that privilege leave may not be granted in continuation of the month's leave after examination admissible under Article 314, clause (b). Except as herein provided, no kind of leave, except furlough on medical certificate, may be granted in continuation of examination leave.

Art. 314:

- (a) In cases not specially provided in clauses (b), (c) and (d) of this article, permission to appear at optional examination in any of the Oriental languages prescribed by Government carries with it the grant of joining time (excluding the time allowed for preparation) to and from the place of examination, besides leave for the day or days of examination.
- (b) A candidate for a reward by the Higher Standard in Arabic or for High Proficiency in Arabic or Persian, may be allowed leave for one month, and, if he passes, for another month after it.
- (c) The whole period, or two months' leave authorized by clause (b), may be prefixed to the examination if the candidate undertakes to spend it in study under professional tuition at a Presidency town.
- (d) An officer who is a candidate for the Degree of Honour in Arabic or Persian may be allowed, instead of the leave for two months provided in clause (c), leave for three months to Persia for Persian; and to Arabia, Mesopotamia, Egypt or Syria for Arabic.

Art. 315.—An officer on leave under the preceding article has a lien on his appointment, substantive or officiating, and is entitled to leave allowances as if he were on privilege leave, for an aggregate maximum period of twelve months.

(G. N., G. D., No. 1032, dated 21st March 1882.)

14. A Civilian who receives the reward for High Proficiency in any vernacular language will be considered to be exempt from passing any other obligatory examination in that language. (G. R., G. D., No. 1621, dated 29th August 1868.)

15. The candidate for examination in Oriental languages must be able to read whatever is given to him. The handwriting given to be deciphered will not necessarily be bad.

A candidate who has passed for High Proficiency may go up for Honours.

The Committee has power to recommend that a certificate of High Proficiency be given to an unsuccessful candidate for Honours if he comes up to that standard, and provided the period of service required for High Proficiency be not exceeded.

(G. R., G. D., No. 1890, dated 13th October 1863.)

[EXAMINATIONS.]

16. The donations prescribed in the rules for the encouragement of the study of Oriental languages amongst the Junior Members of the Bombay Civil Service are not assignable to a Civilian for passing in the vernacular language of the district in which he was born or educated. The Local Government will determine in each case what languages come within the above definition. In the above ruling, natives in the usual acceptation of the term are alone referred to. Doubtful cases as they arise may be referred to the Government of India for orders. (G. I., H. D., Nos. 5501, dated 14th December 1871, 1658, dated 6th April 1872, and 1814, dated 8th November 1881; vide G. Ns., G. D., dated 3rd January 1872 and 13th April 1872, and G. R., G. D., No. 3929, dated 21st November 1881.)

17. The particulars to be stated in the inscriptions on medals awarded to candidates for passing the degree of honour examinations in the vernacular languages should be—

- (1) the name and official rank of the officer passing the examination,
- (2) the language in which the examination is passed, and
- (3) the date on which it is passed.

If information on all the points specified is invariably given in the reports of the results of these examinations, the necessary communication will be made to the Mint Master from the Financial Department of the Secretariat, from which orders about the supply of medals are issued. (G. R., F. D., No. 420, dated 7th February 1885.)

18. Young Civilians studying languages cannot be granted leave to reside in Bombay without the special orders of Government. (G. R., F. D., No. 1256, dated 4th April 1891.)

19. The following Regulations under which a limited number of members of the Covenanted Civil Service will be permitted to present themselves for examination in the Russian language while on furlough are, with the approval of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, published for information :—

1. The Civil Service Commissioners will hold examinations in London twice a year, commencing on the first Tuesday in April and the third Tuesday in October, for the purpose of examining officers in Russian.

2. Officers who obtain 5 of the total marks will be noted in their record of service as 'Passed' in Russian, and those who obtain 8 will be noted as qualified to be interpreters in Russian.

3. The maximum marks allotted at this examination will be 800, divided as follows :—

4. Applications for permission to appear at these examinations must be made to the Government of India, in the Home Department—(a) in the case of an officer directly under the Government of India, through the Department in which he is serving; and (b) by an officer under a Local Government or Administration, through the Local Government or Administration to which he is subordinate. Applications must not be made to the India Office in London.

5. Such permission will be granted to a limited number of officers only, and to no one who has not to his credit a sufficient amount of furlough to enable him to complete the full course of study and appear for the final examination within its limit. The whole time so passed will be treated as part of the furlough taken, and the officer will be entitled to furlough pay during it. The Government of India reserves to itself full discretion to grant or withhold permission in any case.

6. Any officer who proves his possession of sufficient elementary knowledge of Russian by scoring not less than 200 marks (25 of the total) at one of the examinations held by the Civil Service Commissioners for the purpose of examining officers in foreign languages, or passes one of the preliminary examinations in Russian held in India, will be permitted to proceed from England to Russia for a further course of study of the Russian language.

7. On starting for Russia he may be granted an advance of pay not exceeding 35 days' furlough pay and also not exceeding £ 100. Such advance will only be granted to an officer who draws his furlough pay from the India Office and will be recovered in instalments spread over eight months after his arrival in Russia.

8. Shortly after his arrival in Russia he shall report to the India Office his address and the date of his entering Russia. Any subsequent change of his address shall likewise be reported.

9. The period to be spent in Russia shall not be less than eight months. As special value is attached to a lengthened stay in Russia, he shall not present himself for final examination till one year after passing the elementary test either in England or India, and shall not be permitted to attend any intermediate examination held by the Civil Service Commissioners.

10. Two months before his final examination, he shall notify to the India Office the address in England to which his order for examination should be sent by the Civil Service Commissioners.

11. He shall return to England a full week before his final examination, and shall report to the India Office in writing his arrival and the date of his quitting Russia.

12. If he succeeds at the final examination in qualifying to be an Interpreter in the Russian language, he shall receive a gratuity of £200 and a further consolidated sum of £32 or £42 in repayment of his travelling expenses to and from St. Petersburg or Moscow, as the case may be. The gratuity of £200 shall be paid only in cases where there has been the full term of residence in Russia for the purposes of study. No grant on account of travelling expenses shall be made to an officer who fails to qualify to be an Interpreter, but he may earn the gratuity and the consolidated sum for travelling expenses if he succeeds at any subsequent examination in qualifying to be an Interpreter.

13. Whether successful or not at the final examination, he shall rejoin in India within two months from the date on which it began, unless his leave or furlough extends beyond that period. If, however, his leave has been granted under medical certificate it will be necessary for him as usual to obtain a certificate that he is in a fit state of health to return to his duty.

14. An officer shall be entitled to count as Indian duty for promotion and pension, but not as service for furlough, the period of eight months spent in Russia. (G. L., H. D., Ns. Nos. 2429, dated 19th December 1889, and 8, dated 5th February 1891; vide G. Rs. Nos. 157, dated 9th January 1890, and 1454, dated 23rd February 1891.)

20. In the Military Department each candidate permitted to proceed to Russia for the study of the Russian language is required to furnish a certificate from his Commanding Officer or from the Head of the Department in which he is serving, that "his character as a soldier and the nature of his services are such as to make it likely that he would be employed as a Russian Interpreter, or as a Staff or Regimental Officer on the frontier or in the field." No such certificate has been exacted as regards Indian Civil Servants, but full discretion is reserved to the Government of India by the Regulations of December 1889 to grant or withhold permission in any case.

In future the spirit of the rule in force in the Military Department should be applied to civil candidates, and leave to proceed to Russia under the Regulations should be granted only to officers who seem likely to be employed, before their active service comes to an end, in situations where a knowledge of Russian may be of real advantage to the State. (S. of S. No. 116 (Public), dated 29th November 1894; vide G. R. No. 1135, dated 11th February 1895.)

In view of the foregoing orders of the Secretary of State, the Government of India will closely scrutinize applications from officers of the Indian Civil Service for permission to present themselves for examination in Russian, and will be very sparing in the grant of permission, especially to officers who have had more than 12 years' service, or who have elected for the Judicial Branch of the service. (G. I., H. D., No. 1-Examn. 19, dated 24th January 1895; vide G. R. No. 1135, dated 11th February 1895.)

II.—DEPUTY COLLECTORS.

1. Every person appointed to be or act as Deputy Collector (without having passed the Departmental Examinations prescribed for graduates and non-graduates) is required to pass the Departmental Examination, Higher Standard (prescribed for Junior Civil Servants) within one year from date of taking charge, or at the first examination held after the expiration of one year from such date. On failure so to pass, a deduction of 10 per cent. shall be made from his salary until he shall have passed the examination. Until the above examination shall be passed, the person appointed will be shown in the Civil Lists as a probationer, and on failure so to pass within two years from the date of nomination he will forfeit his appointment. (G. N., G. D., dated 12th July 1871.)

Note.—This rule is applicable to Deputy Collectors in Sind (G. R. Nos. 1195, dated 22nd February 1882, and 4544, dated 25th July 1887).

2. The Honourable the Governor in Council is pleased to make the following modifications in the existing rules in so far as they are applicable to the Departmental Examination of native candidates according to the Higher Standard:—

1. No marks shall be allowed to a native candidate for his knowledge of any vernacular language whatever, and if a native candidate satisfactorily performs the exercises constituting the other three subjects, viz., II. Judicial, III. Revenue, and IV. Accounts, and obtains the requisite number of marks for them, he will be declared to have passed the examination; but, if his English composition be found to be indifferent, he shall on no account be declared qualified although his replies to questions be substantially correct.

2. If a native be appointed to a district the vernacular of which is different from his own, he will have to undergo an examination in the language of the district in the same manner as a Covenanted Civil Servant is required to do under Rule VII (of the rules for the examination of Junior Civil Servants). This examination will, however, be quite distinct from, and independent of, his Departmental Examination.

Note.—This rule is to be enforced in the case of substantive pro-tem. or acting holders of the appointment also. (G. R. No. 7745, dated 29th September 1892.)

3. No candidate for whom the passing of the Departmental Examination is not compulsory shall be allowed to appear more than twice, and that, also, not before the expiration of an interval of two years from the date of the first failure.

4. In the case of candidates of the above description, a certificate of having passed the examination shall hold good only for five years from the date of passing, and after the expiration of that period it will be necessary to undergo the examination afresh, unless in the meantime the candidate shall have obtained an appointment as Deputy Collector. (G. N. dated 20th August 1873; vide G. R. No. 4021, dated 15th July 1873.)

For the purpose of the foregoing rules, Eurasian candidates are native candidates. (G. R. No. 1936, dated 25th March 1882.)

3. His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that Rules 1 and 2 published in Government Notification dated 20th August 1873, disallowing the examination of natives in the vernacular languages at their Departmental Examination according to the Higher Standard, should be made applicable in the case of native candidates appearing for Departmental Examination according to the Lower Standard. (G. N. dated 3rd March 1874; vide G. R. No. 1135 of the same date.)

4. A Deputy Collector, who is appointed to and joins his appointment in a district of which the vernacular is not his own language, must be required, irrespective of the length of his previous service, to pass in the vernacular of that district within one year from the date of his joining his appointment, and if he fails to do so, the deduction prescribed in the last part of Rule 7 of the rules for the examination of Junior Civil Servants and others, should be made from his pay. (G. R. No. 1057, dated 9th February 1889.)

5. The Assistant and Native Assistant to the Commissioner, N. D., should be required to pass in Maráthi if Gujaráti is their mother tongue or in Gujaráti if Maráthi is their native language. In the same way, the Assistant and Native Assistant to the Commissioner, S. D., should be required to pass in Kánarese if Maráthi is their native language, or in Maráthi if Kánarese is their mother tongue.

It is desirable that the Personal Assistant to the Director of Land Records and Agriculture should be acquainted with the three vernacular languages of the Presidency Proper, but in any case it is essential that he should be thoroughly conversant with Maráthi and Gujaráti. He should, therefore, be required to pass in whichever of the two latter languages is not his mother tongue.

The Alienation Assistant to the Commissioner, C. D., need not be required to pass an examination in those languages.

EXAMINATIONS.]

In the case of the Uncovenanted Assistant Commissioner in Sind, a knowledge of Sindhi is all that need be insisted upon. (G. Rs. Nos. 2500, dated 30th March 1889, and 3474, dated 11th May 1889.)

6. The Personal Assistant to the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bhári need not be called upon to pass the Departmental Examination prescribed for Deputy Collector so long as he holds the post of Personal Assistant, but must pass in Gujaráti if Maráthi is his mother tongue or in Maráthi if Gujaráti is his own language. (G. R. No. 3076, dated 26th April 1889.)

7. The Deputy Collector who enters the service by passing the competitive examination should be required to pass the same tests as Junior Civilians, viz., the Higher and Lower Standard Departmental Examinations.

The probationary Deputy Collectors should be required actually to hold charge of the treasury. The treasury work is not likely to suffer, as they have the permanent Treasury Officer to refer to in case of any difficulty. (G. Rs. Nos. 4852, dated 29th June 1897, and 5920, dated 10th August 1897).

III.—MÁMLATDÁRS AND AGRICULTURAL INSPECTORS.

1. In the Northern Division, in making probationary and substantive appointments to the post of Mámlatdár, candidates who have a knowledge of both Gujaráti and Maráthi will ordinarily be selected in preference to those who do not possess such knowledge. In the Central and Southern Divisions, candidates who have a knowledge of both Maráthi and Kanarese will similarly have a preferential claim.

2. Every Mámlatdár will be required to pass, within a year of his first substantive appointment, an examination before the Central Examination Committee in one vernacular language of the Division other than his own vernacular, unless he shall have already done so before obtaining a substantive appointment.

3. Failure to comply with Rule 2 will entail stoppage of promotion, and a deduction of 10 per cent. from the pay of defaulters. (G. R. No. 4406, dated 23rd May 1892.)

4. It is not necessary that Mahálkaris should come under the foregoing rules, as they are most rarely transferred from a district with the vernacular of which they are conversant to one in which they are ignorant of the language. The case, however, as regards Agricultural Inspectors is different and the rules should be held to apply to them equally with Mámlatdárs. The Commissioners, however, should endeavour, as far as possible, to post such of these officers as are called upon under the rules to pass in a second language to stations where there are facilities for acquiring it.

Certificates of qualification in a language given by Collectors cannot be allowed to hold good under the rules. The only certificate which can be accepted is that of the Central Committee for Vernacular Examinations. (G. R. Nos. 1304, dated 15th February 1893.)

IV.—HEAD ACCOUNTANTS.

1. No person shall be held eligible for the post of Head Accountant who has not passed an examination in Revenue and Financial Accounts before the Central Committee at the time of the Departmental Examinations of Junior Civil Servants. The Committee shall set the papers in Hope's Forms, and the Accountant General a searching paper in the Financial Accounts.

In making the appointment of Head Accountants, selection shall be made, according to the date of passing the examination, from among the Deputy Accountants and other persons permitted to appear for the examination.

The examination shall be open to (1) Deputy Accountants, (2) those who hold or have been promoted from the position of Senior Clerk below the Deputy Accountant, (3) Local Fund Accountants, (4) Head Clerks to Collectors and (5) the Stamp and Opium Head Clerk in the Collector's Office, Ahmedabad.

Note.—It is left to the Collectors to decide whether, in making appointments of Deputy Accountants and Local Fund Accountants, preference should be given to men who have passed the examination for Head Accountants.

(G. Rs. Nos. 1418, dated 21st February 1893, and 4166, dated 21st June 1893.)

Service as Head Accountant, as Head Munshi to Commissioner, to Collector or Assistant Collectors, as Head Clerk to Commissioner or Collector, as Deputy Accountant, as Huzúr Accountant, as Kotwál, will be held to qualify for promotion to a Mukhtyárkarate in the same way as service as a Head Munshi to a Mukhtyárkar, i.e., a qualified officer upon passing the Lower Standard Examination becomes eligible for any of those appointments, and after six months' service in them can go up for the Higher Standard and thus qualify himself for promotion to a Mukhtyárkarate in the same way as if he had held a Head Munshiship. Existing incumbents of such offices are required to pass both Departmental Examinations if they wish to be promoted to the grade of Mukhtyárkar.
Special appointments qualifying in the same way as Head Munshiship for promotion to Mukhtyárkarate.

Any candidate who passes the Lower Standard Departmental Examination becomes qualified to be appointed a Magistrate of the Third Class, and any candidate who passes the Higher Standard becomes eligible, if otherwise duly qualified, to be appointed a Magistrate of the Second or First Class as may be recommended by the District Magistrate: provided that no Third Class Magistrate can be appointed a Magistrate, Second Class, until he has exercised the powers of a Third Class Magistrate for six months, and no Second Class Magistrate can be appointed a Magistrate of the First Class until he has exercised Second Class powers for not less than six months.

Note.—As these rules prescribe the ordinary Lower and Higher Standard tests in lieu of the more difficult Special Departmental Examinations prescribed under Government Resolution No. 6505, dated the 17th December 1878, it must be understood that an officer transferred or promoted from Sind to the Presidency Proper will be required to pass the Special Higher Standard Examination.

(G. Rs. Nos. 6840, dated 2nd October 1882, 4347, dated 2nd July 1888, 9864, dated 16th December 1892, and 1267, dated 14th February 1893.)

2. Candidates from Sind may be admitted to the Higher Standard Departmental Examination who are certified by the Commissioner in Sind. The Commissioner will grant certificates in accordance with the Rules of 2nd October 1882. (G. R. No. 1769, dated 2nd March 1883.)

3. The sanction of Government is not necessary to the exercise by the Commissioner in Sind of the power of exempting officers, under Clause 3 of Rule 1 of the foregoing rules, from passing the Departmental Examinations. (G. R. No. 3326, dated 6th May 1889.)

4. In view of the special requirements of Sind, the Commissioner in Sind is authorized to grant permission to selected officers of approved merit, employed in Departments other than the Revenue Department, to appear at the Revenue Departmental Examinations, subject to the condition that such officers on their passing the requisite examinations should not be appointed to posts of Mukhtyarkars unless they have served for at least six months in one of the appointments mentioned in Rule 12 of the rules of 2nd October 1882. (G. R. No. 3134, dated 1st May 1893.)

5. His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to lay down the following rules for the admission to, and promotion in, the Revenue Department of this Presidency of graduates* and non-graduates. These rules supersede all previous rules published on the subject since December 1878 :—

*“ Rules for the admission to, and promotion of,
* graduates and non-graduates in the Revenue Department.*

ORDINARY RULES OF THE REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

1. Before admission the educational test must be passed.

A first class certificate qualifies for admission into either English or vernacular offices ; a second class certificate, for admission to vernacular offices only.

2. After admission and after one year of probation the Subordinate Departmental Examination must be passed. Until it is passed all appointments are probationary.

3. The Departmental Examination, Lower Standard, is open to non-graduate officers of the Revenue Service on the following conditions :—

(a) That the candidate holds an appointment in the Revenue Department of which the salary is not less than Rs 20 per mensem ;

(c) Mahálkari ;

(d) Head Clerk to Commissioner or Collector ;

(e) Second Clerk to Commissioner or Collector ;

(f) Native Huzúr Accountant ;

(g) Deputy Chitnis or First Kárkun to Collector.

---

Revenue Department need not be only graduates of the Bombay University. Such restriction would be a needless and inexpedient limitation of the field of selection. But in selecting graduates for appointment to such posts, preference should be given to Bombay University graduates ceteris paribus. (G. R. No. 7742, dated 7th October 1895.)

* The term “graduate” or “graduates” wherever it occurs in these rules should be held to include “holders of a Diploma in Agriculture granted under the revised regulations.” (G. R. No. 2178, dated 26th March 1898.)

EXAMINATIONS.]

5. The following persons, not being graduates, but having passed the Departmental Examination, Lower Standard, will be admitted to the Higher Standard Departmental Examination, and on passing it shall have their names registered in order of passing on a supplementary list of non-graduates qualified for the appointment of Mám-latdár and be eligible to fill vacancies in the office of Mám-latdár either acting for short periods or, when no qualified graduate is available, permanently :—

(a) *Persons holding the offices of Clitnis or Head Clerk to a Commissioner or Collector (substantive) or District Agricultural Inspector or the Assistant District Inspector, Khándesh ;

(b) Any other officer of the Revenue Service of not less than 10 years' standing who may be recommended by a Commissioner on grounds of special merit and may thereon have been permitted by Government to appear for the Departmental Examination, Higher Standard.

Note 1—No other officer of the Revenue Department below the rank of Mám-latdár is entitled to appear for the Departmental Examination, Higher Standard.

Note 2.—Mám-latdárs appointed from the supplementary list will be eligible for promotion to Deputy Collectorships according to merit.

Note 3.—"Commissioner" in this part includes the Commissioner of Survey and Settlement.

PART II.

PRIVILEGES ACCORDED TO UNIVERSITY STANDING AND DEGREES.

6. Claims of candidates for admission to the Revenue Service shall be accorded preference in the following order in filling appointments of which the salary is Rs. 30 or less per mensem :—

(a) Graduates ;

(b) Candidates who have passed the First Examination for the Degree of B.A., or B.Sc., or in Civil Engineering; or †(the Final Examination of the Agricultural Class in the College of Science) ;

(c) Candidates who have passed the Previous Examination in Arts ;

(d) Candidates who have matriculated or who hold the 2nd year certificate of the Agricultural Class in a High School ;

(e) Candidates who hold a certificate of admission under the educational test.

Note.—When there are two or more candidates under the same head, the officer making the appointment shall decide which is the most eligible.

* Rule 5 (a) is not intended to apply to an officer holding the appointment of Police Head Clerk in a Commissioner's Office. (G. R. No. 5601, dated 15th August 1891.)

† These words have since been substituted by the words "the First Examination for the Diploma in Agriculture." (G. N. No. 2178, dated 26th March 1898.)

7. Promotion to appointments below that of Mámlatdár, except the appointments named in Part I, Rule 4, shall be regulated as follows:—

(a) In promoting to appointments of which the salary is Rs. 30 or less per mensem, the order of preference laid down in the last preceding rule shall be observed;

(b) In promoting to appointments of which the salary is over Rs. 30 per mensem, the following order of preference shall be observed:—

I.—Graduates and non-graduates who have passed the Departmental* Examination, Lower Standard, according to date of passing;

Note.—Except that graduates shall have a special claim to appointment to the places named in Rule 11 (a), (b), (c), during their probationary service under that rule.

II.—Graduates who have not passed the Departmental Examination, Lower Standard;

III.—Others.

8. Preferential promotion of unpassed graduates under Rule 7 means promotion in preference to unpassed non-graduates of similar standing in the service, and not exceptionally rapid promotion of a junior unpassed graduate as of right over the heads of non-graduate seniors of long and approved service.

9. Promotion to the appointments named in Part I, Rule 4, shall be regulated as follows:—

I.—Passed graduates and passed non-graduates shall be promoted to these appointments according to date of passing the Departmental* Examination, Lower Standard.

Note.—Except that passed graduates shall have a special claim to appointment to the office of Head Kárkun to a Mámlatdár during their probationary service under Rule 12.

II.—Unpassed men shall be promoted to these appointments only if, and for so long as, no passed officer is available.

10. All preferential claims to promotion are subject to the condition that the claimant has proved himself deserving thereof by efficiency and good conduct in his previous service.

11. Graduates who have been appointed to the service under Rule 6 will be admitted to the Lower Standard Departmental Examination after a period of 18 months' service, and during that period they must be employed—

(a) for six months on account duties in a Mámlatdár's kacheri;

(b) for six months doing duty as a Revenue Kárkun in a Mámlatdár's kacheri;

---

* If several graduates and non-graduates pass at the same examination, they shall take rank according to merit as shown by the number of marks obtained in the examination.

EXAMINATIONS.]

(c) for six months serving as a general duty Kárkún or Circle Inspector.

Note.—Graduates serving under this rule shall, as far as possible, be placed in the appointments named in (a), (b), (c).

If the Collector so directs, a portion of the service in (a) not exceeding three months may be in the Collector's Account Office.

12. Graduates after passing the Lower Standard Departmental Examination must serve for a further period of six months, after which they may appear for the Higher Standard Examination.

During this further period, graduates shall, as far as possible, hold the appointments of Head Kárkúns to Mámlatdárs, and be invested with powers as Magistrates of the Second or Third Class.

13. Graduates who have passed the Departmental Examination, Higher Standard, are eligible for appointment as Mámlatdárs, and have the first claim to vacancies in that office in order of seniority according to date of passing the examination, but subject to the conditions of Rule 10.

PART III.

GENERAL.

14. The Revenue Department for the purpose of these rules includes—

- (1) The Department of Land Revenue and General Administration;
- (2) The Revenue Survey Department.

15. If a graduate or non-graduate fails to pass the Lower Standard Departmental Examination after having been afforded three opportunities, or the Higher Standard Departmental Examination after having been afforded two opportunities of doing so, he will not be allowed to present himself for examination again, but may remain in the service in any appointment not reserved for officers who pass these examinations for which he may be deemed fit.

16. The standard of marks to be obtained in order to pass the Lower or Higher Departmental Examination shall be that from time to time in force for junior members of the Civil Service.

17. In fulfilment of the engagement made to graduates in 1878, these rules are guaranteed for four years from December 31st, 1885. After that period, non-graduates who pass the Departmental Examinations under the rules in Part I will be eligible to fill every third vacancy in the office of Mámlatdár in each division, in addition to the occasional appointments secured by the provisions of Part I, Rule 5.

18. Government reserve the right in very exceptional cases to sanction the promotion to Mámlats, without passing the Departmental Examinations, of old officers of the Revenue or Survey Departments who were already of long standing in the service when the passing of these examinations was first made a condition of advancement to that office, and who have proved their fitness while acting in the office of Māmlatdār or in other responsible posts.

(G. N. No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, and G. Rs. Nos. 3972, dated 9th June 1890, and 10036, dated 7th December 1891.)

6. Passing the Customs Departmental Examination does not exempt a candidate for employment in the higher grades of the Revenue Branch of the Public Service specified in Government Resolution No. 6505,* dated 17th December 1878, from passing the examination specified in paragraph 1 thereof. (G. R. No. 3565, dated 7th July 1879.)

* Superseded by G. R. No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885.

7. In the case of officers permitted to appear for the Higher Standard Examination without first passing the special Lower Standard Examination, the minimum aggregate number of marks required to pass should be 60 per cent. of the total: each candidate must obtain 50 per cent. of the marks in each subject, and a special paper should be added, corresponding to the special paper set in the Lower Standard Examination.

The higher standard of marks should be made absolute for all officers who are permitted to appear at the Higher Standard Examination without having passed the lower standard.

(G. R. No. 1766, dated 25th March 1881, and G. R. No. 4983, dated 29th August 1881.)

8. All persons, whether in the Government service or not in that service, who present themselves for examination at the Higher Standard Departmental Examination must, if they have not previously passed the prescribed Lower Standard Departmental Examination, qualify under the special or raised higher standard test before they can be declared to have passed the Higher Standard Departmental Examination. (G. R. No. 2525, dated 22nd March 1884.)

9. The official superiors of candidates who desire to pass the Special Higher and Lower Standard Examinations with the object of securing the benefit to which they give a title, should certify in each case what the objects are and what the position of the candidate is in regard to the special rules. The Committee will then examine him accordingly and report the result, or, if the statement of the official superior seems to contain grounds for doubting whether the candidate is proceeding correctly, can first refer to Government for orders. This is to be carefully acted in future by all concerned. (G. R. No. 1195, dated 22nd February 1882.)

10. The number of candidates for the Lower and Higher Standard Departmental Examinations from any given district and from any given office must be but small, and it is exceedingly inconvenient to hold intermediate examinations of this nature. The examination only lasts a few days and the Collector should make the best arrangements possible to carry on the work during those days in the absence of the candidates, and should not refuse permission to candidates to appear on the score that their services cannot be dispensed with for even so brief a period. (G. R. No. 2132, dated 13th March 1883.)

11. The rules sanctioned by Government Resolution No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, declare the conditions of qualifying for Mámíats from the date on which they came into force, viz., 3rd idem. In paragraph 10 of that Resolution it was ruled that 52 Revenue officials who were reported to have qualified according to the Notification of December 17th, 1878, paragraph 3, must be held entitled to have their names entered on the list of persons qualified for Mámíats before September 3rd, 1885. They are to stand on that list along with qualified graduates according to the order of the date of passing the Higher Departmental Examination and are eligible for Mámíats in their turn. The authority who considers their fitness for appointment as Mámíatdárs will of course decide whether they have had the requisite training in lower offices. If not, their appointment can be deferred. Government has simply ruled that they have qualified under the saving clause, paragraph 3 of Resolution No. 6505 of December 17th, 1878. (G. R. No. 9107, dated 12th November 1885.)

12. The rules published in Government Notification No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, apply to graduates who qualify for Mámíats after that date and do not debar those non-graduate officers employed in the Revenue Department who passed the Departmental Examination before 2nd September 1885, and whose names have been admitted to the list of officers qualified for Mámíats from receiving the promotion they have earned. The men who pass Departmental Examinations are entitled to appointments in order of seniority according to the date on which they pass. Non-graduates who passed under the special provision made by Government on their behalf before the Rules of 2nd September last were issued are of course senior on the list of qualified men to graduates who qualify under those rules, and their rights are secured by the previous rules which allowed them to qualify by passing up to a certain date. (G. R. No. 1543, dated 25th February 1886.)

13. Save in the very exceptional cases referred to in Rule 18 of the rules published in Government Notification No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, it is incumbent on candidates for the office of Mámíatdárs to pass the Departmental Examinations prescribed therein in order to qualify themselves for appointments to that office, irrespective of any other examinations which they may have passed. (G. R. No. 5492, dated 2nd August 1886.)

14. It was not intended by No. 15 of the rules sanctioned by Government Resolution No. 7105,

dated 2nd September 1885, to allow three further chances of passing to persons who had already appeared for the Special Lower Standard Departmental Examination on one or more occasions and failed. In all only three chances of passing can be allowed, whether under the old or the new rules. (G. R. No. 10358, dated 24th December 1885.)

15. By Nos. 6 and 7 of the rules sanctioned by Government Resolution No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, it was not intended either to prohibit the appointment of graduates who are "candidates for admission" from appointment direct to the higher places, "of which the salary is Rs. 30 or less," or to give such graduates a preferential right to them in all cases. Such places may be filled either by promotion or by selection from candidates for admission. The appointing officer must consider (1) the claims of non-graduates serving in this grade on account of approved service, and (2) the superior qualifications which a graduate candidate may possess. Unless the claims under (1) are very strong, the graduate should be preferred. Government did not desire to exclude old employes altogether. On the other hand it is of course the desire of Government that graduates should not be offered nothing but the lowest grade appointments on Rs. 12. (G. R. No. 1942, dated 11th March 1886.)

16. Persons who have passed the Overseers' Examination should be held to be entitled to the same preference in respect of appointment and promotion as the persons enumerated in clause (b) of No. 6 of the rules in Government Notification No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885. (G. R. No. 2824, dated 14th April 1886.)

17. The attention of the Collectors is specially drawn to the discretion given by No. 10 of the rules for the admission to and promotion of graduates and non-graduates in the Revenue Department, published in Government Notification No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, and to the desirability of using it so as to exclude from appointments they are not fitted to hold any persons who though eligible for promotion under the rules, have not given proof that they deserve it by good conduct and efficiency.

There seems to have been considerable diversity of practice and some neglect of the expressed wishes of Government in the working of Rule 6, which is intended to regulate preferential claims to first appointments. To remedy this and at the same time to leave room for the exercise, by the Collector as head of the district, of such reasonable discretion as is necessary in the interest of the Public Service, the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that in the list of candidates, which is presumably kept for each Collectorate, the educational qualifications, including year of, place in order of merit, and any honours gained in, any public examination they may have passed, should be shown; that candidates should not be entered in the list unless the Collector has satisfied himself personally or by trustworthy recommendations that they are likely to turn out useful servants of Government; that on the occurrence of a vacancy the Collector should select the best man on his list at the time, without reference to date of application or examination passed, e. g., an honour man recently entered might reasonably be preferred to a man who had taken a simple pass degree the year before; that his choice is to be guided primarily by educational attainments as laid down in Rule 6, but not so as to preclude such exceptions as may be necessary to maintain a due admixture of castes, or to secure men with exceptional qualifications, physical or other, for particular descriptions of work; that candidates should be required to state whether their names are entered in the lists of any other district or districts, with a view to intimation being sent in case of their being appointed; and that ordinarily the name of a candidate who has refused an appointment should be struck off, but that this should not apply to graduates who have been offered appointments on pay of less than Rs. 30, nor preclude the Collector from giving another chance to any candidate whom he considers specially eligible, or whose refusal may have been the result of causes entitling him to further consideration. (G. R. No. 824, dated 1st February 1893.)

18. No further privilege than the preferential right to first appointments recognized by No. 6 (b) of the rules published in Government Notification No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, can be granted to the students of the Agricultural Class of the College of Science, Poona. Diplomates in Agriculture cannot be placed on the same footing as graduates holding University degrees. (G. R. No. 7877, dated 26th October 1893.)

19. It is not desirable or necessary, on the ground of natural sequence, to alter the Rules 6 and 7 (a) and (b). It seems inexpedient that there should be a margin within which there may be a choice between men who have and men who have not passed the Lower Standard Departmental Examination, the more especially as there are many deserving men of the Karkun class who are ignorant of English and consequently unable to pass the Departmental Examination, and whom it would be hard to practically deprive of much chance of promotion beyond the Rs. 20 grade. (G. R. No. 4967, dated 2nd July 1895.)

20. There is nothing in the rules in Government Resolution No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, to prevent advancement to a better paid post within the grade of Head Karkun of an unpassed non-graduate who was a Head Karkun when the rules came into force. (G. R. No. 2409, dated 27th March 1886.)

21. The rules laid down in Government Notification No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, do not render it unnecessary for graduates and non-graduates employed in the Revenue Department in the Presidency Proper to pass any special tests in order to qualify themselves for appointment to the post of Mámlatdár. While graduates and non-graduates serving in Sind are allowed, in order to qualify themselves for the promotion to higher posts in Revenue Department in that Province, to pass the ordinary Lower and the ordinary Higher Standard Departmental Examinations, it is incumbent on candidates for similar appointments in the Presidency Proper to pass either the Special Lower and the ordinary Higher Standard Departmental Examinations, or the Special or Raised Higher Standard Departmental Examination. Candidates appearing at the Special Lower Standard Departmental Examination are required to pass an examination in two special papers—one on revenue matters and the other on revenue accounts—in addition to the papers set at the ordinary Lower Standard Departmental Examination, while those who present themselves at the Special or Raised Higher Standard Departmental Examination are examined in a special revenue paper, corresponding to the special paper set at the Special Lower Standard Departmental Examination, in addition to the two papers on that subject set at the ordinary Higher Standard Departmental Examination. In these circumstances, officers employed in Sind must satisfy the same conditions of qualification before appointment to Mámplats in the Presidency Proper as candidates in the Presidency are required to fulfil. (G. R. No. 4834, dated 7th July 1886.)

22. Commissioners and Collectors should exercise most careful discrimination in recommending, for the favourable consideration of Government under No. 18 of the rules sanctioned by Government Resolution No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, applications from their subordinates for exemption from passing the Departmental Examinations with a view to their being promoted to Mámplats. (G. Rs. Nos. 6432, dated 11th September 1886, and 6533, dated 15th idem.)

23. Officers who have been specially exempted by Government under No. 8 of the rules laid down in Government Notification No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, from passing the Departmental Examination, should take their rank, according to the length of their service, in the list of candidates qualified for appointment to the post of Mámlatdár. (G. R. No. 4862, dated 8th July 1889.)

24. The Commissioners should send in periodical lists on the 1st of January and 1st of July of each year of the non-graduate employes in their respective Divisions to whom they would recommend on grounds of special merits that permission should be accorded to appear for the Higher Standard Departmental Examination. The special merits in each case should be clearly specified, and as such merits are in accordance with the rule a qualification essential to give any non-graduate any claim to appear at the examination it is necessary that recommendations made on behalf of non-graduates should be submitted only after careful scrutiny. (G. R. No. 6104, dated 10th September 1888.)

25. No. 9 of the rules sanctioned in Government Resolution No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, applies to the first appointment of candidates to the posts named in Part I, Rule 4, but in no way regulates their subsequent promotion after they have been so appointed. (G. R. No. 3325, dated 23rd May 1888.)

26. In all cases of appointments made by Collectors in contravention of the rules, a report explaining the reasons should be made to the Commissioner. (G. R. No. 2440, dated 28th March 1889.)

27. Non-graduates who do not hold permanent appointments of Rs. 20 and upwards should be debarred from appearing for the Lower Standard Departmental Examination. (G. Rs. Nos. 7016, dated 4th October 1890, and 884, dated 1st February 1893.)

28. Subordinates in the offices of the Conservators of Forests cannot be held to be officers of the Revenue Department under the rules for the admission to, and promotion in, the Revenue Department of graduates and non-graduates. (G. R. No. 1746, dated 25th March 1881.)

29. The Forest Department is not included in those branches of the service the employés of which are qualified to appear for the Lower and Higher Standard Departmental Examinations. (G. R. No. 7178, dated 9th October 1886.)

30. There is no useful object to be attained by permitting Clerks of the Court, Shirastédárs and Názihs of District Judges to appear for an examination designed especially for revenue officers and qualifying only for promotion in the Land Revenue Department. The nature of the duties of the District Court officers above named is entirely different from that of the duties of the Head Kárkuns, Mámlatdárs and Deputy Collectors, and there is no prospect of any District Court Officer being granted a Mámlat or other revenue appointment merely because he has passed an examination which has been passed by hundreds of purely revenue officials. (G. R. No. 219, dated 10th January 1883.)

31. The Departmental Examinations held by the Bombay Central Committee are intended only for officers serving in British Government employ in the Bombay Presidency, and persons in the service of Native States in the Presidency are not permitted to appear at those examinations. (G. R. No. 5252, dated 27th June 1885.)

[EXAMINATIONS.]

32. Persons employed in Native States will derive no advantage from passing the Departmental Examinations held by the Bombay Central Committee, which are intended only for officers serving in British Government employ in the Bombay Presidency. (G. R. No. 8786, dated 29th October 1885.)

33. Service rendered in the office of the Private Secretary to His Excellency the Governor and in the Political Department of the Secretariat cannot be considered as service in the Revenue Department. (G. R. No. 8279, dated 12th October 1885.)

34. Inspectors of Village Registration Offices are members of the Registration Department and are accordingly not entitled to appear at the Departmental Examinations, Lower and Higher Standard, which are intended only for persons actually employed in the Departments named in No. 14 of the rules prescribed in Government Notification No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885. (G. R. No. 3347, dated 8th May 1886.)

35. There is no rule prohibiting the employment, in the Revenue Department, of natives of India who are not British subjects. (G. R. No. 346, dated 16th January 1886.)

36. The Agricultural Department comes under the head of Land Revenue. (G. R. No. 4211, dated 12th June 1886.)

37. The clerks in the office of the Inspector General of Police are not, like those employed under the District Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents of Police, appointed by the Collectors or eligible for promotion to posts on the establishments of Collectors, and cannot accordingly be regarded as members of the Land Revenue Department. They are, therefore, not entitled to appear at the Departmental Examinations, which are intended solely for officers serving in that Department. (G. R. No. 5177, dated 21st July 1886.)

38. Officers employed in the Departments under the control of the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bhkari are ineligible to appear at the Revenue Departmental Examinations, the passing of which qualifies only for the higher appointments in the Land Revenue Department. (G. R. Nos. 7636, dated 31st October 1882, and 4043, dated 20th June 1888.)

39. The Head Clerk to the Director of Land Records and Agriculture is not a Head Clerk to a Collector or Commissioner and is consequently not eligible to appear for the Higher Standard Departmental Examination under Rule 5, clause (a). He, therefore, could only present himself for examination under clause (b) of that rule, if permitted to do so by Government on being "recommended by a Commissioner on grounds of special merit." (G. R. No. 6305, dated 18th September 1888.)

members of that Department for the purposes of the rules laid down in Government Resolution No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885.

Inspectors and Kārkuns serving in the A'bkāri Department and clerks under the Western Bhil Agent, Khāndesh, cannot be held to belong to the Land Revenue Department, and are not entitled to appear at the Departmental Examinations, Lower and Higher Standard; but when Clerks and Kārkuns holding permanent appointments in the Land Revenue Department are employed on work connected with the A'bkāri Department in the Collector's Office, but are still treated as members of the Collector's revenue establishments for purposes of promotion, they may be allowed to present themselves for examination at the Departmental Examinations if they are otherwise entitled under the rules to appear at those examinations.

As in accordance with the orders contained in Government Resolution, Judicial Department, No. 7137,* dated 22nd October 1880, persons employed on clerical duty in the Police Department are members of the Collector's establishment and obtain their promotion in it, such persons may be allowed to present themselves for examination at the Departmental Examinations if they are otherwise entitled, under the rules referred to, to appear at those examinations.

the Departmental Examinations. (G. R. No. 8060, dated 23rd October 1889.)

42. The rules sanctioned by Government Resolution No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885, should be held to be applicable as much to the Account Branch of a Collector's office as they do to other branches of his establishment. But appointments in the Huzúr Account Branch of the Collector's office should not be brought under the strict operation of Rule 7 (b), and Collectors should be allowed full discretionary power to nominate to these appointments the persons whom they considered best qualified to hold them, irrespective of the fact whether they have or have not passed the Lower Standard Examination. (G. R. No. 8446, dated 6th November 1889.)

43. Inspectors of Police cannot be allowed to appear at the Revenue Departmental Examinations, which are opened only to members of the Departments named in No. 14 of the rules published in Government Notification No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885. (G. R. No. 8078, dated 15th November 1890.)

44. Service under the Bench of Magistrates cannot be admitted to be same as under the City Magistrate, Poona. To do so would be to allow a Clerk, whose service might have been solely under a body whose duties are purely magisterial, to count such service as in a Land Revenue office, and thereby acquire a privilege which was never intended. (G. R. No. 6023, dated 2nd September 1891.)

45. The Customs Department in Sind is not included in the Department of Land Revenue and General Administration in that Province, and in accordance with the ruling contained in Government Resolution No. 4043, dated 20th June 1888, officers employed in the Customs Department in Sind cannot be considered eligible to appear at the Revenue Departmental Examinations. (G. R. No. 6865, dated 6th October 1891.)*

46. Clerks employed in the Trade Statistical Branch of the Examiner of Guaranteed Railway Accounts, Bombay, are not entitled to appear for the Lower Standard Departmental Examination, which is open only to members of the Departments named in No. 14 of the Rules published in Government Notification No. 7105, dated 2nd September 1885. (G. R. No. 3504, dated 30th April 1896.)

* Government Resolution No. 3134, dated 1st May 1893, authorizes the Commissioner in Sind to grant permission to selected officers of approved merit, employed in Departments other than the Revenue Department, to appear at the Revenue Departmental Examinations, subject to the condition that such officers on their passing the requisite examinations should not be appointed to posts of Mukhtyarkars unless they have served for at least six months in one of the appointments mentioned in No. 12 of the Rules of 2nd October 1882.

EXAMINATIONS].*VI.—SURVEY OFFICERS.

1. The following rules have been passed by the Governor General in Council, and are published for general information :—

I.—The period of probation will be one year. II.—Every candidate will be required to furnish the certificates of which forms are given below, signed by his Commanding Officer and the Surgeon of his Regiment or Corps, respectively.

III.—There will be distinct examinations, both preliminary and final, for the Topographical and Revenue Surveys (including the topographical branch of the Trigonometrical Survey), and for the Great Trigonometrical Survey.

IV.—For the Topographical and Revenue Surveys, the preliminary examination will embrace the following subjects :—

VII.—The examinations for the Topographical and Revenue Surveys will be conducted by the Head of the Department in which the probationer is serving, aided by such professional officers, to the number of two, as may be available. Whenever desirable, sealed examination questions may be transmitted, in view to their being answered by the probationer in the presence of the officer in charge of the Survey Party to which he is attached, in lieu of obliging him to appear at departmental head-quarters for the purpose of examination.

VIII.—For the geodesical branch of the Trigonometrical Survey, the preliminary examination will be theoretical only, comprising mathematics up to conic sections, and the principles of construction of instruments in common use. The final examination will be theoretical and practical, embracing analytical geometry of three dimensions, statics, dynamics, astronomy, the construction of the instruments of the Great Trigonometrical Survey and a practical familiarity with their management. Candidates for the Staff Corps will also be required to produce a certificate of having passed an examination by the higher standard in any vernacular language prescribed by the Government under which the probationer is employed.

2. The rules accompanying Government Resolution No. 683 A, dated 17th February 1869, should be held applicable to Probationary Uncovenanted Assistants of the Survey Department. It is very desirable that the examinations of Probationary Uncovenanted Assistants should be held before formally constituted committees. It will be the duty of the Survey Commissioner, from time to time, to apply to Government for the appointment of a Committee, and in doing so, to suggest the names of the officers who should compose it.

In considering whether a probationer should be confirmed or not, Government will, in addition to the recommendation of the Committee, be guided by the opinion of the officer under whom he has been directly serving. (G. R. No. 1723, dated 1st April 1874.)

3. In supersession of existing orders it is ruled that, prior to appointment as Probationary Assistant Superintendent in the Revenue Survey Department of this Presidency, it shall henceforward be always necessary—

1. That the candidate shall have completed his nineteenth year of age; and
2. That unless he has already passed an examination in Maráthi, according to the higher standard, he shall pass a special examination in that language by—

- (i) Reading and translating into English passages from the Maráthi translation of Æsop's Fables ;
- (ii) Reading out a Maráthi petition written in very plain simple language, in the Modi character :
- (iii) Translating from English into Maráthi an easy, simple deposition ; and
- (iv) Conversing on the most familiar subjects in Maráthi.

2. The examination in the above heads will be conducted by the Presidency Examination Committee ; and this examination will be called "The standard qualifying for first appointment to the Revenue Survey."

3. Before promotion from the probationary grade to a Permanent Assistant Superintendent's appointment, it is necessary that a Higher Standard Examination be passed in Maráthi (or in Gujaráti, should the officer be nominated to Gujarát) as well as the usual Departmental Examination in Departmental subjects connected with carrying on duty in the survey.

4. If, after passing a Higher Standard Examination in Maráthi or Gujaráti, an officer should be at any time employed in a province where another language is the vernacular, he will be required to pass an examination as regards reading and speaking in the language of that province.

5. Any officer who shall not pass the examination prescribed in paragraph 4 within one year shall be liable to a reduction of 20 per cent. made from his salary until such date as he may pass.

(G. Rs. No. 4095, dated 14th August 1878, and No. 1140, dated 12th February 1883.)

4. Survey officers required under the rules to pass examinations in the vernacular languages should pass such examinations before the Civil and Military Examination Committee. Only in special cases and for special reasons can examinations by Local Committees be allowed, and then in such instances the previous sanction of Government should be obtained to the adoption of such a course. Uniformity of standard can only be ensured by requiring the candidates to be, as a rule, examined by a permanent Examining Board. (G. R. No. 2116, dated 22nd April 1880.)

5. The language in which a survey officer is required to pass the Higher Standard Examination is the vernacular of the district or province in which he is serving at the time. (G. R. No. 1654, dated 21st March 1881.)

6. In order to qualify for the higher scale of pay, a Probationary Assistant Superintendent of Survey is required to be able to test measurements satis-

Report should be made to Government when Probationary Assistants pass the prescribed examination entitling them to the higher rate of pay in view to the publication of the requisite notification in the Government Gazette.

(G. R. No. 4140, dated 18th July 1881.)

No. 5510, dated 3rd August 1880, published at page 649 of the Bombay Government Gazette of 5th idem, Part I.

in supersession of the rules contained in Government Notification No. 2878, dated 4th June 1880, published at pages 535 and 536 of the Bombay Government Gazette of 10th idem, Part I, as amended by Government Notifications noted in the margin :—

Examinations in languages alone will be held in January and July before the Sub-Committee for Vernacular Examinations of the Central Committee for Departmental Examinations.

3. Every officer shall present himself for examination according to the Lower Standard in the language of the division in which he is serving at the latest, at the first meeting of the Central Committee after he has been nine months in the service in this country, whether as Assistant Conservator of Forests, Second Grade, or as Extra Assistant Conservator of Forests, Fourth Grade, and he shall be placed under stoppages of 10 per cent. of his pay should he fail to pass within 18 months of the date of his joining the service in the Presidency.

according to the tests prescribed in Rule 6.

5. For the purposes of these rules, the following languages shall be held to be those of the different Forest Circles :—

| Sind     | ... | ... | ...                   | Sindhi.     |

In the case of the Circles against which two languages are entered, the language of the division in which the Forest officer is serving will be the language in which he will be required to pass.

6. The test in Land Revenue, Forest Law, and Procedure and Accounts will be as follows :—

Act No. V of 1879, entitled the Bombay Land Revenue Code, Chapters I and II ; of Chapter V, Sections 37 to 44 ; of Chapter VI, Section 62, Clause 2 ; and Chapter IX ; Rules 35 to 37, 91 to 98B (Trees) and 100 to 106 (Boundary marks) of the Rules under Section 214 of the Bombay Land Revenue Code.

Forest Law.

Act No. VII of 1878, the Indian Forest Act, 1878, as modified up to date, with all the rules published and in force at the time being under different sections of that Act.

Procedure and Accounts.

Not more than 12 questions from—

(a) Such portions of the Forest Department Code as have been applied to the Bombay Forest Department.

(b) The standing orders and rules of the Forest Department of the Presidency.

(c) Rules which have been published under the Sea Customs Act, 1878, the Arms Act XI of 1878, the Abkari Act V of 1878 and are in force at the time being and apply to the Forest officers in the Forest Department of the Presidency.

7. In addition to the examination above described, any officer of the Forest Department of less than 15 years' standing who may be transferred from one division to another division, in the language of which he has not passed either according to the Lower or Higher Standard, will be required to pass an examination according to the Lower Standard in the vernacular of his new division, within one year of his transfer; and in the event of his failing to do so, a reduction of 10 per cent. will be made from his salary until he has qualified, or has been transferred to another division, in the vernacular of which he has previously passed.

8. Officers of the Upper Controlling Staff of the Forest Department may, with the previously obtained permission of Government, offer themselves for examination in any one or more of the languages of the Forest Circles of the Presidency mentioned above in addition to those in which they may be required to pass under Rules 4 and 7, and in the event of their passing, will be entitled to the following language allowances:—

Rs. 250 for passing in the Lower Standard.

Rs. 500 for passing in the Higher Standard, subject to a deduction of any allowance already drawn for passing in the same language by the Lower Standard.

9. No Forest officer will be permitted to present himself for examination by two standards in the same vernaculars simultaneously.

(G. Nos. Nos. 2, dated 3rd January 1894, and 9775, dated 29th November 1894.)

2. It is not deemed necessary to extend to the forest service the rules which grant rewards for attainments in the classical languages of India—Sanskrit, Arabic and Persian; nor is it necessary to encourage the acquisition of Urdu, beyond a thorough colloquial knowledge, coupled with a moderate facility in reading and writing it. But the acquisition of, or a higher degree of proficiency in, such languages as Punjabi, Pushtu, Burmese, or other spoken languages is of as great benefit in the case of forest officers as it is in any other branch of the public service. It is therefore decided that whenever by any general or local rules a reward is sanctioned for the acquisition of, or for proficiency in, any spoken or useful native language or dialect, such rules shall be held applicable to all European forest officers, provided that when any officer desires to qualify himself for such reward, he shall first obtain the permission of the local Government or Administration under which he is serving, and the Government will decide whether the language is one, the acquisition of, or high proficiency in, which will be useful to the officer in the district in which he is employed, and will increase his efficiency as an officer of the Forest Department. (G. I., A. R. and C., No. 4-245, dated 9th March 1874; vide G. R. No. 1440, dated 19th idem.)

3. The departmental examination of Forest officers in Sind should be held in that province instead of at Bombay or Poona. (G. R. No. 2114, dated 23rd April 1876.)

[EXAMINATIONS.]

4. The Deputy Conservator of Forests in Sind Circles is authorized to set to the candidates in that province questions in that subject for the examination of Forest officers which comprises the Departmental rules, accounts and standing orders relating to forests and official business, as the system of accounts and departmental rules in Sind differs from that in force in the rest of the Presidency. (G. R. No. 6459, dated 30th August 1883.)

5. No person, being a European or of European extraction, shall be deemed eligible for appointment to the post, substantive or officiating, of Extra Assistant Conservator of Forests, unless he shall have passed an examination according to the Higher Standard test in one at least of the vernacular languages of the Bombay Presidency. (G. R. No. 9258, dated 18th November 1885.)

6. The rules for the examination of Forest officers in this Presidency should be enforced in the case of temporary as well as permanent promotions, and no temporary promotion even should be granted until an officer has passed his examination. (G. R. No. 7086, dated 20th September 1889.)

VIII.—CUSTOMS OFFICERS.

1. Native Assistant Commissioners of the Customs Department are not required to pass in a native language, except when the language of the district in which they are employed is other than their vernacular language. (G. R., G. D., No. 366, dated 12th February 1869.)

2. The rules regulating the examination of the subordinate establishments of Government in the Revenue, Magisterial and Police Departments are not applicable to the Customs Department. (G. R. No. 5195, dated 27th November 1869.)

3. In addition to the educational test which regulates admission of candidates into the Customs Department, a second examination, both oral and written, in matters pertaining to the Department as noted in the margin should be required within two years of entering the service. (G. R. No. 515, dated 27th June 1870.)

There is no objection to the subordinates in the Customs Department being examined at the same time as the collectorate examinations are held, but the examinations must be conducted by a distinct Committee of Customs Officers. It is left optional with the Customs Department to determine the places at which the examinations are to be held each year, the same being notified beforehand. (G. R. No. 2917, dated 20th June 1873, and No. 5650, dated 16th November 1870.)

IX.—SALT OFFICERS.

1. The following rules for the examination of officers of the Salt Department are published for general information:—

EXAMINATIONS.]

I.—From the date of the publication of these rules, every officer already appointed to be or to act as an Assistant Collector of Salt Revenue, who shall not have passed the examinations prescribed in paras. 900 and 909 of the Digest of Service Rules, and every officer hereafter appointed to be or to act as an Assistant Collector of Salt Revenue, will be required to pass, at the first examination held not less than six months after the date on which he joined his appointment, an examination in at least one vernacular language of the Presidency (either Maráthi, Gujaráti, or Kánarese) and in the following subjects:—

The Criminal Procedure Code.

The Salt Acts in force in the Bombay Presidency for the time being.

The Sea Customs Act in force in the Bombay Presidency for the time being.

Chapters 2, 7, 9 and 10 of the Indian Evidence Act.

II.—This examination will be held at the time and at the place fixed for the half-yearly Departmental Examination of Junior Civilians, and will be conducted by a Committee consisting of the Under Secretary to Government in the Judicial Department, the Oriental Translator to Government, and other members to be from time to time appointed by Government. *The candidate, however, has the option of appearing for examination in the language only before the Sub-Committee for Vernacular Examinations of the Central Committee for Departmental Examinations, at any of its meetings.

(G. No 5507,
August 1897.)

III.—The examination in the vernacular language will be of the same nature and difficulty as the examination required to be passed by Junior Civilians before their investiture with the lowest magisterial powers. Two papers of questions in the Acts mentioned in Rule I will be set at each examination. The questions in one paper will be taken from the Penal Code and the Salt and the Sea Customs Acts; the other paper will consist of questions from the other Acts specified. The time allowed for each paper will be three hours. 150 marks will be allotted to each paper. No candidate will be considered to have passed who fails to obtain 60 per cent. of the aggregate number of marks for both papers, or 180 marks in all. The questions will have to be answered without the assistance of books. If an

V. — If an officer after appointment is removed from a Maráthi to a Gujaráti, or Kánarese district, or vice versa, he shall be required to pass an examination of the nature described in Rule IV in the vernacular language of the district to which he is transferred within one year from the date of his transfer, if prior to his transfer from the district to which he was originally appointed he shall not have passed in the language of that district an examination of the nature prescribed in Rule IV; but if before his removal he shall have passed the examination as directed in Rule IV in the vernacular of the district in which he was first serving, he shall then only be required to pass within one year from the date of his transfer an examination in the vernacular of the district to which he may be moved of a nature similar to that prescribed for Junior Civil Servants before their investiture with the lowest of magisterial powers.

(G. R. No.
2313, dated
1886.)

VI. — If an officer fails to pass within the specified time the examination prescribed in Rules IV and V, he shall be permitted to present himself a second time for examination after the expiration of a further period not exceeding six months; but if within 18 months from the date of his passing the examination prescribed in Rule I, or of his transfer, he shall not have succeeded in passing the above examination, he shall be removed from his appointment.

The Acts relating to Passenger and Pilgrim Ships.

The Acts relating to Arms and Ammunition.

VIII.—Three papers of questions relating to the above Acts will be set at each examination. The questions in one of these three papers will relate solely to the Penal and Criminal Procedure Codes and those in the second to the Salt and Sea and Land Customs Acts. The questions in the third paper will refer to the other Acts mentioned. 150 marks will be allotted for each paper of questions. No candidate will be considered to have passed who fails to obtain 60 per cent. of the aggregate number of marks for the three papers, or 270 marks in all. The questions will have to be answered without the assistance of books.

IX.—The above examination shall be held in Bombay once in every half year on the date fixed for the Departmental Examination of Junior Civilians, and shall be conducted by the Under Secretary to Government in the Judicial Department, and other* officers to be from time to time appointed by Government by whom the paper of questions shall be prepared, and with whom it shall rest to estimate the merit of the answers, and to decide whether the examinee has passed.

*G. Notn. No. 5567, dated 23rd August 1887.

X.—If an officer fail to pass within the specified time the examination prescribed in Rule VII, he shall be permitted to present himself a second time for examination after the expiration of a further period of six months, but if within eighteen months of the date of his passing the examination prescribed in Rule I he shall not have succeeded in passing the above examination, he shall be removed from his appointment.

XI.—An officer serving as Assistant Collector of Salt Revenue will be considered to be on probation, until he has passed the examinations prescribed in Rules IV and VII, and if within twelve months from the date of his passing the examination prescribed in Rule I he shall not have passed those examinations, a deduction of 20 per cent. will be made from his salary until he shall have passed both such examinations.

XII.—Officers of the Department drawing salaries of Rs. 100 and upwards may be examined if they obtain leave from the Collector of Salt Revenue to present themselves for examination, and if passed should receive a certificate of qualification.

(G. Ns. dated 7th August 1874 and No. 557, dated 23rd August 1887.)

Note 1.—It should be clearly understood that all officers appointed to be or to act as Assistant Collectors of Salt Revenue are required to pass before the Committee appointed under Rule 2, or that mentioned in Rule 4 of the Rules for the examination of officers in the Salt Revenue Department, the examinations in the vernacular languages prescribed in those Rules. The only exception which can be allowed to this general rule is that Government may in special cases, and on a special reference to be made in each case, exempt from the liability to pass in a vernacular language before the Committees mentioned in the Rules any officer who has prior to his appointment to the Salt Revenue Department passed before the Civil and Military Examination Committee an examination according to the Higher Standard test in that language. (G. R. (Revenue) No. 337, dated 14th January 1884.)

2. The Commissioner of Salt should keep in his office a register of all the officers of the Salt Department and report to Government from time to time the names of such of them as render themselves liable to removal from their appointments under Rules 6 and 10 of the rules relating to the examination of the officers of the Salt Department sanctioned by Government Resolution No. 4110, dated 7th August 1874. (G. M. No. 8702, dated 29th December 1888.)

3. His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased, with the approval of the Government of India, to prescribe the following rules for the recruitment and organization of the Salt Department in the Bombay Presidency :—

Rules.

In these rules the appointments of Deputy Collector of Salt Revenue, Assistant Collector of Salt Revenue in charge Coast Guard Service, Assistant Collector of Salt Revenue in charge of Ranges and of the Account office, and Native Assistant to the Collector of Salt Revenue, shall be held to constitute the Salt Department branch of the Bombay Provincial Service. All other appointments in the Salt Department shall be held to constitute the Subordinate Salt Department Service.

2. The Salt Department branch of the Bombay Provincial Service will ordinarily be recruited (a) by transfer of officers from other Departments of the Bombay Provincial Service, (b) by promotion of officers from the Subordinate Salt Service on the ground of special fitness and merit, and (c) by selection by the Governor in Council.

EXAMINATIONS.]

3. The rules for regulating the admission of candidates into the lower grades of the Public Service, published under Notification of Government in the Educational Department, No. 597, dated 4th April 1888, or such rules as may hereafter be made in modification or supersession of them, will ordinarily apply to all first appointments to the Subordinate Salt Department Service. In filling up those appointments, however, candidates who have passed the University Examination for a degree in Science or Arts in such subjects as fit them for work in the Salt Department shall be accorded preference over candidates who have passed the First Examination for the degree of B. Sc. or B.A., and the latter shall be accorded preference over candidates who have merely passed the School Final Examination.

4. The Commissioner shall, however, have the power to appoint to the Preventive branch, on the ground of special qualification for technical duties, persons who may not have satisfied the conditions prescribed in these rules.

5. Every person appointed to the Subordinate Service shall be required to pass at the first Departmental Examination held after he has served for one year in such service in the subjects prescribed for that examination and under rules laid down by the Collector and approved by the Commissioner.

6. Promotion will be regulated according to seniority or on ground of special fitness as the Collector or Commissioner may deem fit in each case.

7. Every person appointed to the Salt Department branch of the Bombay Provincial Service shall be required to pass the examination prescribed in the rules laid down by Government in their Notification of 7th August 1874, unless he shall have passed similar examination before his appointment.

8. If an officer required to pass the examination under the preceding rule fails to pass within the prescribed time from the date of appointment, he shall be liable to be removed from his office, but it shall be competent to the Governor in Council to extend his period of probation for any further period he deems fit.

9. Every appointment to the Salt Department branch of the Bombay Provincial Service shall be probationary pending the passing of the required examinations and until the Commissioner is satisfied that the officer appointed is in every respect qualified for the post.

Note.—These rules are liable to modification hereafter should it be found necessary to effect any changes in them in order to bring them into accord with any scheme for the constitution of the Bombay Provincial Service which may eventually be adopted.

(G. N. No. 1600, dated 2nd March 1891.)

4. The benefit of Article 317 of the Civil Service Regulations may be extended to officers of the Salt Department, who may be permitted to present themselves at the Lower and Higher Standard Departmental Examinations, provided the conditions of the article are strictly fulfilled. (G. R. No. 5532, dated 16th July 1896.)

X.—POLITICAL OFFICERS.

1. Political Officers appearing for the Lower Standard Departmental Examination should be required to furnish the certificate specified in clause 3 (b) of No. 36 of the rules for the examination of Junior Civil Servants and others, which would be granted by the Political Resident or Agent. As inconvenience would be caused if Assistant Political Agents in charge of Pránts and Deputy Assistant Political Agents were to be detached to Rájkot for six weeks for the performance of the duties of Treasury Officer in order to satisfy the conditions of this rule, the Political Agent, Káthiáwár, may at his discretion exempt them from its operation. (G. Rs. Nos. 2036, dated 28th March 1882, 1875, dated 6th March 1883, and 7719, dated 27th September 1884.)

2. When there are applicants for examination in the Somáli language, the Political Resident at Aden may convene a Board of Examination without reference to Government. The result of the examinations held should in each case be communicated to Government. (G. R., G. D., No. 2240 dated 7th July 1892.)

3. For examinations in Somáli and Suahili, honoraria will be allowed by Government on special applications being made, but they need only be very moderate in amount. (G. R. No. 287, dated 13th January 1897.)

4. The work of setting papers for examination in Arabic according to the Departmental Standards of Political Officers and others serving in Aden and of examining answers thereto is entrusted to the Civil and Military Examination Committee, the vivá voce portion being conducted at Aden. (G. R. No. 8241 dated 23rd October 1895.)

XI.—EDUCATIONAL OFFICERS.

1. It is imperative upon all Europeans appointed to the Educational Department to pass within a given period an examination which shall prove that they possess a sufficient colloquial knowledge of the vernacular language of the district in which they are employed, failing which their services will be dispensed with. The pecuniary rewards should only be given for highly distinguished acquirements in the native languages. Ordinary colloquial acquaintance with them is indispensably necessary to the efficient performance of their duties by those who are employed in the Department of Education, and must be insisted upon by Government. (S. of S. No. 29, dated 22nd December 1859; vide G. I., H. D., No. 299, dated 14th February 1860.)

2. The foregoing orders of the Secretary of State should be held applicable to persons employed in the districts as Inspectors, Deputy Inspectors and school teachers. For appointments under these heads a sufficient colloquial knowledge of one vernacular language (to be prescribed in each case by the Director of Public Instruction) within a year should be required and in default a reduction of salary equal to 25 per cent. should be made until passing. Unpassed men of two years' standing will be liable to dismissal. The Director of Public Instruction should for this purpose constitute an Examination Committee from time to time as required, not necessarily at the Presidency, but wherever may be most convenient. The examination should cause no expense to Government. (G. R., G. D., No. 509, dated 15 March 1860.)

3. In supersession of Government Notification dated the 8th April 1873, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased, with reference to the despatch of the Secretary of State for India, No. 29, of December 22nd, 1859, to issue the following amended Rules for the examination of European educational officers in the vernacular and classical languages of India:—

I.—Obligatory Examination in the Vernacular.

1. The standard for the Examination of European educational officers in the vernacular is the higher standard.*

---

* In the Financial Despatch of the Government of India to Her Majesty's Secretary of State, No. 269, dated 9th August 1875, it was recommended that the first increase of pay to an educational officer should be given from the date on which he passes the prescribed examination, viz., the higher standard, whether that examination was passed before or after the completion of the first year of service, provided that the first increment alone should be affected by this order, the subsequent increments being given as they would be given under the ordinary rules.

"2. The Secretary of State approved of this recommendation in his despatch of the 14th October 1875, which was forwarded to Local Governments and Administrations under Financial Department endorsement No. 214 of 14th January last.

"3. Subsequently it appeared that in Bombay, Oudh, the Central Provinces and British Burma the prescribed examination for educational officers was not the 'higher standard' but a special one.

"4. Enquiry was therefore made from these Governments as to the exact nature of the examination in their respective territories, and the standards of the special vernacular examinations in force.

"5. The replies of the various authorities consulted have been received, and the Government of India are of opinion that there will be no great difficulty in reducing these special examinations prospectively to a common standard, and that this standard should for the sake of uniformity, which is desirable in such matters, be the 'higher standard'. The orders of the Secretary of State can then be carried out. The Province of British Burma, however, stands on a special footing, and for the present the Government of India do not desire to disturb existing arrangements in that province."

(G. I., H. D. (Edl.), No. 2 and 1-3, dated 12th January 1877; vide G. R., Edl. Dept., No. 63, dated 23rd idem.)

2. Every European who is appointed after the publication of these Rules to be Principal or Professor in a College, or Head Master or Master of a School, or to act in any of the above named appointments, is required to pass an examination in Urdu according to the abovementioned standard, for which purpose he is required to present himself at the first examination held by the Civil and Military Examination Committee after the expiry of 18 months from his arrival in India or from his appointment if appointed in India. If he fail to pass at such first examination he shall again present himself at the first examination held by the said Committee after the completion of one year from the examination in which he failed to pass, and if he shall fail a second time at such further examination he shall be liable to be discharged from the Educational Service of Government.

Exception.

European Head Masters and Masters of Schools may by special permission pass in the vernacular of the district in which they are serving instead of in Urdu.

3. European Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors and others appointed to act as such are required to pass according to Rule 2 both in Urdu and in the vernacular of the division to which they are appointed, except that the Inspector, Southern Division, is to pass in Maráthi and Kánarese instead of in Urdu and Kánarese, and the Inspector in Sind in Persian and Sindhi instead of in Urdu and Sindhi.

4. No European Officer will be an Educational Inspector unless he has passed either in Urdu or in the vernacular of the division of which he is appointed. Every Inspector is required to pass in the other language prescribed for his division 18 months after appointment. Any similar examination previously passed in one of the required languages according to the rules of their service by a Covenanted Civil Servant or Officer of the Army who is to be appointed Inspector will be accepted as sufficient in the sense of these rules.

5. The obligatory examination is a pass examination only. No rewards or certificates will be given.

II.—Voluntary Examination in an Indian Vernacular or Classical language.

1. To encourage the advanced study of the vernacular and classical languages of India, His Excellency in Council is pleased to order that the rules on the subject laid down for Junior Members of the Covenanted Civil Service by the Resolution, General Department, of July 17th, 1868 (printed in the Government Gazette of 1868, page 682), shall, with the limitation imposed below in Rule 7, be applicable to European Officers of the Educational Department educated in Europe and holding appointments not lower in rank than that of Head Master of a High School.

2. But Educational Officers are eligible for the examination in I. High Proficiency only. There will be no examination for them in II. Honours, and no Educational Officer will be permitted to receive rewards in more than two languages.

(G. R., G. D., No. 2099, dated 17th June 1873, and G. I., H. D., No. 2, dated 12th January 1877; vide G. R., E. D., No. 63, dated 23rd idem.)

4. The notifications regarding the passing by Educational Officers of examinations conducted by the Civil and Military Examination Committee may be published by the Educational Department. (G. R., G. D., No. 2115, dated 9th August 1879.)

5. Any European lady employed as Mistress or Head Mistress in a Government Normal School who passes the Higher Standard Examination in a native language may be granted a reward of Rs. 500. (G. I., H. D., No. 376, dated 9th November 1880; vide G. R., E. D., No. 1515, dated 20th idem, and G. M., G. D., No. 3553, dated 24th idem.)

6. The proficiency tests for the examination of Educational Officers in the Oriental languages should be assimilated in all respects to those prescribed for the examination of Covenanted Civilians by the High Proficiency Standard. The present scale of rewards assigned to Educational Officers for successfully passing these examinations should be adhered to. It is not intended by the foregoing orders to alter the rule whereby no educational officer is permitted to receive rewards for passing in more than two Oriental languages. (G. I., H. D., Nos. 1-56, dated 7th June 1882, and 1-86, dated 26th September 1882; vide G. R., E. D., Nos. 1017, dated 23rd June 1882, and 1773, dated 9th October 1882, and G. Ms., G. D., Nos. 2441, dated 29th June 1882, and 4113, dated 16th October 1882.)

XII.—MILITARY OFFICERS AND CHAPLAINS.

1. The following rules are applicable to the three Presidencies, and took effect from the 1st February 1865 :—

I.—There will be two standards of qualification in the Hindustani language,—the first to be in the place of the examination now commonly called the Colloquial Examination, and of the examinations for the command of troops and companies, in regiments under the old organization, and for a medical charge; and the second to be in the place of the examinations now called the P. H. Staff, Adjutants', Interpreters', and all similar examinations in the three Presidencies; but all Officers who have passed these latter examinations, or who may pass them before the 1st February next, will be eligible for the Staff Corps or for ordinary staff employment without further examination.

[EXAMINATIONS.]

First Standard.

II.—The object of the First Standard is to ensure that officers passing it shall have acquired such a knowledge of the Hindustāni language as shall enable them efficiently to discharge their military or professional duties when serving with native troops.

III.—To this end, candidates will be tested as to their ability to read and translate passages from easy Hindustāni books, written in the Persian and Devā Nāgarī characters; and to speak on and interpret common or professional subjects, so as to understand, and to be understood by, any ordinary uneducated native of India.

IV.—First.—Reading fairly, and construing with accuracy, not less than half of an octavo page of the undermentioned works:—

1. "Hindustāni Selections" in the Persian character.
2. "Hindustani Selections" in the Devā Nāgarī character.

Second.—Conversing with the Examiners, or with natives of India, on subjects likely to occur in the performance of regimental or professional duty, in the transaction of ordinary business, or in the course of every-day life.

If this test be applied through the medium of a native of India, he should speak the plain Hindustāni of the Presidency or Province in which the examination is held, free from peculiarities of idiom and dialect, and not a patois,—and though, as regards the performance of professional duties, it must, to a certain extent, be technical in its nature; if, in other respects, the candidate prove his ability to comprehend readily all that is said to him, and to make himself fairly intelligible, more should not be required.

Second Standard.

V.—The object of the Second Standard is to insure that officers passing it shall have acquired such a knowledge of the Hindustāni language as shall qualify them, so far as that language is concerned, for general employment on the staff, and for admission to the Staff Corps.

VI.—To this end, candidates will be tested as to their ability,—1st, to read and construe passages in books of ordinary difficulty in Urdu and Hindi; 2nd, to make accurate and idiomatic written translations from English into Hindustāni in both the Persian and Devā Nāgarī characters; 3rd, to read and translate petitions, native letters &c., in Urdu and Hindi; 4th, to converse with educated or uneducated natives of India.

EXAMINATIONS.]

Tests.

First.—Reading fluently, and construing with readiness and accuracy, not less than an ordinary octavo page of the undermentioned works :—

1. The Bāgh-o-Bahār.
2. Selections from the prose of the Prem Sagar.

Second.—Translating accurately, and with correctness of idiom and grammar, not less than half an ordinary octavo page of plain English into language similar to that of the Bāgh-o-Bahār, in the Persian character, and an equal amount, in the Devā Nāgarī character, into language similar to that of the Prem Sagar.

Third.—Reading fairly, and translating readily and correctly, Hindustānī manuscripts, written in both the Persian and Devā Nāgarī characters.

These MSS. may be selected from the proceedings of a case in Court, from reports or petitions addressed to Civil or Military Authorities, from letters passing between natives of India in the ordinary course of business, or from private correspondence. They should not be written with the clearness of a printed book, nor yet in a very cramped or crabbed hand, but in such a manner as fairly, and honestly to represent the written characters as practically employed in the Presidency or Province in which the examination is held.

Fourth.—Conversing with the Examiners or with natives of India with fluency, and with such correctness of pronunciation, grammar, and idiom as to be at once intelligible.

VII.—Every candidate passing an examination by the First Standard in Hindustānī, will be entitled to receive an allowance of Rs. 120; and on passing by the Second Standard an allowance of Rs. 180 additional or, in the case of an officer passing at once by the Second Standard, Rs. 360.

(General Order by the Government of India, dated 9th September 1864, No. 734; vide G. N., G. D., dated 21st December 1864.)

2. As Hindustānī is not the language of any Court in the Bombay Presidency and it is not possible to obtain the loan of private correspondence between the natives of India, the Civil and Military Examination Committee should follow the practice of preparing manuscripts for the occasion for the purposes of paragraph 2, clause 3 of No. VI of the rules published under Government Notification, General Department, dated 21st December 1864. (G. R., G. D., No. 171, dated 1st February 1865).

3. The rules published in the General Order by the Government of India, No. 734, dated 9th September 1864, are applicable to the Uncovenanted Servants of Government and the Medical Officers also. (G. R., G. D., No. 171, dated 1st February 1865, and notification of the same date.)

[EXAMINATIONS.]

4. An officer in military employ should receive his medal and pecuniary reward admissible to him for passing an examination for the Degree of Honour from the Military Department of the Presidency in which he may be serving, and those in civil employ from the Civil Department. (G. I., M. D., No. 927, dated 29th July 1873; vide G. R., G. D., No. 3099, dated 4th September 1873.)

5. (G. I., H. D., No. 120, dated 16th October 1876; vide G. R., G. D., No. 3399, dated 31st idem.)

6. The additional exercise of viva voce or ex-tempore translation of the proceedings of a Court Martial, General Order, or Military Regulation ordered to be introduced into the colloquial portion of the Hindustani Higher Standard test by Government Resolutions, Military Department, Nos. 6090, dated 22nd October 1880, and 6548, dated 12th November 1880, is not required in the case of civil officers or of any candidates excepting military officers. The maximum value of this additional exercise should be fixed at 60 marks. (G. R., G. D., No. 390, dated 1st February 1881; and G. R., M. D., No. 831, dated 11th February 1881; vide G. M., G. D., No. 552, dated 16th idem.)

7. It being desirable to encourage Chaplains equally with officers to pass examinations in the vernacular languages of the Province in which they are employed, the rules for the examination of military officers in Oriental languages are extended to Chaplains throughout India. (G. I., H. D., No. 66—559, dated 24th September 1868.)

XIII.—MEDICAL AND RAILWAY OFFICERS.

1. Under the authority of the Government of India it is hereby notified, for general information, that every medical officer in civil employ who may pass in the vernacular of the district in which he is

With reference to Notification in the General Department dated 26th January 1869, published at page 66 of the Government Gazette, the examination of medical officers in civil employ for the reward of Rs. 200 for passing in the vernacular of the district shall be according to the following tests:—

The rules prescribed in Government Notifications, General Department, dated 26th January 1869, and 10th January 1870, for the examination of medical officers in civil employ, should be the test according to which Deputy Sanitary Commissioners who desire to pass in the vernacular should be examined. For each candidate examined in Urdu or Hindustani, fees according to the following scale should be paid to the Committee :—

|                                                                                            | Rs.  |

The President and Secretary should be present at examinations in all languages, but the other members of the Committee should only be present at examinations in languages in which, from their knowledge of the language, they are competent to examine.

It is left optional with the members of the Committee whether all or only some of them should attend, the amount of the fees payable to each being regulated by the number of his attendances. (G. Rs., G. D., Nos. 5111, dated 23rd December 1882, 921, dated 15th March 1883, 716, dated 1st March 1884, and 3298, dated 9th September 1884.)

6. All military candidates for examination according to the new Lower Standard in Hindustani will appear before Local Committees. The functions of the Central, Civil and Military Examination Committee in Bombay will, therefore, be limited

* The following suggestions were made by the Government of India in their letter No. 1500, dated 25th September 1882; and this Government in their Resolution No. 5111, dated 23rd December 1882, observed that due attention would be paid to these suggestions :—

"The Government of India can only approve of the payment of fees on the understanding that the (Civil and Military Examination) Committee is a genuine working body, every member of which is fully qualified as an Examiner. From this point of view I am to suggest, for the consideration of the Bombay Government, that the members of the Committee should in future be chosen solely on account of their linguistic attainments, and should ordinarily not be Government servants, it being probably sufficient if the President and Secretary only are in the service of Government. The President might indeed be merely an honorary officer, as the President of the Board of Examiners is in Calcutta, the Secretary receiving a moderate fixed remuneration for carrying on the routine work of the Committee. The Examiners might then be appointed as required from among qualified non-official persons, and be paid by fees for the actual work done by them."

to setting certain papers and examining and marking one written translation. All the oral examinations will be conducted by the Local Committees. Military candidates for examination according to the new Higher Standard will in the majority of cases appear for examination before the Civil and Military Examination Committee in Bombay.

In the case of military candidates, whether for the new Higher or the new Lower Standard, appearing for examination before Local Committees, the fee payable to the Civil and Military Examination Committee should be fixed at Rs. 7½ per candidate. In the case of military candidates appearing for examination according to the new Higher Standard test before the Civil and Military Examination Committee, the fee per candidate allowed to that Committee should be Rs. 22½.

In the case of non-military candidates and of military candidates for any examination other than the new Lower Standard and new Higher Standard in Hindustāni, the existing scale of fees payable to the Civil and Military Examination Committee should be continued as such examinations will be held in future, as now, before that Committee and the nature of the examination remains unchanged.

(G. R., G. D., No. 4534, dated 31st October 1889.)

7. Special Examination Committees at out-stations in connection with the examinations conducted by the Civil and Military Examination Committee are to be allowed in exceptional cases only. The Special Committees should be guided by the following rules:—

On the day appointed, when the Committee meets, it should open the sealed packet, and submit to the candidates the exercises to be executed by them in its presence, allowing them such reasonable time for the performance of the exercises as may be deemed necessary.

The candidates must not be allowed the use of a Dictionary or other book, nor should they be allowed to hold communication with each other, or any munshi or other persons. The Committee should receive the translations from the candidates, marking on each the time taken to perform it, and forward them to the Presidency Committee by the same day's dawk, duly attested by a certificate signed by the Committee jointly, to the following effect:—

“We do hereby certify that these translations from the vernacular language into English (or vice versâ as the case may be) were executed in our presence between the hours of _____ and _____, without aid or assistance from ourselves, or from any munshi, or other person, and without a Dictionary or other book.”

The Committee should also hear the candidates converse with natives in the language forming the subject of examination, and report, in detail, the degree of fluency and correctness of pronunciation displayed by them. It should also insert in the proper columns of the printed form its judgment of the candidate's qualifications in such terms as good, fair, middling or bad in these two points only.

(G. Rs. Nos. 453, dated 20th March 1865, and 878, dated 19th May 1865.)

8. The practice of sending out on more than one occasion the same piece for translation is so obviously objectionable that it should never be adopted. (G. L., G. D., No. 1118, dated 22nd June 1865).

9. The Committee at Karaehi for examination in Beluchi and Sindhi should be paid fees for each candidate examined at the rates shown in the margin. The carriage allowance of Rs. 3 per diem granted to native members of the Committee should be discontinued. (S. of S. No. 119 Finl., dated 26th June 1890; vide G. R., G. D., No. 3422, dated 26th August 1890.)

10. The Governor in Council does not desire to hamper the discretion of the Board of Examiners to whom it must be left to decide what pieces should be set for translation and what should be the difficulty of such pieces. It is, however, desirable that the Civil and Military Examination Committee, without absolutely restricting themselves to such works, should, when selecting passages from English for translation into Urdu, give a preference to passages taken from modern military historical books, such as those by Kaye and Malleson, the subject-matter of the passages being akin to the topics on which an officer is called on to express himself in the discharge of his duties and in intercourse with his subordinates and the people. (G. R., G. D., No. 2989, dated 29th July 1890.)

11. Permission to appear before the Civil and Military Examination Committee may be granted to subordinate officers by the heads of Departments. (G. R., G. D., No. 2711, dated 9th July 1872, and G. M., G. D., No. 2810 dated 17th idem.)

12. Mere application for leave to attend an examination, even if granted, should not be reckoned as appearance at the examination, but when a Covenanted Civilian who has been granted permission to appear for examination does not purpose to avail himself of such permission, he should intimate his change of mind to the Civil and Military Examination Committee at least ten days before the date of examination so as to save unnecessary trouble to the Examiners. (G. R., G. D., No. 2050, dated 3rd June 1885.)

13. When any candidate is required to pay the prescribed fee for his examination by the Civil and Military Examination Committee, he should pay it to the Accountant General and present his receipt for it to the Committee as authority for his examination. (G. R., G. D., No. 3817, dated 27th October 1886.)

14. In the case of candidates who fail to pass by the Lower Standard and Higher Standard tests at any examination held by the Civil and Military Examination Committee, it is left to the discretion of the Committee as to when they should be permitted to present themselves for re-examination (i. e., whether after one month's or two or more months' further study, the Committee taking into consideration the qualification of such candidates at the time of their failure). Candidates who fail to pass by the High Proficiency and Degree of Honour tests should not be re-examined until the expiration of three months from the date of failure. (G. R., G. D., No. 2925, dated 18th August 1891.)

XV.—SUB-SERVICE DEPARTMENTAL EXAMINATION.

1. The Right Honourable the Governor in Council is pleased to order the publication of the following amended rules for the examination of subordinate establishments of Government in the Revenue, Magisterial and Police Departments in substitution of those embodied in Government Resolution No. 4475, dated 18th October 1869, and published at page 1180 of the Government Gazette of the 21st idem:—

G. R. No. 4837,
dated - 25th August
1875.

An examination will be held annually on the second Wednesday in September, at the Sadar Station of each Collectorate, by a Committee composed of the Collector and Magistrate, his First Assistant and the Huzúr Deputy. In the absence of a First Assistant, his place may be taken by any other Assistant, who shall have passed the second or higher departmental examination.

2. All appointments are to be probationary till this examination has been passed. A probationer shall be bound to appear at the examination to be held next after the expiration of his first year of probationary service. In case of failure he shall be removed from office, but may be permitted to appear at the examination next following, and, if found qualified, may be re-appointed on the occurrence of a suitable vacancy, at the discretion of the officer with whom the nomination rests.

3. The examination shall be of two kinds, written and oral. For the first, questions will be framed on the following subjects, which are classed under separate heads, with a scale of marks to be awarded according to the degree of proficiency under each head:—

I.—Revenue matters.

II.—Magisterial and Police.

III.—Miscellaneous.

EXAMINATIONS.]

4. The questions under the first head will be prepared by the Revenue Secretary to Government, and those under the second head by the Judicial Secretary to Government, and they will be transmitted under seal to the Collector and Magistrate as President of the Committee of Examination, but the adjudication on the answers shall rest entirely with the Local Committee.

5. Under the head "Revenue matters," the questions shall be to test knowledge in the following Acts and Regulations:—

G. N. dated 21st January 1873. Act I of 1871.

G. N. dated 15th August 1877. Act III of 1876, Bombay.

Act I of 1865*, Bombay (Sections 37 and 38)

G. N. No. 533, dated 26th January 1881. Act V of 1879, Bombay.

6. Under the head "Magisterial and Police," the questions shall be to test knowledge in the following:—

Chapters IV, V, VI, VII, IX, XIII, XIV,

G. N. No. 1633, dated 27th February 1883. XVI, XVII, XXXIX, and XLIII, and Chapter XLVI, Section 550 of Act

X of 1882.

Chapter IX of Act XLV of 1860.

G. N. dated 25th July 1870. The District and Village Police Acts VII and VIII of 1867.

7. Under the head "Miscellaneous," the questions shall be prepared by the President of the Examination Committee, and shall be of a character which will test knowledge in the taluka and village accounts. The examinees will also be required to write in the language of the district an account or précis of a revenue case. For the English Department, such account is to be written in English instead of in the vernacular.

8. The number of questions in each of the papers is to be limited to eight, and the time for disposing of each paper is to be limited to two hours.

9. The oral examination will succeed the written papers, and will embrace the system of revenue survey and settlement, including the revised rules, and such general questions connected with the current rules and practice as the Committee may consider suitable. For the English Department the oral examination will include the method of conducting official correspondence, and keeping the records.

The names of the successful candidates will be placed in order of merit, according to the total number of the marks obtained by them. The maximum number of marks assignable for each of the papers will be 200, and the same for the oral examination, making a maximum of 800 marks in all.

* Act I of 1865, except Sections 37 and 38, was repealed by the Land Revenue Code. Act I of 1880 (The Khoti Settlement

An examinee must, in order to pass, obtain 25 per cent. of the number of marks in each subject, and 50 per cent. of the total aggregate number of marks attainable.

These rules do not interfere with the standing orders for examination to test fitness for the office of a Sub-Magistrate to which an officer will still be liable before he can be invested with Magisterial powers.

(G. N., dated 22nd June 1870.)

2. Talátis and stipendiary servants should be examined at the Sub-Service Examinations in the rules and orders regarding boundary marks. (G. R. No. 4340, dated 29th July 1873).

3. An answer paper should be furnished to the Collectors along with the Revenue and Judicial questions sent to them for the Sub-Service Departmental Examination.

The Superintendent, Government Central Press, in transmitting the question papers to the Collectors should cause the English and vernacular papers of Revenue questions to be put in one cover, and the same should be done with the Judicial papers. A very small conventional and confidential mark can distinguish the covers.

(G. R. No. 7063, dated 14th October 1887.)

4. The following rules are prescribed for the conduct of the examinations of subordinate establishments in the Revenue, Magisterial and Police Departments, throughout the Presidency:—

(a) The examinations shall commence daily at 11 A. M. (Madras time).

(b) Only one question paper shall be set each day.

(c) The question papers should be issued in the following order:—

First day—Paper on Magisterial and Police matters; 2nd day—Paper on Revenue matters; 3rd day—Paper on Miscellaneous matters; and

(d) Only one question paper shall be opened at a time.

(G. R. No. 6074, dated 22nd August 1893.)

5. Treasurers are exempted from the operation of the rules for the examination of subordinates in the Revenue, Magisterial and Police Departments. (G. R. No. 1397, dated 15th March 1870.)

---

Act) repeals Sections 37 and 38 of Act I of 1865 so far as they apply to any village to which the former Act extends or may hereafter be extended.

EXAMINATIONS.]

6. All members of the subordinate service appointed since the 12th September 1866 under any of the old tests inferior in standard to the Subordinate Departmental Examination (such as the old examinations by Collector's Committees) must pass that examination. (G. Rs. Nos. 6029, dated 7th December 1870, and 1936, dated April 1871.)

7. No exemption from the Sub-Service Departmental Examination can be permitted. The test prescribed is of a very elementary character. It is especially desirable that clerks in the Account branch of a Collector's office should have some knowledge of the laws which regulate the revenue administration; and every public servant ought to be acquainted with those four chapters of the Codes which are specified in the examination rules. (G. R. No. 2406, dated 19th May 1871.)

8. Persons who would have been exempt from the examination if there had been no break in their service should not be re-examined if re-employed within a year.

Watandars, such as Majmudárs, &c., who were appointed stipendiary Karkúns on the settlement of their watans, should be exempt. (G. R. No. 2554, dated 29th May 1871.)

9. Passing the Sub-Magistrate's Examination will not exempt from liability to pass the Subordinate Departmental Examination. (G. R. No. 3457, dated 17th July 1871.)

10. Huzúr Shroffs are exempted from passing the education test and Sub-Departmental Examination, on the understanding that if they do not pass these examinations they will not be eligible for promotion in any line, and during their service will remain Shroffs. (G. R. No. 6101, dated 14th November 1879.)

11. If any duly qualified candidate, who is appointed probationer, has been acting continuously previous to such appointment, the period during which he has so acted should be counted as part of the year at the expiration of which he becomes liable to pass the Sub-Service Examination. This rule is to be worked with as much consideration as possible. (G. R. No. 5523, dated 4th October 1873.)

12. A probationer in the Revenue Department who has not passed the Sub-Departmental Examination is not required to pass that examination in order to make himself eligible to be confirmed in his appointment if he has already passed the Special Lower or Higher Standard Examination. (G. R. No. 4705, dated 7th September 1880.)

13. Clerks and Karkúns of the Local Fund and Registration Departments and subordinates of the Survey Department as well as the employes of other Departments may, if they wish it, be allowed to appear at the Sub-Service Departmental Examination. (G. Rs. Nos. 865, dated 21st February 1871, 2554, dated 29th May 1871, 3352, dated 12th July 1871, 2717, dated 29th May 1874, and 3664, dated 15th July 1874.)

[EXAMINATIONS.]

14. No one is to be permitted to appear before the Sub-Service Departmental Examination Committee who has not passed the educational test, or obtained a certificate under the old rules. (G. R. No. 4479, dated 20th August 1874.)

15. In the case of those districts in which the number of candidates who have already passed the Sub-Service Departmental Examination is considerably in excess of the number of appointments likely to be available, it is left to the Collector's discretion to refuse admission to the examination to men from other Departments. (G. R. No. 6466, dated 30th August 1883.)

16. The Subordinate Public Service Examination is only for persons actually employed in the service of Government, and candidates other than those should not be allowed to present themselves for examination. But servants of Native States desirous of appearing for examination at the Departmental Examination of Subordinate Establishments of Government held annually at the Sadar Station of each Collectorate may be allowed to do so; but as a guarantee that a candidate is a fit person to appear for examination he should be required to produce a certificate from the Political Officer of the State to which he belongs showing that he is in the service of that State and that he bears a good character.

The above concession is also extended under similar conditions to candidates serving in the A'bkári and Registration Departments of Native States as regards the Government A'bkári and Registration Departmental Examinations.

(G. Rs. Nos. 6682, dated 8th November 1871, 4025, dated 12th July 1881, and 7392, dated 29th October 1887.)

17. The orders in force in the Regulation Districts on the subject of permitting candidates to appear for the A'bkári and Registration Departmental Examinations are applicable to candidates for these examinations from the Sávantvádi State. (G. R. No. 3116, dated 17th May 1888.)

18. Candidates in possession of certificates formerly granted by the College of Science, Poona, may be admitted to the public service without being required to pass the educational test. They must, however, pass the departmental examination prescribed for the subordinate establishments of Government after having served a year of probation. (G. R. No. 1825, dated 17th March 1882.)

19. Candidates for employment in the Subordinate Revenue Department should be examined in the rules and orders regarding the examination of boundary marks. (G. R. No. 3367, dated 13th June 1873.)

EXAMINATIONS.]

20. The Commissioners may pass orders without referring to Government in cases of applications from Karkuns who, on failing to pass the Sub-Service Examination, apply on special grounds to be allowed to continue in service and to appear for the examination again. (G. R. No. 109, dated 8th January 1879.)

21. The surplus copies of question papers set at the examinations of subordinate establishments are not to be distributed either gratis or on payment, but should be destroyed. (G. R. No. 6013, dated 15th November 1880.)

22. Although under No. 8. of the Rules for the examination of Subordinate Establishments of Government in the Revenue, Magisterial and Police Departments, the question paper is to be limited to eight questions, it is not essentially necessary that there should be as many as eight questions. Two hundred marks may be allotted to each paper, which should consist of not more than eight questions, and marks given for several questions should be in proportion to their relative difficulty. (G. R. No. 2011, dated 17th March 1894.)

XVI.—REWARDS.

1. European officers in the Survey Department of rank not lower than Supernumerary Assistant Superintendent, in the Police Department of rank not lower than Assistant Superintendent, in the Customs and Salt Departments of rank not lower than Assistant Collector, and in the Forest Department of rank not lower than Assistant Conservator, will on their passing in the Hindustani language according to the Lower Standard be entitled to a Munshi allowance Rs. 180, and a reward of Rs. 360 will be awarded to those who may pass the Higher Standard at once.

Acting Assistant Collectors of Customs should be held eligible for these allowances. They hold a position analogous to that of Supernumerary Assistant Superintendent of Survey, and should be treated as such. (G. N., G. D., dated 11th March 1868; G. Rs., E. D., Nos. 1728, dated 23rd June 1874, and 1225, dated 27th June 1868; G. M., G. D., No. 1483, dated 5th August 1868; G. R. No. 2001, dated 28th March 1877, and G. R., F. D., No. 3722, dated 19th October 1880.)

2. A reward of Rs. 500 may be granted to officers not below the grade of

Supernumerary Assistant Superintendent of Survey,

Assistant Superintendent of Police,

Assistant Commissioner of Customs,

if they pass by the Higher Standard in the vernacular (not being Hindustani) of the district in which they may be employed within five years of their entering Government service or within five years of coming for the first time into a part of the Presidency where the vernacular in question is spoken. This reward is, however, only to be granted for passing in languages, other than Hindustáni; it should not be given in any case where passing in the particular language is compulsory; and the Higher Standard required from the candidates should in all cases be the Higher Standard laid down for the departmental examination of Covenantel Civilians and not the Higher Standard as fixed for military officers by the orders of the Government of India dated 9th September 1864. (G. I., H. R. & A., No. 65, dated 17th September 1879; vide G. R. No. 5424, dated 9th October 1879.)

Note.—These orders do not apply to Hindustáni, and do not affect former rules for the grant of rewards for passing in that language. The officers to whom the offer of rewards has been extended under these orders cannot claim rewards for passing in languages which it is compulsory on them to pass. (G. R., F. D., No. 3722, dated 19th October 1880.)

3. The rewards referred to in the foregoing order should be granted, subject to the conditions prescribed in the letter from the Government of India, No. 65, dated 17th September 1879, to Assistant Collectors of Salt Revenue, and they should be allowed to Assistant Collectors who were not, as well as to those who were, in the Customs Department before that Department was separated from the Salt Department. (G. R. No. 6489, dated 9th December 1880.)

4. An officer of the Indian Civil Service who passes in a third compulsory language will be entitled to a reward of Rs. 500, provided he passes within one year from the date of his becoming liable to pass in that language. In the Bombay Presidency the compulsory languages are Urdu, Sindhi, Gujaráti, Maráthi and Kánarese. Officers employed in Sind will be entitled to a reward of Rs. 1,000 for passing in Beluchi, Persian or Pashtu, which are optional languages.† An officer who, however, passes the examination in Persian by the Higher Standard and receives the reward of Rs. 500 under Government Notification, General Department, No. 1032, dated 21st March 1882, should, on passing the optional examination in that language prescribed for officers serving in Sind, receive only the difference between this amount and the full reward admissible for the optional test.

* It has since been decided by the Government of India, with the approval of the Secretary of State, that when an officer can, subject to certain conditions, claim a reward for passing in a third compulsory language, he may, provided he fulfils the required conditions, be granted a like reward for every other additional language in which he may be required to pass. (G. of I. Resln. No. 81-91, dated 17th February 1899; G. R. No. 2107, dated 22nd March 1899.)

† The Turki language was originally included in the list of languages for passing in which rewards are admissible to officers serving in Sind. But by the Resolution of the Government of India, Home Department, No. 4-Exn.-425-30, dated 26th October 1895 (G. R. No. 9095, dated 19th November 1895), it has been removed from that list.

EXAMINATIONS.]

These orders are not intended to affect in any way the rules prescribing the rewards to which Junior Civilians will be entitled who succeed in passing High Proficiency and Honours Examination in certain specified languages.

(G. I. Notn., H. D., No. 35-1307, dated 4th May 1874; vide G. N., G. D., dated 20th idem, and G. I., H. D., Nos. 3006, dated 21st December 1874, and 16, dated 22nd February 1884; vide G. R., G. D., No. 791, dated 6th March 1884.)

5. The examination in Persian to qualify an officer serving in Sind to obtain the reward of Rs. 1,000 under the Government of India's Resolution, No. 35-1307, dated 4th May 1874, will be somewhat similar to that styled Preliminary Examination in Nairne's Hand-book. The test will be as follows:—

(1) Construing with readiness and accuracy from the Gulistan and the first four chapters of the Anwar-i-Sohaili, the test being a medium between the Higher and the High Proficiency Standards.

(2) Translating into English, with accuracy, a passage, in an easy narrative style, not taken from the text-books.

(3) Translating intelligibly, and with accuracy of grammar, into Persian an English paper of an easy narrative style.

(4) Translating in like manner a paper of English sentences.

(5) Conversing in the vernacular with a native of Persia with accuracy and fluency.

The Examiners are to see that the papers set are not too easy, while they should not be difficult as those set for the Higher Proficiency test.

Perfect ability to converse fluently and accurately with an ordinary Hill Beluch should be absolutely a sine qua non of the test in the Beluchi language. Major Mockler's Grammar may be substituted for Mr. Gladstone's as the text book in Beluchi for such officers as desire to pass in the Mekrani dialect of Beluchi.

The examination in Persian will take place in Bombay; that in Beluchi will take place in Sind, at such place and before such officers as the Commissioner in Sind may direct. Length of service is no bar to any one's appearing. Officers attached to the Sind Frontier Force may be considered to be usually employed in Sind within the meaning of these orders and are, therefore, entitled to present themselves for examination in Persian and Beluchi.

(G. Rs., G. D., Nos. 2741, dated 22nd September 1874, 1122, dated 14th April 1875, 3655, dated 26th December 1877, and 1031, dated 10th April 1880.)

[EXAMINATIONS.]

6. The Resolution of the Government of India, H. D., No. 35-1307, dated 4th May 1874, is not applicable to officers of the Telegraph Department, but a reward of Rs. 500 is admissible to them under the Public Works Department rules for passing an examination in a language (native) other than Hindustáni equivalent to the Higher Standard in Hindustáni. (G. I., P. W. D., No. 7-E.T., dated 10th January 1876; vide G. R., G. D., No. 293, dated 24th idem.)

7. Uncovenanted Officers in Sind are not likely to be so often employed on any special duty in the Persian Gulf or at Aden as to render it desirable to encourage them by the grant of rewards to acquire knowledge of Arabic. The Government of India do not consider it necessary to include Arabic among the languages for proficiency in which a reward of Rs. 1,000 is sanctioned by their Resolution No. 35-1307, dated 4th May 1874, or to authorize any fresh concession in this respect to Uncovenanted Officers in Sind. (G. I., H. D., No. 15, dated 29th January 1876; vide G. R., G. D., No. 521, dated 11th February 1876.)

8. A reward of Rs. 500 is admissible to military officers employed in Sind for passing in the Beluchi language, provided competent Examiners are available. (G. I., M. D., No. 871, dated 16th December 1875, and G. I., H. D., No. 7, dated 24th January 1876; vide G. R., G. D., No. 171, dated 14th January 1876, and No. 522, dated 11th February 1876; and clause 40, India Army Circulars, 1890.)

9. All Uncovenanted Civilians as well as Convenanted Civil and Military Officers in Sind are eligible for the reward admissible under the rules for passing the prescribed examination in the Beluchi language. (G. R., G. D., No. 124, dated 16th January 1877.)

10. In the case of civil officers, the rewards for passing in Beluchi should be reduced to Rs. 500 and the standard of marks raised from 40 to 60 per cent. Mr. Dame's 'Text-book of the Beluchi language' and Rai Bahadur Hittu Ram's 'Baluchinama' as translated and transliterated by Mr. Douie should be the text-books for the examination in Beluchi by the Higher Standard. (G. I., H. D. Nos. 21, dated 19th February 1890, and 183, dated 31st May 1894; vide G. R., G. D., No. 1109, dated 18th March 1890, and G. R., R. D., No. 5469, dated 27th June 1894.)

11. The test for the examination in Pashtu, for which officers engaged in the administration of Sind may appear under the orders contained in the Resolution of the Government of India, No. 35-1307, dated 4th May 1874, is the same as that for the Higher Standard Examination in Pashtu laid down in Article 2670, Section 24, Volume II, Part II, of the Army Regulation, India. (G. R., G. D., No. 2907, dated 19th August 1892.)

EXAMINATIONS.]

12. Controlling officers may sanction rewards under the rule, which entitles an officer of the Indian Civil Service who, after passing in two compulsory languages, passes in a third compulsory language within one year from the date of his becoming liable to pass in that language, to a reward of Rs. 500; but before sanctioning a reward they should obtain a report from the Accountant General that it is admissible. As Maráthi is not the recognized vernacular language of the Belgaum District it cannot be regarded for the purpose of the rule as a language in which it is incumbent on Junior Civilians serving in that district to pass. (G. Rs. Nos. 6756, dated 5th October 1887, and 4836, dated 6th July 1889).

XVII.—MISCELLANEOUS.

1. The Commissioner in Sind is authorized to issue notifications regarding the passing of vernacular examinations by officers subordinate to him. (G. R. No. 3673, dated 12th October 1866.)

2. Notifications regarding the passing of officers in the Departmental Examinations should be published by the respective Departments to which they belong instead of the Revenue Department issuing the notifications concerning all officers. The Secretary to the Central Committee for Departmental Examination should submit his report of those examinations to the Departments concerned to which the respective officers may belong. (G. R. No. 3054, dated 11th June 1879.)

3. The rules for the admission of candidates to the lower grades of the Public Service are applicable to Shroffs, Bill Collectors, Inspectors and Surveyors.

It is the desire of Government that only passed men be appointed to fill even acting vacancies in permanent or temporary establishments. (G. Rs., G. D., Nos. 1732, dated 22nd July 1869, and No. 1812-A., dated 31st idem.)

4. The rules regarding the admission to the lower grades of the Public Service should be held applicable to appointments in the Registration and Stamp Departments, to the clerical establishments of the Forest Department, to the office staff of the Director of Land Records and Agriculture, and to the agricultural passed students of the College of Science, Poona, recruited for the Circle Inspectors' staff.

Applicants for employment in the Survey and Settlement Department should be required to produce third grade certificates under Schedule B, Scheme 2, under the rules in question; this is not, however, to be held to bar the re-employment of men who have been or may be thrown out of employ in that Department, owing to the reduction recently made in that Department.

[EXAMINATIONS.]

The rules in question have been made applicable to the Customs, Salt and Opium Departments by Government Notifications Nos. 1600 and 1665, dated 2nd and 4th March 1891, published, respectively, at pages 211 and 216 of the Bombay Government Gazette of 1891, Part I, but they need not be extended to appointments in the A'bkari Department.

(G. R. No. 2303, dated 29th March 1893.)

5. The rules regarding admission to the lower grades of the Public Service should be held applicable to appointments in the Stationery and Income Tax Departments in Bombay City. The heads of these offices are, however, authorized to make an exception, if necessary, in the case of the out-door and packing establishments in the Stationery Office and the out-door and cashier's establishments in the Income Tax Office.

The rules in question need not apply to appointments in the Mint, Assay and Postal Departments. They will also not apply to the Accountant General's and Paper Currency offices, for which the requisite rules have been prescribed by the Government of India in Rule 23, Chapter 79 of the Civil Account Code.

(G. R. No. 1554, dated 20th April 1893.)

6. Officers Commanding Divisions and Stations are authorized to receive applications for the examination, in native languages, of Government servants in Civil employ when the applications are submitted by the Heads of Departments serving on the spot. In the case of officers applying to be examined by the Higher Standard test, the Heads of Departments concerned should themselves arrange with the Civil and Military Examination Committee for the transmission of the necessary test papers direct to the General Officer Commanding the Division or District concerned, it being understood that the date and place of examination are to be in every case pre-arranged by Heads of Departments with the Assistant Adjutant-General, Brigade Major, or Station Staff Officer, as the case may be. (G. R., M. D., Nos. 5194, dated 11th December 1871, and 3529, dated 23rd September 1874; vide G. R., G. D., No. 3913, dated 27th December 1871, and G. R., G. D., No. 3081, dated 27th October 1874.)

7. The Departmental Examinations for candidates from Sind should be held at Karachi under the superintendence of a Branch Committee concurrently with those held in Bombay. To this Branch Committee the Assistant Commissioner in Sind should ex-officio be Secretary, the appointment of the President and other members being left to the Commissioner in Sind.

To preserve uniformity of standard in Bombay and Sind, the examination papers for translation into Sindhi will be set to the Sindhi candidates as are set to candidates attending the language part of the examinations in Bombay, though the marks may be assessed in Sind, and the same magisterial case will be set to the Sindhi candidates as is set in Bombay. The Central Committee will send an English translation of the case which will be translated into Sindhi in Sind for the use of the Sindhi candidates.

All papers which hitherto have been set by members of the Central Committee, and to which the answers have been examined and marked by such members, will be sent under sealed cover to the Secretary to the Branch Committee, who will return under sealed cover the answers to the Secretary to the Central Committee for assessment of the marks, and the decision whether a candidate has or has not passed, will rest with the Central Committee.

(G. R., No. 3992, dated 9th July 1881.)

8. The permission allowing the Departmental Examinations to be held at Karachi for candidates from the Province of Sind is extended to other examinations also, i.e., examinations of Head Accountants, Forest and Police Officers, which take place before the Central Committee at the Presidency. These examinations should in future be held before the Branch Committee at Karachi for officers of the above Departments stationed in Sind. The Central Committee on being informed by the ex-officio Secretary to the Branch Committee that a candidate belonging to a certain branch of the service wishes to be examined according to the rules relating to his service, will forward to him the necessary papers under a sealed cover as is done in the case of the Revenue Departmental Examinations. (G. R. No. 5991, dated 11th October 1881.)

9. Arrangements analogous to those sanctioned for Sind candidates for the Departmental Examinations should also be adopted in the case of officers in Sind desirous of being examined in the vernaculars of Sind. The Branch Committee at Karachi is empowered to examine in Sindhi up to the Higher Standard. (G. R., No. 3054, dated 17th May 1887.)

10. The Secretary to the Central Committee for Departmental Examinations should inform candidates of the result of their examination as soon as it is known. (G. M. No. 2255, dated 6th April 1882.)

11. The Secretary to the Central Committee for Vernacular Examinations should report the result of the examinations of Police and Military Officers to the Departments of Secretariat under which they are employed and not to the Revenue Department. (G. R. No. 774, dated 30th January 1889.)

12. Remuneration is not admissible for superintending examinations rendered compulsory on persons belonging to the public service, and is not, therefore, admissible for examining Junior Civilians and officers who retain their appointments only if they pass the examinations. (G. R., F. D., No. 3641, dated 6th June 1882.)

13. The Oriental Translator to Government is not to be allowed any fees for doing duty as Secretary to the Central Committee for Vernacular and Departmental Examinations. (G. R. No. 8487, dated 2nd December 1886.)

14. Travelling allowances under the ordinary rules of the Civil Department and a daily allowance of Rs. 15 should be granted to officers appointed from outside the Bombay Veterinary College, and not resident in Bombay, to serve as Examiners at the College. The daily allowance should be granted for the number of days actually spent in Bombay for the purpose of conducting the examinations. (G. I., R. & A., No. 37C-H. B. and A. S., dated 11th December 1889; vide G. R., R. D., No. 13, dated 3rd January 1890; and G. R., F. D., No. 3290, dated 21st September 1891.)

(Note.—By Government Resolution, Educational Department, No. 1163, dated 3rd June 1892, it has been decided that the foregoing orders should be interpreted to mean that the officer concerned should be granted travelling allowance for the journey to Bombay and back at the rate mentioned in Chapter 48 of the Civil Service Regulations, and during the halt only at Bombay for conducting the examination, an allowance of Rs. 15 a day.)

15. Officers who are specially appointed to serve as Examiners in the Lower and Higher Departmental Examinations, and are required to leave their stations to conduct such examinations, cannot, under the provisions of Article 89 (d) of the Civil Service Regulations be granted any remuneration, as these examinations are examinations rendered compulsory on persons belonging to the public service within the meaning of the first sentence of that article; and as it is not open to the Local Government to declare, under the provision embodied in the second sentence of the article, that such examinations do not come within the ordinary duties of the officers conducting them, Government has a right to require its officers to undertake the conduct of examinations necessary to provide requisite administrative machinery as part of their duty and without extra payment. The view that in the case of a Collector of a District this work is a public duty only within the limits of his charge, cannot be accepted. The ordinary travelling allowance with halting allowance is admissible under the Regulations to officers deputed from their own stations to conduct Departmental Examinations, and there will be very few cases in which, unless a deputation allowance is granted, officers deputed on such duty will be exposed to hardship. For these reasons the Government of India cannot authorize the grant of remuneration to officers who are required to leave their stations to conduct Departmental Examinations. (G. I., H. D., No. 423, dated 27th December 1894; vide G. R., F. D., No. 122, dated 12th January 1895.)

16. The Oriental Translator to Government should himself prepare the copies and translations of the passages set by him at examinations, or, if he is unable to do this entirely unaided, he should entrust a part of the duty to one trustworthy Assistant in whom he can repose full confidence. (G. N. No. 8980, dated 21st December 1882.)

No person can be permitted to present himself for examination before the Central Committee for Departmental Examination until he has been appointed to some office in a Civil Department, but any person who having been appointed to officiate during a temporary vacancy ceases to hold office on the expiration of the period of such vacancy, may present himself for examination in a vernacular language before the Central Committee for Departmental Examination, even though at the time he may not be holding any appointment under Government. (G. R. No. 2565, dated 24th March 1884.)

17. Any case in which in the opinion of the Examination Committee a candidate has culpably neglected the duty of preparing himself for an obligatory Departmental Examination should be reported to Government. (G. R., F. D., No. 3218, dated 23rd November 1885.)

18. The Accountant General should submit to Government quarterly lists of Government officers against whom the penalty of deduction from pay is enforced for not passing examinations prescribed by the rules. (G. M. No. 8701, dated 29th December 1888.)

19. Heads of offices are authorized to grant permission to their subordinates to appear for examinations in vernacular languages. (G. R. No. 7800, dated 3rd October 1892.)

EXPLOSIVES.

I.—RULES TO REGULATE THE TRANSPORT AND IMPORTATION OF EXPLOSIVES.

1. In supersession of the Notification by the Government of India, Home Department, No. 1417 (Public); dated the 24th June 1887, and in exercise of the powers conferred by Sections 5 and 7 of the Indian Explosives Act (IV of 1884), the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives.

These rules extend to the whole of British India, but the rules relating to the transport of explosives shall cease to apply to any port as defined in the Indian Ports Act (X of 1889), for which special rules made by the Local Government are for the time being in force, in so far as they are expressly superseded by, or are inconsistent with, such special rules.

Nothing in these Rules shall apply to the manufacture, possession, use, sale, transport, or importation of any explosive—

- (a) by order of the Government, or
- (b) by any person employed under the Government in the execution of the Indian Explosives Act (IV of 1884) or as a keeper of a magazine, artizan, soldier, sailor, policeman or otherwise, or enrolled as a volunteer under the Indian Volunteers Act (XX of 1869), in the course of his employment or duty as such.

PRELIMINARY.

1. For the purposes of these rules, explosives shall be classified as follows, namely :—

|         |     |     |                   |
|---------|-----|-----|-------------------|
| Class 1 | ... | ... | Gunpowder.        |
| Class 2 | ... | ... | Nitrate-mixture.  |
| Class 3 | ... | ... | Nitro-compound.   |
| Class 4 | ... | ... | Chlorate-mixture. |
| Class 5 | ... | ... | Fulminate.        |
| Class 6 | ... | ... | Ammunition.       |
| Class 7 | ... | ... | Firework.         |

And when an explosive falls within the description of more than one class, it shall be deemed to belong exclusively to the latest of the classes within the description of which it falls.

CLASS 1.—Gunpowder Class.

The term "gunpowder" means exclusively gunpowder ordinarily so called.

CLASS 2.—Nitrate-mixture Class.

The term "nitrate-mixture" means any preparation, other than gunpowder ordinarily so called, formed by the mechanical mixture of a nitrate with any form of carbon or with any carbonaceous substance not possessed of explosive properties, whether sulphur be or be not added to such preparation, and whether such preparation be or be not mechanically mixed with any other non-explosive substance.

The nitrate-mixture class comprises such explosives as—

Pyrolithe,
Pudrolithe,
Poudre saxifragine,

and any preparation coming within the above definition.

CLASS 3.—Nitro-compound Class.

The term “nitro-compound” means any chemical compound possessed of explosive properties, or capable of combining with metals to form an explosive compound, which is produced by the chemical action of nitric acid (whether mixed or not with sulphuric acid) or of a nitrate mixed with sulphuric acid upon any carbonaceous substance, whether such compound is mechanically mixed with other substances or not.

The nitro-compound class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Nitro-glycerine, Dynamite,
Lithofracteur,
Dualine,
Glyoxiline,
Methylic nitrate,

and any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation which consists either wholly or partly of nitro-glycerine or some other liquid nitro-compound.

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Gun-cotton, ordinarily so called,
Gun-paper,
Xylidine,
Gun sawdust,
Nitrated gun-cotton,
Cotton gunpowder,
Schultz's powder,
Nitro-mannite,
Picrates,
Picric powder,
Tonitè (or cotton-powder), and any nitro-compound as before defined which is not comprised in the first division.

CLASS 4.—Chlorate-mixture Class.

The term “chlorate-mixture” means any explosive containing a chlorate.

The chlorate-mixture class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's blasting powder,
Brain's blasting powder, and any chlorate preparation which consists partly of nitro-glycerine or of some other liquid nitro-compound.

EXPLOSIVES.]

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's original blasting powder,
 Erhardt's powder,
 Reverley's powder,
 Hochstadter's blasting charges,
 Reichen's blasting charges,
 Teutonite,
 Chlorated gun-cotton, and any chlorate-mixture as before defined, which is not comprised in the first division.

CLASS 5.—Fulminate Class.

The term 'fulminate' means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture, whether included in the foregoing classes or not, which from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion-caps or any other appliances for developing detonation, or which, from its extreme sensibility to explosion and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous.

The fulminate class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such compounds as the fulminates of silver and of mercury and preparations of these substances, such as are used in percussion-caps, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with phosphorus, or certain descriptions of phosphorus compounds, with or without the addition of carbonaceous matter, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with sulphur, or with a sulphurate, with or without carbonaceous matter.

Division 2 comprises such substances as the chloride and the iodide of nitrogen, fulminating gold and silver, diazobenzol, and the nitrate of diazobenzol.

CLASS 6.—Ammunition Class.

The term "ammunition" means an explosive of any of the foregoing classes when enclosed in any case or contrivance, or otherwise adapted or prepared so as to form a cartridge or charge for small-arms, cannon, or any other weapon, or for blasting or to form any safety or other fuze for blasting, or for shells, or to form any tube for firing explosives, or to form a percussion-cap, a detonator, a fog-signal, a shell, a torpedo, a war-rocket, or other contrivance other than a firework.

The term "percussion-cap" does not include a detonator.

The term "detonator" means a capsule or case which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive of the fulminate-explosive class in such quantity that the explosion of one capsule or case will communicate the explosion to other like capsules or cases.

The term "safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting, which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive in such quantity that the burning of such fuze will not communicate laterally with other like fuzes.

The expression "safety cartridges" means cartridges for small-arms of which the case can be extracted from the small-arm after firing, and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges. The term also includes rifle-calibre machine-guns cartridges if they are of the above description, whether they are for use with machine-guns having chambers identical with those of rifles or with machine-guns which have special chambers.

The maximum gauge at which a small-arm cartridge can be accepted as "safety" is one inch. The following are the gauges of the machine-gun cartridges which may be accepted as "safety":—

- 303-inch cordite.

- Martini-Henry rifle, solid case.

- 45-inch Gardner, Gatling and Nordenfeldt, except Martini-Henry chambered guns.

- 4-inch.

Cartridges of larger gauge are not safety cartridges.

The ammunition class has three divisions.

Division 1 comprises exclusively—

- Safety cartridges,

- Safety fuzes for blasting,

- Fuzes for shells, and tubes friction for guns; provided there be no more than five fuzes or 25 tubes in one package, and that the package be a hermetically sealed metal cylinder.

- Railway fog signals,

- Percussion-caps.

Division 2 comprises any ammunition as before defined which does not contain its own means of ignition and is not included in division 1, such as—

- Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,

- Cartridges and charges for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes,

- Shells and torpedoes containing any explosive,

- Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,

- Fuzes for shells,

- Tubes for firing explosives,

- War-rockets,

which do not contain their own means of ignition.

Division 3 comprises any ammunition, as before defined, which contains its own means of ignition and is not included in division 1, such as—

- Detonators,

EXPLOSIVES.]

Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,

Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,

Fuzes for shells,

Tubes for firing explosives,

which do contain their own means of ignition.

By ammunition containing its own means of ignition is meant ammunition having an arrangement, whether attached to it or forming part of it, which is adapted to explode or fire the same by friction or percussion.

CLASS 7.—Firework Class.

The firework class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises firework compositions, that is to say, any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation of an explosive or inflammable nature, which is used for the purpose of making manufactured fireworks, and is not included in the former classes of explosives, and also any star and any coloured fire composition, subject to the proviso hereinafter set forth.

Division 2 comprises manufactured fireworks, that is to say, any explosive of any of the foregoing classes and any firework composition, when such explosive or composition is enclosed in any case or contrivance, or is otherwise manufactured so as to form a squib, cracker, toy cap or amorce, serpent, rocket (other than a war-rocket), maroon, lance, wheel, Chinese fire, Roman candle, or other article specially adapted for the production of pyrotechnic effects or pyrotechnic signals or sound signals.

Provided that a substantially constructed and hermetically closed metal case containing not more than 1 lb. of coloured fire composition of such a nature as not to be liable to spontaneous ignition shall be deemed to be a "manufactured firework".

TRANSPORT.

(a) Packing.

2. The following general rules shall be observed with respect to the packing of explosives for conveyance:—

I.—Each class of explosive shall be separately packed.

II.—An explosive, not being an explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class, or of the 2nd and 3rd divisions of the 6th (ammunition) class, or of the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, shall, if not exceeding 5 lbs. in quantity, be contained in a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle made and closed so as to prevent the explosive from escaping.

III.—In every other case the explosive shall be contained in a double package. The inner package shall be a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptabe made and closed so as to prevent the explosive from escaping, and the outer package shall be a box, barrel, or case of wood or metal or other solid material, and shall be of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow the explosive to escape:

Provided as follows:

(a) If the explosive is of the 1st (or gunpowder) class or of the 2nd (nitrate-mixture) class, or is gun-cotton or another explosive of the 2nd division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class, the quantity of the explosive in any one outer package shall not, in the case of explosives of the first two classes, exceed 100 lbs., and in other cases 50 lbs.

If the explosive is picric acid, the inner package must be of such a nature as to effectually prevent any picric acid from coming into contact with any basic metallic oxide.*

(b) If the explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class or to the 4th (chlorate-mixture) class, the inner package shall be without any metal in its construction, and the inner or outer package or both shall be thoroughly waterproof.† No one of the inner packages shall contain more than 10 lbs., and the aggregate quantity of the explosive in any one outer package shall not exceed 50 lbs.

(c)—1. If the explosive belongs to the 5th (fulminate) class, and is of such character that it cannot be packed mixed with water, or that danger would arise from such mode of packing, it shall be packed in such manner as shall be specially directed by the Governor-General in Council.

2. Any other explosive of the fulminate class shall be packed as follows: It shall be packed in bags or coverings of calico, canvas, or other material permeable to water, and containing each not more than 25 lbs. of fulminate, and so made and closed as to prevent any explosive from escaping. Such bags or coverings shall be packed

* Note.—This rule is intended to prevent picric acid being packed in a case lined with certain metals, such as zinc or lead, which would result in danger arising from the formation of a picrate. Waterproof bags inside powder-barrels are suggested as a simple and safe method of packing picric acid for transport or storage.

† Note.—From the requisition that the package should be waterproof are excepted—

(1) All explosives falling in the 2nd division of the 4th (chlorate-mixture) class.

(2) Those explosives included in the 1st division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class which do not yield up their nitro-glycerine in contact with water, such as blasting gelatine, gelatine dynamite, cordite and ballistite, and gelignite: provided that any other substance than those named has been certified to be of this character by a Chief Inspector of Explosives.

EXPLOSIVES.]

in a case containing sufficient water to ensure the explosive being kept constantly wet, and such case (hereinafter called the inner case) shall be packed in an outer case containing sufficient water constantly to surround the inner case; and the inner case and the outer case shall each be of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any fulminate or water to escape; and the amount of the explosive in any one outer case shall not exceed 200 lbs., except with the consent of, and under conditions approved by, an Inspector of Explosives.

3. Every package when actually used for the packing of one fulminate shall not be used for the packing of any other fulminate or for any other purpose.

4. On the outer case there shall be affixed in conspicuous characters by means of a brand or securely attached label or other mark the word "Explosive," with the name of the explosive followed by the words "Fulminate, Division 1" (or 2 as the case may be) and the name and address of the owner or sender.

(d)—1. If an explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class, it shall be contained in a box, barrel, or case of wood, metal, or other solid material, and of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape.

2. If the explosive belongs to the 2nd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, the following rules shall apply, viz. :—

(i) A shell or torpedo containing any explosive material, whether such shell or torpedo be separate or form part of a rocket or other appliance, shall be packed in such manner as may be specially directed by the Governor-General in Council with reference to such explosive.

(ii) Any explosive material when made up into a cartridge or charge for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes, shall be packed in the manner required for the same explosive material when not so made up :

Provided that where a double package is required, the enclosing case of such cartridge or charge, if it satisfies the conditions required for the inner package, may be held to be such inner package.

(iii) Any other explosive of the 2nd division shall be packed in a box, barrel, or case of wood, metal, or other solid material, and of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape: and any one such package shall not contain more than 100 lbs. of ammunition.

(e) If the explosive belongs to the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, it shall be packed in a double package. The inner package shall not contain more than 2 lbs. of such explosive, and no more than 50 lbs. shall be contained in the outer package.

(f) If the explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, it shall be contained in a double package. The inner package shall be a substantial canister, case, or other receptacle hermetically closed, and containing no more than 1 lb. of explosive, and no more than 20 lbs. shall be contained in the outer package; and

(g) If the explosive belongs to the 2nd division of the 7th (firework) class, it shall be contained in a box, barrel, or case of wood, metal, or other solid material, and of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape, and the quantity of explosive in any one package shall not exceed 100 lbs.

IV.—Whatever be the amount of the explosive, and to whatever class or division of a class it belongs, the following conditions shall be observed:—

(a) The interior of every package, whether single or double, shall be kept free from grit and otherwise clean;

(b) every package, whether single or double, when actually used for the packing of the explosive, shall not be used for the packing of any other explosive of the same or any other class or for any other purpose, except with the consent of, and under conditions approved by, an Inspector of Explosives;

(c) there shall be any iron or steel in the construction of any such single package or inner or outer package unless the same is effectually covered with tin, zinc, or other suitable material;

(d) on the outermost package there shall be affixed, in conspicuous characters, by means of a brand or securely attached label or mark, the word "Explosive," followed by the name of the explosive or other description of the contents, and the name and address of the owners or senders; and

(e) the amount of the explosive in any single package, or, if there is a double package, in any one outer package, shall not exceed the amount specified in the foregoing rules, except with the consent of, and under conditions to be approved by, an Inspector of Explosives or other officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf.

3. Whoever commits a breach of any of the foregoing rules relating to the packing of explosives for conveyance, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000.*

(b) Mode of conveyance.

4. The following general rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives:—

I.—No explosive shall be conveyed from place to place unless packed in the manner provided for in the foregoing rules.

II.—There shall not be conveyed in any carriage or vessel, which is being used for the conveyance of an explosive, any explosive of a different class and division, of whatsoever nature, which contains its own means of ignition, unless it is sufficiently separated therefrom to prevent any fire or explosion which may take place in one such explosive being communicated to another.

III.—Except in the case of small consignments carried by railway, which may be unloaded at any time, explosives shall be loaded or unloaded only between sunrise and sunset. For the purposes of this rule no consignment of more than half a wagon-load booked to one station shall be deemed to be a small consignment.

IV.—Whilst the explosive is being loaded on or unloaded out of any carriage or vessel, no fire or artificial light, nor any article which is liable to cause or communicate fire or explosion [such as charcoal, lucifer-matches, articles for striking a light, petroleum to which the Petroleum Act (XII of 1886) or any other Act for the time being in force regarding the importation, possession, and transport of petroleum, applies, or any spirit or oil or substance that gives forth an inflammable vapour at a temperature below 100° Fahrenheit] shall be, or shall be allowed to be, brought, had, or used dangerously near to such carriage, ship, or boat, and no smoking shall be allowed in, on, or dangerously near, to the same:

Provided that when the use of a light for the purposes of such loading or unloading is unavoidable, a lamp of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger from fire or explosion may be used; and no person, while handling any explosive (except an explosive of division 1, class 6; or an explosive of class 7, if packed in accordance with the packing rules) shall wear boots or shoes with iron or steel nails, heels, or tips.

V.—In the loading or unloading of any explosive, the casks and packages containing the same shall be passed from hand to hand and not rolled upon the ground; they shall not be thrown or dropped down, but shall be carefully deposited and stowed.

VI.—The explosive shall not be conveyed except in the interior of a carriage so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or in the hold of a ship or boat having a close deck so closed, as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without. If the explosive cannot be so secured, it shall be completely covered with painted cloth, tarpaulin, or other suitable material so as to effectually protect it against communication of fire.

VII.—There shall not be any iron or steel in the interior of the portion of the carriage or vessel with which the case containing the explosive is in contact, unless the same is effectually covered with leather, wood, cloth or other suitable material.

VIII.—In the stowing of the explosive, due precautions shall be taken by means of a partition or otherwise, and by careful stowing to secure such explosive from being brought into contact with, or endangered by, any other article or substance conveyed in such carriage or vessel which is liable to cause fire or explosion; and if the explosive is dangerously affected by water, due precautions shall be taken to exclude water from coming into contact with such explosive.

IX.—The amount of the explosives conveyed in any one carriage or vessel at any one time shall not exceed 2,000 lbs., unless the carriage be so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or the vessel have a close deck so closed, as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without, in which case the amount of the explosives conveyed shall not exceed the following:—

|                                  |              |
|----------------------------------|--------------|
| In any one carriage on a railway | ... 10 tons. |
| In any one other carriage        | ... 2 "      |
| In any one vessel                | ... 20 "     |

Note.—This rule shall, in the case of dynamite conveyed by railway, be read subject to paragraph XII of Rule 6.

X.—Nothing in the foregoing rules (except Rule I) shall apply to any explosive of the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class:

Provided that all due precautions are taken for the prevention of accidents.

5. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives otherwise than by railway:—

I.—No explosive shall be conveyed in a carriage or boat whilst carrying or plying for public passengers, unless the quantity is less than 5 lbs., and notice has been given beforehand to the person in charge of such carriage or boat:

Provided that there shall not be conveyed in any such carriage or boat any explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class, or any explosive of the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class or of the 1st division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class, except—

- (i) dynamite which may be carried in the form of cartridges up to the limit of 5 lbs. :

Provided that no detonators are carried in the same compartment ; and

- (ii) detonators to the number of 200 :

Provided that the amount of explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class in the detonators shall in no case exceed in the aggregate 3 oz. (a certificate to this effect being given by the Agent of the Company by whom the detonators are tendered for transport) :

Provided also that no dynamite is carried in the same compartment.

II.—With respect to the conveyance by carriage or vessel of explosives of the 5th (fulminate) class, or of the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, or of the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, or of larger quantities than 5 lbs. of any other explosive, the following regulations shall be observed :—

- (1) The person in charge of the carriage or vessel shall not drive or conduct the same in a dangerous or reckless manner, and shall take all due precautions to avoid fire and explosion, and no person shall do any act or thing in relation to the explosive which tends to cause fire or explosion, and is not reasonably necessary for the conveyance of the explosive or for work immediately connected with such conveyance ; and a person who is intoxicated shall not have charge of any carriage or vessel conveying explosive, and shall not be permitted to be in, or on, or attending the same.
- (2) A person shall not forward to any warehouseman or carrier a consignment of explosive, unless he has given notice to such warehouseman or carrier beforehand, stating the name and quantity of the explosive proposed to be conveyed, and the name and address of the proposed consignee, and has had an intimation that the warehouseman or carrier is prepared to receive the consignment ; and a warehouseman or carrier shall not make such an intimation, nor receive such consignment, unless he is prepared to receive it, and forthwith to despatch the same, or to deposit it in a magazine or at a place at which a person is licensed to possess the same.
- (3) The carriage or vessel conveying the explosive shall be in charge of, and constantly attended by, some competent person, or by a sufficient number of competent persons, and such persons shall not, if the amount of the explosive conveyed exceed 100 lbs., stop or delay for a longer time than may be reasonably necessary, or stop unnecessarily at any place where such stopping would be attended with special public danger.

6. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives by public railway :—

I.—No person shall send for carriage upon any railway any consignment of an explosive, unless he has given to the officer in charge of the railway station previous notice in writing which, at the option of the Railway Administration, may extend to 48 hours, of his intention to send such consignment, and stating the true name, description, quantity, and mode of packing of the explosive proposed to be conveyed, and his own name and address, and also the name and address of the proposed consignee, and unless he has had an intimation in writing from an authorized officer of the railway that such consignment will be received.

II.—No explosive which a Railway Administration shall, by any notice or regulation for the time being in force, notify that they will not receive, shall be brought, sent, or forwarded to, or upon, any railway of the said Railway Administration.

III.—Consignments of explosives shall be sent to the forwarding station and shall be received by the railway servants, only at such times, between sunrise and sunset, as the Railway Administration may appoint; and every package containing any explosive proposed to be conveyed on any railway shall immediately on arrival at the station be unloaded and placed in a safe place under the special direction of the officer in charge of the station.

All gunpowder under despatch or receipt by a Government arsenal, dépôt, or factory, shall be loaded or unloaded in the railway vans by Government servants employed in such arsenal, dépôt or factory. In each van used by the railway for the transport of gunpowder the packages of gunpowder shall be secured in such a way as to prevent concussion when the train is in motion.

IV.—An explosive shall be removed by the consignee from the receiving station during the twelve hours of daylight after arrival: if this condition is not strictly complied with, the Railway Administration may return the consignment to the consignor at his risk and expense. And such packages shall in the meanwhile be kept as far away from the station buildings as possible in the wagon they were conveyed in, or, if unloaded, shall be completely covered with tarpaulins or other suitable material, and, if necessary, shall be protected by a police guard.

V.—The Railway Administration may refuse to receive any packages which they suspect to contain any explosive packed or sent in contravention of these regulations. And in case any package, which the Railway Administration suspect, shall be upon any railway, the Railway Administration may open, or require to be opened, such package, to ascertain the fact, at the risk and expense of the consignor, and may return the explosive contained in the package to the consignor at his risk and expense, keeping the packages, pending such return, in the manner prescribed in the preceding rule.

VI.—Subject to the exception provided for in clause (e), no explosive shall be conveyed by passenger-train except of the kinds and in the manner hereinafter specified in this rule:—

(a) Safety cartridges and percussion-caps and safety-fuze (for blasting), also fog-signals for railway use, which may be conveyed in ordinary wagons or carriages.

(b) Dynamite which may be carried in the form of cartridges up to the limit of 5 lbs.:

Provided that no detonators are carried in the same compartment.

(c) Detonators which may be carried to the number of 200:

Provided that in no case the amount of fulminate of mercury in the package or packages containing the detonators exceeds in the aggregate 3 oz. (a certificate to this effect being given by the Company, firm or person tendering the detonators for transport or by its or his agent):

Provided also that no dynamite is carried in the same compartment.

(d) Sporting gunpowder or non-safety cartridges packed in double cases as before provided, so long as the gunpowder is contained in one-pound tin canisters packed in a stout wooden case with an outer covering of tin or zinc completely spark-proof, or in metal-lined cases of a pattern approved by the Railway Administration. But no outer case shall contain more than 25 lbs. of gunpowder, and the total consignment of gunpowder or non-safety cartridges by one train shall not exceed 80 lbs.

(e) Explosives may be carried by mixed trains on any line on which goods trains are not running, subject to the conditions that not more than one vehicle containing explosives is forwarded at any one time by a mixed train; that the precautions prescribed for conveyance by goods trains are observed; and that directly a wagon containing explosives arrives at a section on which goods trains are running, it is detached from the mixed trains.

VII.—Not more than five carriages containing explosives shall be loaded or unloaded at any railway station, or be conveyed by any one train at any one time; and the quantity of explosive to be contained in any one carriage shall not exceed two-thirds of the normal load, unless the carriages shall be specially built and approved of by the Government of India for the conveyance of explosives. But nothing in this clause shall be held to apply to separate consignments of small-arms ammunition.

VIII.—There shall not be conveyed in the same carriage with any explosive, any lucifer or other matches, fuzes, pipelights, acids, naphtha, paraffine, petroleum to which the Petroleum Act (XII of 1886), or any other Act for the time being in force regarding the importation, possession and transport of petroleum, applies, or any other volatile spirit or substance liable to give off an inflammable vapour or liable to spontaneous ignition, or to cause or communicate fire or explosion.

IX.—The consignor shall attach to the consignment note a certificate or (provided the original is produced for verification) copy of a certificate, signed by an officer authorized by the Local Government in this behalf that the explosive, if it is an explosive of class 3 or 4, is of the standard purity; and further, in the case of dynamite, and all nitro-glycerine compounds, that there are no signs of exuded nitro-glycerine or of liquefaction. The consignor shall also certify that the explosive has been packed in accordance with the packing rules in force in England or in British India.

X.—In the case of explosives under classes 3 and 4 the outer packages shall be marked with the date of the manufacture of the explosives. The abovementioned certificate shall contain sufficient information to admit of all packages being easily recognised.

XI.—The certificate referred to in Rule IX shall be valid for six months after date, if the examination has been made between the 15th October and 31st March; but any Railway Administration which accepts dynamite for transport may demand a fresh certificate for dynamite presented for conveyance between 1st April and 15th October (both inclusive).

XII.—Packages containing dynamite shall be stowed in one layer only and secured so as to prevent movement during transit, and the gross load in any one wagon shall not exceed 3 tons:

Provided that, if the packages of dynamite are in rectangular form and are properly secured so as to prevent movement during transit, they may be stowed in any number of layers not exceeding five, and the gross load in any one wagon shall not exceed 5 tons.

XIII.—No explosive belonging to the 5th (fulminate) class or to class VI, division 3, shall be carried in the same train with dynamite, or with any other explosive belonging to class III, division 1.

EXPLOSIVES.]

XIV.—Wagons used for the carriage of explosives shall be examined to see that they are spark-proof, and have been cleaned out before they are loaded. Hair, cloth, hides, or other suitable materials shall be spread on the floor of the wagon and between each layer of packages, except when the packages are covered with gunny or felt, or contain small-arms ammunition packed in tin-lined service-pattern boxes.

XV.—Wagons containing explosives shall be loaded and unloaded on sidings distant as far as possible from the station buildings.

XVI.—Five layers of packages in rectangular form and of uniform size (provided they are double packages, and are so secured as to prevent movement during transit) may be packed one above another. Otherwise not more than three layers of packages containing explosives shall be packed one above another. But in the case of small-arms ammunition packed in tin-lined service-pattern boxes, there is no restriction. Subject to the provisions of Rule 4 (III), the loading and unloading of explosives when once begun shall be diligently proceeded with until the same is completed.

XVII.—When the train is being marshalled, wagons loaded with explosives may be shunted by a locomotive, if they are separated from the engine by not less than three wagons containing no explosive nor easily inflammable substance; this precaution is not necessary with wagons specially constructed for the carriage of explosives. The speed of these movements shall be restricted to 5 miles an hour; they shall be superintended by a duly authorized officer, who shall be held responsible for the observance of these orders. Flying shunts are strictly prohibited.

XVIII.—Wagons containing explosives shall be placed at the end of the train away from the locomotive, and shall be close coupled to one another, as well as to the adjoining wagons, and preceded and followed by three wagons not loaded with explosives or other traffic of an inflammable nature.

XIX.—If the wagons employed in the transport of explosives are provided with brakes other than iron brakes, the brakes thereon shall on no account be worked while the wagons are running with a train, nor shall brakes, other than iron brakes, on vehicles immediately adjoining such wagons, be worked while such wagons are so running.

3rd March

XX.—Wagons shall in every case be locked when loaded with explosives.

XXI.—All operations connected with the transshipment of explosives at junction stations shall take place during daylight.

7. Whoever commits a breach of any of the foregoing rules relating to the mode of conveyance of explosives, shall be punishable with a fine which may extend to Rs. 100.

IMPORTATION.

8. An explosive shall not be imported by sea into British India, except under, and in accordance with, the conditions of a license to import the explosive granted under these rules:

Provided that any explosive other than an explosive specified in Rule 11 may, previous to the grant of an importation license, if certified to be of British manufacture or, if not of British manufacture, if imported from the United Kingdom and covered by the certificate granted by one of Her Majesty's Inspectors of Explosives in England, be landed in accordance with such regulations as the Local Government may prescribe in this behalf, and be stored in a place set apart by the Local Government for this purpose. The Governor General in Council may extend this privilege to any such explosive not of British manufacture regarding which he is satisfied that it has been manufactured under adequate official supervision.

Before any explosive is landed under the proviso to this rule, the consignee shall give to the Chief Customs Officer of the Port such undertaking, with or without security, as the said officer thinks sufficient, to obey, in the event of the explosive failing to satisfy the prescribed tests, such directions as to its disposal as the Local Government may see fit to prescribe.

If samples are taken by an officer deputed by the Chief Customs Officer on board the ship on its arrival the procedure shall be that prescribed in Rule 15.

9. Whoever imports an explosive in contravention of Rule 8, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to Rs. 3,000.

10. An explosive shall not be imported by sea except at the ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, Calicut, Karachi, and Aden; but a license to import an explosive by sea from Rangoon into the ports of Akyab, Moulmein, Sandoway, Kyauk-Phyoo, Tavoy and Mergui may be granted by the Magistrates of the Districts in which these ports are respectively situated. The fee payable in respect of each such license shall be one rupee, and the license shall be in Form A in the Schedule hereto annexed.

11. If the explosive is gunpowder or an explosive of the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class or an explosive of the 7th (firework) class, the license to import the same may be granted at the ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay by the Commissioner of Police, and at the ports of Rangoon, Calicut, Karachi, and Aden by the District Magistrate.

EXPLOSIVES.]

12. The fee payable in respect of each such license shall be Rs. 10, but if any explosive imported under a license into a British port is exported thence to another British port named in Rule 10, the necessary license for such re-import may be granted on payment of a fee of one rupee instead of Rs. 10.

*13. Licenses for the importation by sea of any explosives other than those specified in Rule 11 shall be granted by the Local Government or by some officer specially authorized by the Local Government in this behalf.

14. No license shall be granted for the importation of any explosive of the description referred to in Rule 13, if it be an explosive for which a test or examination has been prescribed by or under the orders of the Government of India, unless samples of the explosive taken, as hereinafter provided, are certified by the Chemical Examiner or some other officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf to have passed the test or examination from time to time prescribed.

15. On the arrival, in any port at which the importation of explosives is lawful, of a ship having on board an explosive other than an explosive of the description referred to in Rule 11, such officer as the Chief Customs Officer authorizes in this behalf shall, as soon as may be, proceed on board and shall, if testing or examination is requisite under the last preceding rule, obtain samples of the explosive.

All explosives of which samples are taken for examination shall be forthwith deposited in a duly licensed place or places of storage, and shall not be distributed for use until the importer has received from the licensing authority notice that it may be so distributed.

The master of the ship shall give to the said officer, without charge, such samples as he may require. The said officer shall affix to each such sample the name of the ship and of the consignee and such other distinguishing marks as he may think necessary, and shall forward the same to the Chemical Examiner or officer as aforesaid for report.

The Chemical Examiner or officer as aforesaid, after testing the said samples, shall without delay forward to the licensing authority, through the Chief Customs Officer, a report under his signature certifying whether the explosive has satisfied the prescribed test.

15-A. Explosives, other than those referred to in Rule 11, which have already undergone the test prescribed by Rules 14 and 15 at the ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, Calicut, Karachi or Aden, may be re-imported by sea into any other of those ports under a license granted under Rule 13, without re-testing, but subject, in the case of such explosives as are mentioned in Rule 6, Clause IX, to the production of the certificate prescribed in that clause.

* Under No. 13 of the rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives published with Government Notification No. 5289, dated 14th July 1897, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to authorize the Commissioner in Sind to grant the import licenses therein referred to at the port of Karachi.

Such certificate shall be valid for six months after date, if the examination has been made between the 15th October and 31st March; but in the case of dynamite, a fresh certificate may be demanded if the consignment is imported between the 1st April and 15th October (both inclusive).

16. The period for which a license to import an explosive, granted under Rule 13, shall continue in force shall not exceed such period as may seem necessary to the authority granting the license.

17. The fee payable on a license granted under Rule 13 shall be Rs. 10, but, if any explosive imported under a license into a British port is exported thence to another British port named in Rule 10, the necessary license for such re-import may be granted on payment of a fee of one rupee instead of Rs. 10.

18. Every license granted under Rules 11 and 13 shall be in Form A in the Schedule hereto annexed, and shall be subject to the conditions therein prescribed, and also to such additional conditions with respect to the time and place of unloading, landing, delivery, and conveyance of the explosive, and such other conditions as may in each case be thought by the licensing officer to be necessary for the public safety or in the interests of the State.

19. Whoever commits a breach of any condition subject to which a license under Rules 11 and 13 is granted, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to Rs. 3,000.

GENERAL.

20. Every license granted under these rules shall be liable to be forfeited on breach of any of the conditions subject to which it is granted.

21. If a person licensed to import an explosive dies or becomes bankrupt, or becomes mentally incapable or otherwise disabled, the person carrying on the business of such licensee shall not be liable to any penalty or forfeiture under the Indian Explosives (Act IV of 1884) or the rules thereunder for acting under the license during such reasonable time as may be necessary to allow him to make an application to the authority granting the license for a new license in his own name during the currency of the unexpired portion of the original license. Such new license shall be granted on the payment of one rupee.

22. The fees leviable under these rules shall be taken in the shape of impressed stamps. Ordinarily the applications for licenses or renewals of licenses shall, if not otherwise provided, be written on impressed stamps of value equal to the amount of fee leviable in respect of such licenses or renewals,

When an application for license is written on an impressed stamp, and the license is refused, the value of the stamp will on application be refunded to the applicant.

23. When a license granted in accordance with these rules is lost, or accidentally destroyed, a duplicate may be granted to the licensee on payment of a fee of 8 annas.

24. Any person holding a license, or acting under a license granted in accordance with these rules, shall be bound to produce the same when called upon to do so by any Magistrate, or by any Police officer in charge of a Police station, or by any Police officer of higher rank.

25. All Magistrates or other authorities acting under these rules shall perform their duties subject to the control of their executive superiors and of the Local Government.

26. Any authority empowered to grant a license under the foregoing rules may, if he thinks fit, direct by any order written on the license that it shall have the effect of a like license under the Indian Arms Act (XI of 1878).

27. Any persons lawfully entitled under the Indian Arms Act, 1878 (XI of 1878), or the rules thereunder, to possess any explosive coming under the head of ammunition, as defined in that Act, may possess or import without license under these rules any such explosive in such quantities as may be prescribed by that Act or the rules thereunder, or, when no quantities are prescribed, in reasonable quantities for his own private use, but, when an explosive is so imported, the Collector of Customs or any other officer empowered by the Local Government in this behalf by name or by virtue of his office, may at any time detain such explosive until he receives the orders of the Local Government thereon.

RULE FOR TESTING EXPLOSIVES.

2. With reference to Rule 14 of the rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives published with Home Department Notification No. 1393, dated the 8th July 1897, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rule on the subject of the tests which explosives should be required to pass before their importation is permitted:—

Rule.

Class 1.—Gunpowder class. Gunpowder is not required to pass a test.

Class 2.—Nitrate-mixture class. Nitrate-mixture explosives are not ordinarily required to pass a test. The Local Government, however, or the authorized officer granting the import license under Rule 13 of the Rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives published with Home Department Notification No. 1393, dated the 8th July 1897, may in any particular case or class of cases require that a sample of the explosive which is to be imported be sent first to the Chemical Examiner for an analysis of its constituent parts.

Class 3.—Nitro-compound class. It is for explosives of this class that testing is chiefly required, in respect to the purity of their composition and their liability to liquefaction or exudation. The tests prescribed for nitro-compound explosives are contained in Schedule A attached to this rule.

Class 4.—Chlorate-mixture class. See Schedule A for remarks regarding the testing of this class*.

Class 5.—Fulminate class. No test has been laid down for explosives of the Fulminate class.*

Class 6.—Ammunition class. No test is required for explosives of the 1st division of this class. If the substances of which explosives of the 2nd and 3rd divisions are composed have to be tested under the preceding rules, they will be equally liable to be tested when enclosed in any case or contrivance and thus falling under the Ammunition class.

Class 7.—Firework class. Explosives of this class are not required to pass a test.

diameter, and with an aperture of about 5 inches; the bath is filled with water to within a quarter of an inch of the edge. It has a loose cover of sheet copper about 6 inches in diameter (b), and rests on a tripod stand about 14 inches high (c), which is covered with coarse iron wire gauze (e), and is surrounded with a screen of thin sheet tin or copper (d). Within the latter is placed an Argand burner (f), with glass chimney. The cover (b) has four holes arranged as seen in Fig. II, No. 4 to receive the regulator, No. 3 the thermometer, Nos. 1 and 2 the test-tubes containing the gun-cotton or other materials to be tested. Around holes 1 and 2 on the under side of the cover are soldered three pieces of brass wire with points slightly converging (Fig. III); these act as springs and allow the test-tubes to be easily placed in position and removed.

* 2. Scheibler's or Page's temperature regulator.

* 3. Two cells of Le } if Scheibler's regula-Clanché's battery No. 1. } tor is used.

* 4. A few yards of in- } sulated copper wire. } tor is used.

5. Test tubes from  $5\frac{1}{4}$  to  $5\frac{1}{2}$  inches long, and of such diameter that they will hold from 20 to 22 cubic centimeters of water when filled to a height of 5 inches.

6. India-rubber stoppers, fitting the test-tubes and carrying an arrangement for holding the test-paper, viz., a narrow glass tube passing through the centre of the stopper, drawn out so as to form a hook, or terminating in a platinum wire hook (Fig. IV).

7. A thermometer, with range not less than from  $30^{\circ}$  to  $212^{\circ}$  Fahrenheit.

8. A minute clock.

* This is not absolutely required, as the temperature of the bath can be kept constant by proper attention to the heating flame.

EXPLOSIVES.]

Materials required.

(a.) Test-paper.—The test-paper is prepared as follows:—45 grains of white maize starch (cornflour), previously washed with cold water, are added to  $8\frac{1}{2}$  ounces of distilled water; the mixture is stirred, heated to boiling, and kept gently boiling for 10 minutes; 15 grains of pure potassium iodide (i.e., which has been recrystallized from alcohol) are dissolved in  $8\frac{1}{2}$  ounces of distilled water. The two solutions are thoroughly mixed and allowed to get cold. Strips, or sheets, of white English filter paper previously washed with water and redried, are dipped into the solution thus prepared, and allowed to remain in it for not less than 10 seconds; they are then allowed to drain and dry in a place free from laboratory fumes and dust. The upper and lower margins of the strips, or sheets, are cut off, and the paper is preserved in well-stoppered or cork, bottles, and in the dark.\* The dimensions of the pieces of test-paper used are about  $\frac{4}{10}$  inch by  $\frac{8}{10}$  inch (10 mm. by 20 mm.).

(b.) Standard tint paper.—A solution of caramel in water is made of such concentration that when diluted one hundred times (10 cc. made up to 1 litre), the tint of this diluted solution equals the tint produced by the Nessler test in 100 cc. water containing 0.000075 grm. of ammonia or 0.00023505 grm. of chloride of ammonium. With this caramel solution lines are drawn on strips of white filter paper† by means of a clean quill-pen. When the marks thus produced are dry, the paper is cut into pieces of the same size as the test-paper previously described, in such a way that each piece has a brown line across it near the middle of its length, and only such strips are preserved in which the brown line has a breadth varying from  $\frac{1}{2}$  mm. to 1 mm. ( $\frac{1}{50}$  th of an inch to  $\frac{1}{25}$  th of an inch).

1.—TESTING DYNAMITE, BLASTING GELATINE, AND OTHER EXPLOSIVE OF THE FIRST DIVISION OF THE NITRO-COMPOUND CLASS.

A.—DYNAMITE, ETC., ETC.

Nitro-glycerine preparations, from which the nitro-glycerine can be extracted in the manner described below, must satisfy the following test, otherwise they will not be considered as manufactured

* When a paper is freshly prepared, and as long as it remains in good condition, a drop of dilute acetic acid put on the paper with a glass rod, produces no coloration. In process of time, however, the stronger the light to which the paper is exposed, the sooner a drop of the acid produces a brown or bluish coloration (a single hour of direct sunlight produces a marked effect); and whenever this is the case, the paper should be rejected. On this account it is advisable not to prepare too much of the test-paper at one time, but to prepare it fresh every month or so.

† This paper must be carefully washed with distilled water in the first instance, to remove any traces of bleaching matter and dried.

with "thoroughly purified nitro-glycerine" within the terms of the license.*

Apparatus required.

A funnel 2 inches across (d), a cylindrical measure divided into grains (e). (See sketch.)

About 300 to 400 grains of dynamite (b) finely divided are placed into the funnel, which has previously been loosely plugged by some freshly-ignited asbestos (a).

The surface is smoothed by means of a flat-headed glass rod or stopper, and some clean washed and dried Kieselguhr (c) is spread over it to the depth of about  $\frac{1}{8}$  inch.

Water is next carefully dropped from a wash bottle upon this Kieselguhr, and when the first portion has been soaked up, more is added; this is repeated until sufficient nitro-glycerine has been collected in the graduated measure (e) below.

If any water should have passed through with the nitro-glycerine, it should be removed with a piece of blotting paper, and the nitro-glycerine, if necessary, filtered through a dry paper filter.

Application of the Test.

The thermometer is fixed so as to be inserted through the lid of the water bath described under I, page 422, into the water (which is to be steadily maintained at a temperature of 160° Fahr.) to a depth of  $2\frac{3}{4}$  inches. Fifty grains of nitro-glycerine to be tested, are weighed into a test-tube in such a way as not to soil the sides of the tube. A test-paper is \* This test, though at present looked upon as the most important, as far as testing the purity of the nitro-glycerine is concerned, is in England only one of several which any given sample of nitro-glycerine preparation has to satisfy in order to establish its compliance with the definition in the license.

fixed on the hook of the glass rod so that, when inserted into the tube it will be in a vertical position. A sufficient amount of a mixture of half distilled water and half glycerine to moisten the upper half of the paper is now applied to the upper edge of the test-paper, by means of a camel's-hair pencil, the cork carrying the rod and paper is fixed into the test-tube and the position of the paper adjusted, so that its lower edge is about half-way down the tube; the latter is then inserted through one of the perforations of the cover to such a depth that the lower margin of the moistened part of the paper is about five-eighths of an inch above the surface of the cover. The test is complete when the faint brown line which after a time makes its appearance at the line of boundary between the dry and moist part of the paper equals in tint the brown line of the standard tint paper.

The nitro-glycerine under examination will not be considered as "thoroughly purified" within the terms of the license unless the time necessary to produce the standard tint as above described is at least 15 minutes.

B.—BLASTING GELATINE, GELATINE DYNAMITE, AND ANALOGOUS PREPARATIONS.

Fifty (50) grains of blasting gelatine are to be intimately incorporated with one hundred (100) grains of French chalk.\* The mixture is to be gradually introduced into a test-tube of the dimensions prescribed above for the dynamite heat test, with the aid of gentle tapping upon the table, between the introduction of successive portions of the mixture into the tube, so that when the tube contains all the mixture it shall be filled to the extent of  $1\frac{3}{4}$  inches (one inch and three-quarters) of its height. The test-paper is then to be inserted and the heat is to be applied in the manner prescribed above for the dynamite heat test, and the sample tested is to withstand exposure to 160° Fahr. for a period of (10) ten minutes before producing a discoloration of the test-papers corresponding in tint to the standard colour test which is employed for governing the results of the dynamite heat test.

(For Exudation and Liquefaction tests for Blasting Gelatine, etc., etc., see Appendix, p. 429.)

N.B.—Non-gelatinized nitro-glycerine preparations, from which the nitro-glycerine cannot be expelled by water, are tested without any previous separation of the ingredients, the temperature being as above (160° Fahr.) and the time being seven (7) minutes.

---

* This can be readily effected by carefully working the two materials together with a wooden pestle in a wooden mortar.

The French chalk should be of good commercial quality, and after being carefully washed with distilled water and dried in a water oven, it should be exposed under a bell jar to moist air until it has taken up about 0.5 per cent. of moisture. It should then be bottled for use; and with ordinary care the limits of 0.5 per cent. can be maintained in keeping.

C.—CORDITE AND BALLISTITE.

1. Apparatus required.

The apparatus necessary for the application of the heat test to cordite is identical with that described above (see page 422) for explosives of the nitro-compound class generally* with the addition of a mill and a nest of sieves similar to those used at Waltham Abbey for preparing the cordite for testing (see instructions below).

2. Preparation of the sample to be tested.

Pieces half an inch long are cut from one end of every stick selected for the test; in the case of the thicker cordites, each piece so cut is further subdivided into about four portions. These cut pieces are then passed two or three times through the mill, the first portion of material which passes through being rejected on account of the possible presence of foreign matter from the mill. The ground material is put on the top sieve of the nest of sieves and sifted. That portion which has passed through the top sieve and been stopped by the second is taken for the test. After each sample has been ground, the mill must be taken to pieces and carefully cleaned.

3. Application of the Test.

The thermometer is fixed so as to be inserted through the lid of the water bath, described under I, page 422, so as to be immersed in the water to a depth of 2½ inches. The water is maintained at a constant temperature of 180° Fahr. When this temperature is reached, 25 grains of the sifted cordite are put into one of the test-tubes, and collected at the bottom by gentle tapping. A test-paper is fixed on to the hook of the glass rod, so that when inserted into the tube it will be in a vertical position. A mixture of equal parts of distilled water and pure glycerine (Price's) is now applied to the upper edge of the test-paper by means of a camel's-hair pencil, in sufficient amount to moisten the upper half; the stopper carrying the rod and paper is fixed into the test-tube and the position of the paper adjusted so that its lower edge is about half-way down the tube; the latter is then inserted through one of the perforations of the cover to the same depth as the thermometer. The lower margin of the moistened part of the paper should then be about five-eighths of an inch above the surface of the cover. The test is completed when the faint brown line, which after a time makes its appearance at the margin between the wet and dry portions of the test-paper, equals in depth of tint the brown line drawn on the standard tint paper.

4. The time which elapses between the insertion of the test-tube and the completion of the test must not be less than 15 minutes.

* In the Waltham Abbey apparatus the cover (Fig. II) has all the holes around the circumference, instead of having one in the centre and three around the circumference.

EXPLOSIVES.]

N.B.—In the case of ballistite the treatment is the same; except that when it is in a very finely granulated condition it need not be cut up.

II.—TESTING GUN-COTTON, SCHULTZE GUNPOWDER, E. C. POWDER, AND OTHER EXPLOSIVES OF THE 2ND DIVISION OF THE NITO-COMPOUND CLASS.

A.—GUN-COTTON, TONITE, ETC., ETC.

Sufficient material to serve for two or more tests is removed from the centre of the cartridge by gentle scraping, and, if necessary, further reduced by rubbing between the fingers.

The fine powder thus produced is spread out in a thin layer upon a paper tray 6 inches by  $4\frac{1}{2}$  inches, which is then placed inside a water oven, kept, as nearly as possible, at  $120^{\circ}$  Fahr.

The wire gauze shelves in the oven should be about 3 inches apart. The sample is allowed to remain at rest for 15 minutes in the oven, the door of which is left wide open.

After the lapse of 15 minutes the tray is removed and exposed to the air of the room for two hours, the sample being at some point within that time rubbed upon the tray with the hand, in order to reduce it to a fine and uniform state of division.

Application of the Test.

The cover of the water bath is fitted with the gas regulator which is inserted through the centre hole (No. 4). The thermometer is fixed into hole No. 3. The water in the bath is then heated to  $170^{\circ}$  Fahr., and the regulator set to maintain that temperature. Twenty grains of the sample to be tested are weighed out, placed in the test-tube, and gently pressed down until the specimen occupies a space of as nearly as possible  $1\frac{5}{16}$  inches in a test-tube of the dimensions specified. A test-paper is affixed to the hook of the glass rod or tube, and moistened by touching the upper edge with a drop of distilled water containing 50 per cent. of Price's glycerine. The quantity of liquid used must be only sufficient to moisten about half of the paper. The cork carrying the rod and test-paper is then fixed into the test-tube, and the latter inserted into the bath to a depth of  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inches, measured from the cover, the regulator and thermometer being inserted to the same depth. The test-paper is to be kept near the top of the test-tube, but clear of the cork until the tube has been immersed for about five minutes. A ring of moisture will about this time be deposited upon the sides of the test-tube a little above the cover of the bath; the glass rod must then be lowered until the lower margin of the moistened part of the paper is on a level with the bottom of the ring of moisture in the tube; the paper is now closely watched. The test is complete when a very faint brown coloration makes its appearance at the line of boundary between the dry and moist parts of the paper.

The interval of time between the first insertion of the tube containing the sample of gun-cotton in the water at  $170^{\circ}$  and the first appearance of discoloration on the paper constitutes the test, and this interval of time must be not less than 10 minutes, or the sample will not be accepted as properly purified.

*B.—Gelatinized Gun-cotton Preparations.**

Twenty-five grains introduced into test-tube of the dimensions prescribed for the dynamite heat test, then proceed as for Blasting Gelatine, etc., taking the temperature at  $180^{\circ}$  Fahr., and the time as 15 minutes.

C.—Schultze Powder, E. C. Powder, Collodion Cotton, etc., etc.

Sufficient of the sample, without further mechanical division, is dried in the oven as above, and then exposed for two hours to the air. The test as directed above for Compressed Gun-cotton, etc., is then applied, the minimum duration of test being the same, viz., 10 minutes.

(1) The material shall contain not more than 0.3 part of mineral or non-combustible matter in 100 parts by weight of the material dried at  $160^{\circ}$  Fahr.

(2) One hundred parts of the dry material shall not contain more than 0.3 part of total (free and combined) sulphuric acid, of which not more than 0.1 part shall be free sulphuric acid.

(3) Twenty grains of the material shall stand the heat test as laid down for dynamite (see ante, p. 423) for not less than 15 minutes.

E.—Ammonite, Bellite, Roburite, and Explosives of similar Composition.

These are required to stand the same heat test as gun-cotton (see ante, p. 427.)

III.—TESTING CHLORATE MIXTURES.

No tests have yet been laid down, as at present there are no authorized explosives of this class, but in the event of any being authorized, it would be necessary to require that they should satisfy the heat test laid down for gun-cotton, and from time to time the degree of sensitiveness to percussion or friction (especially a glancing blow) should be observed.

* If in a compressed form it should be broken up in the same manner as cordite and ballistite.

APPENDIX.

EXUDATION AND LIQUEFACTION TEST FOR BLASTING GELATINE, GELATINE DYNAMITE, AND ANALOGOUS PREPARATIONS.Test for Liquefaction.

A cylinder of blasting gelatine is to be cut from the cartridge to be tested, the length of the cylinder to be about equal to its diameter and the ends being cut flat.

The cylinder is to be placed on end on a flat surface without any wrapper, and secured by a pin passing vertically through its centre.

In this condition the cylinder is to be exposed for one hundred and forty-four (144) consecutive hours (six days and nights) to a temperature ranging from 85° to 90° Fahr. (inclusive), and during such exposure the cylinder shall not diminish in height by more than one-fourth of its original height, and the upper cut surface shall retain its flatness and the sharpness of its edge.

N.B.—If the blasting gelatine and the gelatine dynamite to be tested be not made up in a cylindrical form, the above test is to be applied with the necessary modifications.

Test for Liability to Exudation.

There shall be no separation from the general mass of the blasting gelatine or gelatine dynamite of a substance of less consistency than the bulk of the remaining portion of the materials under any conditions of storage, transport, or use, or when the material is subjected three times in succession to alternate freezing and thawing, or when subjected to the liquefaction test hereinbefore described. (G. I., H. D., Notn. No. 1394, dated 8th July 1897, vide G. N. No. 5283, dated 14 idem.)

6. The Chemical Analyser to Government is authorized to grant the certificates referred to in clause IX of Rule 6 of the rules published in the Notification of the Government of India No. 1417,* dated 24th June 1887, he being the officer qualified to certify to the purity of explosives and to pronounce an opinion upon the question of their deterioration. (G. R. No. 4516, dated 9th July 1888.)

7. The Railway Administrations may refuse to receive for conveyance any consignment of explosives until they have satisfied themselves that the certificate referred to in Rule 6 (XI) of the Government of India Notification No. 1417,† dated 24th June 1887, tendered therewith, actually refers to that consignment and otherwise satisfies the conditions laid down in the rules. (G. R. No. 3803, dated 26th May 1893.)

8. The Port Trustees, as Conservators of the Port of Bombay, should undertake the conduct of prosecutions in cases of breaches of the rules applying to the transport of explosives within the port of Bombay published in Government Notification No. 9724,* dated 24th December 1889. (G. Rs. Nos. 4396, dated 23rd June 1890, and 4860, dated 14th July 1890.)

9. As all explosives which are the property of Government are exempted from the operations of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, no rules under it can be framed which could apply to such explosives. In the opinion of the Government of India, it would be better that Government Departments should follow the local rules for regulating the transport of explosives within each port than that special rules for Government explosives generally applicable to the whole of British India should be prescribed. The local rules which should be observed in the transport of explosives within the limits of the ports of Bombay, Aden and Karachi are those sanctioned in Home Department letter No. 2322,† dated 6th December 1889. (G. I., H. D., No. 1406, dated 21st July 1890; vide G. Rs. Nos. 5583, dated 11th August 1890, and 7164, dated 2nd October 1890.)

10. The prescribed rules for the conveyance by rail of explosives and dangerous goods should be observed in respect of acids and similar dangerous articles consigned from England to Government Departments up-country. No exception should be made in this matter in favour of Government property. (G. R. No. 1612, dated 3rd March 1891.)

11. Carbolic acid is one of a large group of articles which come within the category of "Dangerous goods" and are apt to leak badly in railway transit. The rules of the G. I. P. Railway Company for the packing and conveyance of these goods lay down that the articles "must be contained in strong tins or in bottles corked and sealed, which must be enclosed in wooden boxes and securely packed in sawdust" so that they may be loaded in ordinary wagons. If they are not so packed, it is more than probable that other consignments in the same wagon will be spoiled and the Railway Company will be liable for damage to other goods. The Railway Company is, therefore, right in refusing to accept such articles except when packed as required by the rules, and the Governor in Council does not see that any case has been made out for the relaxation of those rules.

12. If the Commissariat Department desires to send drums of carbolic acid in their original English packing it might do so in special vans, but it is for that Department to consider which is the cheaper mode of transit.

(1) The applicant shall submit to the District Magistrate, or, in a Presidency-town and its suburbs, to the Commissioner of Police, an application in writing accompanied by a plan (drawn to scale) of the place in which it is proposed to keep the explosive (herein referred to as the magazine) and the site thereof.

(2) The application shall specify such of the following matters as are applicable, namely—

- (a) the boundaries of the land forming the site of the magazine, and either any belt of land surrounding the site which is to be kept clear, and the buildings and works from which it is to be kept clear, or the distances to be maintained between the magazine, or any part thereof, and other buildings and works;

- (c) the amount of explosives and of ingredients thereof wholly or partly mixed to be allowed at the same time within the boundaries of the magazine; and
- (d) any special terms which the applicant may propose by reason of any special circumstances arising from the locality, the situation or construction of any buildings or works, or the nature of any process or otherwise.

(3) Upon receipt of the said application—

- (a) The District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police, as the case may be, shall thereupon cause notice to be published of the application, and fix a date on which any persons shall be heard objecting to the establishment of a magazine on the proposed site, who have not less than seven clear days before the day of hearing, sent to the said District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police, and to the applicant, notice of their intention to appear and object, with their name, address, and calling, and a short statement of the grounds of their objection.

The Local Government may thereupon grant the license applied for, either in accordance with the recommendation of the District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police, or with the addition of any additional restrictions and precautions as may be deemed proper, or may refuse such license :

Provided that, if the distance of the proposed magazine from any dwelling-house, highway, street, public thoroughfare or public place is less than 200 yards, or if for any other reason it considers it advisable to do so, the Local Government shall, before granting the license, obtain the opinion of an Inspector of Explosives after inspection of the place by him.

If a table of distances to be observed has been prescribed, it will be sufficient to see that the provisions regarding the minimum distance so laid down for the case is not infringed.

Provided that, if the application is for the renewal of a license issued prior to the issue of the table of distances, the Local Government may, if the Inspector of Explosives advises that this can be done without danger, renew the license without requiring that the table of distances shall be complied with.

- (g) If the Local Government grant a license, it shall forward the same to the District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police, who, when satisfied that the magazine is sufficiently completed according to the license to justify the use thereof, shall confirm the license ; but, until so confirmed, the license shall not come into force.

19. Every license granted under Rule 17 shall be in Form E in the schedule hereto annexed, and shall be subject to the conditions prescribed therein.

Provided that—

- (1) whenever the Superintendent or the Assistant Superintendent of the Gunpowder Factory, Kirkee, or any Magistrate subordinate to the District Magistrate seizes, detains or removes any such explosive, he shall report the fact to the District Magistrate; and that
- (2) neither the Superintendent nor the Assistant Superintendent of the said Factory, nor any Magistrate subordinate to the District Magistrate, shall destroy any such explosive without the previous sanction of the District Magistrate.

23. A person licensed to possess an explosive shall not be required to take out a license for the manufacture of the explosive by reason that in connection with his magazine or licensed premises he fills for sale or otherwise any cartridges for small arms with the said explosive :

Provided that he observes the following regulations, namely :—

- (1) There shall not be in the room in which such filling is being carried on more than five pounds of gunpowder, or an amount to be prescribed by the Local Government in this behalf of any other explosive, except it is made up into safety cartridges ;
- (2) Any work unconnected with the making of the cartridges shall not be carried on in the room while such filling is being carried on ;

- (4) The room in which the filling is carried on shall be detached from the magazine, but in the immediate neighbourhood thereof, and at such distance therefrom as may be specified on the license by the authority granting the same ; and
- (5) The occupier shall give notice to the authority granting his license that he intends to carry on such filling of cartridges as is allowed by this rule.

28A. A person licensed to possess an explosive shall not be required to take out a license for manufacture by reason that, in connection with his magazine or licensed premises he, by filling cartridges, making charges, dry, sifting, fitting or otherwise, adapts or prepares the said explosive for use exclusively in his mine or quarry or in some excavation or work carried on by him, or under his control.

Provided that he observes the following regulations, namely:—

- (1) There shall not be in the workshop in which such adaptation or preparation is carried on more than 100 lbs. of gunpowder, or an amount to be prescribed by the Local Government in this behalf of any other explosive;
- (2) Any work unconnected with such adaptation or preparation shall not be carried on in the said workshop while adaptation or preparation is being carried on;
- (3) The said workshop shall be detached from the magazine, but in the immediate neighbourhood thereof, and at such distance therefrom as may be specified on the license by the authority granting the same;
- (4) An explosive of one description shall not be converted into the explosive of another description, and shall not be unmade or resolved into its ingredients; and
- (5) The occupier shall give notice to the authority granting his license that he intends to carry on such adaptation or preparation as is allowed by this rule.

GENERAL.

29. Every license granted under these rules shall be liable to be forfeited on breach of any of the conditions subject to which it is granted.

30. If a person licensed to manufacture, possess or sell an explosive, dies or becomes bankrupt, or becomes mentally incapable or otherwise disabled, the person carrying on the business of such licensee shall not be liable to any penalty or forfeiture under the Indian Explosives Act (IV of 1884) or the rules thereunder for carrying on the business or acting under the license during such reasonable time as may be necessary to allow him to make an application to the authority granting the license for a new license in his own name during the currency of the unexpired portion of the original license. Such new license shall be granted on payment of one rupee.

31. The fees leviable under these rules shall be taken in the shape of impressed stamps. Applications for licenses or renewals of licenses shall, if not otherwise provided, be written on plain paper, the licenses themselves being issued on impressed stamps of value equal to the amount of fee leviable in respect of such licenses or renewals.

32. All licenses except licenses to manufacture an explosive under Rule 12, or to possess explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class under Rule 21, shall expire on the 31st December of the year for which they are granted. Licenses granted under Rule 12, 21, shall be current for the terms therein specified. But the currency of a license may, unless the circumstances have so changed that the grant of a new license would either not be authorized under the Act and the rules, or is deemed objectionable by the licensing authorities an application previous to its expiration, be renewed on payment of the original fee.

33. When a license granted in accordance with these rules is lost, or accidentally destroyed, a duplicate may be granted to the licensee on payment of a fee of eight annas.

34. Any person holding a license, or acting under a license, granted in accordance with these rules, shall be bound to produce the same, when called upon to do so by any Inspector of Explosives or any Magistrate or by any Police officer in charge of a Police station, or by any Police officer of higher rank.

35. All Magistrates or other authorities acting under these rules shall perform their duties subject to the control of their executive superiors and of the Local Government.

36. Any authority empowered to grant a license under the foregoing rules may, if he thinks fit, direct by an order written on the license that it shall have the effect of a like license under the Indian Arms Act (XI of 1878).

37. Any persons lawfully entitled under the Indian Arms Act (XI of 1878), or the rules thereunder, to possess any explosive coming under the head of ammunition as defined in that Act, may possess, without license under these rules, any such explosive in such quantities as may be prescribed, by that Act, or the rules thereunder, or, when no quantities are prescribed, in reasonable quantities for his own private use.

Provided that in the case of any building or work above-mentioned which is so screened from the Magazine by the natural features of the ground, or by good and sufficient artificial mounds of earth, as not to be visible from any part of such Magazine, the distance assigned above as that to be observed between such building or work and the Magazine may be reduced by one-half.

Provided also that in the case of any building or work above-mentioned which is so screened from the Magazine by an intervening hill that a line drawn from any part of such building or work to any part of such Magazine would pass through such hill, the distance assigned by this schedule as that to be observed between such building and work and the Magazine may be reduced by three-fourths, subject nevertheless to a notification in writing from Government Inspector.

that, in his judgment, the intervening hill, in respect of which such reduction is claimed, is not of a character to justify such reduction, whereupon this proviso authorising such reduction as aforesaid shall be deemed not to apply in respect of the said building or work.

The distances to be maintained between the Magazine and such buildings and works as are specified in this schedule shall be those set forth in the said schedule; and if at any time after the grant of this license, by reason of the approach of any such buildings or works, the Magazine ceases to be beyond the distances therein specified, this license shall cease to authorise the use of the Magazine for the keeping of explosives.

Notes.—(a) Buildings and Magazines inside a Factory will be required to preserve the distances from each other specified in the first (Workshop) line of the schedule. The same rule will apply to two or more Magazines, not in a factory belonging to the same occupier or by mutual consent of the respective occupiers.

(b) Detonators may be kept in an annexe near to or adjoining a Magazine under the following conditions:—

(1) The amount of explosive contained in the detonators must not exceed 100 lbs. reckoned in the proportion of not less than  $2\frac{1}{4}$  lbs. of explosive per 1,000 detonators. (This proportion represents roughly about 44,000 detonators of "sextuple" strength; with detonators of greater strength the number would be of course less.)

(2) The detonator annexe must be so constructed that not less than two feet of masonry and three feet of air-space shall intervene between any detonators in such annexé and the interior of the Magazine.

(G. N. No. 5579, dated 26th July 1897.)

2. Where the provisions of the Bombay Municipal Acts of 1872 and 1878 are in conflict with those of the Indian Explosives Act, the latter must prevail.

3. The desirability of amending Section 69 of the Bombay District Municipal Act of 1873 with a view to prevent the possibility of difficulties arising in Municipalities other than Bombay by the operation of that section which would enable Municipal Commissioners to treat as a nuisance places within the Municipality which the District Magistrate may have sanctioned as a place for the storage of explosives, will be borne in mind when legislation to amend that Act is taken in hand. In the meanwhile any District Magistrate, who contemplates issuing a license for the manufacture or storage of explosives within Municipalities, should be careful to ascertain and consider any objections the Municipality concerned may have to his doing so, before he issues such license. (G. R., G. D., No. 2660, dated 5th September 1837.)

4. The Indian Explosives Act does not require that two separate licenses should be taken out for the manufacture, possession and sale of the same explosive—one under that Act and the other under the Indian Arms Act, 1878. The intention of Section 15 of the Explosives Act is that a license under that Act may have, as regards the explosives manufactured, the effect of a license under the Arms Act, if an endorsement be made on it to that effect by a competent officer empowered on that behalf by the rules under which the license is granted. 5. The rules laid down in Government Notification No.* 4116, dated 5th July 1897, for regulating the manufacture, possession and sale of explosives in the Bombay Presidency, contemplate the inclusion in division 2 of the 7th class of explosives of such articles as fire-works intended for the use of steamers. (G. R. No. 3254, dated 21st May 1888.)

6. The following orders, inter alia, were passed by Government on the recommendations of the Committee appointed by Government Resolution No. 1966, dated 22nd March 1892, to enquire into the circumstances connected with the explosion, on 28th December 1891, of a dynamite magazine at Antop Hill:—

(1) That no new magazines should be constructed near those now existing at Antop Hill, that the exploded magazine should not be rebuilt on its former site, and that the existing and all future magazines at Antop Hill should be protected by traverses.

(2) That certificates by the Chemical Analyser should be insisted on for all consignments of explosives carried by rail in accordance with Rule 6, clauses IX, X and XI, of the rules contained in the Notification of the Government of India, No.† 1417, dated 24th June 1887.

(3) That efficient lightning conductors should be provided and that each conductor should be tested by a competent person at least once a year, the continuance of licenses to depend on the conductors being maintained in efficient order.

(G. R. No. 8703, dated 4th November 1892.)

7. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 5, sub-section (2), clause (b), of the Indian Explosives Act (IV of 1884), and in modification of the rules made by the various Local Governments thereunder, the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following rule as to the fee to be charged for licenses to possess explosives granted to contractors, cultivators and other persons:—

No fee shall be charged for licenses granted to contractors, cultivators or other persons to possess gunpowder, fuzes or other explosives in reasonable quantities when the same are proved to the satisfaction of the officer granting the license to be required bond fide, in the case of licenses granted to contractors, for blasting purposes, and, in the case of licenses granted to cultivators or other persons, for blasting purposes in connection with agricultural works or works of public utility.

III.—MISCELLANEOUS.

1. Publication of draft rules.—Under Section 18, sub-section (2), of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to prescribe that drafts of proposed rules under the Act shall be published—

(a) When the authority making the rules is a Local Government, in one issue of the local Official Gazette in English and in such other language or languages as the Local Government may direct; and

(b) when the authority making the rules is the Governor-General in Council, in one issue of the Gazette of India in English, and in one issue of the local Official Gazette (if any) of every Local Government in British India in English and in such other language or languages as the Local Government may direct.

This notification supersedes Home Department Notification No. 1437, dated the 14th August 1885.

2. Purchase of Explosives.—The Government of India having considered the question of the source from which it is desirable to obtain explosives for use in India, has decided that it is, on the whole, preferable to purchase them, as necessity arises, in this country. (G. I., F. & C., No. 6809, dated 26th December 1887; vide G. R. No. 364, dated 19th January 1888.)

3. Shipment of Gunpowder, &c., on passenger vessels.—The shipment of gunpowder and ammunition on passenger vessels may be allowed when packed in the manner described in the Regulations for Her Majesty's Transport Service, 1886 (vide Articles 28, 29 and 31) and stowed in magazines constructed (at the cost of the owner) in accordance with the specification given in Appendix XXVI of the Regulations, subject to the approval of the Port Officer.* (G. ## FERRIES.*

1. It is hereby notified that the limits of each district for the purposes of clause 2 of Section 16 of the Bombay Ferry Act (No. II of 1863)† shall be co-extensive with the several Collectorates.* (G. N., G. D., dated 18th August 1869.)

2. The Right Honourable the Governor in Council is pleased to delegate to the Commissioner in Sind, under Section XVII of Bombay Act II of 1868, the powers of Government contemplated in Sections VI and XII of the said Act. (G. N., G. D., dated 12th October 1869; vide G. R., G. D., No. 2400 of the same date.)

3. In the Kánara Collectorate toll should be levied on bales of cotton coming to the ferry on carts and bullocks which do not cross the ferry themselves, in accordance with the following schedule:—

(G. R., G. D., No. 387, dated 4th February 1871.)

4. "Ferry" is defined in Wharton's Law Lexicon as "the right to carry persons and their goods in boats across a river and to take toll for such carriage." The ordinary meaning of the word "across" as given in the Dictionaries is "from side to side." Bombay Act II of 1868 is an Act to amend the law relating to public ferries. It nowhere defines what is a ferry, but Section 2 empowers Government to declare what "Ferries" are "Public Ferries" and also to establish any new "Public Ferry," or discontinue any existing "Public Ferry." The word "Ferry" must therefore be given its ordinary generally recognized meaning, and the wording of Section 14 of the Act, which prescribes a penalty for any one conveying either persons or goods, &c., across any creek or river to any point on the opposite shore or bank not being more than three miles on either side above or below any public ferry, supplies abundant proof, if any were needed, that the Act itself intended the meaning of the word to be so understood. It is not competent to Government under the Act to declare that to be a ferry which is not so. (L. R. No. 138 of 1874; vide G. R., G. D., No. 2747, dated 23rd September 1874).

* This subject was dealt with by the General Department up to the end of February 1893.

† The Act was extended to Sind by Government Notification, General Department, dated 27th January 1869. Section 16 of the Act has been repealed by Act I of 1884.

5. The word 'Ferry' is not defined in Bombay Act II of 1868, unless the language of Section 14 is to be taken as amounting to a definition. That section imposes a penalty on any one 'conveying for hire any passengers, animals, carts, carriage or goods across any creek or river within the Presidency of Bombay to any point on the opposite shore or bank, not being more than three miles on either side above or below any public ferry, without the license of the Collector.' From this, at all events, it would appear that the Legislature used the word 'Ferry' in its ordinary sense of a way across water. The ordinary sense is also the legal sense. In the case of Newton v. Cubitt (12 C. B. A. S., 58) Mr. Justice Willes says: 'A ferry exists in respect of persons using a right of way, where the line of way is across water. There must be a line of way on land, coming to a landing place on the water's edge; or where the ferry is from or to a township, from or to one or more landing places in the township. The franchise is established to secure convenient passage; and the exclusive right is given because in an unpopulous place there might not be profit sufficient to maintain the boat if there was no monopoly. The ferry is unconnected with the occupation of land, and exists only in respect of persons using the right of way. The questions whence they come and whither they go, are irrelevant to the exercise of that right; and the ferryman has no inchoate right in respect of any of them, unless they come to his passage.'

A similar definition of a ferry is given by Vice-Chancellor Kindersley in the case of Letton v. Goodden (L. R., 2 Eq., 130): 'A ferry has been said to be the continuation of a public highway across a river or other water, for the purpose of public traffic, from the termination of the highway on the one side to its recommencement on the other side.'

Upon these authorities, a public ferry under Bombay Act II of 1863 must be across a creek or river.

(Adv. Gen. No. 81, dated 11th November 1874; vide G. R., G. D., No. 1726, dated 9th June 1875.)

6. There is nothing contradictory in the fact of a steamer being both a ferry-boat and a coasting vessel, or being subject to the Sea Customs Act, 1878, as well as to the Bombay Ferries Act, 1868. (L. R., No. 399, dated 30th March 1883; vide G. R. No. 2938, dated 14th April 1883).

7. Ferry steamers and other small vessels plying in the Bombay Harbour are subject to the Inland Steam Vessels Act, 1884. (G. R., Marine Dept., No. 280, dated 14th October 1891, and G. R., G. D., No. 3936, dated 7th November 1891).

8. Monopolies are void at common law even when granted by the Crown. Brice on Ultra Vires, 557; cf. Smith's Leading Cases, Vol. I; Mitchel v. Reynolds; Sec. 27, Contract Act, 1872.

It requires in England the concurrence of the whole legislature to legislate them.

If the river is not a highway, it is probable that difficulties would arise in connection with the rights of riparian proprietors. Bourke v. Davis, 44 Ch. D., 110.

10. Local Boards must be counted amongst 'Her Majesty's subjects residing within the Presidency of Bombay,' and therefore vessels belonging to them are liable to be registered under Act XIX of 1838, if they are employed in such places as would render them liable to be registered under that Act if they were the property of private owners.

The Act applies to 'harbour craft' and to vessels 'employed on the coasts,' i.e., on the sea coast. It does not apply to vessels employed exclusively on rivers and creeks, unless they ply to places which, although situated on such rivers or creeks, may reasonably be held to be on the sea-coast.

11. On the question whether Section 14 of the Bombay Ferries Act, 11 of 1868, makes it penal for a person to let a boat for hire, within three miles of a public ferry without a license, the following opinion was recorded by the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs :—

"I would submit that the question cannot be finally settled except by judicial decision, and the Courts could not, of course, be bound by any opinion I might form on the subject.

9 B. I. L. R., 97.
9 B. I. L. R., 558.
10 B. I. L. R., 78.

"But as it may be desired for executive action I may state my opinion that Section 14 refers only to conveyance for hire, and not to the letting of boats for hire.

"In conveyance for hire, the person contracting to convey takes the responsibility of conveying on himself. In letting for hire, he makes no such contract. Bombay Act II of 1878, Section 2, amending Bombay Act II of 1868, shows that conveyance may be otherwise than by boat.

"I think as a penal enactment must be construed strictly, Section 14 refers only to 'conveying for hire' and not to the supplying another, whether for hire or otherwise, with the means of conveying himself or his friends.

"The exception in Section 14 refers only to that part of Section 13 which treats of 'conveying.' But there is nothing in Section 14 which renders it penal for a man to convey himself, his friends, servants or goods by any means at his disposal, or to supply any person with such means."

12. Tolls should be levied at the public ferries between Thána and Bassein, Kalyán and Bassein, and Bhiwndi and Bassein at the following rates:—

14. Section 3 of Act II of 1868 directs that tolls should be levied on all passengers carried over any public ferry except soldiers in uniform on duty, Police officers in uniform on duty and persons in custody of the Police. If it is desired to extend the exemption from toll to other classes of public servants, Government can do so by Resolution as regards public ferries under direct Government management; but in regard to ferries leased to private individuals, any further exemption than the Act provides would need to be made a condition of the lease under Section 5 of the Act. (L. R. No. 67, dated 10th June 1869; vide G. R., G. D., No. 1622, dated 8th July 1869.)

FERRIES.]

15. The Local Boards Bill originally contained a section under which every member of a Local Board was entitled to the actual expenses incurred by him in travelling for the fulfilment of any duty under the Act, but this section was removed from the Bill by desire of the Secretary of State. The exemption of members of Local Boards, travelling on Local Fund business, from road and ferry tolls would be equivalent to a grant of part of their expenses which the Secretary of State disallowed, and is also open to other obvious objections. (G. R. No. 7680, dated 22nd September 1885.)*

16. The provision of Government Notification, General Department, No. 1582, dated 2nd May 1882, which directs that the exemption from payment of ferry tolls which is limited to Government officers and their actual conveyance 'is only to extend to the one horse on which the officer may happen to be riding,' is not applicable to an officer whose 'actual conveyance when he has to cross a ferry happens to be, say, a tonga and a pair of ponies or a camel. The object of the provision is to prevent any misapplication of the term 'actual conveyance.' For instance, an officer may require six riding horses to accomplish a journey. In crossing a ferry the horse he happens to be riding is exempt, but not the other five horses. So, too, if an officer is making a journey by stages using various modes of conveyance, the particular one which he is actually using when he has to cross a ferry alone is exempt from payment of toll, whether it happens to be a carriage and pair, or a riding horse, or a camel, or an elephant, or any other kind of conveyance. (L. R., No. 658, dated 8th June 1882; vide G. R., G. D., No. 2294, dated 20th idem.)

17. One person taking care of a horse on a vehicle, but not more than one, may properly be regarded as merely incidental, and in respect of such person no ferry toll should be leviable, but all other persons with the horse or vehicle should be charged for separately. (G. R., G. D., No. 839, dated 25th February 1889.)

18. Forest guards, Foresters and Forest Inspectors when actually travelling on duty are exempt from the payment of tolls at public ferries and on roads. Office Kárkuns are not to claim exemption under this ruling. (G. Rs. Nos. 670, dated 29th January 1877, 1477, dated 7th March 1877, 3417, dated 6th July 1878, and 3777, dated 26th May 1886.)

* Under the ruling contained in this Resolution, officers required to attend meetings of Local Boards under Section 33 of the Local Boards Act cannot be allowed travelling expenses (G. R. No. 3220, dated 1st May 1889), and the ruling is equally applicable to officers required to attend meetings of Municipal Boards (G. R., F. D., No. 2795, dated 20th June 1889). When, however, an officer of the Educational Department has to travel to a place where he has to attend a meeting of the Local or Municipal Board in addition to discharging inspection or other duties pertaining to his office, he can draw the travelling allowance admissible to him under the rules. (G. R., F. D., No. 3338, dated 2nd September 1889.)

19. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 3, clause (d), of the Bombay Ferries Act II of 1868, as amended by Bombay Act II of 1878, the Governor in Council is pleased to declare that, in addition to the persons exempted by Section 3 of the said Act and by the notifications passed thereunder, the peon attached to the office of the Vahivatdár of the village of Sangam Máhuli in the Aundh State shall, while employed in conveying official letters to and from the Post Office at Kshetra Máhuli by the ferry-boat plying between Sangam Máhuli and Kshetra Máhuli during the monsoon, be exempt from payment of ferry tolls otherwise demandable under the said Bombay Act II of 1868 amended as aforesaid, during the life-time of Meherban Shrinivasrao Parashram Pandit Pant Pratinidhi, the present Chief of Aundh. (G. Notn. No. 4160, dated 2nd June 1897.)

20. When a ferry is partly in one district and partly in another, the proceeds should in all cases, after deducting cost of maintenance, be divided equally between the two districts, the expenses being also jointly shared. (G. R., G. D., No. 1984, dated 18th August 1869.)*

21. When a ferry plies between British territory and a Native State, the proceeds should be equally divided between the two Governments.

This rule should be followed in regard to all ferries hereafter established, and the States concerned should be asked to acquiesce in it before any disputes arise as to the division of profits. It may also be applied to any ferries which may have been recently established. In regard, however, to a ferry like that at Siddápur in the Sāngli State, of which the proceeds have been enjoyed by Sāngli from very ancient days, Government will not press their rights; not because they admit that the Treaty is opposed to such a claim, but simply because they have not claimed their rights since the establishment of British rule in the Deccan.

A ferry established in British territory may be declared a public ferry even though the opposite side of the river be in Native territory. The Native States concerned should, however, be urged, if they have not already done so, to promulgate rules similar to those contained in Bombay Act II of 1868, for application to any ferries that may have been or may hereafter be declared by the British Government to be public ferries.

(G. R., P. D., No. 7184, dated 7th December 1886.)

22. The sanction of Government to the entertainment of ferry and toll establishments is necessary.

The management of the tolls and the control of the establishments in the Panch Maháls are vested * Vide proviso to Section 44 of the Local Boards Act No. I of 1884.

FERRIES.]

in the Executive Engineer of the district, but in compliance with the provisions of Rule 31 of the Local Board Rules the establishments must be paid by the Collector on receiving salary bills from the Executive Engineer.

It is not necessary to pension toll and ferry establishments. (G. Rs. Nos. 2469 and 3736, dated, respectively, 28th April 1885 and 9th December 1886; vide also G. R., F. D., No. 2750, dated 26th September 1885.)

23. It is clear from clause (c) of Section 44 of the Local Boards Act that all charges on account of ferries are chargeable to Provincial Revenues, the term "maintenance" including current repairs to existing boats as well as the construction of new ones. This arrangement does not involve any loss to Provincial Revenues, because the gross proceeds after deducting all charges are payable to the Local Funds concerned. (G. R. No. 6949, dated 27th August 1885)

24. The term "maintenance of ferries" in Section 44 of the Local Boards Act undoubtedly includes the provision of boats for working the ferries, and no modification of the orders issued in Government Resolution No. 6949, dated 27th August 1885, is required. It should, however, be understood that ferries do not include approaches to them and piers, which if constructed by Local Fund Committees and Local Boards vest in the Boards, in which case they are responsible for the maintenance and repair of them.

If the cost of working public ferries exceeds the receipts, the Local Boards are not bound to make good the deficit. But there ought to be no deficits. Public ferries ought to be so managed as to pay, and heavy charges for approaches, &c., should not be incurred from the Ferry Fund but by Local Boards.

(G. R., F. D., No. 265, dated 2nd February 1886.)

25. Under Section 44 of the Local Boards Act, 1884, the net proceeds of the cess on land, of all public ferries and of all tolls on roads and bridges, &c., are to be credited to the Local Fund of the District. The collection and maintenance charges must, therefore, be debited to Provincial Services in the Government accounts. The Accountant General is authorized to admit to the debit of Provincial Revenues all charges of this nature. Charges on account of repairs to ferry boats and the construction of new ferries carried out by Public Works agency should be adjusted at the treasury on bills signed by the Executive Engineer, the credit appearing as a remittance to the treasury by the Public Works Department. (G. R., F. D., No. 2625, dated 14th September 1885.)

26. There is no objection to a Local Board under Section 30 (a) of the Local Boards Act spending money on a ferry boat. No charge should fall on Provincial Revenue which hands over the whole of the net receipts under Section 44 (c) of the Act. (G. R., F. D., No. 1182, dated 27th April 1886.)

27. The Collector is the proper authority to sanction the estimates for the construction or repairs of road toll-houses and ferry-boats, when the expenditure is to be met from the receipts and is to be charged to Provincial Revenues; but when the expenditure is in excess of the receipts, and the Local Boards are called upon to make good the deficit, the Collector should pass the estimates after consulting the Local Boards concerned. (G. R., F. D., No. 2752, dated 9th September 1886.)

28. If the cost of construction of a new boat is provided by Provincial Funds, the amount will have to be recovered before any surplus is handed over to the Local Board. It, therefore, comes to the same thing so far as their funds are concerned, whether the money is provided from Provincial or Local resources. In these circumstances it will be best that the Local Fund should provide the assignment required for a new boat, and if they can show that the cost will involve a genuine deficit, Government will be ready to consider their claim for aid from Provincial Funds. (G. R., F. D., No. 3646, dated 2nd December 1886.)

29. Any property of Government may be vested under executive orders, in any Local Board willing to receive it.

Bombay Act II of 1868, the Ferries Act, is throughout based upon the assumption that public ferries are the property of Government. It would be difficult, if not impossible, to work Sections 4 and 5 of the Act, if the ferries and the boats and other implements appertaining to them belonged to Local Boards.

If it is thought desirable to vest public ferries in Local Boards, an Act would be necessary (1) to make them responsible for the due maintenance of ferries in such places as Government prescribe and (2) to enable them to be invested with all or any of the powers of Government under Bombay Act II of 1868.

Nos. 2302, dated 17th March 1884, 820, dated 6th February 1888, and 6335, dated 6th September 1890.)

II.—POWERS OF OFFICERS.

1. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 3, clause 7 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to appoint the Superintendent of Stamps, Bombay, to be the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority for the purposes of that Act within the limits of the Town of Bombay. (G. N. No. 1766, dated 2nd April 1879.)

2. The Superintendent of Stamps is authorized to write off to profit and loss the value of postage, receipt and bill stamps, destroyed or damaged, up to Rs. 100. (G. Rs. Nos. 1613, dated 27th April 1864, and 1732, dated 1st May 1868.)

3. He is also authorized to write off the value of stamped papers and other adhesive stamps, damaged or destroyed, to the extent of Rs. 100. Above that amount the consent of Government must be obtained. (G. R. No. 127, dated 9th January 1879.)

4. He is permitted to make such budget provision as is estimated to be necessary to meet the cost of punches required for supply to officers. (G. R. No. 474, dated 17th January 1893.)

5. The First Assistant to the Political Resident, Aden, the Assistant Superintendent of Stamps, Bombay, and, in the absence of the latter, the officer next to him, are authorized to perform the duty prescribed by Rule 11 (b) of the rules laid down in the notification of the Government of India No. 2170, dated 22nd May 1891, (Government Notification No. 3626,* dated 27th idem.) (G. Rs. Nos. 3326, dated 23rd May 1883, and 4041, dated 20th June 1888.)

* Printed at pp. 314 et seq. of the Compilation of General Rules.

6. The impounding of an instrument is an important step to take, and an officer should exercise the power of impounding only when it is clear to himself that the instrument is not duly stamped. If he is not quite sure as to the proper amount chargeable, he ought not to impound, but refer the question. (L. R. No. 1425, dated 1st December 1881; vide G. R. No. 7650, dated 17th idem.)

7. The Stamp Act does not contain any provision for an appeal from the Commissioner's decision passed under Section 45 of the Act, but the Commissioner can, if he sees fit, refer the case to the High Court instead of passing a decision himself. (L. R. No. 1425, dated 1st December 1881; vide G. R. No. 7650, dated 17th idem.)

III.—SUPERVISION AND INSPECTION.

1. All officers are to understand that loss of stamp revenue, which can be traced to the want of supervision on the part of any officer, will result in his being held responsible for such loss. (G. R. No. 2122, dated 3rd April 1877.)

2. The attention of all officers who are charged with the supervision of the stamp revenue is particularly directed to the necessity of using the utmost vigilance to see that the provisions of the Stamp Act are fully and invariably carried out. (G. R. No. 5725, dated 20th September 1877.)

3. While the income from court-fee stamps is not so much under the control of the Revenue Officers, the income from general stamps is much more under their control, for if they are vigilant then the law is but little evaded and the income rises: if they are not vigilant, then there is much evasion and the income falls. The Governor in Council is confident that this consideration will be an incentive to vigilance and strictness on the part of all the Revenue Officers concerned. (G. R. No. 4357, dated 27th August 1878.)

4. The true preventive of frauds in the matter of court-fee stamps rests in careful and constant supervision by heads of offices. Any carelessness or perfunctory performance of this very important duty will be seriously noticed by Government. (G. R. No. 3719, dated 24th July 1878.)

5. The attention of presiding officers of each Court or office is to be drawn to Section 33 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, with a view to strict observance of its provisions. (G. I., F. & C., No. 3265, dated 15th October 1880; vide G. R. No. 6103, dated 18th November 1880.)

6. His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to appoint the Inspector General of Registration and the Inspectors under him to the duty of supervising the stamp revenue administration beyond the limits of the Town and Island of Bombay. The designation of these officers will for the future be respectively Inspector General of Registration and Stamps and Inspectors of Registration and Stamps.

The following rules are laid down for their guidance in the performance of these additional duties:—

(1) The Inspector General of Registration and Stamps shall visit the various Huzúr Treasuries and examine the stocks of stamps to see that they are correct in amount as per the stamp accounts, that the latter are kept according to the prescribed form, that proper accommodation is provided for the safe custody of the stamps, and that the supply is sufficient for the wants of the public. Any remarks the Inspector General may have to offer on the above points he shall communicate to the Collector concerned.

(2) The Inspectors of Registration Offices and Stamps shall in the same way visit and examine the stocks of stamps and stamp accounts at the various Mámldárs' and Mahálkaris' Treasuries in their respective divisions. Any remarks which the Inspectors may have to offer on matters noticed by them at their examinations shall be forwarded by them to the Inspector General, who, if it appears necessary, will bring the matter to the notice of the Collector concerned.

(3) The Inspector General shall report to the Superintendent of Stamps, with his opinion thereon, any cases coming to his knowledge under the Stamp Laws which appear to have been decided by one authority in one way and by another authority in another way. The Superintendent of Stamps shall submit these cases to Government for final orders.

(4) The Inspectors shall report to the Inspector General any cases coming to their knowledge under the Stamp Laws which appear to have been decided by one authority in one way and by another authority in another way. The Inspector General shall submit these cases, with his opinion, to the Superintendent of Stamps, to be dealt with as laid down in the preceding rule.

(5) Any complaints made by the public regarding the paucity of stamp vendors in any of the districts, and made either personally to the Inspector General or to him through the Inspectors, shall at once be brought by the Inspector General to the notice of the Collector concerned.

(6) Any cases of evasion of the Stamp Laws which come to the notice of the Inspector General or Inspectors shall promptly be reported, in the case of the Inspectors through the office of the Inspector General, to the Collector concerned.

(7) It shall be the duty of the Inspector General and his Inspectors on the requisition of a District Judge, Collector or Magistrate, to arrange at their convenience for the examination of the records of the Courts of such officers and of those subordinate to them, with a view to ascertain whether the court-fee stamps required by law to be affixed on the several documents have been duly cancelled. (G. R. No. 5689, dated 26th October 1874.)

7. As the Superintendent of Stamps has neither the leisure nor the requisite establishment to enable him to examine the records of Government offices with the view of ascertaining whether the law and rules regarding the use of proper stamps and their cancellation are strictly observed and whether there is any fraudulent use of stamps; the Inspector General of Registration and Stamps and his department should carry out this duty in Bombay as elsewhere in the Presidency. (G. R. No. 6462, dated 30th August 1883.)

8. That all Revenue and Judicial Officers in the Mofussil should avail themselves of the services of Stamp Inspectors in accordance with the provisions of Rule 7 of the rules issued with Government Resolution No. 5689, dated 26th October 1874. (G. R. No. 4797, dated 7th August 1877.)

9. It should be understood that it is a part of the duties of the Registration Department to search the records of all offices for evidence of a fraudulent use of stamps. (G. R. No. 3782, dated 26th July 1878.)

10. As regular inspections are necessary for the prevention of fraud and negligence in the use of stamps and in rendering accounts of stamp stocks, the inspecting officers of the Registration Department should so arrange their tours, consistently with their other duties, as to bring all depôts and offices under inspection within as short a period as possible. With a view to enable Government to judge how far these instructions are carried out, the Inspector General of Registration and Stamps should append to his annual Stamp Inspection Report a statement showing the amount of stamp inspection work performed and remaining to be performed in each district. (G. R. No. 7723, dated 4th November 1882.)

11. The Inspector General of Registration and Stamps and the Inspectors of the Registration Department are authorized to call upon licensed stamp vendors to produce not only the stocks of stamps in their hands, but also their account books, with a view to more effectually ascertaining, from a reference to past sales, whether the supplies in hand may be reasonably deemed to be sufficient. (G. R. No. 4381, dated 3rd August 1875.)

12. District Registrars should take steps to give due effect in their respective charges to the orders regarding the periodical examination of stamp-vendors' accounts and stocks contained in paragraph 11* of the remarks on Form No. 17 at page 205 of the Manual of Revenue Accounts, Third Edition. (G. R. No. 8962, dated 15th December 1890.)

13. In the case of stamps an examination should be carried out once in each of the four quarters of a calendar year by either the Collector, an Assistant Collector or a Deputy Collector not being the Deputy Collector in permanent charge of the Treasury, provided (a) that the Collector shall himself carry out at least one of such examinations in each official year; (b) that the maximum interval which shall be allowed to elapse between any two of the examinations shall not exceed four calendar months; and (c) that when an examination has been carried out by the Inspector General of Registration and Stamps before the examination for a particular quarter has been made by a district officer, the district officer need not examine the stock of stamps during that quarter. (G. R. No. 9814 dated 5th December 1885.)

14. Government will not insist on Assistant Collectors counting the stamps at Mámlatdárs' offices, if the officers of the Registration Department have counted them before in the same season; but Assistant Collectors are to understand that they are not relieved of the responsibility of looking after the stamp transactions and arrangements in the same manner as they supervise all the rest of the Mámlatdár's work. (G. R. No. 6897, dated 31st December 1874.)

* "11. Stamp-vendors are public servants within the meaning of the Penal Code, and the records which they keep are Government records. They are required to show their books and stock to any officer duly authorized by the Collector or by Government to make inspection or examination. The stamp-vendor's Day and Issue Book should be in the same form as Form 17. One form will ordinarily suffice for his whole stock. 1st, court-fee labels should be entered; 2nd, court-fee papers; 3rd, general stamped papers; 4th, general stamp labels. A monthly abstract similar to that described in paragraph 8 above, except that labels need be shown in total only, is to be forwarded to the Mámlatdár for record on the closing day of each month. Stamp-vendors must carefully observe the rule referred to in paragraph 5 above, as well as the other rules, copies of which are supplied to them, relating to the sale of court-fee stamps and general stamps respectively. At the beginning of each month every vendor whose place of business is at the táluka head-quarters should show his book and balance of papers in hand to the officer in charge of the Treasury. Other vendors should show their books and balances when they attend at the táluka Treasury for the purpose of purchasing stamps."

15. The stamp-revenue supervising officers should ascertain during their tours of inspection or otherwise, as opportunities occur, how far the prescribed classes of stamped papers are applied to the purpose for which they were intended, and bring to notice the result of the enquiries in their periodical reports. (G. I., F. D., No. 941, dated 12th February 1872; vide G. R. No. 870, dated 28th idem.)

IV.—EXAMINATIONS.

1. The Inspector General of Registration and Stamps should on his tours examine the licensed vendors of stamps in the Stamp and Court-fees' Acts. (G. R. No. 5759, dated 22nd September 1877.)

2. His Excellency in Council has no objection to candidates for stamp licenses being examined in the Stamp and Court-fees' Acts to prove their acquaintance with the description of stamps required, but the examination must be of a very simple character. (G. R. No. 7723, dated 4th November 1882.)

V.—INDENTS, SUPPLY AND CUSTODY OF STAMPS.

1. In future there shall be but one general consolidated indent for stamps of all descriptions prepared by the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta, for transmission through the Government of India, so as to reach the Secretary of State not later than the first week in November each year. To this end, the Superintendents of Stamps in Madras and Bombay shall forward their indents so as to reach Calcutta not later than the first week in September in each year, and the Superintendent of Stamps and Stationery, Calcutta, will prepare a consolidated indent showing the demand for each of the three Presidencies, and submit it so as to reach the Government of India not later than the 4th October in each year for transmission to the Secretary of State.

It will be the duty of the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta, to examine the demands for each description and denomination of stamp, and to see whether by an economical redistribution of stock already held, the full aggregate indent resulting from a mere compilation of the local indents is necessary. It will also be his duty to see that the minimum quantities, which the Secretary of State is required to order under the several contracts, are ordered in the indents, and in case of excess demand over requirements, which may be occasionally necessary in order to conform to the terms of the contracts, that the excess is equitably distributed among the three dépôts. And, finally, he will be responsible for the correct calculation of the amounts ordered. The Superintendent at Calcutta is authorized to correspond directly with the Superintendents at Bombay and Madras on any matter on which he considers further information necessary to enable him to conform to these orders. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 972, dated 26th February 1880, 3217, dated 11th October 1880, and 896, dated 18th February 1889; vide G. Rs. Nos. 1247, dated 9th March 1880, 5773, dated 30th October 1880, and 1811, dated 6th March 1889.)

2. All indents for stamps should be made out for sheets of stamps and not for numbers of single stamps. (S. of S. No. 125 (Financial), dated 12th April 1877; vide G. R. No. 3921, dated 25th June 1877.)

3. The Superintendent of Stamps should prepare his indents for stamps and stamped paper of all descriptions on the assumption that the stamps indented for will be supplied within 18 months from the date of the indent, and he should adopt the method of calculating the annual requirements formulated in the following form:—

| 4                       | 5                                         | 6                              | 7                                           |                                      |
|-------------------------|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| Established proportion. | How established proportion is calculated. | Number or quantity in store on | Number or quantity due on previous indents. | Number or quantity now indented for. |
| Sheets.                 |                                           | Sheets.                        | Sheets.                                     | Sheets.                              |
| 3,50,000                | 3½ times the average annual consumption.  | 80,000                         | 60,000                                      | 2,10,000                             |

Column 4 is calculated from the Stamp Office records.

Columns 6 and 7 are entered from the Stamp Office records.

The column "Established proportion" should represent 3½ times the average annual consumption calculated on the previous three years' actual consumption; the column "Now indented for" showing only column 5 — (column 6 + column 7). Assuming 1,00,000 to be the average annual consumption calculated on the actuals of the past three years, the proper calculation is as shown in the above form. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 1981, dated 4th August 1879, and 2907, dated 24th September 1880; vide G. Rs. Nos. 4378, dated 20th August 1879, and 5317, dated 8th October 1880.)

4. The cases containing supplies of stamps, on their arrival from England, should be opened, and the bundles or packets of stamps counted. The packets need not, however, be opened, except when their appearance is suspicious. The Examining Committee should repack and seal the packets which they open.

It is also clearly important, to prevent frauds and errors remaining undetected for years, that the stock should be used up in the order of its receipt. (G. Rs. Nos. 2537, dated 6th May 1881, 3454, dated 16th June 1881, and 6140, dated 18th October 1881.)

5. Cases containing postal envelopes which are found on their arrival from England to be in good order by the Survey Committee, and which do not bear any appearance of having been tampered with, should be passed into store without being opened. (G. R. No. 2436, dated 20th March 1884.)

6. Sealed packages of stamped papers are not opened at the office of the Superintendent of Stamps when received from England, and they need not be opened at the Treasuries up-country when received there provided the English seals are intact; but the contents of any sealed package, when opened for use, should be immediately counted in the presence of the Treasury Officer in order that the contents may be certified to.

A numbered label is not affixed in the Bombay Stamp Office to the packages forwarded to the Treasury Officers. In the case of any deficiency, the wrapper should be returned to the Superintendent's office in order that the English number shown thereon may be communicated to the Director General of Stores.

Packages made up in, and bearing the seal of the Bombay Stamp Office should invariably be opened on receipt, and their contents verified by the Treasury Officer before being stored. (G. R. No. 2610, dated 25th March 1884.)

7. Whenever it is necessary to bring to the notice of the Director General of Stores any deficiencies in the value and number of stamp stores received from England, the number shown on the wrappers of packages of stamps, and which is allotted to be packages during the manufacture of the stamps, should be quoted, so as to facilitate enquiry. (G. R. No. 274, dated 11th January 1884.)

8. Whenever there is any fault in a parcel of stamps sent out from England, the wrappers should be sent home, as they bear the initials of the officers responsible for the contents. (S. of S. No. 26 Finl. (Stores), dated 10th December 1891; vide G. R. No. 723, dated 1st February 1892.)

9. The following are the rules for the security and safe custody of the stamps and water-marked paper in charge of the Superintendent of Stamps:—

(1) The store of stamps in charge of the Superintendent of Stamps at the General Stamp Office, shall be divided into two stocks of stamps, one of which shall be called the "Reserve Stock," and the other the "Current Stock."

(2) The reserve stock, which shall contain the great bulk of the stamps of all kinds and denominations, shall be held in the joint charge of the Superintendent of Stamps and the Assistant Superintendent. The current stock of stamps shall be in the charge of the Assistant Superintendent and the Store-keeper.

(3) The reserve stock of stamps shall be kept in the strong rooms of the Stamp Office. The doors of these rooms shall be protected by double locks.

The key of one lock shall remain in the hands of the Superintendent, and the key of the other in the hands of the Assistant Superintendent.

(4) The adhesive stamps kept in the reserve stock shall be principally kept in fire-proof safes, the keys of which shall be deposited in an iron safe in the strong room, and the key of the said safe shall be kept by the Superintendent. A list of the contents of each safe will be kept in it, which list is to bear the Superintendent's and Assistant Superintendent's signature. The remaining portion of the reserve adhesive stamps may be kept in the original cases and sealed until required. The reserve portion of non-judicial or bi-color stamps shall be kept in teak presses in the strong room or in their original cases and sealed.

(5) The current stock of stamps shall contain a supply of stamps of all kinds and denominations up to Rs. 25, sufficient for one month's requirements. Stamps of a higher value shall be given out weekly from the reserve stock, and passed into the current stock.

(6) The keys of the safes containing current stamps in the office shall be in the sole charge of the Assistant Superintendent.

(7) The keys of the double locks on the doors of the rooms, in which the current stock of stamps is kept, shall be held by the Assistant Superintendent and the Store-keeper, and both shall be present when the current stock of stamps is opened daily, and both of them along with the Superintendent shall be present when the reserve stock is opened.

(8) In the event of absence or sickness of any of the above three persons, his duties can be deputed to either of the other two.

(9) When stamps have been passed out from the current stock, they shall be considered to be in the charge of the Store-keeper, who shall be answerable for their safe custody until they are either used in the office, or despatched to Treasury and other officers, who have indented for them.

(10) The stock of water-marked paper of the kind lately used for the printing of bi-color* stamps shall be kept in the godown away from the Stamp Office which is rented by Government. The keys of the godown will remain with the Assistant Superintendent; but the Store-keeper shall have access to the godown, under instructions from his superior officers, in order to bring the water-marked paper required for use either in the Stamp Office, or intended for issue to other departments.

(11) The stock of hundi water-marked paper of the kind used in the Government Departments for Supply Bills, Transfer Remittance, Receipts, &c., shall be kept with the reserve stock of stamps under the charge of the Superintendent alone, and issued as occasion requires to the Assistant Superintendent to be kept with the current stock of stamps for daily use. (G. R. No. 5690, dated 26th October 1874.)

10. The following are the rules for the guidance of officers who have the custody of stamps at the Táluka Treasuries:—

(1) As soon as stamps are received from Bombay they should be counted in the Mámlat-dár's office, in the presence of the Huzúr Deputy Collector, and the Mámlatdár, and brought on the accounts.

(2) Stamps to be issued to tálukas should be counted and issued in the presence of the Huzúr Deputy Collector and the Mámlatdár, the entries in the book being made and compared with indents before issue.

(3) Indents from tálukas should not be submitted oftener than once in every two months.

(4) The Stamp Kárkún should never keep in his possession stamps of total higher value than the amount of security given by him.

(5) As a general rule, the Stamp Kárkún should replenish his stock only once a week and should not be permitted to receive stamps from the general stock oftener than that. He should calculate the average weekly sales and regulate his supply accordingly.

(6) The amount of the Stamp Kárkún's security should be fixed at an amount equal to the general sales of one week, but in no case shall the security be worth less than 1,000 Rupees.

(7) On the occasion of each sale, the stamps asked for by the licensed vendor should be compared with the entries of sale against his name in the book, and the amount of cash entered in the Day Book as received from him.

(8) Ordinarily, stamps should not be sold to licensed vendors oftener than once a week, a different day of the week being appointed for each vendor.

(9) A round sum of rupees should be fixed as the minimum value of stamps that can be removed at one time by each vendor. This is to be fixed on an average struck from past purchases. Any excess of stamps supplied over the above minimum should also be such as would be represented by a round sum of rupees. This is desirable to simplify all calculations.

(10) The rules limiting the issue of stamps to tálukas and stamp vendors to certain periods may be relaxed whenever, in the opinion of the officers concerned, the interest of the State and the convenience of the public render such relaxation necessary. (G. R. No. 1028, dated 26th February, 1880.)

6. Postal. Uniformity of procedure will thus be secured, and in addition it will enable any one examining the accounts to at once ascertain therefrom what quantity of any particular description of stamp is in charge of the Huzúr Deputy Collector and what quantity is in the charge of the Treasurer. (G. R. No. 2572, dated 20th May 1878.)

12. The stock of stamped envelopes and post-cards in the depôts at Kaira, Násik and Sholápur should be limited to the probable consumption in two months. (G. R. No. 7490, dated 4th November 1887.)

13. As the Residency Treasury at Baroda has no sub-treasury under it, there is no necessity for its keeping such a large stock of stamps as the rules sanctioned in the Resolution of the Government of India, No. 1596,* dated 28th June 1886, require. For the convenience of that Treasury, accordingly, the period of five months in Rule 7 is altered to two months and the periods of six and three months in Rule 8 are altered to four and two months respectively. (G. R. No. 6037, dated 7th September 1888.)

14. The officer in charge of the stamp depôt at Kárwár is allowed to prepare his stamp indent due in the month of March every year for a supply of stamps equal to the probable requirements of six instead of three months. (G. R. No. 5334, dated 25th July 1893.)

15. The use in Native States of labels or stamps of the Government of India, however carefully altered, in levying the revenue of those States is considered by the Governor General in Council to be dangerous to the revenues of British India. His Excellency in Council also deems it necessary to direct that stamps or labels prepared for use in the levy of duties under the Indian Post Office Act, the General Stamp Act, the Court Fees Act, or of any other duties of the Government of India, should under no circumstances be supplied or used for any other purposes than the levy of the Imperial revenues of British India.

These orders do not apply to the Berárs. (G. I., F. D., No. 805, dated 12th June 1876; vide G. Rs. Nos. 3655, dated 23rd idem, and 3869, dated 5th July 1876.)

16. The Superintendent of Stamps, Bombay, should supply the Resident at Hyderábád with adhesive court-fee stamps with the word "Secundrábád" printed across them on the requisition of the Resident. The expenses entailed by the arrangement, including the value of the stamps supplied and the cost of overprinting them, must be paid by the Secundrábád Abkári Fund. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1465, dated 9th April 1891; vide G. R. No. 2809, dated 24th idem.)

17. The Political Agencies in Gujarát may be supplied with impressed and adhesive court-fee stamps perforated as well as overprinted with the names of the Agencies for use in the collection of fees, fines and other judicial receipts forming the Local Funds in those Agencies. The expenditure entailed by the arrangement, including the value of the stamps and the cost of overprinting and perforating, as also the cost of transport, should be borne by the Local Funds concerned. (G. I., F. & C., No. S. R. 4658, dated 19th November 1892; vide G. Rs. Nos. 14, dated 3rd January 1893, and 1169, dated 10th February 1893.)

VI.—SALE OF STAMPS.

1. Every Court is to be a sub-depôt for the sale of stamps. (G. R. No. 917, dated 19th February 1874.)

2. The following are the rules for the sale of adhesive court-fee stamps by the salaried vendors at the High Court and the Court of Small Causes, Bombay :—

(1) Indents are to be submitted by the salaried vendors twice a week, i.e., every Wednesday and Saturday before 10 o'clock. The vendors should arrange to keep a sufficient stock of stamps to meet the requirements of suitors, and indent only for such stamps as are usually used.

(2) The stamps, together with the daily cash collections, are to be locked up in the chest safes, for which a suitable place will be provided by the Court. The key of the safe to be retained by the vendor himself.

(3) The sale book is to be written up daily. It should be kept neat and free from erasures. Corrections, if any, may be made in red ink, and initialled by the vendor.

(4) The cash collections are to be sent daily at 10-30 A.M. to the Stamp Office by the vendor's peon with a printed memorandum of the amount remitted, for which a receipt will be granted in a printed book.

(5) A return of stamps sold and the balance of stamps in hand, and cash, together with the sale book is to be forwarded weekly to the Stamp Office for verification, commencing from Wednesday, the 7th May 1873. The stamps will be examined either by the Assistant Superintendent or the Store-keeper, and correctness certified.

(6) Stamps are to be sold from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. for cash. (G. R. No. 4643, dated 14th August 1873.)

3. Care must be taken that the cash receipts of each day on account of stamps sold by the stamp vendors at the High Court and the Court of Small Causes at Bombay are regularly paid into the office of the Superintendent of Stamps and that the account of stamps in hand is checked weekly. The Assistant Superintendent of Stamps should at least once a month visit the several Courts and take stock of the stamps, and satisfy himself that the wants of the public are properly attended to. (G. R. No. 2289, dated 22nd April 1873.)

4. The Shroff of the Military Treasure Chest at Deesa should be treated as an ex-officio vendor and be directed to sell stamps of all kinds and of all values. (G. R. No. 5893, dated 7th November 1874.)

5. The Superintendent of Panchgani should be granted a license for the sale of stamps at that station, the stamps being supplied to him without payment being required in ready money. (G. R. No. 5255, dated 1st October 1879.)

6. One of the kárkúns employed in the office of the Huzúr Deputy Collector, Dhárwár, but not connected with the stamp branch of the Huzúr Treasury, should be appointed an ex-officio vendor of court-fee and receipt stamps, and be paid the authorized discount in addition to his pay in the same way as the kárkúns of Collectors and their Assistants when on tour in the districts. The kárkún should also be authorized to sell postage stamps and envelopes. (G. R. No. 1513, dated 5th March 1888.)

7. The Cantonment Magistrate, Málegaon, is authorized to sell court-fee and general stamps in accordance with the spirit of the rules laid down in Government Resolution* No. 6376, dated 9th September 1886. (G. R. No. 5169, dated 23rd June 1892.)

8. A clerk of the Chief Presidency Magistrate's Court and a clerk of the Presidency Magistrate's Court, Girgaon, may be allowed to sell court-fee stamps of the value of one anna and eight annas each, and to receive commission at 2 per cent. on the sales in addition to their pay. (G. Rs. Nos. 4896, dated 18th July 1891, and 3262, dated 5th May 1893.)

9. There is no objection to schoolmasters being appointed vendors of stamps, provided that the sale of stamps be limited to certain hours in the day, so as not to interfere with school hours. (G. R. No. 3475, dated 10th October 1867.)

10. Government will not object to grant licenses for the sale of stamps to such Sub-Registrars as may be recommended for the purpose. (G. R. No. 2608, dated 1st June 1871.)

11. In cases where for the public convenience and in the public interest it is deemed desirable to grant licenses for the sale of non-judicial stamps to Post Masters, Government will be prepared to consider carefully any representations that may be made by Collectors and Commissioners, and with the consent of the Postal authorities to grant such licenses if such a course is held to be expedient. (G. R. No. 6504, dated 9th December 1880.)

* Printed at page 325 of the Compilation of General Rule.

12. The rule* sanctioned by Government Resolution No. 6563, dated 5th September 1883, for regulating the sale of impressed court-fee stamps by licensed vendors, does not require that a person who has to pay a court fee of Rs. 50 or upwards shall obtain all the impressed stamps or labels necessary to represent the fee from an ex-officio vendor or from a stamp vendor holding a special license. And the rule is not transgressed if a person, in a transaction requiring a court-fee stamp, say of the value of Rs. 67-8-0, after having purchased an impressed paper of the value of Rs. 60 (the highest suitable value at the time obtainable) from the local ex-officio vendor, uses, in order to make up the fee of Rs. 67-8-0, labels which he purchased either then expressly or at any previous time from a licensed stamp vendor. Nor can it be said that the licensed stamp vendor transgressed the rule if he sold labels to the person for Rs. 7-8-0 knowing that he intended to use them for the above purpose, because he was not bound to inquire what purpose the labels were to be put to. The rule merely prohibits the sale, by a licensed stamp vendor, of any impressed court-fee stamp of the value of Rs. 50, or upwards, except under a special license. (L. R. No. 389, dated 24th March 1886; vide G. R. No. 2821, dated 14th April 1886.)

13. No restriction prevails regarding the sale of stamps on Sundays by licensed stamp vendors who are not public servants and do not sell at public offices. (G. R. No. 5334, dated 25th October 1871.)

14. In the new adhesive court-fee stamps a blank space has been left for inserting, at the time of sale to the public, the name of the purchaser, the date of sale and the signature of the vendor. The salaried vendors of stamps in the Court of Small Causes, Bombay, are, however, exempted from the obligation to endorse on the stamps sold by them the names of the purchasers. (G. R. Nos. 3780, dated 16th May 1883, and 2438, dated 20th March 1884.)

15. The Stamp Act and the rules thereunder extend to British India only. A Collector is, therefore, not empowered to grant licenses to sell stamps in foreign territory. (G. R. No. 2354, dated 19th April 1887.)

16. Sales of court-fee stamps by stamp-vendors are to be recorded in the following form :—

| Date. | Name and Residence of Purchaser. | Kind of Paper. | Number of Papers. | Current Number of Sales. | Rate. | Value. | Remarks |
|-------|----------------------------------|----------------|-------------------|--------------------------|-------|--------|---------|
| 1     | 2                                | 3              | 4                 | 5                        | 6     | 7      | 8       |
|       |                                  |                |                   |                          |       |        |         |

|       |                                  |                |                   |                          |       |        |         |
|       |                                  |                |                   |                          |       |        |         |
|       |                                  |                |                   |                          |       |        |         |

(G. Rs. Nos. 6780, dated 12th September 1883, and 1192, dated 7th February 1884.)

17. The Collectors should through their Mámlat-dárs furnish every licensed vendor in their districts with a vernacular copy of every notification appearing in the Government Gazette the tendency of which is in any way to modify or amend any of the provisions of the Stamp Act or the Court-fees Act. The distribution of these vernacular copies should be effected as soon as possible after the publication, in the Gazette, of the particular notification to which they may relate. In case of notifications reducing the rates under either Act, their vernacular copies should be posted in a conspicuous place in the shop or stall of every registered licensed vendor of stamps. The Inspector General of Registration and Stamps should see on his tours that these orders are properly carried out.

Notifications of the Governor General in Council amending the rules should be published in the Government Gazette in English, as well as in Maráthi Gujaráti and Kánarese. The Superintendent, Government Central Press, should send direct to the Collectors the vernacular copies of rules for distribution amongst the stamp vendors. (G. Rs. Nos. 5759, dated 22nd September 1877, and 7175, dated 1st December 1877.)

18. The following is the form of receipts for stamps issued from a Treasury to Revenue Officers for sale when on tour:—

Signature and Designation of Receiving Officer.

N. B.—A separate form of this receipt should be filled in and signed for each description or denomination of stamp issued to a Revenue Officer under the terms of the orders quoted above. The receipt on being received in the Treasury should be placed among the stock of stamps from which the supply acknowledged has been withdrawn.

(G. R. No. 4406, dated 4th July 1888.)

VII.—ILLEGAL SALE OR USE OF STAMPS.

1. On reference to the High Court, under Section 438 of the Criminal Procedure Code, of a case in which a person was convicted by a Second Class Magistrate of selling a stamp without authority to do so under Section 68 of Act I of 1879, and sentenced to pay a fine of Rs. 15 or in default to suffer one month's rigorous imprisonment, the following order was passed by that Court :—

“As the accused is not a person appointed to sell stamps, and has sold a stamp, the conviction under Section 68 of Act I of 1879 is quite legal.”

(G. R. No. 1125, dated 19th February 1887.)

2. The Stamp Act, 1879, has not the least application to postage stamp labels. Rule 9* of the rules for the custody, distribution and sale of postage stamp labels, &c., published in the Gazette of India, dated 15th January 1881, Part II, page 95, distinctly mentions bona fide retail vendors of postage stamps other than those mentioned in the preceding rule, and does not require such bona fide retail vendors to be authorized to sell postage labels in the manner and under the conditions described in that rule. The rule simply provides that a district officer may authorize the grant of discount on purchases of postage stamp labels to such bona fide retail vendors. Private individuals who sell postage stamp labels, and who choose to forego the grant of discount, are not subject to any such conditions.

* Vide Rule 24 of the rules for the custody, supply and sale of stamps of all descriptions published under G. N. No. 5422, dated 30th July 1886, at pages 644—648 of the B. G. G. of 5th August 1886.

As regards the sale of receipt stamps, the Stamp Act, 1879, is applicable, and under the provisions of Section 68 of that Act it is a punishable offence for any person who is not appointed to sell stamps under the rules made under Section 55 of the Act to sell or offer for sale any stamps to which the Act relates. (L. R. No. 412, dated 8th April 1882; vide G. R. No. 2763, dated 27th idem; vide also G. R. No. 7723, dated 4th November 1882.)

3. The writing of the name of the purchaser and other particulars on the back of a stamp is required in the case of impressed stamps by the rules for the sale of stamps. The rules go no further than to require these endorsements to be made by the stamp vendors, and there is no provision of the Acts or of any rule made under them that a stamp so endorsed may only be used by or on behalf of the person whose name is so endorsed. The purpose of the rules requiring the endorsement seems to be merely the provision of a means of ascertaining when, where and by whom a stamp has been purchased, but there is nothing to prevent an impressed stamp purchased by one person being used by some other person.

As regards court-fee adhesive stamps, there is not even a rule to require 'the name of the purchaser, the date of sale and the signature of the vendor' to be written in the blank space left for them. Government Resolution No. 3780† of 16th May 1883 is the only authority for the practice.

† Vide Order 14 (VI) supra.

Adhesive court-fee stamps as well as impressed stamps used under the General Stamp Act or the Court-fees Act can, therefore, legally be used by persons other than those whose names they bear as purchasers. (L. R. No. 1105, dated 23rd August 1884; vide G. R. No. 7199, dated 9th September 1884.)

4. Although no person can sell adhesive court-fee stamps without a license, a document which bears a stamp unlawfully sold is not thereby invalidated. (G. R. No. 5153, dated 26th June 1884.)

5. The Government of India in their Resolution No. 1114, dated 25th February 1884, republished at page 169 of the Bombay Government Gazette of 6th March 1884 under Notification No. 1994 of the 5th idem, having directed that non-judicial stamps of the new design should be exclusively used, and the period allowed to the public for exchanging bi-color stamps of local manufacture for those of the new design having expired, the use of a stamp of the old bi-color pattern, even if it was purchased from a stamp vendor at a time when stamps of that pattern were in general use, is illegal. (G. R. No. 6156, dated 28th August 1886.)

VIII.—DOCUMENTS LIABLE TO STAMP DUTY OR OTHERWISE.

1. When a doubt arises as to the liability of any class of documents to stamp duty, the proper course is to refer a test case under Section 46 of the Stamp Act to the High Court and not to Government, which can give no binding orders on the subject. (L. R. No. 690, dated 20th May 1887; vide G. R. No. 4021, dated 2nd July 1887.)

2. The general receipt given by the head of an office on the back of a Pay Abstract is not liable to a stamp duty, the receipt being executed in this instance by an officer of Government in his official capacity and acting on behalf of Government, but when the amount of the Pay Abstract comes to be distributed, the receipts of the payees for salaries exceeding 20 rupees a month must have a stamp of one anna affixed to each, like other receipts given for the payment of money. The taking of such receipts on the back of a general Pay Abstract does not form any ground for exemption. (G. I. H. D., No. 3860, dated 31st July 1862; vide G. N., dated 25th August 1862.)

3. A power of attorney is not requisite in cases in which District Officers and their subordinates while on tour in the districts order payments out of their salaries at the head-quarter station; and no stamp is, therefore, necessary. (G. R. No. 7464, dated 19th December 1876.)

4. The sowars of the Salt Department being in fact Mounted Police are under entry 14 (a) of the second schedule to the Notification of the Government of India No. 2897 S. R.,* dated 7th June 1894, exempt from stamp duty in respect of the receipts given by them on account of their pay and allowances. (G. R. No. 4134, dated 9th August 1880.)

5. A joint receipt given by a Government servant for a sum in excess of Rs. 20, part of which, not exceeding Rs. 20, is for his own salary and the rest for a contingent allowance which he receives for expenditure on behalf of Government, is not liable to stamp duty. Such a receipt is really two receipts in one. It is a receipt given by him in his personal character for his salary and it is a receipt given by him in his official capacity for money with which he is entrusted on behalf of Government.

Separate receipts should, however, be invariably given for money received by an officer on his own account and for money drawn for expenditure on behalf of Government. (G. R. No. 7508, dated 20th September 1884.)

6. Under Article 940 of the Civil Service Regulations the leave allowances of a ministerial officer can be drawn only at the Treasury where his salary is payable. In consequence of this rule, ministerial officers, when spending their leave at stations far removed from the place of their employment, are obliged to have their allowances drawn through fellow officers or friends living at the place where they are employed. As these agents are in most cases only informally appointed, and as payment to an informally appointed agent is not a valid discharge, the practice was represented as unsafe. It was at the same time urged that it would be a great hardship to require men upon small salaries to go through the formality of executing a regular stamped power-of-attorney, and that the Government of India should exempt from stamp duty instruments executed by public servants drawing not more than Rs. 200 a month, for the sole purpose of realizing their leave allowances. Before finally deciding on the question, enquiry was made by the Government of India as to the practice of the several Local Governments and Administrations in respect of the payment of leave allowances of ministerial and other non-gazetted officers when such allowances were not drawn by the absentees in person. The Local Governments were also asked to report if a change in the existing practice was considered necessary. From the replies received it appeared that the arrangements varied in different provinces; but the general consensus of opinion was that the present arrangements worked well and did not require to be altered in any way. Under these circumstances the Government of India decided that the existing arrangements need not be disturbed. (G. I., F. & C., No. 58, dated 5th April 1882; vide G. R. No. 2642, dated 24th idem.)

7. As to the question whether persons employed in Goa by the British Government should be required to attach British receipt stamps to their pay bills, it is observed that Section 5 of the Indian Stamp Act renders chargeable with duty every instrument

(other than a bill of exchange or promissory note) mentioned in the first schedule, which not having been previously executed by any person, is executed out of British India on or after the first day of April 1879, relates to any property situate, or to any matter or thing done or to be done, in British India, and is received in British India.

A receipted pay bill is an instrument mentioned as No. 52 in Schedule I to the Act. If, therefore, it relates to anything done or to be done in British India, it must be stamped with a one-anna British Indian stamp, and if it is not stamped, it will not be admissible in evidence (vide Section 34).

The receipt relates to the payment of money. If, therefore, the payment takes place in British India, the receipt must be stamped in accordance with Act I of 1879. If the payment does not take place in British India, the mere fact that the contract may have been accepted there, or that the funds for payment may have been received thence, will not suffice to bring the receipt on the pay bill within Section 5 of the Indian Stamp Act I of 1879. For the receipt cannot be said to relate to the contract or to the source from which the money is obtained, but only according to the strict construction to be given to fiscal enactments, to the actual payment or delivery of the money.

The lex fori governs procedure in actions on a contract as the lex loci contractus or the law of the place of acceptance governs its validity, and the lex loci solutionis or law of the place for performance governs all relating to its fulfilment.

The Courts do not take notice of the revenue laws of foreign States unless James v. Catherwood, 3 D. and R., 190, quoted in Fisher's Digest, 4082. Bristow v. DeLecqueville, 5 Exch., 275, when the contract is itself made void by them. quoted in Fisher's Digest, 3561 and 7448.

If, therefore, receipt were offered in a British Indian Court as evidence of a payment made in Goa, the Court would not consider whether or no it was stamped as required by the law for the time being in force in Goa.

It may be that the law in force in Goa requires a stamp to be affixed to a receipt for money paid there, and if so it would be advisable that the requirements of that law should be complied with, though it is very unlikely that any suit in which there could be occasion for production of the pay bills could arise there. (L. R. No. 138, dated 2nd February 1891; vide G. R. No. 1391, dated 20th idem.)

8. A power of attorney executed by a Government pensioner authorizing his agent to draw, during his absence from Baroda, his pension from the Residency Treasury (which is situated in Baroda territory), is not liable to stamp duty. (G. R. No. 3464, dated 4th June 1887.)

9. Customs House pass notes for Commissariat stores cannot be considered as applications presented by persons having dealings with Government, and, therefore, do not require to be stamped under Schedule II of the Court Fees Act, 1870. (G. R. No. 1524, dated 18th March 1873.)

10. Article 8, Schedule I of Act VII of 1870, applies in terms only to the copy of any document which is liable to stamp duty under the Stamp Act (1879). If, therefore, the original document is not liable to stamp duty under that Act, no court fee is leviable under Article 8, Schedule I of Act VII of 1870, on a copy of it. (L. R. No. 337, dated 27th March 1879; vide G. R. No. 1772, dated 2nd April 1879.)

11. Transfers of debentures, whereby, for the purpose of securing money advanced by way of loan, a right over the wharfage fees levied by the Karachi Harbour Board under Act III of 1879 is created in favour of the creditor, are exempted from stamp duty by clause 17 (d) of Schedule II of Act I of 1879. (L. R. No. 1109, dated 20th September 1881; vide G. R. No. 5649, dated 28th idem.)

12. Receipts for sums in excess of Rs. 20 on account of wharfage fees, &c., granted by the Karachi Harbour Board are liable to stamp duty, and Government do not see any reason to exempt such receipts from the payment of duty. (G. R. No. 4775, dated 11th June 1885.)

13. Petitions and applications from persons claiming ground which is not shown in the city survey maps are exempt from court fees under Section 19, clause 9, of the Court Fees Act. (L. R. No. 816, dated 15th October 1878; vide G. R. No. 5434, dated 23rd idem.)

14. Certificates of sale granted by the Civil Courts as well as those granted by the Revenue officers are clearly liable to stamp duty under Article 16, Schedule I of the Stamp Act. (L. R. No. 524, dated 26th April 1880; vide G. R. No. 3009, dated 10th June 1880.)

15. Article No. 16 of Schedule II of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, exempts certain 'surrenders of leases' from stamp duty. A notice of relinquishment given by an occupant under Section 74 of the Revenue Code is not a surrender of a lease within the meaning of that article, but such notices are not liable to stamp duty because there is nothing in Schedule I of that Act that affects them. If the notice can properly be regarded as 'an application for leave to relinquish land,' then it is exempted from court fee by Section 19, clause xi, of Act VII of 1870. (L. R. No. 524, dated 26th April 1880; vide G. R. No. 3009, dated 10th June 1880.)

16. Section 90 of the Land Revenue Code requires an inámdár, who attaches a defaulter's property, to make an immediate report to the Collector of his having done so. The Collector, if the demand appears a just one, may order the sale of the property. There can be no reason for holding the inámdár's report to be an application or petition within the meaning of Article I, clause (b) of Schedule II of the Court Fees Act. (L. R. No. 163, dated 1st February 1882; vide G. R. No. 987, dated 11th idem.)

17. Under the view of the law given by the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs in his following report No. 325, dated 4th March 1884, receipts given not only by dumáldárs but also by any inámdár to the village officers for sums paid by such officers to the dumáldár or inámdár on account of land-revenue collections must be stamped when the sum in respect of which the receipt is given exceeds Rs. 20 :—

"I am of opinion that the exemption in clause 15 (c), Schedule II of the Stamp Act applies only to receipts given for payments of rent made by cultivators, whether to a Government officer or to an inámdár. Thus every receipt given under Section 58 of the Land Revenue Code is exempt. But a receipt given by an inámdár to a village officer for the aggregate or some portion of the aggregate collections made by him in the village is not, I think, exempt from stamp duty. Similar receipts given by a Government officer would, it is true, be exempt, but in that case the exemption would fall under clause 18 of Schedule II of the Stamp Act."

(G. R. No. 2641, dated 27th March 1884.)

18. Letters addressed by Government contractors to the Collector relating to the contract work ought to be treated as of the nature of applications, and not as official correspondence, and are accordingly liable to stamp duty. (L. R. No. 1525, dated 27th November 1882; vide G. R. No. 8, dated 3rd January 1883.)

19. The attention of the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, was directed to a case in which a bank had granted a duplicate receipt to another bank on unstamped paper, although the original receipt was stamped with a duty of one anna, and the money for which the original receipt was granted was required to be accounted for to a party other than the depositor. The case was referred to the Advocate General for opinion as to whether the duplicate receipt was liable to stamp duty, and the following opinion was given by him :—

"A receipt for money is an instrument within the meaning of the Stamp Act (Act I of 1879). It follows that a duplicate receipt mentioned in this case is liable to a stamp of one anna under Article 23 (a) of Schedule I."

(G. I., F. & C., No. 2153, dated 20th July 1883; vide G. R. No. 5885, dated 8th August 1883.)

20. The preceding order does not apply to documents kept merely for purposes of record. It seems clearly unnecessary that receipt stamps should be affixed to the so-called 'duplicate receipts' which are of the nature of office copies. (G. R. No. 6573, dated 15th August 1884.)

21. A document such as that given in the margin appears to be an application from a principal to the Customs Collector, requesting his approval, under Section 202 of the Sea Customs Act, of the authorization of the person named therein to act at the Custom House as such principal's agent. For such an application a court-fee stamp of one anna is all that the law requires. (Act VII of 1870, Schedule II, Article I (a), paragraph I).

An agent may receive his actual authority from his principal either verbally or in writing. The Customs Collector may, if he thinks fit, refuse, under paragraph 2 of Section 203 of the Sea Customs Act, to recognize an agent unless the principal deposits with him an authority in writing. Such an authority in writing, when one is executed, whether it is deposited with the Customs Collector or not, would require to be stamped in accordance with the General Stamp Act. But, unless the Customs Collector requires a written authority, there is nothing that prevents a principal and agent from being satisfied with a verbal authority, if they think fit. (L. R. No. 1127, dated 27th August 1884; vide G. R. No. 7247, dated 10th September 1884.)

22. The Mámlatdárs' Courts Act does not require defendants to file written statements, nor is it contemplated by that Act that a written statement should ever be put in. The Mámlatdár is apparently expected by examination of the defendant, or his pleader, to ascertain what his defence is. But if in a rare case the Mámlatdár permits the defendant to file a written statement, there is nothing in the Court Fees Act that renders such a statement liable to a court fee. If it takes the form of an application or petition, then, under the second paragraph of clause (b), Article 1 of Schedule II of the last-named Act, it will be liable to a court fee of 8 annas. (L. R. No. 168, dated 2nd February 1885; vide G. R. No. 1267, dated 11th idem.)

23. Collectors against whom suits are pending in the High Court may furnish a general power of attorney to the Government Pleader in that Court on plain paper, it being not necessary to execute it on stamped paper. But this ruling cannot be held to apply to vakilátnámás given by a Collector to a Government Pleader, for general powers of attorney are governed by the Stamp Act which specially exempts from stamp duty instruments executed by or on behalf of Government, while vakilátnámás are governed by the Court Fees Act, which contains no such exemption. Vakilátnámás given by Collectors, when such documents are necessary, are liable to the prescribed court fee. (G. Rs. Nos. 4683, dated 1st August 1877, and 2436, dated 11th May 1878.)

* Vide Rule 12 of the rules published under the G. of I. Notn. No. 2170, dated 22nd May 1891, printed at pp. 314—319 of the Compilation of General Rules.

24. The stamp duty on powers of attorney written in any other but the English language and executed out of British India should be indicated in the manner prescribed in Rule 11 of the rules* under the Indian Stamp Act, 1879 (promulgated under Financial Notification No. 196, dated 19th April 1879) which applies expressly to all documents executed out of British India excepting those therein indicated. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2471, dated 29th August 1879; vide G. R. No. 4809, dated 10th September 1879.)

25. The proprietors of large estates cannot claim exemption from the operation of the law in respect of stamp duty on their communications addressed to the Collector in the form of a letter, if of the nature of applications. (G. R. No. 3339, dated 20th May 1882.)

26. Clause 18 of the 2nd schedule to the Stamp Act is as follows:—

‘Any instruments executed by or on behalf or in favour of Government in cases where but for the exemption the Government would be liable to pay the duty chargeable in respect of such instrument.’

This exemption clearly relates to instruments executed by or on behalf of Government or in its favour only in cases in which the Government would be chargeable with the duty like any private person but for the exemption.

Cheques drawn by Presidents or Secretaries of the Local or District Boards in their official capacity are clearly not instruments made on behalf of Government; consequently they do not come within the meaning of the exemption above quoted. The fact that the duty would come out of funds which are Government money, is irrelevant to the question submitted.

Suppose a deed is drawn in favour of a Government servant, but it is understood, though not mentioned in it, that such a Government servant is a trustee for the Government and the Government servant as a party to the instrument would have to pay the stamp duty (which would have to be recouped by Government) such a document would be liable to stamp duty, Government not being a party mentioned therein, though eventually the payment of the stamp duty would have to be made by the Government.

Under these circumstances the cheques in question are not exempt from duty, but are liable to the usual stamp duty. (Opinion of the Advocate General, Bengal, dated 6th August 1885; vide G. R., F. D., No. 2759, dated 26th September 1885, and G. M. No. 8250, dated 10th October 1885.)

27. Under Section 50 of the Local Boards Act, money required by a Local Board to provide or replenish a permanent advance can only be drawn from the Government Treasury by cheque. Rule 46 of the Bombay Local Boards’ Rules* prescribes the form of cheque. It may be doubted whether this order is properly designated a cheque as defined in the General Stamp Act, on the ground that, in the case of Local Funds which under Section 44 of the Act Government is bound to keep, it cannot be said to be acting as a banker. But even if this doubt is correct, the document fulfils the conditions of a bill of exchange as defined in Section 5 of Act XXVI of 1881 and is equally liable, if for more than Rs. 20, to a stamp duty of one anna under Article 11 (a) of Schedule I of the General Stamp Act.

There is no rule which requires the first cheque drawn for money required to begin a permanent advance to be accompanied by any receipt at all. In the absence of any such rule, any demand for a receipt seems irregular. It would be quite sufficient if the cheque were merely accompanied by a memorandum stating the purpose for which the money was required, but not in the form of a receipt. If, however, for any reason a written acknowledgment of the receipt of money (over Rs. 20) is given by the officer drawing the cheque, it must be stamped, as it appears to be a receipt as defined in the General Stamp Act.

As regards money drawn to recoup advances, Rule 45 prescribes exactly what documents must accompany the cheque, viz. a bill supported by sub-vouchers. There is nothing requiring the receipt of the officer who draws the money, and the bill which he sends in should not be in the form of a receipt. If for any reason he does give a written acknowledgment of receipt of money (over Rs. 20) it must be stamped, but his doing so seems quite superfluous.

For the reasons given by the Advocate General of Bengal (quoted in Government Resolution No. 2759,* dated 26th September 1885) documents executed by officers of Local Boards are liable to stamp duty. (L. R. No. 690, dated 20th May 1887; vide G. R. No. 4021, dated 2nd July 1887.)

28. Receipts passed by Municipalities on account of house-tax and cesses, &c., for sums exceeding Rs. 20 are not exempt from stamp duty. Article 15 (b) of Schedule II to the Stamp Act exempts from stamp duty a receipt for payment of money "without consideration." The exemption was intended apparently to apply to receipts for "voluntary" payments, which in the ordinary legal acceptance of the term are payments without consideration, such as payments made merely in consideration of natural love or affection or mere gifts. But the receipts in question are for payment of house rate, &c., due to the Municipality under the Act constituting the Municipality. The payment is not gratuitous, but one in satisfaction or discharge of a legal obligation imposed by the Act, and in order to relieve the payer from the consequence which would ensue in case of his committing default, and is, therefore, not one without "consideration." (G. R. No. 5862, dated 1st September 1887.)

29. Security bonds executed by municipal servants are not exempt from stamp duty. (G. R. No. 3251, dated 21st May 1888.)

30. Anybody may write an ordinary letter to the Secretary to a Municipality without putting a court-fee stamp on it. Whether the Secretary is bound or empowered to act on such letters, is a different question. He may adopt the information afforded by them, and take, or suggest, official action thereon. But he is not bound to do so, and he might with equal propriety refer his correspondent to the municipal authorities who have powers to direct executive action which they cannot delegate. If on the informal correspondence failing to produce effect, an application desiring municipal action is made to the President or to any other municipal commissioner, that application must bear a one-anna stamp as required by paragraph 3 of Article 1 (a) of Schedule II to Act VII of 1870. Mere letters about conservancy, of which the Secretary or municipal officers may take what notice they please, are not liable to court fees. But applications to the Municipality or its members stand on a different footing and cannot be similarly ignored, and as they come clearly within the provision cited, they must be stamped. (L. R. No. 73, dated 14th January 1893; vide G. R. No. 960, dated 3rd February 1893.)

31. Under Section 79 of Act XV of 1872, every person solemnising a marriage and required under the Act to register the same, and every Marriage Registrar or Secretary to a Local Government having the custody, for the time being, of any register of marriages, shall, on payment of the proper fees, give a copy under his hand of any entry in any register of marriages in his custody. Such copies, or extracts certified to be true copies, or extracts by, or by order of, any public officer, and not chargeable under the Court Fees Act, are, unless granted for record in any public office or for any public purpose, liable to a stamp duty of 8 annas each under clause (a) of Article 22, Schedule I of the Indian Stamp Act, 1872, except in cases provided for in the Notification of the Government of India No. 1603,* dated 9th June 1882. A clergyman or priest not receiving pay from Government is when acting under Section 79 of Act XV of 1872 a public officer within the meaning of the above orders. Extracts from marriage registers furnished by such clergymen or priests are, therefore, not exempt from the payment of stamp duty. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 1605, dated 9th June 1882, and 200, dated 13th January 1883; vide G. Rs. Nos. 6007, dated 1st September 1882, and 676, dated 25th January 1883.)

* Vide Article 6 (b) of the second Schedule to the G. of I. Notn. No. 2897 S. R., dated 7th June 1894, republished in the B. G. G. of 21st idem.

32. A one-anna receipt stamp is not required on endorsements on railway receipts sent through the Post Office under the value payable system. (G. I., F. & C., No. 5198, dated 29th September 1887; vide G. R. No. 7801, dated 14th November 1887.)

33. No formal application seems necessary either for the adjournment of an Income Tax appeal or to inform the Court that a compoundable offence (not being one under Sections 324, 335, 337 or 338, Indian Penal Code) has been compounded. In the case of offences under these four sections, formal application to compound appears necessary. To requests which need not be made as formal applications, the following paragraphs of High Court Circular 52A of 19th February 1884 appear applicable:—

‘As the law does not require any formal application to be made for the return of documents under Section 142 or Section 144 of the Code of Civil Procedure, they may be returned to the persons entitled to receive them on their oral request and on taking their receipt in writing in the usual form.

‘In case any such person chooses to make his request in writing, the paper, as this is optional, need bear no stamp.’

34. Under the following opinion of the Honourable the Advocate General of Bengal, shipping memoranda are essentially shipping orders, and are, therefore, liable to stamp duty as shipping orders:—

“The term ‘shipping order’ is not defined in the Stamp Act; but, from the words following the term in the schedule, it is clear that it is a document relating to the conveyance of goods on board a vessel. I am of opinion that it is immaterial what the exact form of words employed is, and think that any document made by a shipper and directed to the master of a vessel relating to the conveyance of his goods on board such vessel, which fulfils the functions of a shipping order, is a shipping order within the meaning of the Act, notwithstanding that the form of the document is not mandatory.”

(G. I., F. & C., No. 6577, dated 31st December 1889; vide G. R. No. 242, dated 11th January 1890.)

35. A question having been raised whether stamp duty was properly levied by the Custom authorities on a letter addressed to them enquiring whether customs duty was levied on silver articles when sent from India to England, the following opinion was recorded by the Honourable the Advocate General:—

“I think that Article 1A of Schedule II of the Court-fees Act does not apply to an enquiry of the kind contained in the letter in question, as it is not presented by any person having dealings with the Government, and does not relate to such dealings. It is simply a request for information which the Customs authorities might not be bound to comply with, but on which they had no right to require a stamp.”

(G. R. No. 1816, dated 8th March 1890.)

36. A court fee is leviable under Article 9 of Schedule I of the Court Fees Act in respect of all orders or proceedings passed after investigation under Bombay Act III of 1874. It may be doubted whether proceedings or orders under the Bombay Hereditary Offices Act come within the meaning of the word ‘Revenue’ used in Article 9 of Schedule I of Act VII of 1870. But if an investigation has been made, they would be covered by the word 'Judicial' in that article (Section 71 of Bombay Act III of 1874). Purely departmental or office orders in which there is no investigation or appeal, such as orders under Section 64 (c) and mere orders to register facts already recorded according to law or under the orders of Government (Section 76) are of course not within the meaning of Article 9 of Schedule I of the Court Fees Act, as they are neither Revenue nor Judicial orders, and no copies of mere orders from an office unless they come under the description of an 'account, statement, report or the like,' are liable to fees. (L. R. No. 196, dated 16th February 1889; vide G. R. No. 1885, dated 9th March 1889.)

37. "Názirs are, I believe, in the habit of sending monies from time to time to Government Treasuries for safe custody and such monies are held by the Treasury officers in deposit until redrawn by the Názirs. For the purposes of such transactions, forms of a Pass Book and of a cheque are prescribed at pages 290 and 291 of the High Court Circulars, and I am clearly of opinion that in transactions of this nature between two Government officers no stamped receipt is necessary.

"If the case under reference was one of the above kind—as I think it must have been—no separate receipt was necessary at all. All that was requisite was an entry on the Dr. side of the Pass Book signed both by the Subordinate Judge and the Mámlatdár, and to this entry no receipt stamp need, I think, have been attached. If a separate receipt was passed or required, I do not understand why the occasion for it arose; but even assuming that it was necessary it would merely be an acknowledgment by one Government servant of the receipt of money which another Government servant had kept for him in safe custody, and it would not require to be stamped.

"Why, if the Subordinate Judge had determined that the money was forfeited to Government, he 'applied to the Mámlatdár for its repayment,' is another point which I find it difficult to understand. I should have thought that it would be sufficient for him to request the Mámlatdár to transfer the amount from the deposit account to the credit of Government under the head of 'Law and Justice,' or whatever may be the appropriate head for such receipts. But it seems probable that the Subordinate Judge intended the whole amount to be repaid to his Názir as a returned deposit, and then afterwards to remit it, minus 'the expenses of the sale,' if any, to the Treasury to be credited finally to Government. If this be the correct view of what took place, the receipt passed by the Subordinate Judge or by his Názir would still need no stamp. Viewed in any light, the transaction seems to have been nothing more than a transfer from the Treasury to the Court of money held by the former in deposit for safe custody, and both parties to the transaction were acting in their capacity of officers of Government." (L. R. No. 1124, dated 3rd September 1880; vide G. R. No. 4858, dated 14th idem.)

38. When a Civil Court attaches money in the hands of Government, payable by Government to a person against whom a decree has been passed by the Civil Court, it is not necessary that the Civil Court should give to the Government officer in whose possession the money is, a receipt on a one-anna stamp before the money can be paid to the Court executing the decree. Such receipts are exempted from stamp duty under Article 15 (b) of Schedule II to the Stamp Act (I of 1879). If money which has been attached, under Section 272 of the Civil Procedure Code, is afterwards paid into the Court which attached it, the payment is a 'payment of money without consideration;' it is a mere transfer of the money from the custody of one authority to another, in order that the latter may disburse it to the party or parties entitled to it. (L. R. No. 519, dated 7th April 1892; vide G. R., J. D., No. 2443, dated 6th May 1892, and G. M. No. 4423, dated 25th idem.)

39. The memorandum of association of any society registered under Act XXI of 1860 (an Act for the registration of Literary, Scientific and Charitable Societies) does not require to be stamped. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2518, dated 22nd July 1890; vide G. R. No. 5606, dated 12th August 1890.)

40. No court fee is leviable on life certificates given to civil pensioners to satisfy the requirements of Article 1028 of the Civil Service Regulations. Such certificates may be granted by retired officials who before retirement exercised the powers of a Magistrate, as well as by Sub-Registrars and Magistrates, and do not fall within Schedule I of the Court Fees Act, 1870. Perhaps it may have been thought that the applications for such a certificate might fall within Article 1 (b), Schedule II, when presented to a Magistrate; but that article applies only to applications presented to Magistrates in their executive capacity. It would not apply to a request made to a Magistrate which might be made orally and which is made to him, not in his magisterial or executive capacity, but as it might be made to a retired Magistrate as a person of ascertained respectability and position. (L. R. No. 287, dated 25th February 1891; vide G. R. No. 1869, dated 12th March 1891.)

41. Samachari chittis serving the purposes of hundis or letters of credit are liable to stamp duty, and their execution on unstamped paper will render the writer liable to prosecution and punishment. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1757 S. R., dated 25th April 1893; vide G. R. No. 3523, dated 15th May 1893.)

IX.—AMOUNT OF DUTY LEVIABLE ON CERTAIN INSTRUMENTS.

1. Licenses under the Bombay A'bkari Act do not require to be stamped. Counterpart agreements executed under Section 31 of that Act, if not attested, require a stamp of eight annas under Article 5 (c) of Schedule I of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879. (L. R. No. 986, dated 25th August 1879; vide G. R. No. 4631, dated 1st September 1879; vide also G. R. No. 8916, dated 4th December 1893.)

2. A comparatively light stamp duty was fixed for an assignment of a lease under Article 60, Schedule I of the Stamp Act in consideration of the heavy duty to which the lease itself is chargeable under No. 39 of the schedule. It would be out of place in India to prescribe any special duty for agreements under seal, as the law attaches no artificial effects to sealing. There is no reason why agreements by way of guarantee or indemnity should be treated differently from other agreements. (G. I., F. & C., No. 3439, dated 29th October 1880; vide G. R. No. 6096, dated 18th November 1880.)

3. The practice of affixing a one-anna court-fee stamp to applications or petitions of the nature of reminders, should be discontinued, and in future the full stamp duty authorized by law should be required thereon. (G. R. No. 6322, dated 13th September 1882.)

4. Orders passed by a Revenue officer under Section 87 of the Bombay Land Revenue Code are not decrees or orders having the force of a decree passed by a Revenue Court within the meaning of Article 7, Schedule I of the Court Fees Act. For the purposes of certain sections of the Penal Code a formal or a summary inquiry under the Code is to be deemed (Section 196) a judicial proceeding, and the office of the authority holding such inquiry is to be deemed a Civil Court, but the order passed by a Revenue officer under Section 87 of the Code is not in any way binding upon the parties like a decree, and determines no question of right that may be at issue between them. To copies of such orders Article 9, and not Article 7, of the above schedule applies. (L. R. No. 391, dated 29th March 1883; vide G. R. No. 5630, dated 31st July 1883.)

5. If a deed of sale of a mortgage right were a transfer of an 'interest secured by a mortgage-deed' it would fall under Article 60 (b) of Schedule I of the Stamp Act. It is true that such a transfer is a 'conveyance.' The term 'conveyance' is defined by the Act, Section 3 (9), to mean 'an instrument by which property is transferred on sale.' But Article 21 of Schedule I, which covers 'conveyances' generally, expressly excepts conveyances which are transfers of the kind mentioned in Article 60. But if the mortgage interest transferred by the deed rested upon a verbal contract merely, or if it was an equitable mortgage, Article 60 of Schedule I would not apply, and the deed of sale would fall under Article 21. (L. R. No. 1333, dated 3rd October 1883; vide G. R. No. 7828, dated 22nd idem.)

6. The marginally noted opinion of the Remembrancer of Legal

"A perusal of the correspondence confirms my opinion that the view taken by the Inspector General of Registration and Stamps is correct.

"2. The mistake committed by the Registrar is in saying that the property mortgaged by deed B consisted of two houses. It consisted of one house and a portion of another house. A lien was not created on property already hypothecated."

Affairs, No. 1117, dated 4th September 1885, was communicated to the Inspector General of Registration and Stamps for information and guidance with reference to the following letter,

No. 2046, dated 25th July 1885, from that officer:—

"I have the honour to submit translations, marked respectively A and B, of two deeds registered some months since, the one in the Viramgam, the other in the Parantij Sub-Registry Office in the district of Ahmedabad, concerning which, as regards the question of stamp duty, considerable correspondence has passed between the Registrar of Ahmedabad and myself, with the result that we cannot agree.

"2. Deed A I hold to be an instrument of further charge on which the stamp duty instead of being Rs. 5 should have, under the provisions of clause (a) of Article 30 of Schedule No. I of the General Stamp Act, amounted to Rs. 10, the sum advanced on mortgage being Rs. 1,000. I would shortly describe this deed as mortgaging without possession certain property not previously under hypothecation, and also at the same time confirming (or mortgaging afresh) the hypothecation of two gardens previously mortgaged with possession. It is on the latter circumstance that I rely in forming the opinion that the deed is an instrument of further charge on property already mortgaged with possession.

"3. Instrument marked B the Registrar of Ahmedabad holds to be on all fours as regards its character with instrument marked A, and it is on this point that I join issue with Mr. Reid. Instrument marked B purports to mortgage without possession certain houses and it recites the fact that a room in one of those two houses had previously been mortgaged with possession to the same mortgagee, but I do not understand that the present instrument again mortgages that room, and I rely on the following passages appearing in the deed for holding that opinion:—

'A room of this house No. 2 is in your possession under a deed of mortgage with possession previously executed to you * * *. The remaining portion of the said house * * * is given to you in mortgage without possession * * *'

'In consideration of the abovementioned amount the whole of house No. 1, and out of the house No. 2 the front portion of the ground floor and excepting the mortgage hak on the room the remaining portion of the said house are given in writing in mortgage.'

"4. The Registrar of Ahmedabad agrees with me in thinking that on the first named deed a stamp of Rs. 10 is required, holding as I do that the instrument imposes a further charge on property already mortgaged with possession. In the second case he is apparently of opinion that the instrument while mortgaging without possession two houses, a room in one of which was previously mortgaged with possession, creates a further lien on that room and that is the point on which we differ, he holding that the stamp on the latter deed should have been one of Rs. 2 on the sum of Rs. 140 received by the property hypothecated, I holding that the stamp duty of Re. 1 actually paid is sufficient, seeing that as I construe deed B the already hypothecated room is not again pledged as security for a further charge thereon.

"5. The Registrar having asked that the point should be submitted to the Legal Remembrancer for opinion, I have the honour respectfully to request that these papers may be placed before the latter officer."

(G. R. No. 7500, dated 16th September 1885.)

7. Ordinary licensed stamp vendors are not officers of Government within the meaning of Article 12 (b), Schedule II, Act I of 1879. The article would apply to the Government officers who are appointed ex-officio vendors under the rules framed under Section 55 of the Stamp Act.

The stamp necessary for a stamp-vendor's security bond is the amount required by Article 14, Schedule I, of the Stamp Act. (L. R. No. 1324, dated 2nd October 1884; vide G. R. No. 3107, dated 14th idem.)

8. Applications to a Collector under Section 22 of the Local Boards Act are liable to a court fee of eight annas under Act VII of 1870, Schedule II, Article 1 (b). (G. R. No. 3725, dated 8th May 1885.)

9. The record of a Sub-Registrar's reasons for refusing to admit a document to registration is not 'a revenue or judicial proceeding' within the meaning of Article 9, Schedule I of the Court Fees Act, and certified copies of such reasons are chargeable with stamp duty under Article 22, Schedule I of the Indian Stamp Act. (L. R. No. 394, dated 25th March 1886; vide G. R. No. 2752, dated 12th April 1886.)

10. A mukhtyárnáma which authorizes three persons to exercise all khoti privileges and to recover all khoti dues cannot be considered as authority to act in a single transaction. A document of such nature comes under Article 50 (c) of Schedule I of Act No. I of 1879, and should be written on a stamped paper of Rs. 5. (G. R. No. 1365, dated 3rd March 1887.)

11. Declarations of trust should be charged with stamp duty on an ad valorem scale, similar to that prescribed for bonds in Article 13 of Schedule I of the Stamp Act, subject, however, to a maximum duty of Rs. 15. (G. I., F. & C., No. 6766, dated 24th December 1887; vide G. R. No. 317, dated 17th January 1888.)

12. An application or petition presented by a farmer of ábkári or opium revenue to a Collector, Assistant Collector or Mámlatdár requires a one-anna stamp. (G. R. No. 3174, dated 19th May 1888.)

13. An instrument evidencing an ordinary pawn transaction where money is borrowed on the pledge of moveable property, and the sum borrowed exceeds Rs. 20, should be stamped as a mortgage-deed under Article 44 of Schedule I to the Stamp Act, 1879. (G. I., F. & C., No. 5232, dated 5th November 1890; vide G. R. No. 8405, dated 25th idem.)

14. A question having been raised as to the amount of stamp duty leviable on an application for license to manufacture 200 lbs. of fireworks under No. 31, read with Nos. 9 and 8, of the rules issued in Government Notification No. 4116, dated 5th July 1887, the Honourable the Advocate General expressed his opinion (No. 46, dated 21st May 1892) that the 3rd clause of Rule 9 was applicable and that a fee of Rs. 5 only was payable. (G. R. No. 4914, dated 11th June 1892.)

15. The following decision of the High Court of Calcutta as to the amount of stamp duty payable on the entrance certificates issued by the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund, Calcutta, is to be acted upon in all similar cases:—

“ High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

“Reference under Section 46, Act I of 1879, from the Officiating Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, No. 1587-B, dated 20th November 1891.

(Stamp Reference No. 13 of 1891.)

“PETHERAM, Chief Justice.—The question referred to us by the Board of Revenue is what is the stamp which an entrance certificate under the rules of the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund, Calcutta, should bear. By the contract which is evidenced by the document, the person to whom the certificate is issued in consideration of a money payment secures an income after his death for a time to another person, subject to certain contingencies; this is, I think, a contract of assurance, and the document which evidences such a contract is, I think, a life policy and is within Section 3 and Section 15 of the Stamp Act. The amount insured is quite uncertain, in every case, and it is impossible to predict whether anything or, if anything, what, will ever become payable by the fund under the contract, and the contract cannot, I think, be defined as an insurance for any particular amount, and therefore cannot be for an amount which exceeds Rs. 1,000. That being so, and it being an insurance, it must be a life policy for an amount which does not exceed Rs. 1,000, and the stamp duty on such an instrument is six annas.

“It is, I think, clear that such an instrument as this is not within the scope of Section 25, sub-section (c) of that section, which is the only one within which it has been said to be included, deals with contracts under which, for some executed consideration, money becomes immediately due though payable by fixed periodical payments, and it is, I think, enough to say that that is not the present case, and there is no provision in the Act which can relate to the valuation of annuities secured by life policies.

"My answer to the question is that the stamp duty which an entrance certificate under the rules of the Uncovenanted Service Pension Fund should bear is six annas.

"PRINSEP, J.—I agree that, read with the rules of the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund, this paper may be regarded as a life policy, and also that it does not come within Section 25 of the Act. We have not the means of ascertaining its value. That can be obtained only by such a calculation as is not open to us. In the absence of such information we must take it in the most favourable way to the person being taxed,—that is to say, we must assess it at the lowest possible value below 1,000 and it should, therefore, be assessed at six annas.

"PIGOT, J.—I agree."

(G. I., F. & C., No. 2460, dated 11th June 1892; vide G. R. No. 5551, dated 7th July 1892.)

16. Clause 16 (a) of the Government of India's Notification No. 4650,* dated 10th September 1889, sanctioning reductions and remissions of court fees under Section 35 of the Court Fees Act, VII of 1870, does not apply in the case of a petition made to a Collector exercising the powers of a Commissioner under Section 27 of the Income Tax Act II of 1886. The court fee payable on such application or petition is eight annas under Schedule II (1) (b), paragraph 2 of the Court Fees Act, 1870. (G. I., F. & C., No. S. R.-3046, dated 15th July 1893; vide G. R. No. 5692, dated 7th August 1893.)

X.—DUTY IN PAUPER SUITS.

1. The only privilege of a person who is allowed by a Court to institute a suit in forma pauperis is, that he is not liable for any court fee (other than fees payable for service of process) in respect of any petition, appointment of a pleader, or other proceeding connected with the suit. There is apparently no law which exempts him from paying the stamp duty on any document which requires to be stamped under the provisions of the General Stamp Act. Unless, therefore, the case comes within clause 13† of Section 15 of the Act (No. 18 of 1869), duty must be paid. (L. R. No. 538, dated 10th June 1878; vide G. R. No. 3098, dated 19th idem.)

2. Article No. 167,‡ Schedule II, Act IX of 1871, does not apply to applications on the part of Government under Section 309§ of the Civil Procedure Code for the recovery of pauper costs, and no rule of limitation exists in respect of such applications. Section 309 directs that "Government shall recover such costs in the same manner as costs of suits are recoverable," but this refers only to the method of procedure. It is a well-established rule that the king is not bound by any statute, if he be not expressly named to be so bound (Broom's Legal Maxims, 5th Edition, page 72; Maxwell on the Interpretation of Statutes, p. 112). "Statutes of Limitation have always been held not to bind the Crown, except when named." (Maxwell on the Interpretation of Statutes, p. 117.) Act IX of 1871 contains a special provision for any suit in the name of the Secretary of State for India in Council, a period of sixty years being allowed as the period of limitation (Article 150,* Schedule II). But neither the Crown nor the Secretary of State is mentioned in connection with applications for execution. The East India Company no longer represents the Crown, and Section 24 of Statute 24 and 25 Vic., C. 67, expressly provides that no law or regulation made by the Governor General in Council shall be deemed invalid by reason only that it affects the prerogative of the Crown. (L. R. No. 696, dated 19th October 1875; vide G. R. No. 6163, dated 1st November 1875.)

* Cf. No. 149 of Schedule II of the Indian Limitation Act XV of 1877.

3. Collectors are authorized to pass, without the sanction of Government, charges incurred in making applications or darkhāsts in Civil Courts for the recovery of stamp charges on behalf of Government from the parties concerned in pauper suits.

They may also, if they see sufficient cause, remit to the party from whom it may be recoverable after judgment, the stamp duty itself in such suits. (G. R., F. D., No. 3945, dated 14th September 1877, and G. R. No. 6820, dated 14th November 1877.)

XI.—KINDS OF STAMPS TO BE USED IN CERTAIN CASES.

1. Whereas copies or extracts certified to be true copies or extracts of baptismal, marriage, and burial certificates granted by ministers and marriage registrars are generally furnished on printed forms for which impressed sheets of stamped paper cannot be used without inconvenience; therefore in exercise of the powers conferred by Section 9 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following rule:—

The stamp duty payable under Article 22 of Schedule I to the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, on copies or extracts certified to be true copies or extracts of baptismal, marriage, and burial certificates shall be denoted by means of adhesive court-fee labels.

(G. I., F. & C., Notification No. 2036, dated 30th June 1882, republished in the Bombay Government Gazette of 6th July 1882.)

NOTE.—The officer issuing the certificates should cancel the adhesive court-fee label affixed thereto by writing his name across it. (G. I., H. D., No. 3—173—187, dated 11th September 1882; vide G. R. No. 6722, dated 28th idem.)

32. India Revenue (Receipt) stamps should be used for proxies given by females at Local Board elections. (G. R. No. 1747, dated 28th February 1885.)

3. Promissory notes drawn or made in British India and chargeable with a duty of more than one anna are not among the instruments that may be stamped with impressed labels; the legal and regular method of paying the stamp duty is by the use of impressed sheets, or in the cases of 6, 10 and 12 annas, for which no impressed sheets exist, by the use of hundi stamps. (G. I., F. & C., No. 6623, dated 15th December 1887; vide G. R. No. 302, dated 14th January 1888.)

XII.—INSTRUMENTS NOT DULY STAMPED.

1. Copies requiring to be stamped under Act VII of 1870 are not of any validity unless properly stamped, and cannot be furnished or received by any public officer. (G. I., F. D., No. 231, dated 18th January 1877; vide G. R. No. 534, dated 27th idem.)

2. The period during which an instrument remains impounded under the provisions of Chapter IV of the Stamp Act, 1879, cannot be deducted in computing the period of limitation mentioned in Section 34 of the Registration Act, 1877. In the case of all impounded instruments forwarded to the Collector by Registrars and Sub-Registrars under Section 33 of the Stamp Act the adjudication should be made by the Collector with as little delay as possible. (L. R. No. 1524, dated 22nd December 1881; vide G. R. No. 128, dated 10th January 1882.)

3. The procedure to be followed in enforcing the payment of insufficient stamp duty and penalty with respect to instruments sent to Collectors under clause 2 of Section 35 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, is that laid down in the letter from the Government of India No. 4310,* dated 28th October 1875. (G. R. No. 3016, dated 28th April 1893.)

**Vide* order 1 (XIII) infra.

XIII.—ADJUDICATION AS TO STAMPS.

1. When the Collector has received a document and given his opinion under Section 39† of the Stamp Act XVIII of 1869, and the presenter of the document thereafter declines to pay the full sum adjudged, the Collector may consider the instrument as having been presented under Section 23.‡ He must then first consider whether there is a case for prosecution under Section 29§ or 36, and if he determines to prosecute he can detain the instrument, but if he does not intend to prosecute he should return the instrument to the owner. (G. I., F. D., No. 4310, dated 28th October 1875; vide G. R. No. 6336, dated 11th November 1875.)

2. In all such prosecutions Collectors should bring to the notice of the Magistrate the loss of revenue due to the non-stamping of the instrument. (G. R. No. 2641, dated 14th April 1893.)

3. It is clear that Rule 15|| of the Rules under the Indian Stamp Act I of 1879 laid down in the Government of India's Notification No. 875, dated 26th February 1881, is a rule under Section 32, and relates solely to the fee under Section 30. As to the duty on instruments brought to the Collector under Section 30, it is said in Section 31 that the duty determined by the Collector may be paid, and when the Collector has certified by endorsement on the instrument that the full duty chargeable has been paid, the instrument so endorsed "shall be held to have been duly stamped." The Collector appears to hold that these words point to a payment in cash. But Section 9

† Vide Section 30 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879.

§ Vide Section 61, ibid.

|| Cf. Rule 17 of the rules under Sections 9, 15, 17, 32, 51 and 56 of the Indian Stamp Act published under G. of I. Notn. No. 2170, dated 22nd May 1891; printed at pp. 314—319 of the Compilation of General Rules.

says that, except in specially excepted cases, all duties shall be paid by means of stamps, and Section 31 does not specially provide that the duty paid under it shall be paid in cash. The duty under Section 31 should, therefore, be paid by means of stamps, and such payment should be indicated on the instrument by the stamps used. (G. R. No. 5568, dated 26th September 1881.)

4. In the case of such an agreement as that executed by P. R. A. to H. R. A. for a term of 11 years stipulating to pay annually 4 khandis of Dodka or Ghonsalvel rice in husk and 1,050 bundles of hay, the stamp duty should be fixed by the Collector under paragraph 3 of Article 39 (a) of Schedule I of the Stamp Act in accordance with what he considers to be 'the value of the average annual rent reserved.'

The practice followed by the officers of the Registration Department in cases of instruments like the one in question is to draw the attention of the parties presenting such deeds to Section 27 of Act I of 1879 which requires that 'the consideration (if any) and all other facts and circumstances affecting the chargeability of any instrument with duty shall be fully and truly set forth therein' and to the penalties imposed by Section 63 of the same Act. This leads to the defect in documents being supplied, that is, the value of the consideration is shown therein and the stamp duty determined accordingly. In cases in which the parties refuse to express the money value, the documents are forwarded to the Collector of the district for the adjudication of the proper stamp duty leviable thereon. This is a very reasonable practice. (L. R. No. 10 B., dated 26th January 1883; vide G. R. No. 1238, dated 16th February 1893.)

XIV.—COMPOSITION OF STAMP DUTY.

1. The Presidency Municipalities, the Trustees of the Port of Bombay, and the Commissioners for making improvements in the Port of Calcutta are empowered, by the enactments constituting or incorporating them, to borrow money for certain purposes by way of debenture, on the security of the rates, taxes or dues which they are authorized to levy or impose.

Under the Local Authorities Loan Act, other bodies corporate and Municipalities may also be authorized to borrow money upon the security of the funds which they administer, or the taxes which they levy.

The Bonds or debentures issued by all these bodies, and coupons issued with such debentures are, in the absence of any special exemption, chargeable with stamp duty, at the rate of about  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent.

The question whether stamp duty is chargeable on the renewal and sub-division of such debentures, is open to argument; but whether stamp duty is chargeable in such cases or not, the interests of the stamp revenue necessitate the attendance of the parties at the office of the Collector of Stamp Revenue, in order to the stamping (without charge) of the new debentures. The Government of India is not willing to relieve such debentures altogether from the payment of stamp duty; but it is prepared to exempt coupons issued with them from the separate payment of duty, and is anxious to remove, as far as is compatible with the due protection of the stamp revenue, the inconvenience occasioned to the debenture-holders by the necessity for attendance at the Stamp Office on each case of renewal or sub-division.

His Honour the President in Council thinks that these objects may be attained if the above-mentioned bodies corporate are willing, on the issue of any debentures, to compound for the stamp duty chargeable thereon by the payment in a lump sum of  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. on the total amount of the loan. There is no special provision in the law authorizing such a composition; but, on payment by any of the corporate bodies referred to, under such a composition, the Government of India will exempt\* the debentures from any stamp duty with which they might otherwise be chargeable whether on issue, renewal or sub-division.

The payments made under such compositions will be credited to stamp revenue.

The serial number, amount and date of each of the debentures issued should be communicated to the Government of India to enable them to issue the needful notification exempting the debentures from the payment of stamp duty under these orders. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 3646, dated 13th November 1880, and 3323, dated 6th October 1881; vide G. Rs. Nos. 6472, dated 8th December 1880, and 6273, dated 25th October 1881.)

2. Cheques issued by Local Boards do not come within the exemption contemplated in the foregoing orders. (G. R. No. 1025, dated 21st December 1885.)

XV.—REFUNDS.

1. Local Governments are authorized to allow refunds or renewals of spoiled or useless stamps, or the repurchase of stamps not required, provided that application for renewal or refund be made within one year from the date of purchase of the stamp, or one year from the date on which the stamp has been spoilt, or rendered useless. (G. I., F. & C., No. 125, dated 14th January 1881; vide G. R. No. 601, dated 28th idem.)

2. The Commissioners in the Bombay Presidency, the Superintendent of Stamps, Bombay, and the Political Resident, Aden, are authorized to grant the refund of the value of spoilt or useless general stamps in cases in which application for the refund is made after six months, but within one year from the date of the purchase of the stamp or from the date on which the stamp is spoilt or rendered useless. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 3926, dated 23rd October 1883, 2075, dated 31st December 1883, and 445, dated 25th April 1885; vide G. Rs. Nos. 8409, dated 15th November 1883, 338, dated 14th January 1884, and 3938, dated 16th May 1885.)

3. The Commissioner in Sind, the Commissioners of Divisions, the Superintendent of Stamps, and the Political Resident at Aden are authorized to exercise, within their respective charges, the power conferred by the Government of India on the Local Government of granting refunds of the value of impressed court-fee stamps and court-fee adhesive labels. (G. R. No. 819, dated 6th February 1888.)

NOTE.—By Government Resolution No. 1037, dated 7th February 1891, the power granted to Commissioners by the Resolution of 6th February 1888 has been delegated to Collectors.

4. "I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 6099, dated the 27th July 1892, and of its enclosures, regarding an application from Messrs. _____ for refund of the value of certain spoiled stamps amounting to Rs. 283.

"Under the law, applications for refund should be made within six months from the date on which the stamps were purchased, spoiled or rendered useless. In order to meet cases of undue hardship, this period was extended to twelve months by the Resolution in this Department No. 125*, dated 14th January 1881. In the present case, it appears that the stamps were spoiled or rendered unfit for use in each case more than one year, and in some instances more than six years, before an application for refund was made to the Collector of _____, and no satisfactory explanation is given of the cause of the delay. In many cases, too, the stamps become useless merely because by careless keeping they were torn or soiled. Such a case as this is not of the kind contemplated when provision was made for the refund of the value of spoiled or useless stamps, and the Governor General in Council is unable to sanction the refund applied for.

* Vide No. 60 dated 2 January order 1 supra.

"As regards the suggestion made by the Commissioner in Sind that applications of the kind might, in future, be made by applicants to the Government of India direct, I am to state that the Government of India prefers that they should be submitted through the Local Government." (G. I., F. & C., No. S.R.-3314, dated 10th August 1892; vide G. R. No. 7042, dated 5th September 1892.)

5. Sections 52 and 54 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, apply to all kinds of stamps used under that Act, but great caution should be used in refunding the value of "adhesive labels." (G. I., F. D., No. 911, dated 6th June 1879; vide G. R. No. 3300, dated 23rd idem.)

6. The words 'deducting one anna for each rupee or fraction of a rupee' which occur in clause (c), Section 53 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, are not applicable to clauses (a) and (b) of that section. Those words are applicable to clause (c) only.

(2) The distinction between clauses (a) and (b) and (c) is pointed.

(3) Clauses (a) and (b) are applicable to cases where fresh stamps are given in lieu of spoiled or misused stamps, but such new stamps when so given are in (a) case to be of the same 'description and value,' and in (b) case of any other 'description to the same amount in value,' so in each of these (a) and (b) cases the same value of the spoiled stamps is to be given and no deduction is provided for, whereas in (c), which provides for a money return, 'the same value in money, deducting one anna for each rupee or fraction of a rupee,' is to be given.

(4) The words 'deducting one anna for each rupee or fraction of a rupee' can refer only to the preceding words 'the same value in money' as the thing from which the deduction is to be made.

(5) Section 54 aids this construction.

(6) The effect of Section 53 may be summarized thus :—Where fresh stamps are given in exchange for spoiled or misused stamps, stamps of the same value as the spoiled or misused stamps are to be given and no deduction made, but where money is given in exchange for spoiled or misused stamps, a deduction of one anna is to be made from each rupee or fraction of a rupee of the value of such spoiled or misused stamp. (Adv. Gen. No. 106, dated 12th November 1880; vide G. R. No. 6471, dated 8th December 1880.)

7. As the words used in Section 53 of the Stamp Act 'in any case in which allowance is made for spoilt or misused stamps' are in the plural, the practice of deducting one anna in the rupee on the aggregate value of the stamps, and not on the value of each separate stamp tendered, is most in accordance with the apparent intention of the Legislature. In the cases falling under Section 54 also the deduction should be on the aggregate value. (G. Rs. Nos. 1519, dated 22nd February 1883, and 9035, dated 16th November 1892.)

8. When the Collector of a District sanctions a refund or renewal he should then and there record his reasons for granting such refund or renewal, should punch or mark the stamped paper in such a way that it can never be presented again, and should then forward it for destruction to the Superintendent of Stamps. (G. I., F. D., No. 3767, dated 23rd October 1873; vide G. R. No. 6077, dated 4th November 1873.)

9. No. 14* of the rules under the Stamp Act, 1879, laid down in the Government of India's Notification No. 196, dated 19th April 1879, does not require that the affidavits and depositions should be put in or made before the Collector himself personally. As the duties in question are rather ministerial and formal than judicial, there is no legal objection to

* Vide Rule 18 of the rules published in the G. of I. Notn. No. 2170 of 22nd May 1891, printed at pp. 314—319 of the Compilation of General Rules the Collector delegating the inquiry, if he thinks it necessary or expedient, to a Mámílatdár or Mahálkari, provided that he passes the final order himself. (L. R. No. 28, dated 5th January 1880; vide G. R. No. 211, dated 14th idem.)

10. In the case of an impressed stamp which has been spoiled by an agreement having been written upon it which the person who was to have executed that agreement in his own sole name subsequently refused to sign, the proper course is to deal with the case under Section 54 of the Stamp Act. That section applies to stamps for which the owner has no immediate use and which have not been spoiled or rendered unfit or useless for the purpose intended. This is precisely the case in question. The stamp is spoiled and rendered unfit and useless for any other purpose, but not for the purpose for which it was intended to be used, and the owner of it has no immediate use for it. Probably this section was primarily intended to apply when a stamp had not been used or spoiled at all, but it is so worded—perhaps intentionally—as to cover both cases. (L. R. No. 278, dated 1st March 1881; vide G. R. No. 1480, dated 12th idem.)

11. The heir of a deceased person has a right to claim a refund on a spoiled stamped paper which has come into his possession as heir. (G. R. No. 1073, dated 15th February 1882.)

12. Section 17, clause (b) of the Arms Act, XI of 1878, empowers the Governor General in Council to fix a fee payable in respect of a license “granted;” and it seems doubtful whether the fee can properly be retained when such application is refused. In the event, therefore, of an application for a license under the Arms Act, bearing the requisite fee in the shape of impressed stamps, being refused by the Executive authorities, a refund of the stamp fee paid should be allowed. (G. I., H. D., No. 30-1086, dated 10th June 1879; vide G. R. No. 3277, dated 21st idem.)

13. An application for a license under the Petroleum Act VIII of 1881 should bear the stamp suitable for an application, and the stamp for the license should be separate. If the application is refused, the refund of the cost of the stamp for the license may be claimed under Section 54 of the Stamp Act, 1879. An application should not be made on a stamped paper intended for the license, but where such a procedure has been wrongly allowed, a refund of the stamp fee minus the value of the stamp which should have been affixed to the application, and minus also the deductions prescribed in Section 54 of the Stamp Act, may be granted. (G. I., H. D., No. 813, dated 4th May 1888; vide G. R. No. 3366, dated 25th idem.)

14. Refund of the value of stamps affixed to bills of exchange which have been used as cover and sent to home firms or home partners or directors, who are payees, should not be granted. (G. I. F. & C., No. 2996, dated 17th June 1889; vide G. R. No. 4967, dated 11th July 1889.)

15. The Collector being a person empowered by law (viz., by the Stamp Act and the Rules made under it) to take evidence has authority under Section 4 of the Indian Oaths Act, 1873, to administer an oath. The proceeding before the Collector under Section 51 of the Stamp Act may not perhaps be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of Section 193 of the Penal Code. That section, however, is not confined to cases of giving false evidence in judicial proceedings, and in the opinion of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, the punishment provided for giving false evidence in cases other than judicial proceedings is likely to be ample for the purposes of the enquiry regarding refunds of the value of spoilt stamps. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2698, dated 13th September 1879; vide G. R. No. 5212, dated 29th idem.)

**Vide* order
8 (xv) supra.

16. Stamps sold to the public, when returned, will generally be more or less soiled or disfigured, and should not be re-issued. If a refund of the value of any such stamp is granted, the Collector should follow the course laid down in the Government of India's Circular No 3767, dated 23rd October 1873 (vide G. R. No. 6077,* dated 4th November 1873). Those stamps, however, which are taken back from a stamp vendor or his heirs may be placed in store and re-issued. (G. I., F. D., No. 6295, dated 16th November 1874; vide G. R. No. 6429, dated 5th December 1874.)

17. The Government of India authorize the refund of probate duty when the Administrator General of Bombay shows that the registered claims against an estate amounts to such a sum as, if they had been paid debts, would have entitled him to a refund of stamp duty under the provisions of Section 19 B of Act XIII of 1875. (G. I., F. D., No. 3168, dated 19th December 1876; vide G. R. No. 41, dated 5th January 1877.)

18. Under Section 13 of the Court Fees Act, 1870, an appellant is entitled to receive from the Collector the full amount of court fee paid on the memorandum of appeal without any deduction on production of the certificate of the Appellate Court, and no further sanction is necessary for the refund of such fee. (G. R. No. 8912, dated 13th December 1890.)

†Printed at
p. 345 of the Compilation of General
Rules.

19. The rules for the refund of the value of court-fee stamps circulated with Government Resolution No. 819,† dated 6th February 1888, do not appear to contemplate the return of the value of stamps which have been cancelled; for Section 30 of Act VII of 1870 indicates that a document bearing a court-fee stamp should not be acted upon in any way until the stamp is cancelled, and the fact of a stamp being cancelled is, therefore, evidence that it has been used. (L. R. No. 1975, dated 5th December 1891; vide G. R. No. 8896, dated 23rd idem.)

20. Stamp duty on a plaint in any suit in which a Civil Court may decide, after once admitting the plaint, that it has no jurisdiction and which, after such decision, the plaintiff does not for any cause wish to prosecute elsewhere, should not be refunded. It is a case unlikely to occur frequently that a plaint will be presented to a Court not having jurisdiction, that the plaint will be at first admitted but afterwards returned on the ground of no jurisdiction, and that the plaintiff will then elect to abandon his claim. Even under the circumstances, the plaintiff will have put the Court in motion and obtained a decision of the question of jurisdiction, and it is, therefore, not expedient to take any special measures to relieve the plaintiff from the payment of the stamp duty necessary in such cases. (G. I., F. D., No. 5079, dated 19th August 1874; vide G. R. No. 4702, dated 1st September 1874.)

21. Section 42 of the Indian Stamp Act does not require that the application on which the Chief Revenue Authority may refund a penalty should be made to the Chief Revenue Authority himself. That section only requires (a) that the application should be made in writing within one year, and (b) that the refund should be made by the Chief Revenue Authority.

A comparison of Section 42 with Section 36 leads to the conclusion that the Legislature did not require the application under Section 42 to be made direct to the Commissioner.

For Section 36 expressly requires that an application on which the Collector may act must be made to him, but specifies no period within which it must be made, and does not require it to be in writing.

While Section 42 does not require the application to be made to the Commissioner, but does specify the period within which it must be made, and requires that it should be in writing.

The inference is that an application, for refund, to the Collector may be made to him at any time, but that if the Commissioner is to exercise his power of making a refund of the whole penalty, then the application must have been made (though not necessarily to him direct) (a) in writing, and (b) 'within a year from the date of the payment.' (L. R. No. 1789, dated 29th December 1892; vide G. R. No. 2979, dated 27th April 1893.)

XVI.—REMISSIONS AND EXEMPTIONS.

1. Court fees can only be remitted under Section 35, Act VII of 1870, by the Governor General in Council. No order has hitherto been made under that section, remitting the fee payable by a pauper who wishes to make an application to a revenue officer. But it is not absolutely necessary that there should be an application from the person entitled to succeed as heir to a deceased inámdár in order that the Mámlatdár may have authority to enquire and determine whose name ought to be substituted in his records for the name of the deceased. There would be no illegality in the Mámlatdár's starting such an inquiry proprio motu and taking the statement of the would-be applicant, if necessary; and this course may be adopted in cases in which there is sufficient proof that the person claiming to be recognized as heir to an inam or khalsa holding is unable to pay the requisite stamp duty on a formal application for the purpose. (L. R. No. 929, dated 12th July 1883; vide G. R. No. 5712, dated 2nd August 1883.)

* Vide Article 6 (b), Schedule II, to G. of I. Notn. No. 2897 S. R., dated 7th June 1894.

2. A statement signed by the officer issuing the certificate referred to in the notification* of the Government of India No. 1603, dated 9th June 1882, should be made thereon showing the grounds on which such certificate is issued without the payment of stamp duty. (G. I., H. D., No. 3-173-187, dated 11th September 1882; vide G. R. No. 6722, dated 28th idem.)

† Vide clause 9 (d) of the Second Schedule to G. of I. Notn. No. 2897 S. R., dated 7th June 1894.

3. The exemption specified in clause 8 (c) of the Second Schedule annexed to the Notification† of the Government of India No. 5855, dated 22nd November 1889, showing the instruments exempted, under Section 8 of the Indian Stamp Act, I of 1879, from the payment of stamp duty, covers leases and counterparts in the case of Kasbatis. (L. R. No. 568, dated 20th April 1892; vide G. R. No. 3908, dated 5th May 1892.)

4. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 35 of the Court Fees Act (VII of 1870) the Governor General in Council is pleased to remit in the Presidency of Bombay the fees chargeable under Article 1, clauses (b) and (c) of Schedule II of the said Act on applications made to a Collector or other Revenue officer or to any Chief Controlling Revenue or Executive authority for permission to cut and remove junglewood for fuel or thorns for fencing from lands which are unalienated and unoccupied within the meaning of the Bombay Land Revenue Code, 1879. (G. I. Notn. No. S. R.-2325, dated 1st June 1893; vide G. R. No. 4588, dated 26th idem.)

‡ Republished at pages 807 to 810 of Part I. of the B. G. G. of the 19th September 1889.

5. In exercise of the power conferred by Section 35 of the Court Fees Act, VII of 1870, and in supersession of the orders contained in clause 6 (under heading A) of the notification in the Department of Finance and Commerce No. 4650‡ dated the 10th September 1889, the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the fee chargeable on appeals from orders under clause (c) of Section 244 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV. of 1882) shall be limited to the amounts chargeable under Article 11 of the second schedule to the Court Fees Act, 1870. (G. I., F. & C., Notn. No. 4344-S.R., dated 6th October 1893, republished under G. N. No. 7435, dated 11th idem, at page 952 of the B. G. G. of 12th idem.)

XVII.—CANCELLATION OF STAMPS.

1. The importance of punching out from the stamps the figure-head and destroying the piece before taking action upon the documents to which the stamps may be attached, should be impressed upon all Courts and officers who have to deal with court-fee stamps. (G. I., F. D., No. 831, dated 31st January 1874; vide G. R. No. 868, dated 17th February 1874.)

2. It is desirable that the responsibility of officers presiding over Courts to satisfy themselves that all stamps affixed to documents in their respective Courts are properly defaced, should be strongly impressed upon them. (G. R. No. 2357, dated 13th April 1877.)

3. Government must impress upon heads of offices the necessity of taking strict measures to enforce the rule regarding the punching of stamps, and will notice with displeasure any omissions reported hereafter. (G. R. No. 3986, dated 20th June 1882.)

4. The Inspector-General of Registration and Stamps should in his annual reports regarding the stamp inspection work performed by his Department specify the offices in which stamps were found unpunched. (G. R. No. 7088, dated 5th September 1884.)

5. Under Act VII of 1870, Section 30, court-fee labels are cancelled by punching out the figure-head, but the Record-keeper of every Court should, when a case is decided and the record consigned to his custody, punch a second hole in each label distinct from the first and note the date of his doing so at the same time. The second punching should not remove so much of the stamp as to render it impossible or difficult to ascertain its value or nature. These directions apply only to adhesive labels used under the Court Fees Act, and impressed stamps used for denoting court fees need not be cancelled or punched otherwise than as required by Section 30 of the Court Fees Act. (G. I., F. D., No. 1763, dated 24th July 1873; vide G. R. No. 4481, dated 5th August 1873; and G. I., F. & C., No. 3047, dated 5th September 1883; vide G. R. No. 7419, dated 5th October 1883.)

6. Section 26 of the Court Fees Act contemplates that the stamps to be used to denote any fee chargeable under that Act may be either impressed or adhesive or partly impressed and partly adhesive; and yet Section 30 enacts that the stamp is in every case to be cancelled before the document which bears it is acted upon in any Court or office. From this the necessary inference is that the Legislature intended the figure-head of the stamp to be punched out, whether the stamp is adhesive or impressed, and this direction of the law is binding upon all Courts and officers. (L. R. No. 1046, dated 3rd August 1883; vide G. R. No. 6641, dated 8th September 1883.)

7. Section 30 of the Court Fees Act, VII of 1870, does not justify the cancellation of the stamp on a document the moment the document is presented; and it is only necessary for a Court or officer to cancel the stamp when the document is about to be filed or acted upon. It follows that if an appeal or application is not accepted by reason of its being time-barred or for other prima facie reason, the Act does not authorize the cancellation of the stamps which it bears. (L. R. No. 888, dated 2nd July 1884; vide G. R. No. 6267, dated 4th August 1884.)

8. The interpretation of Section 30 of the Court Fees Act contained in the following extract from a letter from a Subordinate Judge, in so far as it applies to copies of documents deposited in his Court, like the two therein referred to, pending his decision as to whether they shall be received, i. e., filed and acted upon or not, is correct:—

“Paper marked L in Suit No. 165 of 1889 is a copy of a Magistrate’s order put in by the defendant along with his written statement.

“Paper marked C in Suit No. 147 of 1889 is a copy of an order passed in a miscellaneous proceeding and was produced under Section 138 of the Civil Procedure Code.

“These papers were kept along with the lists of papers with which they were produced and simply marked for identification. They will not be filed or acted upon in any way unless and until they are found relevant, and either admitted or proved. The Court will have no power to look at them so long as the formalities above indicated have not been gone through. If the parties fail to fulfil these necessary conditions, these papers will have to be returned to the parties producing them, and in that case their copies are not by law required to be kept on the record; whereas a document which has been filed and thus acted upon cannot be returned without a copy under Section 144 of the Civil Procedure Code. The first paragraph of Section 30 of the Court Fees Act requires that before a document is filed or acted upon, its stamp should be cancelled. The second paragraph indicates the mode of cancellation, and requires that the head of the office should appoint an officer who is to effect the cancellation. If the two paragraphs of Section 30 are read together, it would appear that the direction to forthwith cancel the stamp on ‘receiving’ a document has reference to the receiving of the document in evidence and placing it on the record, and has nothing to do with the mere production of the document and its being marked for the purpose of identification. A perusal of Sections 138 to 144 of the Civil Procedure Code would lead also to the same conclusion.”

9. The Court or Office issuing copies, certificates, or other similar documents liable to stamp duty should, before issue, cancel the labels affixed to them by punching out a portion of the label in such a manner as to remove neither the figure-head, nor that part of the label upon which its value is expressed. As an additional precaution, the signature of the officer attesting the document, with the date, should be written across the label and upon the paper on either side of it as is frequently done by persons signing stamped receipts. (G. I., F. D., No. 3373, dated 24th September 1875; vide G. R. No. 5802, dated 14th October 1875.)

Note.—This ruling has been extended to all documents received in a Court by G. R., J. D., No. 5646, dated 11th September 1882; vide G. M. No. 6851, dated 3rd October 1882.

10. It should be laid down for the guidance of Treasury and other officers concerned, in making payments for which stamped receipts have to be taken, that in cases in which for any reason the stamps have not, in his opinion, been properly cancelled by the persons tendering the receipts, the officer receiving the documents should either punch the stamp or cancel it himself by inscribing his initials and the correct date of cancellation on (not across) the stamp, or should see that they are properly punched or cancelled before recording the document.

As confusion might arise, owing to different native eras and dates being used in inscribing the date of cancellation, the English (Gregorian) date should be put with the month indicated, either by name or a figure denoting its order in the series of 12: thus the 7th May 1885 or 7-5-85. (G. Rs. Nos. 5993, dated 24th July 1884, and 8359, dated 23rd October 1884.)

11. In order to prevent the fraudulent re-use of one anna adhesive stamps affixed to hundis, the drawers of hundis should be required to cancel the stamps affixed thereto by writing across them the date of cancellation, in addition to their signatures. This measure is within the provisions of Section 11 of the Stamp Act, 1879, and is not likely to cause any inconvenience to bankers or to the public in general. The Collectors should issue the requisite notifications in English and in the vernacular languages, giving publicity to these instructions and at the same time cautioning the purchasers of hundis against the risk which they incur by accepting documents to which used stamps are affixed, and enjoining on them the necessity of carefully examining such stamps. (G. R. No. 3369, dated 22nd May 1882.)

12. "The only legal means by which the public revenue can be protected against the probable results of non-cancellation or of insufficient cancellation of adhesive stamps is the prosecution of offenders. This would direct public attention to the requirements of the law. But it would always be a matter of opinion as to what constitutes a cancellation sufficient to prevent stamps from being used again, and I would not recommend a prosecution in any case in which there has been a bond fide attempt to obey the requirements of the law, because no doubt a sufficient cancellation could be effected in many different ways. Any cancellation which prevents a stamp being used again, except by resort to a fraudulent imitation or reforming of certain written or stamped characters, would, I think, be held by the Courts to be a sufficient compliance with the Stamp Act." (L. R. No. 910, dated 7th July 1884; vide G. R. No. 5993, dated 24th idem.)

XVIII.—FRAUDS AND FORGERIES.

1. Instances of forgery or fraudulent use of any description of stamps, whether General, Judicial, Postal or Telegraph, coming to the notice of the local authorities should be immediately reported for communication to the Government of India. Such reports should invariably be accompanied by full particulars as to the nature of the forgery or fraud perpetrated, and if possible by specimens, and should be forwarded immediately, with any remarks which occur to the Local Government, to the Government of India in the Finance Department. (G. I., F. D., No. 3635, dated 7th October 1875; vide G. R. No. 6079, dated 27th idem.)

2. Mere ordinary cases of the fraudulent use of postage labels—such, for instance, as the use a second time of an obliterated label—need not be specially reported to the Government of India, unless there is some peculiarity about the case which makes it important. The discovery of any forged postage labels should be immediately reported. (G. I., F. D., No. 545, dated 26th May 1876; vide G. R. No. 4211, dated 22nd July 1876.)

3. The Governor General in Council is willing to forego the report of cases of the fraudulent re-use of stamps, except when the circumstances are novel or important. But forgeries or fraudulent alteration of stamps should always be reported to the Government of India. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1970, dated 18th December 1879; vide G. R. No. 54, dated 6th January 1880.)

4. Mr. Pedler, Professor of Botany and Chemistry in the Presidency College, Calcutta, has been appointed by the Government of India as the special officer to examine forged stamps. He is to be paid a fee of Rs. 10 for each separate stamp sent to him for examination and report. References should not be made to him without the orders of Government, and no such reference is required or should be made except when the Chemical Analyst to Government is in doubt as to whether a stamp sent to him for examination is genuine or forged and considers a reference expedient. (G. R. No. 5286, dated 6th October 1880.)

5. A fraud against the stamp revenue was committed by certain inhabitants of Ahmedabad by intentionally allowing the stamps affixed to seven hundis payable at sight to remain uncanceled. The hundis were returned by post to the drawers with the stamps uncanceled, so that the stamps might be re-used. The perpetrators of the fraud were convicted of the offence and fined. The attention of heads of departments is invited to the measures recommended by the Superintendent of Stamps in the following extract from his administration report for 1882-83 to prevent a recurrence of frauds of this nature, and they are requested to pay particular attention to the necessity of strictly enforcing the provisions of Section 11 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879 :—

“I would invite the attention of all Government officers (especially Revenue officers) to the fraud committed in this manner against the stamp revenue. Strict vigilance on the part of these officers and their subordinates in enforcing the provisions of Section 11 of the Act whenever any instruments bearing adhesive stamps are executed before them, and constantly reminding the public of the penalties of the law by having an extract of Section 52 of the Act placed in a conspicuous position at the entrance of public offices and making an example of the offenders are, in my opinion, the best means of protecting the revenue against the re-use of adhesive stamps."

(G. R. No. 7360, dated 3rd October 1883.)

6. The practice of blank transfers obtains in England, and the Select Committee on Act I of 1879 decided not to interfere with the practice prevailing in India. Moreover, in the opinion of the Governor General in Council there is no transfer so long as the name of the purchaser is not inserted in the instrument and under the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, Schedule I, Table A (8), the execution of the instrument by the purchaser is necessary to effect a transfer or conveyance of the shares. A transfer in blank, therefore, is not a conveyance or transfer of shares within the meaning of Sections 27 and 63 of Act I of 1879. Under these circumstances the practice of transferring shares in blank does not appear to the Government of India a fraud on the revenue. (G. I., F. & C., No. 4245, dated 8th November 1883; vide G. R. No. 8691, dated 27th idem.)

XIX.—PROSECUTIONS AND PENALTIES.

1. The object of limiting the power of instituting prosecutions under the Stamp Act to Collectors of Stamp Revenue was to afford a security against vexatious and unnecessary proceedings. (G. R. No. 3159, dated 20th August 1868.)

2. Prosecutions under the Stamp Act should be resorted to only in those cases in which there is sufficient evidence of a fraudulent intention to evade payment of the proper stamp duty. (G. R. No. 3902, dated 5th June 1890.)

3. Official prosecutions of persons for selling court-fee stamps contrary to Section 34 of the Court Fees Act (VII of 1870), as amended by Act XII of 1891, should not be instituted without the sanction of the Collector of the District. (G. R. No. 3699, dated 27th April 1892.)

4. Whenever any public officer has reason to think that a conviction could be obtained under Section 63 of the Stamp Act, it is his duty to communicate with the proper authorities for this purpose. (G. R. No. 4003, dated 31st July 1880.)

5. If any instrument liable to stamp duty under the existing stamp law, and in which the value or amount of consideration money is expressed in Sica rupees, be drawn on paper bearing a stamp insufficient to cover the same value or amount or consideration money if expressed in Government rupees, then every person or firm making, signing, issuing, accepting, endorsing, paying or receiving payment of such instrument, if it be of the nature of a bill of exchange, promissory note, cheque or similar instrument, and any person making, executing, or signing otherwise than as a witness such instrument if it be of any other nature, is liable to the penalties provided in the case of frauds against the stamp revenue, and upon information will be prosecuted with the utmost rigour of the law. (G. R. No. 1063, dated 23rd February 1870.)

6. It having been brought to the notice of Government that a practice has been introduced of issuing post-dated hundis or bills, the object being apparently to evade stamp duty by thus making a hundi appear as a bill payable on demand, while in reality it is not so, the Governor General in Council deems it advisable to warn the public that as post-dated bills are not bills payable on demand, they require a stamp prescribed for bills payable otherwise than on demand, and that any person making, signing, issuing, or (except as provided in Section 26 of the General Stamp Act, 1869) accepting, endorsing, paying or receiving payment of any such bill, without the same being duly stamped, will be liable to the penalties provided in Section 29 of the said Act. (G. I. Notn. No. 1264, dated 28th February 1871, republished in the Bombay Government Gazette, dated 9th March 1871, page 295.)

7. Local officers should watch carefully against the practice of post-dating hundis or bills in order to evade payment of stamp duty, and institute prosecutions in all cases in which convictions can be obtained under the Stamp Act. (G. I., F. D., No. 4045, dated 25th November 1872; vide G. R. No. 6006, dated 5th December 1872.)

8. The policy adopted by the Legislature in Act I. of 1879 with respect to instruments of exchange, gift and partition is to make the amount of stamp duty leviable upon such instruments depend upon the value of the property concerned as set forth in the instruments (vide Schedule I, Articles 35, 36 and 37). By Section 27 of the Act it is provided that all facts and circumstances affecting the chargeability of any instrument with duty, or the amount of the duty with which it is chargeable, shall be fully and truly set forth therein, and Section 63 renders failure to comply with this requirement a punishable offence. The means chosen by the Legislature for securing generally a proper valuation is the prosecution of persons who, with intent to defraud the Government of any duty, understate or neglect to state the value of the property in any instrument to which they are parties. Whenever, therefore, any public officer has reason to think that a conviction could be obtained under Section 63 of the Stamp Act, it is his duty to communicate with the proper authorities for this purpose. (L. R. No. 875, dated 17th July 1880; vide G. R. No. 4003, dated 31st idem.)

9. If a promissory note or bill of exchange is not stamped in accordance with the provisions of Sections 5, 16, 18 and 44 of the Stamp Act of 1879, the defect cannot afterwards be remedied, and the document cannot be admitted in evidence. This is clear from Section 34. The Collector is not entitled to demand the stamp duty which ought to have been paid on such an instrument.

The Collector is not bound to prosecute in every case in which he finds that a promissory note or bill of exchange has not been duly stamped. Under Section 61, a person drawing, &c., &c., a bill of exchange or promissory note without the same being duly stamped, is liable to the penalty provided in that section, whether there was any intention of evading the stamp laws or not, but there is nothing in the Act which compels the Collector to enforce the penalty in every case. (Adv. Gen. No. 92, dated 2nd October 1882; vide G. R. No. 7569, dated 30th idem.)

10. The receipt which a person is required to give by Section 58 of the Stamp Act is a "duly stamped" receipt, and looking to the definition of the term "duly stamped" in Section 3, clause (10) of the Act, it is clear that the requirement cannot be applicable to an instrument which the law in force does not require to be stamped or to be written upon paper bearing an impressed stamp. The refusal, therefore, of a landlord to give a receipt for payment of rent by a cultivator which does not require a stamp under Article 15 (c) of Schedule II cannot make the landlord liable to a criminal prosecution under the provisions of Section 64, the object of which is to protect Government from the loss of revenue through intentional evasion of stamp duty. (L. R. No. 1627, dated 14th December 1882; vide G. R. No. 236, dated 11th January 1883.)

XX.—REWARDS.

1. It has been brought to the notice of Government that a practice obtains in certain districts of this Presidency of evading the stamp law by drawing hundis ostensibly payable at sight and affixing thereto a one-anna stamp, although the hundis are in reality not payable at sight, but after a certain number of days indicated in the corner thereof. His Excellency the Governor in Council is, therefore, pleased to notify for general information that any person affording such information as will lead to the conviction of any person so offending will receive half of the fine imposed, unless the Magistrate trying the case for reasons recorded by him thinks fit to withhold the reward. (G. N. No. 6213, dated 21st October 1881.)

2. Whereas it has been brought to the notice of Government that certain Márvádi firms carrying on exchange business in the Native Town of Bombay have made it their practice to obtain foreign bill stamps from other towns where such stamps can be purchased by merchants at a higher rate of discount; and whereas such stamps have been introduced into Bombay and unlawfully sold by means of private agents or through licensed stamp vendors in league with the aforesaid persons ; and whereas certain persons have been prosecuted and convicted before the Magistrates for selling without a license such stamps in contravention of the provisions of Section 68 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879 (Act No. I of 1879) ;

Notice is hereby given, for general information, that His Excellency the Governor in Council, in exercise of the power conferred by Rule 18 of the Rules made under Section 9 of the Indian Stamp Act by the Government of India, and published in their Notification No. 1288 of 3rd March 1882, at page 195 of Part I of the Bombay Government Gazette of 16th March 1882, is pleased to direct that any person who shall furnish such information as shall lead to the prosecution and conviction of any offenders in the manner herein above described against the said provisions of the Stamp Act, shall receive a reward equal to one-half the fine imposed, unless the Magistrate trying the case shall see fit, for reasons recorded by him, to withhold such reward. (G. N. No. 7711, dated 3rd November 1882.)

3. With reference to No. 19 of the rules made under the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, by the Governor General of India in Council and published in the Government of India's Notification No. 2170,* dated 22nd May 1891, the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that the limit of the reward which any Magistrate convicting an offender under Chapter VIII of the said Act may grant to any person who may have contributed to the conviction shall be one-half of the amount of the fine, if any, which the Magistrate imposes on the offender. (G. N. No. 385, dated 19th January 1892.)

Note.—Whenever a Magistrate chooses to sentence an offender to imprisonment only, it may be taken as a case in which he for some reason withholds the reward. (G. R. No. 385, dated 19th January 1892.)

XXI.—ACCOUNTS.

1. The cost of service postage stamps, purchased by District Officers in their Revenue and Magisterial capacities, should be debited one-fourth to Law and Justice and three-fourths to Land Revenue.

Whenever the cost of an establishment is divided between two heads, the charge for service postage labels may be divided in the same proportion, care being taken to secure every possible economy. (G. I., F. D., No. 661, dated 29th January 1874; vide G. R. No. 1730, dated 1st April 1874.)

2. Officers will be held personally responsible for the safe custody and proper application of service postage stamps entrusted to them. (G. Rs. Nos. 6663, dated 17th December 1874, and 1445, dated 6th March 1877.)

3. In reviewing the Administration Report of the Stamp Department of the Presidency of Bombay for the year 1876-77, the Secretary of State for *Printed at pp. 314 et seq. of the Compilation of General Rules.

India observed that "it seemed important that the receipts for general stamps should be shown separately from those for court-fee stamps, and, also, that by apportioning the charges between the two classes, the gross and net revenue from each class should be clearly exhibited in future reviews of the Annual Stamp Administration Reports."

The various Local Governments who were consulted on the subject concurred in the opinion that the charges on account of judicial and non-judicial stamps should be divided in proportion to the amount of revenue raised from each, it being understood that such charges as could be traced directly to either source of revenue should continue to be charged against that source. The Governor General in Council has accordingly directed that this plan should be followed, and that a statement, such as is desired by the Secretary of State, should be appended to each annual report upon the stamp revenue, whether such report be separate or included in the General Administration Report. (G. I., F. D., No. 299, dated 30th April 1879; vide G. R. No. 2592, dated 15th May 1879.)

4. Separate accounts should be kept of service and ordinary stamps. No alteration in the form in use is necessary, all that is required being to enter in distinct books the transactions in each class of stamps. (G. R. No. 7022, dated 23rd November 1881.)

XXII.—FEES.

1. It is not within the competency of a Local Government to order that fees levied under Act VII of 1870 shall be levied in cash and not in stamps; vide Section 25 of the Act. (G. I., F. D., No. 231, dated 18th January 1877; vide G. R. No. 534, dated 27th idem.)

2. All process fees in all Courts should be levied by means of stamps.

(2) This does not apply to process fees levied under the Registration Fee Table. There is no objection to such fees being levied in cash and credited to the Registration Department. (G. Rs. Nos. 76, dated 6th January 1873, and 1151, dated 4th March 1878.)

Note.—The Government of India in their Resolution No. 4820, dated 20th September 1889, rejected a proposal made by the Government of Bengal that fees for the registration of documents and fees payable under Acts III of 1877, VI of 1882 and VIII of 1885 should be paid in stamps instead of in cash. (G. R. No. 7462, dated 3rd October 1889.)

XXIII.—REGISTERS OF COURT FEES.

1. Registers are to be kept of all court fees received by every description of officer. (G. R. No. 1758, dated 12th April 1871.)

2. There should be maintained for each Court a register, in the following form, of the fees levied under Chapter IV and of those levied under the different articles of Schedules I and II of the Court Fees Act :—

[FOR CIVIL COURTS.]

I.

Daily Register of Court Fees realized in the Court of the

[illegible]

[FOR REVENUE AND CRIMINAL COURTS.]

II.

Daily Register of Court Fees realized in the

It is to be observed that the entries are not to be made in detail, but only so as to show, in the case of the Civil Courts, the aggregate value of the stamps filed in the Court during each day under each of the four classes indicated, and in the case of the Criminal and Revenue Courts the total daily receipts from process fees and other fees. The entries should be initialled daily by the presiding officer. (G. I., F. D., No. 3335, dated 21st September 1877; vide G. R. No. 6108, dated 10th October 1877.)

3. There seems no reason why officers of the Salt and Customs Departments should be exempted from the obligation of keeping registers of court-fee stamps, but, to save clerical labour, only stamps of the value of more than one anna should be entered in detail, and the total number of one-anna stamps received in the day should be entered in one item at the end. (G. R. No. 4568, dated 6th June 1885.)

4. It is incumbent on all Revenue officers to keep a register of court fees received by them, and Government see no reason to make an exception in favour of the Forest Department. (G. R. No. 2150, dated 7th April 1888.)

5. The registers of court-fee stamps kept in the Courts and offices subordinate to the Revenue Department should be preserved for six years. (G. R. No. 8624, dated 19th December 1887.)

XXIV.—STAMP LAW IN RELATION TO NATIVE STATES, CHIEFS, &c.

1. The Court Fees Act,* 1870, and the Stamp Act, 1879, extend to the whole of British India. These Acts are not in force in Native States, and Government has no interest in their stamp revenue. Within the limits of a Native State, copies of public documents in cases disposed of by Political Officers in their capacity as such are, no doubt, furnished according to the practice prevailing in such State. Beyond those limits and within British territory the lex loci must be followed, and that law makes no distinction in favour of public records of the description alluded to. (L. R. No. 16, dated 4th January 1882; vide G. R. No. 391, dated 19th idem.)

2. An agreement in the nature of a treaty between an independent State and the Paramount Power is not affected by the British Indian stamp law and, therefore, does not need to be stamped in accordance therewith. (L. R. No. 507, dated 8th April 1884; vide G. R. No. 3814 A, dated 12th May 1884.)

3. The rules† framed under the Pensions Act of 1871 apply to Karkúns of the Treaty Jāghirdárs presenting themselves to receive payments of amals from the Poona Treasury in British India, and accordingly stamped powers of attorney are required. The only question which remains is whether the British Government should pay the stamp duty. A decision does not rest on considerations of dignity, but on general principles. If a foreign Chief sues in a British Court, he must follow the laws of the land in which the Courts are situated. There is nothing derogatory to his dignity in so doing, and the principle is the same in regard to the transactions in question. Government, therefore, see no reason for granting any exemption in regard to the payment of these amals, even if the law empowered them to do so. (G. R., P. D., No. 7646, dated 22nd November 1887; vide G. M. No. 8646, dated 20th December 1887.)

4. No public functionary can exercise the authority he derives from law, save on the terms and conditions imposed by that law. When an application made to British Courts or officers is such, that a particular form, stamp, or procedure is required by law, the functionary is not at liberty to dispense with, and thus to proclaim himself superior to, the law. So also on the part of the applicant, his application implies, for the purpose in hand, a submission to the law, and to the system of law with its accessories which he invokes, and he cannot, as an applicant or suitor, demand terms differing from those prescribed by law. Whenever, therefore, a Chief, Tálukdár, or any person of rank, invokes the authority of a British officer, especially on account of property situated, or transactions effected, in British territory, he must do so subject in every respect to the laws and regulations applicable to British subjects.

If a foreign Chief sues in a British Court, he must follow British laws. There is nothing derogatory to his dignity in invoking that law, and if he does so, he must follow its directions. All exemptions which have hitherto been allowed contrary to law must, therefore, cease. (G. R., P. D., No. 2740, dated 17th April 1888; vide G. M. No. 3223, dated 21st May 1888.)

5. As the provisions of the Stamp Act do not apply to the Jawhár State, no British stamp duty can under that Act be levied on tapping licenses executed within the limits of that State. (G. R. No. 4836, dated 20th July 1888.)

6. "The question referred for my opinion by Government memorandum No. 6605 of 3rd October 1888 is whether the British A'bkári Inspector in the Jawhár State can receive and act upon an application received in that State in respect of which the fees leviable under the Court Fees Act have not been paid.

"2. I have the honour to report my opinion that the Court Fees Act has ex proprio vigore no extra territorial force, and that, therefore, the applications may be received in the Jawhár State without court fees.

"3. The right to require such court fees on such applications may have been conceded in the special agreement with the Rája of the State, or may possibly be inferred from his 'active assent or silent acquiescence,' but without seeing the agreement I am unable to say whether it empowers the British Government to annex what conditions it pleases to the grant of ábkári licenses and applications.

"4. But whether he has the power to require court fees or no, I think that there can be no doubt that the A'bkári Inspector is not bound to require court fees on applications presented to him in the Jawhár State." (L. R. No. 191, dated 15th February 1889; vide G. R. No. 1614, dated 27th idem.)

XXV.—INTERPRETATIONS; JUDICIAL RULINGS; AND LEGAL OPINIONS.

1. With reference to clause (1)* of Section 15 of Act XVIII of 1869 (the General Stamp Act), which provides for the exemption from duty of receipts or discharges granted to cultivators of inám lands in the Bombay Presidency, the Collectors are informed that the widest construction may be given to the term Inám, and that it may be held to include all lands held partially exempt from the payment of land revenue. (G. O. No. 4545, dated 22nd October 1869.)

2. The Talukdári Settlement Officer having raised the question whether a Talukdár or other landholder, when petitioning for assistance to collect his rent, should be required to make a separate application on a separate stamp for each tenant's case, or whether he may put as many as he can into one paper, taking care to cover an amount above Rs. 50 by the larger stamp required, it was ruled that as the Court Fees Act does not limit the subject-matter of an application or "petition," the fee on which is regulated by Article I, Schedule II of the Act, a petitioner is at liberty to introduce more than one matter or case into an application or petition. (G. R. No. 2818, dated 4th June 1874.)

3. Every document 'issued, received, or attested by an officer engaged in making a settlement or revision of settlement of land revenue, and which forms part of the record of such settlement' (Act VIII of 1871, Section 87,* clause a), is not necessarily a 'statement.' A notice issued under the Survey or City Survey Act, for instance, or a deed of sale, or a mortgage deed, or a copy of any such deed received and recorded by a Survey Officer, is not a 'statement' within the meaning of Article 9, Schedule I, Act VII of 1870. The truth is that each document must be judged of by its particular nature, and no general rule can be laid down as to all documents of which copies may be obtained under clauses (a), (b) and (c) of Section 87, Act VIII of 1871.

*Cf. Section 90 (a) of Act III of 1877

Clause (c)† of the said Section 87, Act VIII of 1871, has, it is believed, no applicability in this Presidency. It relates to 'documents which under any law for the time being in force are filed periodically in any revenue office by patwáris or other officers charged with the preparation of village records.' There is apparently no law in force which requires a Taláti or Kulkarni (the 'officers charged' in this Presidency 'with the preparation of village records') to file periodically any document in any revenue office. If there are any documents which are so required to be filed, it is wrong to suppose that the clause only relates to documents filed 'in a Taláti's daftar'; it relates to documents filed 'in any revenue office.' (L. R. No. 126, dated 20th February 1877; vide G. R. No. 1328, dated 28th idem.)

†Cf. Act I of 1877, Section 90, clause c

4. In Government Resolution No. 233, dated 14th January 1878, Judicial Department, it was laid down that unauthenticated copies of proceedings of Sessions Courts needed for official use should, when possible, be made by clerks in the office of the District Magistrate; and in his report, cited in the preamble of that Resolution, it was remarked by the Legal Remembrancer that for actual departmental purposes, the Sessions Judge would no doubt always cause the necessary copies to be prepared in his office.

(2) The same order and remarks are applicable to Magisterial proceedings.

(3) It has been held by the High Court that Article 9, Schedule I of Act VII of 1870 applies only to certified copies of papers (see foot-note at page 392, West's Code, Volume IV). For all inter-departmental and official purposes uncertified copies suffice. (L. R. No. 97, dated 21st January 1881; vide G. R. No. 681, dated 1st February 1881.)

5. The Government of India is advised that there is nothing in the law to vitiate an instrument partly written on the reverse side of an impressed stamped paper. Section 12 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, however, requires the stamp to appear on the face of the instrument; so that it is necessary that part of the instrument should be written on the side of the paper which bears the stamp impression. (G. I., F. & C., No. 917, dated 28th February 1881; vide G. R. No. 1418, dated 9th March 1881.)

6. The stamp rules do not prohibit the writing on the reverse side of a sheet of stamped paper endorsements by stamp vendors or by Civil Courts on documents presented to such Courts as exhibits. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1137, dated 12th March 1881; vide G. R. No. 1718, dated 24th idem.)

7. "The document in question is a will in which the testatrix states that so long as she is living it will not be competent to her to dispose of the property. I do not think that the language employed can be held to amount to a distinct agreement, because looking to the voluntary nature of a will it could not, I think, be construed into anything more than an expression of the present determination of the testatrix not to dispose of any part of the property before her death. The instrument is in its principal intention a will; the mere incidental allusion which it contains to the views of the testatrix as to her own future power over the property, or as to her intention with regard thereto, cannot, in my opinion, afford sufficient reason for regarding it as anything more than a will." (L. R. No. 400, dated 29th March 1881; vide G. R. No. 2124, dated 12th April 1881.)

8. Under the ruling of the High Court of Bombay given at page 188 of the Indian Law Reports, Bombay Series, Vol. V, there is no legal objection to the agreements of the principal and his surety being written on one and the same stamp paper, and treated as one instrument, and not as two separate agreements, each chargeable with stamp duty. (L. R. No. 669, dated 12th June 1882; vide G. R. No. 4391, dated 8th July 1882.)

9. A question having been raised by a Collector as to the procedure to be followed in determining the value of the property settled in a deed of settlement so as to fix the stamp duty leviable, the following opinion was recorded by the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs :—

“The proper stamp duty should be adjudicated by the Collector under the provisions of Chapter III of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879.

“There is no fixed rule for determining the valuation of immoveable property for the purposes of stamp duty ; but in Schedule B of Act XXVI of 1867 (repealed by Act X* of 1877) special rules for determining the market-value of immoveable property were given. The general rule was that twenty times the annual net profits of such property shall be deemed to be the market-value thereof, unless and until the contrary shall be proved ; but in the Bombay Presidency, this valuation was reduced one-half for unalienated land brought under a settlement, and in the case of alienated land was reduced in proportion to the amount of assessment exempted.

* Repealed by Act XIV of 1882.

“In the valuation of suits for the fiscal purpose of court fees, fifteen times the annual assessment has been fixed as the rule for ascertaining the value of an alienated village.

“An instance of low valuation may be mentioned in the case of the purchase of a Zamindár's proprietary rights by Government for the payment of his debts. In the Jhánsi Encumbered Estates Act, 1882, the valuation for the purposes of purchase by Government is estimated to be a sum amounting to ten times the net annual profits of the Zamindár.

“In the present instance the Collector may safely follow the method of calculation which was formerly in use in accordance with Rule 3 of the special rules for the Bombay Presidency given in Schedule B of Act XXVI of 1867.”

10. The language of clause (b), Article 13 of Schedule II of Act I of 1879 exempts all leases executed in the case of a cultivator without the payment or delivery of any fine or premium, whatever the reserved or annual rent may be, provided it be for a definite term not exceeding one year, and also whatever the term may be, provided the annual rent reserved does not exceed Rs. 100. (High Court's Judgment in Civil Reference No. 33 of 1882 ; vide G. R. No. 5231, dated 5th August 1882 : and G. I., F. & C., No. 3928, dated 23rd September 1882 ; vide G. R. No. 7033, dated 9th October 1882.)

11. Parties to transactions relating to land or other immoveable property are at liberty either to dispense altogether with written documents recording such transactions, or to give and take such instruments as they mutually agree upon. In the Presidency town and its neighbourhood, people are influenced considerably by English lawyers, who delight in inflicting upon their clients long formal documents at every stage of their dealings in immoveable property. In the mofussil the much more simple forms of native origin are still adhered to, and as a rule they answer their purposes excellently.

It is not competent to the Executive Government to intervene to render it necessary for people in the mofussil to follow the practice in vogue in the Presidency towns.

Stamp duty is payable only when instruments liable thereto are executed, and if parties, in order to avoid expense, do not execute any instrument, or, when there is a choice, execute the one on which the smallest amount of stamp duty is payable, it cannot be said that they thereby evade payment of stamp duty. (L. R. No. 546, dated 26th April 1883; vide G. R. No. 3987, dated 25th May 1883.)

12. "The 'distinct matters' referred to in Section 7 of Act I of 1879 means matters of different kinds, such as an agreement for service and a lease which cannot blend into one or at any rate are not so intended or conceived by the parties that they can be regarded as merely parts of a single aggregate. When lots are bought in an auction room, the contract for each is essentially separate, and thus a separate agreement duty is properly chargeable on each, even though the memoranda be written collectively on the same paper. But, when passing beyond the stage of contract in fieri, we reach that of a transfer of ownership, the intention on both sides centres in a single transaction, if the subject-matter admits of it. Now, different areas when contiguous naturally merge into a single area except so far as they are artificially distinguished, and no artificial distinction is involved in the transfer of an aggregate area, though there would be such a distinction in the conveyance of separate lots. A single conveyance may, therefore, give full effect to a sale made between the same persons in several lots. If the lots are not contiguous, they could not coalesce in the same way, and would properly be the subjects of several conveyances. Hence so far as the lots in this case passing from the same owner to the same purchaser are contiguous and would, therefore, be comprised in one conveyance, they should be comprised in one certificate of sale. Where this contiguity fails, as separate conveyances would be used, separate certificates should be used. The stamp duty in each case should be determined by the aggregate amount of the purchase-money of the property embraced in the certificate as it would be in the case of a conveyance of the same property." (High Court's Judgment in Civil Reference No. 31 of 1883, dated 20th August 1883; vide G. R. No. 7508, dated 8th October 1883.)

13. In the case of a conveyance of a right secured by a decree, and where the consideration for such conveyance differs in the amount from the amount for which the decree was passed, the stamp should be regulated by the amount of the consideration and not by the more or less hypothetical value of the bargain to the purchaser. Such a deed falls under Article 21 of Schedule No. I of the Stamp Act. It is not a transfer of any such interest as is mentioned in clause (b) of article 60 of Schedule I of the Act, and, therefore, the sub-clause (2) of that clause cannot apply. (L. R. No. 528, dated 12th April 1884; vide G. R. No. 3425, dated 28th idem.)

14. A lease was executed for a term of 20 years; the rent, Rs. 20 a year, was paid down in a lump sum of Rs. 400 at the time of execution. A further proviso in the deed reserved a grain payment of 2 payalis of wheat per annum to the lessor. The value of this was not shown, and the parties to the deed declared that owing to the time to which the lease was to run, and the fluctuations in prices which must take place in that period they could not attach a value to the grain payment. The stamp on the deed was Rs. 4, exactly sufficient to cover the rent paid down in cash in lump. The question was raised whether in such a case the parties to the deed had the right to claim the protection of Section 26 of the Stamp Act, the holder of the deed undergoing the risk attendant in cases contemplated by that section, or whether the registering officer to whom such deed was presented should impound it under Section 33 and send it under Section 34 of the Stamp Act to the Collector. The Remembrancer of Legal Affairs expressed his opinion that the approximate money-value of the grain ought, with reference to Section 27 of the Stamp Act, to be stated in the lease. (L. R. No. 528, dated 12th April 1884; vide G. R. No. 3425, dated 28th idem.)

15. Kabuláyats passed by khots of unsurveyed ináms villages are not agreements executed respecting the occupancy of land and the payment of the land revenue therefor under the Land Revenue Code or any rules made thereunder within the meaning of Article 1 (e), Schedule II to the Government of India Notification No. 2897 S. R., dated 7th June 1894. (G. R. No. 6600, dated 13th August 1885.)

16. Where there is an absolute bond fide sale and conveyance, with a collateral agreement for repurchase and reconveyance on repayment of the purchase-money, the latter agreement does not legally cancel the original deed of sale and convert the sale into a mortgage; the reconveyance on the repayment of the original money should not, therefore, be considered a reconveyance of mortgaged property within the meaning of Article 53 of Schedule I of the Stamp Act. (L. R. No. 965, dated 11th August 1885; vide G. R. No. 6842, dated 22nd idem.)

17. "The question is whether the assignment of standing crops exceeding Rs. 20 in value comes under Section 58 of the Indian Stamp Act (I of 1879).

"That section provides that any person receiving in satisfaction of a debt any moveable property exceeding Rs. 20 in value shall on demand by the person delivering such property give a duly stamped receipt for the same.

"An assignment of property is not delivery. If in the case put by the Collector of Násik, P. valad T. should cut the crop and deliver it to the Márwádi, who would receive it in satisfaction of a debt, then Section 58 would apply.

"Again, the standing or growing crop would not be moveable property under Act I of 1879. There being no definition of moveable property in that Act, reference must be made to the General Clauses Act (I of 1868). Under this Act, moveable property means property of every description except immoveable property, and immoveable property includes things attached to the earth or permanently fastened to anything attached to the earth. These also are the words found in the definition in the Registration Act III of 1877 with the following important addition—‘but not standing timber, growing crops, nor grass.’ The special mention of these properties in the Registration Act shows that otherwise they would be included among things attached to the earth or permanently fastened to anything attached to the earth. And it is admitted that in other Acts, such as Revenue and Penal Codes, growing crops would be regarded as immoveable property. Therefore it seems clear that growing crops are not moveable property under Section 53 of Act I of 1879, nor is an assignment of growing crops a delivery thereof.” (L. R. No. 935, dated 4th August 1885; vide G. R. No. 7015, dated 29th idem.)

18. “There are three brothers, J., H. and B., sons of A.

“In a suit under Bombay Act III of 1876 before the Mámlatdár of _____ brought by H. against D., F. and others, B. was called as a witness and produced a book in which are three documents relating to a partition between the three brothers in Samvat 1934 (A. D. 1867). The Mámlatdár called these documents ‘labhavána dastávajó.’ In Wilson’s glossary, labhava is given as ‘casting lots for dividing the produce of a field.’ Probably it may equally well be applied to casting lots for the partition of an estate, answering to the ‘pána’ so common in Káthiáwár. The Mámlatdár held that, in the absence of any regular stamped documents, these documents must be looked upon as the instruments of partition. He, therefore, impounded the book and sent it to the Collector.

“Correspondence ensued as to the value of the estate, and eventually the three brothers declined to pay any stamp duty or penalty, or to let the documents be stamped.

“The Collector, is unwilling to order any prosecution, as he considers that there was no intention to evade the payment of stamp duty or to defraud the Government. The Government Pleader suggests that the pages on which the documents are written should be cut out of the book and impounded till the penalty and stamp duty are paid. The Collector hesitates to follow this course, as he holds that the documents not being registered are really waste paper.

“I think that the book may be returned to B who produced it. It is a mistake to suppose that these three documents are the counterparts of each other, or that the three documents specify the share of the property falling to the lot of each. A. indeed purports to give the details of the lands falling to B.’s share. B. purports to show the houses which have fallen ‘to my share ;’ but it is not specified whose share. K. purports to show the details of lands and houses which have fallen 'to my share;' but it is not specified whose share. The third share is altogether unaccounted for. Not one of the documents is dated. Each simply says, the following are the lands or houses of the share in the partition of 1934 Jeth vad 4.

"I think it is doubtful whether individually or collectively they form an 'instrument of partition.' They are apparently memoranda of portions of a previous partition; and I do not think the fact that the three brothers and witnesses signed each document militates against this view. The Waghela Grássiás often draw up papers in this way." (L. R. No. 1203, dated 19th September 1885; vide G. R. No. 7985, dated 1st October 1885.)

19. Article 8, Schedule I of the Court Fees Act applies only to a copy which is (1) a copy of a document liable to stamp duty under the Indian Stamp Act, and (2) which is left by a party to a suit or proceeding in place of the original withdrawn. It does not apply to copies of documents on plain paper which are not produced in original by reason of their being entries in books or such as would not become void or useless by force of the decree. These copies are not certified copies, and the original documents not having been filed according to law, cannot be said to have been left in place of the original documents withdrawn as contemplated by Article 8. (L. R. No. 227, dated 17th February 1886; vide G. R. No. 1608, dated 27th idem.)

20. The following papers were circulated by Government to Commissioners, District Registrars, &c., for information:—

Letter from the Commissioner, S. D., No. S.R.-188, dated 3rd February 1886, to the Registrar of the Bombay High Court:—

SIR,—Under Section 46 of the Stamp Act I have the honour to forward the annexed copy of a deed, purporting to be a deed of adoption, with a translation thereof, and request you will be good enough to move their Lordships the Judges to determine what stamp duty the document is liable to under the Indian Stamp Act.

The deed may shortly be described as a deed of adoption purporting to bestow property of considerable value (the exact amount, however, is not specified in the document) on the adopted son.

The deed was drawn up on a stamp of Rs. 10. When the document was presented to the Sub-Registrar of Chip-lín for registration, he impounded it as insufficiently stamped and forwarded it to the Collector of Ratnágiri for the adjudication of the proper stamp duty.

The Collector held that the document in question was properly stamped, inasmuch as the stamp duty for an "adoption deed" (Article 2, Schedule I of the Stamp Act) was the same as that prescribed for "an authority to adopt" (Article 38 of the Schedule), viz., Rs. 10.

I am of opinion that the decision of the Collector is wrong. Under the Stamp Act, I think a "deed of adoption" as such is not liable to any stamp duty. The entry against "adoption deed" in the Schedule is "see instrument No. 38." Whereas whenever the Legislature intended a particular document to be made liable to the same duty as prescribed for any other document, they have used the following words against it, viz., "the same duty as" in column 2 of the Schedule (vide entry immediately above "adoption deed"). I notice also that whenever a document is liable to stamp duty it is separately numbered in the Schedule. "Adoption deed" is not so numbered.

It has been urged, however, that inasmuch as the document in question bestows upon the adopted son the property of an adoptive mother, it is an instrument of gift of a non-testamentary nature (Article 36 of Schedule I of the Stamp Act) and therefore it was necessary for the Collector to call upon the parties to the instrument to specifically state the value of the property affected thereby in order to determine the proper stamp duty to which the document was liable. This view of the nature of the document does not commend itself to me. It is admittedly a deed of adoption, and the incidental mention of the fact therein that the adopted son is the heir to the property of the adoptive parent ought not to be construed as changing the nature of the document. The very fact of his being an adopted son would make him heir to the property of his adoptive mother whether the fact was specifically mentioned in the deed or not. The property descends to him not by the deed but by adoption which is evidenced by the deed.

Again, it might be urged that the instrument is liable to stamp duty under Section 7 of the Stamp Act, as it relates to several distinct matters, viz. (adoption and gift of property).

The points to be considered under the section are:—

- (1) whether the instrument comprises or relates to several distinct matters, or
- (2) whether it is so framed as to come within two or more of the descriptions in the first Schedule.

These two questions need be separately considered only when the two or more matters comprised in an instrument are each chargeable with duty. In the present case, as shown above, the deed of adoption is not liable to any duty. It is therefore only necessary to see whether the present instrument which is admittedly a deed of adoption is a deed of gift as well.

I think the best test to determine this is to see whether, supposing the adoption to be illegal and invalid, the adopted boy would be permitted to claim the property mentioned in the deed, under it, as a deed of gift; or whether the mention of the conferring of the property upon him will be looked upon as a mere redundancy of expression and taken to be part and parcel of the record of adoption. If the former, the deed is of course liable to be stamped as an instrument of gift; if the latter, it is subject to no duty.

A careful perusal of the deed shows that it is a deed of adoption only. The only words in it which give it the colour of a deed of gift are "and have made you the owner of all the ancestral property." In construing these words the context must be considered. The word "and" in the above quotation deserves to be specially noted. It distinctly connects the ownership of property with the adoption and makes it dependent on it.

It thus appears to me that if the adoption were, owing to some flaw in it, declared invalid, no Civil Court would admit the claim of the adopted boy to the property under this deed as a deed of gift, and if it would not, why should the instrument be taken to be a "deed of gift" for the purposes of the stamp duty?

As the question is an important one, I submit it for an authoritative decision.

I have &c.,

(Signed) ARTHUR CRAWFORD;

Commissioner, S. D.

Pratápji Rámchandra Ráje ... Adoptee.

Reference from A. Crawford, Esquire, Commissioner, Southern Division, under Section 46 of the Indian Stamp Act.

The document is a deed of adoption, and not a deed of gift. The Commissioner, Southern Division, seems to be right on this point. Whether the document, as a deed of adoption, requires to be stamped at all, is a question that does not really arise in this case. It bears a stamp of Rs. 10. The Collector says it is sufficient. The Commissioner does not consider it insufficient if it does require a stamp, but says it does not require any.

21. Letters of administration are not a "judicial proceeding" within the meaning of Article 9, Schedule I of the Court Fees Act VII of 1870, and copies of letters of administration should, therefore, be charged with stamp duty under article 22, Schedule I of the General Stamp Act, and not with a court fee.

22. "Following the ruling of the High Court of Calcutta in ex parte Hill (I. L. R., 8 Calcutta, 254), I should say that if the instruments A and B fall under Section 7 of the Stamp Act I of 1879, at all, paragraph 2 of that section applies to them. Speaking of an instrument which they said was intended to effect partly a lease and partly a usufructuary mortgage, their Lordships the Chief Justice and two Judges of that Court said:—

"It seems clear to us that * * * * * the loan is the consideration for the lease and the lease is the consideration for the loan; and that neither part of the arrangement would have been complete without the other.

"We, therefore, think it impossible to say that the instrument relates to two distinct matters within the meaning of the first clause of Section 7 of the General Stamp Act. That clause, in our opinion, relates only to transactions so distinct in their nature as to be capable of being carried out by two or more instruments instead of one, whereas here the contract is essentially one transaction. On the other hand, we think that the case falls within the second clause of Section 7, the instrument being one which answers two of the descriptions in the first schedule, and which is therefore chargeable with the highest duty which can be imposed on an instrument of either description."

"But I do not think that these instruments do 'answer two of the descriptions in the first schedule.' One is a mortgage deed and the other a deed of sale. The one effects a mortgage and the other a sale of an interest in a joint estate, and each, therefore, naturally contains provisions regarding the joint management of the property. These provisions are incidental and supplementary to the main intention of the instruments, and cannot, I think, be rightly regarded as bringing those instruments within the description of 'instruments of co-partnership'." (L. R. No. 1643, dated 21st December 1886; vide G. R. No. 108, dated 17th January 1887.)

23. Article 22 of Schedule I of the Indian Stamp Act must refer to copies of, or extracts from, records which a public officer is bound by law to keep. It is clear that the law in question must be the law for the time being in force in British India and not elsewhere. (Adv. Gen. Nos. 76, dated 21st August 1882, and 18, dated 2nd June 1887; vide G. Rs. Nos. 6007, dated 1st September 1882, and 4091, dated 5th July 1887.)

24. Occupants holding land under the terms of a survey settlement are persons holding temporarily settled land under direct engagement with Government as described in Schedule II, No. I (a), second clause, Court Fees Act, 1870. (L. R. No. 1560, dated 10th December 1887; vide G. R. No. 634, dated 28th January 1888.)

25. The following opinions of the Honourable the Advocate General, Bengal, dated 19th October 1887 and 8th February 1889, were communicated by the Government of India for information and guidance, with an intimation that as the 'sattas' appeared to vary in form in different localities, these opinions should in any particular case be carefully considered with reference to the form of 'satta' actually used:—

"A 'satta' attested by a witness, and executed for the delivery of cotton on a certain day, is a 'bond' within the meaning of Section 3 (4) of the Stamp Act, 1879, and, as such, is liable to stamp duty. I am further of opinion that the transfer of a 'satta' of the above description is a transfer under Article 60 (b); and having regard to the change effected by the Stamp Act, 1879, in the liability of a 'satta' (which falls within the description of a bond) to bear a stamp duty, Notification No. 3226 of 22nd May 1874 is no longer applicable.

"A receipt given for earnest money is liable to stamp duty under Article 52 of Schedule I.

"As regards indigo 'sattas,' I would point out that the form in which they are said to be drawn would not constitute them bonds in England, and unless attested they would not be bonds under the Stamp Act. If unattested, an indigo 'satta' would be a covenant with a penalty attached (i. e. an agreement to deliver a certain quantity of indigo, and in the event of non-delivery to pay damages).

"However I am of opinion that the penalty named in a bond is the sum upon which the stamp duty is payable." (Opinion dated 19th October 1887.)

"The satta set out in this case is not a bond as held by the High Court (Section 8, Indian Law Reports, Calcutta, page 284). This decision is at variance with the decision in Indian Law Reports 2, Allahabad, page 654, which had been previously passed. In Bengal the decision of the High Court at Fort William must be followed, and consequently the satta or indigo contract under notice only requires an 8 anna stamp.

"My previous opinion, dated 19th October 1887, should not have been applied to the present case. I was then advising in a North-Western case and upon an agreement of a different kind, the purport of which was stated, but the document not placed before me, and in the case itself it was admitted that the document was a bond.

STAMPS.]

"According to the decision in Indian Law Reports, 2 Allahabad, page 634, the document as to which I was then asked to advise would be a bond liable to stamp duty on the penalty.

"In a portion of my previous opinion I stated that the penalty named in a bond is the sum upon which the stamp duty is payable. This would be so in reference to a bond mentioned in Article 14 (a) of Schedule (I), and the proposition is also correct in reference to the bond I was then advising on. But the language used by me, apart from the case on which I advised, would be applicable to simple money bonds, with penalties attached; and in this respect my opinion is not correct. The penalty in a simple money bond is introduced for the purpose of enabling the lender to realise principal and interest, and may be said to be in that sense the amount secured. Section 23 of the Stamp Act shows that interest may be left out of consideration, and the principal be deemed the amount on which the stamp is leviable. Read by the light of this section, the amount secured would be the principal amount lent, and not the penalty. To this extent the language used by me would require modification. I should have used the words 'the bond' instead of the expression 'a bond.'" (Opinion dated 8th February 1889.)

(G. I. F. & C., Nos. 6509, dated 9th December 1887, and 2280, dated 6th May 1889; vide G. Rs. Nos. 169, dated 9th January 1888, and 3985, dated 1st June 1889.)

26. "The District Judge, Kánara, raises the questions—

(a) whether a Subordinate Magistrate is entitled to a fee on an affidavit sworn before him;

(b) whether any stamp should be affixed to the affidavit, and if any, of what value.

"The Honourable Mr. Naylor's report No. 52 of 8th January 1887, in which Government have expressed their concurrence,* points out that it is open to Government to charge fees for certain services performed by their officers, such as the attestation of documents and affidavits, wherever the performance of such services is not part of the duties of such officers imposed on them by law.

"Government accordingly extended to affidavits the provisions of paragraph 4 of Government Resolution No. 2308 of 12th June 1871.

"That paragraph authorises public officers of the class mentioned in the preceding paragraphs of the Resolution to take a fee of one rupee in the shape of a stamp, which should be affixed and obliterated.

"The preceding paragraphs of the Resolution include Magistrates.

"The Resolutions taken together appear to be unambiguous. The fees to be taken under them are not stamp duties or court fees, but mere charges for the services which Government allows its servants to perform for the convenience of the public, though they are not bound by law to perform them.

"I need hardly note that as the Resolution is not based on the Court Fees Act, 1870, or Indian Stamp Act, 1879, it does not affect, and is itself unaffected by, the provisions of Section 6 of the former Act, or Section 34 and Schedule II, Article 1, of the latter Act. (Section 6 of VII of 1870 and Section 34 of I of 1879 render inadmissible in Courts of Justice any document or instrument not stamped as required under the schedules to those Acts. Schedule II of I of 1879 exempts from stamp duty affidavits used for certain purposes.)

"Therefore, on the one hand, the non-payment of a fee, chargeable under the above Resolutions on an affidavit, could not affect its admissibility, and on the other, the exemption of an affidavit from stamp duty under the Stamp Act does not disentitle Government to charge a fee for the services of the officer who attests the affidavit, a service which he is not bound by any law to perform." (L. R. No. 88, dated 21st January 1889; vile G. R., J. D., No. 853, dated 14th February 1889, and G. M. No. 2001, dated 14th March 1889.)

XXVI.—MISCELLANEOUS.

1. Stamps on petitions to Government.—Court-fee stamps of arbitrary values which are sometimes affixed to petitions through ignorance or misunderstanding of the Stamp Act and the standing orders of Government on the subject, by petitioners petitioning Government in regard to matters other than civil, should always be returned to them with an intimation that such return has been made. (G. R. No. 2580, dated 21st April 1877.)

2. The Superintendents of the Revenue, Financial and General Departments are held strictly responsible that all uncanceled stamps affixed to petitions to Government received in their respective branches are duly returned to the petitioners, as required by Government Resolution No. 2580, dated 21st April 1877, and that all stamps which are legally affixed, if there are any such, are properly defaced. (G. C. No. 213, dated 13th January 1879.)

3. Removal of Stamps.—Officers removing stamps from papers which do not require stamps, or from papers over stamped, should affix their initials to the paper. (G. R. No. 3766, dated 17th July 1879.)

4. Publication of Translations.—Care should always be taken to publish promptly any notifications or amended rules under the Indian Stamp Act; and to enable the Oriental Translator to do this, the Superintendent, Government Central Press, should furnish him with English slips of such notifications or amendments as they are issued. (G. R. No. 4085, dated 5th August 1879.)

5. Stamping on Skeleton Forms.—It is not expedient that the value of the one-anna stamps impressed on skeleton forms should be received in cash at the General Stamp Office, Bombay. This course would entail certain responsibilities on the Superintendent of Stamps, which it is considered desirable should not be imposed upon him, and might also open a door for fraud. The documents to be stamped should, on presentation to the Stamp Office, be accompanied by a receipt from a Government Treasury for the full value of the stamps to be impressed. The Secretary and Treasurer, Her Majesty's Treasury, Bank of Bombay, should receive from the public the amount paid on account of the one-anna stamp and pass to them a receipt for the same to be presented at the Stamp Office along with the documents required to be stamped. (G. R. No. 2377, dated 11th April 1882.)

6. Sureties.—Government do not consider it desirable to insist upon the lodgment of title-deeds or to require a deposit of promissory notes or cash by the sureties for the Storekeeper of the Bombay Stamp Office. It will suffice if the Superintendent of Stamps satisfies himself fully that the sureties are solvent and able to pay the amount for which they are liable, and ascertains carefully at intervals of not more than a year that the security furnished is sufficient. (G. R. No. 2550, dated 19th April 1882.)

7. Forest Agreements.—The Forest Department is authorised to have a limited number of the printed forms of contract agreement to be entered into with coupe contractors embossed with an eight-anna stamp by the Superintendent of Stamps, Bombay, and to keep the forms in stock to meet the requirements of the service. (G. R. No. 8702, dated 4th November 1892.)

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

I.—MERCHANDISE MARKS.

1. Business connected with the working of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, 1889, is administered in the Department of Finance and Commerce of the Government of India, and all correspondence on this subject should be addressed to that Department. (G. I., H. D., No. 27 Pub.-1514, dated 7th August 1890; vide G. R. No. 6157, dated 30th idem.)

2. The annual reports on the working of the Merchandise Marks Act should be submitted to Government by 1st July at the latest. (G. R. No. 1027, dated 10th February 1892.)

3. The Government of Bombay should arrange to place the reports on the working of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act in possession of the Government of India by the 1st August. (G. I., F. & C., No. 269-S., dated 29th November 1892; vide G. R. No. 15, dated 3rd January 1893.)

4. The following executive instructions have been laid down for the guidance of Customs officers in the administration of the Merchandise Marks Act, 1889:—

1. Labels or tickets applied to boxes, cartons, parcels or other packages which are manifestly intended only for the purpose of identifying articles for the convenience of dealers and shopkeepers and are not specially intended to attract the eye of the purchaser, should not be treated as trade descriptions. Examples:—On bundles of hosiery, “hose, brown merino, size-10”; on shoes, “enamelled leather, men’s No. 6”; on hats, brown felt, hard, No. 7.”

This instruction does not apply to a mark or description on the goods themselves, nor to a description of quality, nor to a description containing the name of a place, country, manufacturer, or trader, nor to a trade mark.

2. Goods manufactured on the continent of Europe should be detained if the manufacturer’s name and the trade description are expressed in English, unless the name and description are accompanied by the name of the country of manufacture.

In certain cases where the name of a place only is applied, it is not necessary to require the name of the country; for instance, if brandy is imported from Nantes or Bordeaux and marked with the name of the port of shipment only, it is not necessary to require the addition of the name of the country, because no shipper or importer of brandy from France would wilfully leave room for doubt as to the French origin of the brandy. If bars of iron or steel of other than English origin have English words stamped thereon, the Collector should require the country of origin to be stamped on them.

3. Customs officers should detain on their own motion, and without requiring information, any goods produced or manufactured beyond the limits of the United Kingdom or of British India which are marked with British or British Indian names or trade marks, or with colourable imitations thereof, or which are so described as to indicate or suggest that the goods were produced or made in the United Kingdom or British India, unless the country of origin of the goods is indicated in conspicuous letters on the same level as that on which the names, mark, or description appear.

In the cases mentioned in this instruction a description which indicates a particular class or method of manufacture, and includes the name of a place in or a part of the United Kingdom, and is thereby likely or calculated to mislead, includes such terms as "Kidderminster carpets", "Windsor soap", "Balbriggan" on hosiery, "Shetland" on shawls, and the like; for though these terms may be held to be merely indicative of methods of manufacture, they are likely to mislead as to the place of origin.

4. Customs officers should require the indication of the country of origin to be placed on the capsules and corks as well as on the labels of bottles of wine or other liquor produced or made beyond the limits of the United Kingdom or of British India whenever such goods are—

(a) so described,

(b) or have applied to them British or British Indian names or trade-marks or colourable imitations thereof in such manner as to indicate or suggest that the wine or other liquor was produced or made in the United Kingdom or in British India.

If the description and the names are so applied as to indicate merely that the wine or other liquor has been imported by a British or British Indian trader or dealer, it is not necessary to require the indication of origin on the corks and capsules.

5. The cotton piece-goods which must have their length stamped on them, under the orders contained in the Notification of the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 1430, dated the 6th April 1891, are those named below :—

|                           |            |
|---------------------------|------------|
| Cambrics.                 | Domestics. |
| Checks, spots, & stripes. | Durias.    |
| Chadars.                  | Drills.    |
| Chadar dhutis.            | Jaconets.  |
| Dhutis.                   | Jeans.     |

|              |                  |
|--------------|------------------|
| Lappets.     | Printers.        |
| Lawns.       | Prints.          |
| Lenos.       | Sáris.           |
| Longcloths.  | Scarves (eklai). |
| Madapollams. | Sheetings.       |
| Mulls.       | Shirtings.       |
| Muslins.     | Tanjibs.         |
| Nainsooks.   | Twills.          |

T-cloths and Mexicans.

No other descriptions of cotton goods need be stamped with their length.

6. A report on the proceedings of the Collector should be submitted annually to the Local Government for transmission to the Government of India. The report should state the number of cases in which (1) detention was ordered; (2) detention was followed by confiscation; (3) detention was followed by release with or without a fine; (4) detention was ordered on information received; (5) detention was ordered without information. Under the first head should be specified the section of the Act under which action was taken. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 295S., dated 28th November 1890, and 2914-S.R., dated 6th July 1896; vide G. Rs. Nos. 8960, dated 15th December 1890, and 5816, dated 25th July 1896.)

5. The proceedings of the Customs authorities under the Merchandise Marks Act should be regulated, like their proceedings under the Customs Act, with as much regard for the convenience of the public as is consistent with the execution of the law. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2970, dated 14th June 1889; vide G. R., G. D., No. 2507, dated 27th idem.)

6. Customs officers should so administer the Merchandise Marks Act as not to cause unnecessary harassment to trade. In cases where the law is infringed without fraudulent intent it will be expedient that until the requirements of the law are better understood, on the first infringement the goods should be passed with a warning to the importers of the requirements of the Act. (G. I., F. & C., No. 4527, dated 4th September 1889; vide G. R. No. 7714, dated 12th October 1889.)

7. Customs officers should refrain from applying the provisions of the Merchandise Marks Act to articles imported for private use. (G. I., F. & C., No. 10S., dated 13th January 1890; vide G. R. No. 649, dated 24th idem.)

8. In the exercise of the power conferred by Section 16 of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, IV of 1889, and in supersession of all existing orders on the subject, the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that Criminal Courts, in giving effect to the provisions of the Act in respect of trade descriptions of quantity, measure, or weight of the goods specified hereunder, shall observe the following instructions:—

I.—A trade description of length stamped on grey, white, or coloured cotton piece-goods shall not be deemed to be false in a material respect unless—

- (a) where a single length is stamped, the description exceeds the actual length by more than—

|    |                                                       |     |                                             |    |              |
|----|-------------------------------------------------------|-----|---------------------------------------------|----|--------------|
| 4  | inches in pieces stamped as 10 yards long and under ; |     |                                             |    |              |
| 5  | do.                                                   | do. | as above 10 yards and up to 23 yards long ; |    |              |
| 7  | do.                                                   | do. | do.                                         | 23 | do.          |
| 9  | do.                                                   | do. | do.                                         | 36 | do.          |
| 18 | do.                                                   | do. | do.                                         | 47 | yards long ; |

Provided that the average length of the goods in question shall not be less than the stamped length ;

- (b) where a maximum and a minimum length are stamped, the described maximum length is greater than the actual length by more than—

|    |                                             |     |                                   |  |  |
|----|---------------------------------------------|-----|-----------------------------------|--|--|
| 9  | inches in piece-goods under 35 yards long ; |     |                                   |  |  |
| 18 | do.                                         | do. | 35 yards and up to 47 yards long. |  |  |
| 36 | do.                                         | do. | above 47 yards long ;             |  |  |

Provided that no such piece shall measure less than the minimum stamped length.

II.—A trade description of width stamped on grey, white, or coloured cotton piece-goods shall not be deemed to be false in a material respect unless the description exceeds the actual width by—half an inch in pieces stamped as 40 inches or less in width ;

three-quarters of an inch in pieces stamped as over 40 inches or under 59 inches in width ;

one inch in pieces stamped as 59 inches or more in width :

Provided that the average width of the goods in question shall not be less than the stamped width.

III.—A trade description of count or number, length or weight, applied to grey, or bleached cotton yarn shall not be deemed to be false in a material respect unless—

- (a) the described count or number is greater or less than the actual count or number by more than 5 per cent., provided that the average count of the whole of the yarn in question is not greater or less than the described count ; or

- (b) the average length of the whole number of hanks in a bundle is less than 840 yards ; or

- (c) in a bundle of yarn of any count under 50, described as being 10 lb. in weight, the number of knots of twenty hanks each is not half of, the number of knots of ten hanks each is not the same as, and the number of knots of five hanks is not double, the described count or number of the yarn ; or

- (d) in a bundle of yarn of any count under 50, described as being 5 lb. in weight, the number of knots of twenty hanks each is not a quarter of the described count or number of the yarn ; or

(e) in a bundle of yarn of any count from 50 upwards, the number of knots of twenty hanks each is not half, or the number of knots of forty hanks each is not a quarter, when the described weight is 10 lb. and is not a quarter or an eighth, as the case may be, when the described weight is 5 lb. of the count or number of the yarn ; or

(f) in the case of bleached yarn the described weight exceeds the actual weight by more than—

|    |           |                         |
|----|-----------|-------------------------|
| 7½ | per cent. | in counts from 1 to 8,  |
| 5  | do.       | do. from above 8 to 18, |
| 4  | do.       | do. do. 18 to 30,       |
| 2½ | do.       | do. do. 30 to 80.       |

IV.—A trade description or count or number applied to a bundle of dyed cotton yarn shall be accepted as indicating length only, the hank being taken to measure 840 yards, and it shall be deemed to be false in a material respect if the average length of the hanks in a bundle is less than 819 yards.

V.—A trade description of length applied to thread of any kind (of cotton, wool, flax, or silk) shall not be deemed to be false in a material respect unless it exceeds the actual length by more than 1 per cent.

VI.—The dimensions of goods on which their length or width is stamped shall be determined by measurement in imperial yards of 36 inches.

(G. I. F. & C., Notn. No. 1474, dated 13th November 1891, republished at pages 926 and 927 of the B. G. G. dated 19th idem ; vide also G. R. No. 8391 dated 5th December 1891.)

9. In the exercise of the powers conferred by Section 19A, Sub-section (2) of the Sea Customs Act, 1878 (as amended by Section 11 of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, 1889) and Sections 19 and 20 of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, 1889 (as amended by Act IX of 1891), the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the subjoined rules and orders :

1. Piece goods, such as are ordinarily sold by length or by the piece, shall be deemed to include woollen goods of all kinds and the undermentioned descriptions of cotton goods, namely :

|                             |                  |
|-----------------------------|------------------|
| Cambries.                   | Longcloths.      |
| Checks, Spots, and Stripes. | Madapollams.     |
| Chudders.                   | Mulls.           |
| Chudder Dhooties.           | Muslins.         |
| Dhooties.                   | Nainsooks.       |
| Domestics.                  | Printers.        |
| Doorias.                    | Prints.          |
| Drills.                     | Sarries.         |

2. Other classes of piece goods shall not be detained if unstamped; and unstamped cotton and woollen piece goods imported for private and personal use and not intended for sale shall not be detained if the Customs Collector is satisfied that they are actually not intended for sale.

3. Examinations of packages to ascertain whether the goods mentioned in rule 1 are stamped shall be made at frequent intervals at the discretion of the Customs Collector and either under his personal instructions or under general orders and instructions given by him to an Assistant Collector.

4. The piece goods contained in the packages so examined need not be examined, when found to be stamped, to test the accuracy of the stamping, except on information received, or when the Customs Collector has reason to suspect that the stamping is false.

5. All measurements of piece goods shall be made on the table.

6. Yarns need not be examined or measured except on information received, or when the Collector has reason to suspect that the trade-description is false.

7. An examination of yarns to test the accuracy of the description of count or length shall be made, in the first instance, up to the limit of one bundle in the consignment.

8. If on such examination the difference between the average count or length and the described count or length is in excess of the variations permitted in paragraphs III and IV of the Notification* in the Home Department No. 1738 (Judicial), dated the 4th December 1890, the importer may require a further examination to be made up to the limit stated in rule 9.

9. The test to determine count and length of yarns shall be applied as follows:—

One bundle should be taken from any bale in the consignment; and each knot in the bundle weighed. From the knots so weighed should be selected the heaviest knot, the lightest knot and the knot which approaches most closely to the standard weight of a knot of yarn of the particular count under examination.

[By standard weight is meant the weight which the knot of yarn of the described count should be, if the length of the hank is correct, e. g., a knot of No. 20 of ten hanks to the knot should weigh eight ounces.]

The heaviest knot should then be selected from the knots so weighed, and each hank in it weighed, the heaviest and lightest hank and also the hank which approximates most closely to the standard weight being selected. This process should be repeated with the other two weighed knots.

There will then be nine hanks to be dealt with, three from each of the three knots weighed.

These nine hanks should then be tested on the wrap-reel. If on such test the difference between the average count or length and the described count or length is in excess of the variations permitted by the Notification quoted in the preceding rule, the process may be repeated, if the importer should require it, up to the limit of one per cent. of the whole number of bundles in the consignment; but no more extended examination shall be made unless the importer agrees to pay the cost thereof, in which case an examination may be made up to the limit of ten per cent. of the bundles in the consignment.

10. The Customs Collector may require from any informant a security not exceeding five hundred rupees. If the Collector should be satisfied that the information given is wilfully false, the security shall be forfeited.

(G. I., F. & C., Notn. No. 1430, dated 6th April 1891, republished at page 329 of the B. G. G. dated 16th idem; vide also G. R. No. 2821, dated 24th idem.)

Note.—No alteration in the wording of rule 1 is necessary. Section 10 (2) (f) of the Act requires that only 'Piece goods' shall be stamped, and the rule merely defines under Section 19 (Section 4 of Act IX of 1891) the classes of goods included in the expression 'Piece goods.' The phrase 'Woollen goods,' therefore, can include none but 'Woollen piece goods.' (G. I., F. & C., No. 285 C., dated 19th December 1891; vide G. R. No. 337 dated 16th January 1892.)

10. The strict requirements of clause (e) of Section 10 of the Merchandise Marks Act may be so far relaxed as to require one conspicuous indication of origin for more than one application of the name, provided the names were all on the same surface. One indication seems enough: the additional ones are surplusage. (G. R., G. D., No. 2547, dated 29th June 1889.)

11. Section 10 (e) of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, IV of 1889, is borrowed from the English Act (viz., Section 16, Sub-section 1 of the Statute 50 and 51 Vict., cap. 28) and was enacted with the object of protecting legitimate British trade from illegitimate foreign competition. In order to secure this protection it was necessary that British merchants should themselves follow the rules which were designed to prevent fraud on the part of their foreign competitors. Importers of foreign goods may be warned of the provisions of the law which require that the country of origin should be clearly indicated in the case of goods of foreign manufacture brought into British India. (G. I., H. D., No. 1545, dated 29th August 1889; vide G. R. No. 7150, dated 21st September 1889.)

12. The provisions of the Indian Penal Code, as amended by the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, would render punishable any person using a false trade mark or property mark in respect of any goods. Prosecutions for imitating private trade marks should ordinarily be private prosecutions and not public prosecutions. (Solicitor to Government No. 1009, dated 5th October 1889; vide G. R. No. 8011, dated 22nd idem.)

13. The employment of the Solicitor to Government to prosecute in test cases of importance to the public under the Merchandise Marks Act is sanctioned. The cases should be selected by the Collector of Customs, who is authorized to use his discretion in instructing the Solicitor to Government to prosecute, and the result of such prosecutions should be reported by him. (G. R. No. 7387, dated 27th October 1891.)

14. The importation of labels cannot be prohibited by applying the provisions of Section 10 (1) (e) of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act. (G. Rs. Nos. 8011, dated 22nd October 1889, and 3401, dated 16th May 1890.)

15. Shawls are not 'Piece goods,' and it is not therefore necessary to require that their length should be stamped on them. (G. I., F. & C., No. 297 S., dated 19th December 1891; vide G. R. No. 337, dated 16th January 1892.)

16. To give a true description or classification of goods of a continental manufacture in the English language without at the same time stating the country in which they were manufactured, is misleading the public in a most material respect, namely, the place where the goods were made or produced, and as such it would not be permissible, and the person giving such a description would be applying a false description, and would, as such, be liable to the penalties under Section 6 of the Act.

It appears to be equally misleading the public if the name of the continental manufacturer were given in English without indicating where the goods were manufactured. The use of the English language in the description of goods is, prima facie, an indication that the goods are manufactured in the United Kingdom, and are not of continental origin.

Or, to put it in another form, as stated in Payn's work on the Merchant Marks Act of 1887 (50 and 51 Vict., cap. 28) in page 17: "The use of the English language in descriptive expressions such as 'super-fine make' on a label applied to goods coming from a foreign speaking country is undoubtedly under the Act a false indication of manufacture in the United Kingdom," &c., &c.

Similarly, any words which might imply manufacture by English firms would bring any goods so labelled within the section, if the goods came from foreign speaking countries, and would also require a definite indication of manufacture abroad. (Adv.

Gen., Bengal, dated 21st November 1889; vide G. R. No. 243, dated 11th January 1890.)

17. The Government of Bombay referred, for the orders of the Government of India, a question raised by the Commissioner in Sind in connection with the mention of the country of origin of the goods. Four cases were referred to—

- (1) relating to two consignments of glass beads from Trieste, in which the goods were described as 'made in Bohemia.' The importers were warned, but the goods were allowed to pass, as Bohemia was considered a sufficient indication of the country of origin;
- (2) a consignment of German brandy, in which Hamburg was mentioned, but not specifically stated as being the place of origin of the goods. The importer was fined Rs. 10, and the goods were allowed to pass after the bottles had been labelled with the name of the place of origin;
- (3) a consignment of French brandy similarly labelled with the word Bordeaux. The importers were fined Rs. 5 and permitted to remove the goods after due stamping;
- (4) a consignment of petroleum from Batoum, marked 'Batoum.' This was deemed a sufficient indication of the country of origin, and the goods were passed with a warning to the importers.

In the first of these cases the detention and warning were unnecessary, the mention of Bohemia, or of Hungary, being a full compliance with the requirement of the law that the country of origin should be stated. In the other three cases the law was not complied with, but the manner in which such cases are dealt with must depend upon the circumstances of each case. No fine need be inflicted, nor is it necessary to insist on the specification of the country, where brandy marked as from Bordeaux comes from Bordeaux or some other French port, and there is no reason to suppose that it is other than French brandy, for no importer of French brandy would deliberately leave room for doubt whether or not his brandy was really French.

In the case of Russian oil the law should be enforced by requiring the specification of the country, and in the case of liquors from Hamburg also the law should be strictly enforced. If bars of iron or steel have English words stamped thereon, and they are not of English origin, the Collector should require the country of origin to be stamped on them. (G. I., F. & C., No. 269 S., dated 29th November 1892; vide G. R. No. 15, dated 3rd January 1893.)

II.—TRADE STATISTICS.

A.—EXTERNAL LAND TRADE.

1. The Secretary of State for India is anxious that the particulars of all imposts to which traders are liable after they leave or before they enter British territory, whether authorized by the Frontier State or illegally levied by its officials, should as far as possible be ascertained and the results of the enquiries made inserted in the reports on external trade. Obviously a knowledge of the incidence of such duties will in many cases largely tend to explain the preference given to some routes over others and the relative expansion or depression of trade in particular articles. These enquiries, however, cannot be confided to men of the class of the registering clerks, but must be specially entrusted to district officers, who should be recommended to obtain the information required by judicious and discreet personal communication with the traders. (G. I., R. A. & C., No. 2-358-364, dated 14th June 1876; vide G. R. No. 3824, dated 3rd July 1876.)

2. The Governor General in Council desires to impress upon the Local Governments concerned the importance of issuing the annual reports and returns of the trade by land with countries external to British India and of the internal trade by land with great punctuality. The reports on the trade with countries beyond the frontier especially are required promptly to admit of their being noticed in the general review of this trade for the whole of British India as soon as the consolidated accounts of the year are published. It appears advisable in regard to the reports for Sind and Bengal, that the portion relating to the external trade should be separated from that appertaining to the internal trade, and be transmitted in advance of the latter.

The attention of Local Governments is also requested to the desirability of the monthly returns of the land trade being furnished within one month, if possible, of the period to which they relate.

Lastly the Governor General in Council desires to point out to Local Governments the necessity for greater care in the preparation of the monthly and annual returns of the land trade. At present a great many errors are found in these returns due primarily to carelessness on the part of the mohurrirs or registering officers at the outposts. Items are posted against the wrong head or are omitted altogether, and quantities and values are sometimes given which are manifestly quite wrong. Many of these mistakes admit of detection at the central compiling office, where the returns should be carefully checked and scrutinised and discrepancies enquired into without delay, but sometimes not only are the errors of the registering officers overlooked, but additional mistakes are made in the central office in posting, totalling and fair copying returns.

Great inconvenience has resulted from the delay which often occurs in notifying corrections which are to be made in the monthly returns after they have been transmitted to the Finance and Commerce Department of the Government of India. If the returns are carefully prepared, and promptly checked, there is no reason why all errors should not be detected and notified within two or at the most three months after the month to which the statistics relate, and it is particularly requested that all statements of corrections may be forwarded within the time specified. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 2442, dated 24th August 1881, and 52 S., dated 5th February 1885; vide G. R. Nos. 5226, dated 9th September 1881, and 1602, dated 24th February 1885.)

3. The Collector of Customs, Karáchi, should prepare the annual Sind land trade report and statements as early as possible after the close of the year and take particular care to have all errors in the monthly returns adjusted before the figures are entered in the report and tables for the year. He should also omit fractions of maunds and of rupees in both the monthly and yearly returns. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1054, dated 13th June 1881; vide G. R. No. 3672, dated 25th idem.)

4. Statements of errors discovered in the monthly accounts of the trade of the Province of Sind sent to the Government of India should be regularly furnished with the returns of the next following month. If in any month there are no statements of errata to be furnished, the facts should be stated on a slip accompanying the returns. This is the course followed with the accounts of sea-borne trade and navigation, and it is essential to secure freedom from discrepancies between the annual accounts compiled by the Government of India from the monthly returns furnished by the local authorities and the annual accounts compiled locally. (G. I., F. & C., No. 200 C., dated 31st July 1880; vide G. R. No. 4835, dated 13th September 1880.)

5. In the annual land trade returns for Sind the grand total value of the trade with each country should always be entered. (G. I., F. & C., No. 69 C., dated 3rd March 1880; vide G. R. No. 1528, dated 23rd idem.)

B.—RAIL-BORNE TRADE.

1. The registration of railway-borne traffic is a subject of Imperial importance, and it is desirable to place it on a more uniform basis in the different provinces than has hitherto been possible. Such registration, it is generally recognized, should indicate (1) the character of the goods in which the traffic consists; and (2) the tracts or places between which the traffic is carried on. To this end the returns have to exhibit a dual classification, and with the view of simplifying these complicated details the plan known as the "block system" has been naturally adopted in some form or other in most provinces. Under this system a province is divided into "internal blocks," each block containing a group of railway stations and embracing a certain geographical area. Each of the other outlying provinces is regarded as an "external block;" and the registration returns are so framed as to exhibit for the province (1) the traffic between each of its internal blocks and all the external blocks separately; (2) the traffic between each internal and all the other internal blocks separately. The local traffic running between two stations of the same internal block is of course omitted.

The demarcation of the internal blocks has not, however, been always made on a uniform system by the several Local Governments. In Bengal and the Punjab different lines of railway were kept separate, each line being sub-divided into strips or "blocks" of approximately equal length, so that no block contained a portion of more than one line. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh block limits were made to coincide with geographical or administrative boundaries, and they thus include portions of all traffic (railway) lines passing through them. The latter system seems, on the whole, to be the preferable one, as it more readily lends itself to any extensions of the railway system which may from time to time be made; it also gives a better idea of the trade between particular tracts which is the chief object of these returns. It has recently been adopted by the Governments of Bombay and Bengal and by the Administration of the Central Provinces.

When the figures are being compiled, the imports and exports should be tabulated on separate sheets, to avoid errors of compilation. The compilation being done, the imports and exports can be readily brought together on the same sheet. (G. I., R. & A., No. 12 Stats., dated 28th January 1884; vide G. R. No. 1968, dated 4th March 1884.)

2. In the case of a marked increase or decrease during the quarter in the rail-borne traffic returns of important commodities, such as cotton or wheat, the cause if known should be briefly stated. (G. I., R. & A., No. 270-4-7 Stats., dated 27th November 1884; vide G. R. No. 1400, dated 17th February 1885.)

3. The trade of Karáchi should be shown separately in the rail-borne trade returns of Sind. (G. R. No. 4919, dated 16th June 1885.)

4. The returns of rail-borne trade, especially the quarterly returns, may be of much use to the commercial public, and their utility is proportionate to the promptitude with which they are issued. Every effort should therefore be made to secure their early issue by dispensing with elaborate reviews. While asking, however, that the reviews should be brief, the Government of India does not wish it to be understood that any marked fluctuations of traffic should be overlooked, or that the large increase or decrease in the carriage of any particular article of trade should pass without notice. (G. I., R. & A., No. 236-12-7 Stats., dated 13th June 1885; vide G. R. No. 5398, dated 3rd July 1885.)

5. The annual returns and reports both of the rail-borne and land-borne trade may be submitted through the Director of Agriculture to enable that officer to offer his comments thereon, but care should be taken that the adoption of this procedure does not involve any undue delay in their publication, as the Government of India lay great stress on the necessity of issuing such returns promptly. (G. R. No. 2220, dated 16th March 1885.)

6. The report of the rail and river-borne trade of Sind should be reviewed by the Director of Land Records and Agriculture, Bombay. (G. R. No. 6280, dated 26th August 1889.)

7. Booking with stations beyond Jacobabad on the Sind-Pishin Railway should be excluded from the returns of rail-borne trade. (G. I., R. & A., Nos. 259-2-11, dated 15th August 1887, and 323, dated 1st December 1887; vide G. R. No. 6414, dated 23rd September 1887.)

8. In their circular of the 21st December 1887 the Government of India laid before Local Governments and Administrations a proposed scheme in modification of the arrangements then existing for collecting and tabulating the rail-borne trade statistics of British India. In the replies furnished to that circular, all the Local Governments and Administrations agreed to the proposed scheme as a whole.

2. The scheme came into operation on the 1st April 1888.

3. Registration continues to be concentrated as before, excepting that in order to avoid delays resulting from the late receipt of invoices which pass over several lines, the Audit Office at Jamalpore registers, as far as is possible and expedient, all imports into Northern India from Southern India, and up to the 30th September 1896 the Examiner of Guaranteed Railway Accounts, Bombay, registered all imports into Southern India from Northern India. Imports into Northern India from Southern India not registered at Jamalpore are registered at Lahore, Lucknow and Gorakhpore. The system of registering the trade of the provinces of Southern India with one another and of the provinces of Northern India with one another is maintained to a great extent. With this view the lists* A and B have been prepared, showing A by what Audit offices the rail-borne trade of each province with external blocks will be registered, and B the returns to be supplied by each registering office and the offices to which they will be furnished. The adoption of these lists will prevent the possibility of any discrepancy in weights between one provincial return and another.

4. Under the scheme sanctioned in the letter from the Government of India, No. 2321 Ex., dated 28th May 1896 (see Government Resolutions Nos. 4780, dated 18th June 1896, and 8833, dated 9th November 1896) the work of registration of rail-borne trade which before the 1st October 1896 was performed by the Examiner of Guaranteed Railway Accounts, Bombay, has from that date been entrusted to the Auditors of the Railway

5. Provision has been made in Appendices* A and B for the registration of the traffic between the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway and the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway which goes via Cawnpore and does not come on to the East India Railway.

6. The adoption of the modified system now contemplated of collecting the rail-borne statistics of India will in no way affect the registration of the internal trade of a province (i.e., the trade within a province), the arrangements for which the Government of India is willing to leave to Local Governments and Administrations. No alterations should be made, however, in the present number of internal blocks (i.e., blocks within a province) without intimation being given to the Government of India.

7. The limits of the railway lines comprised in each external block are given in list* C. In order to trace the sea imports to their place of consumption and the sea exports from their place of production, and to enable the Government of India to compile imperial returns in the manner required by the Secretary of State, the sea-port towns of Bombay, Karachi and Calcutta should be treated as separate blocks, both by the Governments of the provinces in which the towns are respectively situated and by other Provincial Governments. Similarly the sea-port towns of Madras, which are touched by railways, viz., Madras, Pondicherry, Negapatam, Tuticorin and Calicut,† will be regarded as separate blocks for the purposes of the Madras Government, but as a single block, viz., “Madras sea-ports,” for the purposes of other Administrations and for the purposes of the Imperial returns. The object of amalgamating the figures of these five sea-ports is to ascertain the share of the Madras Presidency in the foreign export and import trade. This object is not attained as regards this Presidency by making the Madras town only a separate block, as the great bulk of the trade of the Presidency by sea does not proceed from the capital as in the case of Bengal, Bombay, and Sind, but from its subordinate ports.

8. Should it be necessary to make any additions or alterations in lists* A, B and C in consequence of the opening out of new lines or railways, they should be reported to the Government of India,† by whom intimation will be given to other Local Governments and Administrations.

9. The articles of which the trade is registered are those specified in list‡ D appended. Experience has shown that it is necessary to lay down one uniform list of commodities for all India, and it is desired that this list should be adopted both for the quarterly and for the annual returns. If Local Governments wish to ascertain the trade in specific commodities not entered in the classified list, the registering offices concerned may be requested to register it, but the commodity should not be separately entered in the prescribed returns. It is also desired that no alteration should be made in the order of commodities.

10. List‡ E gives the deduction rates per cent. which should be applied to the commodities entered in list‡ D, so as to arrive at actual weights. These rates should not be altered without the sanction of the Government of India. This list should accompany the Provincial returns, quarterly and annually.

Audit offices to be supplied with lists A to E. Lists A to E should be supplied to all registering offices for information and guidance.

14. The forms of the Provincial returns, quarterly and annual, at present in use are those noted below:—

I.—Statement showing for two years the trade between a province as a whole and other provinces and Native States.

II.—Statement showing the trade between the internal blocks, if any, of a province and other provinces and Native States.

III.—Statement showing the trade between the internal blocks, if any, of a province.

* Not printed. For revised list C see G. Rs. Nos. 1900, dated 10th March 1897, and 7147, dated 28th September 1897.

† The Government of India have directed in their Resolution in the Revenue and Agricultural Department, No. 15-52-6, dated 23rd May 1895, that the statements of additions to the open mileage of railways should be forwarded to the Director General of Statistics.

‡ Not printed.

15. The forms of Statements II and III do not require alteration except that, in the case of the Madras Presidency, it has been arranged that the five sea-port towns of which the rail-borne trade is returned, shall follow each other consecutively instead of being separated as in the present form.

16. Statement I should be modified so as to exhibit the imports from and exports to external blocks, and in the case of the maritime provinces (Madras, Bombay, Sind and Bengal) also the trade between a province and its chief town. Comparative figures for two years as at present given in the Provincial returns are not required for the Imperial returns.

† These will be blank.

* These should also be filled in so as to show the trade between the Presidency and its sea-ports.

This form, which has been devised so as to facilitate and expedite the compilation of the Imperial return, gives, in the case of maritime provinces, (1) the total trade of a province excluding its chief sea-port town (sea-ports in the case of Madras) with external blocks, (2) the trade of the chief sea-port town with external blocks, and (3) the trade between a province and its chief sea-port town. At present (1) is not totalled in any Statement and (3) finds place in Statement III. The trade of the five sea-ports of the Madras Presidency with one another will, of course, not be included in this return.

Statement III will continue to show as part of the internal trade of a province the trade of the chief sea-port town with the other internal blocks.

18. External blocks should invariably be entered in the following order in Returns I and II, and in those prepared by Railway Audit Offices :—

Order of external blocks.

British Provinces (excluding chief sea-port towns).

It is important that this order should be observed to prevent the risk of errors in filling in or extracting the figures.

20. The returns will continue to be prepared

Returns to be prepared according to the official year and to be reviewed.

according to the official year ending on the 31st March and should be accompanied by a review of the figured statements. Repetition of figures should be avoided as much as possible in the review, which in addition to the following points, should chiefly notice the more important fluctuations in the trade:—

I.—Quarterly Returns—

Alterations in railway freights which may have taken place during the period under notice.

II.—Annual Returns—

- (a) Changes, if any, in registration arrangements.
- (b) Brief notice of seasons.
- (c) Prices.
- (d) Changes, if any, in railway freights.

21. Under existing orders, the quarterly and annual returns are distributed and briefly reviewed by the Department of Land Records and Agriculture or by such other authority as may be responsible for them. In future the annual report on internal trade should be dealt with in the same manner as reports on sea-borne trade, and no further review will be required from Local Governments and Administrations.

G. R. No. 4169, dated 4th June 1895.

‡ Note.—To these have since been added Vizagapatam, Coconada and Cuddalore.

22. In order to secure the early publication of the returns and reviews, the officers charged with the compilation of the returns should circulate them direct to the public and to the various Governments as soon as they are printed. It is not necessary to publish the returns and reviews in the local Gazettes. It is desirable that copies of the returns and reviews should be interchanged between Local Governments and Administrations, also between the offices charged with their compilation. The following number of copies should be forwarded to the Government of India :—

|                                        | No. of copies. |
|----------------------------------------|----------------|
| Department of Public Works ...         | 1              |
| Department of Finance and Commerce ... | 3              |
| Department of Revenue and Agriculture* | 4              |

Copies should also be forwarded to the Assistant Auditor, East Indian Railway, Jamalpore, and to the registering authorities of other railways.

23. The returns and reviews should reach the Government of India on the following dates :—

|                              |                  |
|------------------------------|------------------|
| 1st quarter ending 30th June | ... 1st October. |
| 2nd do. 30th September       | ... 1st January. |
| 3rd do. 31st December        | ... 1st April.   |
| 4th do. 31st March           | ... 1st July.    |
| Annual ...                   | ... 1st October. |

The Government of India trusts that Local Governments and Administrations will do their utmost to see that these dates are strictly observed, so that the statistics may be of immediate and practical interest to the public and to Government. In order to expedite the compilation and publication of the Imperial returns, the Government of India should be furnished in advance of these dates with a manuscript or proof copy of Statement No. 1 only of the Provincial returns (quarterly and annual), the complete statements in print being forwarded subsequently.

24. It has been ascertained that the registering offices are required to fill in different forms for the various provinces, and that this want of uniformity gives considerable trouble, and delays the tabulation of the returns. It is desired, therefore, that the following forms should be adopted :—

I.—For imports, the form† F appended. Headings have, as an illustration, been filled in for the Bombay Presidency.

* In their Resolution No. 15-52-6, dated 23rd May 1895, the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department have directed that the annual and quarterly returns of inland trade should be forwarded in future to the Director General of Statistics; and the Director General has requested in his letter No. 27-S.R., dated 18th May 1896 (G. R. No. 4482, dated 6th June 1896) that six copies of each of the quarterly and annual returns of Rail-borne trade should be sent to his office at Calcutta in addition to the copy sent in advance.

† Not printed.

II. A similar form for exports.

III. A similar form showing the trade between internal blocks.

Each of these forms should be in book-form, and the order of commodities and of provinces should be uniform. No alterations should be made in these forms without the sanction of the Government of India. Any alterations made in approved forms will be notified to all the registering offices in order to uniformity being observed in all returns issued to the various Local Governments. For the same reason, if Audit offices wish to make any changes or suggestions, they should address the Government of India through the Local Governments and Administrations concerned, or the Government of India direct if the proposal applies generally to all provinces. † These distinctions are merely made to facilitate valuation, as piece-goods packed in boxes are considerably more valuable than piece-goods sent in bales and bundles. They should be adhered to in the returns prepared in railway offices, but should not be followed in reports issued by Local Governments and Administrations, as they have served their purpose as soon as the valuation has been effected.

9. The portion of the Nizám's State Railway which lies within the Madras Presidency has been constituted a separate internal block called the Kistna-Godaveri block, and it has been arranged by the Madras Government that the trade between the Kistna-Godaveri block (Gangineni to Bezvada) and the rest of the Nizám's State Railway included in the Hyderabad block shall be registered by the Chief Accountant and Auditor, His Highness the Nizám's Guaranteed State Railway.

The registration of traffic between the Nizám's State Railway and other railways has been duly provided for in the scheme detailed in the Appendices to the Revenue and Agricultural Department circular No. 37-35-21 (Statistics), dated 23rd March 1888, but when that scheme was drawn up, the entire length of the Nizám's State Railway lay within the Hyderabad block. It is, therefore, necessary to warn registering officers of the extension and division of the railway between the Madras and Hyderabad blocks, as explained above, in order that traffic with each of the two sections may be separately registered under the general scheme. (G. I., R. & A., No. 43-11-35, dated 1st July 1889; vide G. M. No. 5121, dated 18th idem.)

It is understood that two weights are entered in the way-bills or luggage receipts, (a) gross actual weight, (b) weight charged for by the Railway. The deduction should be made from the gross actual weight which is the weight to be taken for registration. (Letter from the Director General of Statistics No. 41, dated 19th February 1896; vide G. 11. The Railway Administrations concerned should exhibit the statistics of traffic in animals in the returns of rail-borne trade.

Animals should be shown by number and value and not by weight, and under the following heads at the end of each return:—

- |                      |                               |

12. The Local Government should, on receipt from the Government of India of the quarterly statement showing additions to open mileage of railways, &c., inform all officers registering rail-borne traffic of the changes and additions necessary in the limits of internal blocks owing to the opening of new lines. (G. I., R. & A., No. 16-27-20, dated 27th June 1890; vide G. R. No. 5106, dated 21st July 1890.)

13. Coal and coke intended for railway consumption should not be distinguished from those articles when used for other purposes. The statistics of the traffic in these articles should be shown under the prescribed head 'Coal-Coke'. (G. I., R. & A., No. 1783-33-14 Stats., dated 23rd July 1890; vide G. R. No. 8890, dated 12th December 1890.)

14. Government stores should be classed in the rail-borne trade returns according to the commodities of which they consist. Where the consignments are of a miscellaneous nature, they may be entered under the appropriate miscellaneous heading, or under "All other articles of merchandise," in the trade returns. (G. I., R. & A., No. 29-27-37 Stats., dated 13th October 1890; vide G. R. No. 8026, dated 12th November 1890.)

15. Details as to the commodities of which Government stores consist should be shown in the goods invoices on all the railways, the Government consigning Departments giving the requisite information in the column "Designation and Marks" of the credit notes. In the case of ordnance stores the word "Miscellaneous" should be added to the general description "Ordnance stores" in all cases in which the exact nature is not stated. (G. Rs. Nos. 8628, dated 4th December 1890, 2325, dated 3rd April 1891, and 1025, dated 10th February 1892.)

16. The following form (in which the imports into, and exports to foreign countries from the Port of Bombay were shown in the report on the rail-borne trade of Bombay for 1889-90) or one similar to it should be adopted for the annual inland trade-review in exhibiting the trade of Karáchi in articles of Provincial importance :—

17. The Marmagao Castle Rock Block should be named the West India Portuguese Railway Block, and it should register the traffic passing over the West India Portuguese Railway alone. (G. R. No. 1867, dated 12th March 1891.)

18. The articles included under the heading railway plant and rolling stock should be classified in the returns of inland trade as indicated below :—

- (1) Locomotives, engines and tenders, and parts thereof.
- (2) Carriages and trucks and parts thereof.
- (3) Materials—
  - (a) Steel rails and fish-plates.
  - (b) Sleepers and keys of steel and cast iron.
  - (c) Other sorts.

(G. I., R. & A., No. 55-94, dated 9th September 1893; vide G. R. No. 7165, dated 2nd October 1893.)

19. The values assigned in the returns are calculated by the Provincial authorities concerned from the average prices ruling at some of the chief trading centres. The system of obtaining the figures of prices seems to be somewhat different in different places. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Provincial Department of Agriculture entertains a special agency which ascertains for articles of variable value (such as raw produce) the prices ruling at the end of each fortnight. On these fortnightly returns an average is struck every quarter, and on the quarterly averages the annual average is calculated. For articles the value of which is less variable, uniform prices for the year or half-year are fixed by local enquiry. In the Punjab figures of prices are obtained, apparently every year, from Deputy Commissioners in certain trade centres, and averages are struck for the year. In the Bombay Presidency, for rail-borne trade returns the prices are those of the recorded values of merchandise imported or exported by sea into or from the port of Bombay.

Though absolute uniformity in this matter may be impossible, one or two general principles can be laid down. For certain classes of goods, such as cotton manufactures or ammunition, the value assigned must be more or less arbitrary. But for the great bulk of raw products a fairly accurate standard of prices can be obtained from the rates ruling in the chief marts, and it is very desirable that these should be periodically ascertained by means of careful inquiries through a trustworthy agency. In the case of the former class of goods, the inquiry need not be so elaborate, but the values adopted in the different provinces should, as far as possible, be uniform, so as to render it possible to utilise them in instituting a comparison between the trade of one province and that of another. (G. I., R. & A., No. 12 Stats., dated 28th January 1884; vide G. R. No. 1968, dated 4th March 1884.)

20. The method employed in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Central Provinces for assigning values to the heads "Other kinds" of articles entered in the quarterly returns of rail-borne trade is as follows :—

(1) The price of all articles coming under each head in the list is ascertained.

(2) The comparative extent of the trade carried on in each article during the period concerned is expressed in percentages; the total trade in all the articles being considered as 100.

(3) The ascertained price and percentage of each article are multiplied together and the sum of the products is divided by 100. The quotient gives the average value for the particular head.

This plan, which appears to be the most satisfactory of which the case admits, might be adopted.

It is not in itself objectionable to leave blank lines in the list after the heads "Other kinds" in order to secure greater accuracy in the values entered against these heads, but it is not desired that the number of the details given in the list of prices which is furnished to the Government of India should be increased. (G. I., R. & A. Nos. 83 Stats.-4-32, dated 19th June 1885, and 116-4-46 Stats., dated 7th September 1885; vide G. Rs. Nos. 5769, dated 17th July 1885, and 7683, dated 23rd September 1885.)

21. With the object of securing greater uniformity in the system of valuing the articles of rail-borne trade and of placing the whole question on a more satisfactory footing the following observations are made.

In the case of the four maritime provinces* the in Sind calculate their value rates on a basis of local prices or of prices prevailing in the chief marts. The Government of Bombay obtains its rates from the invoice-values ascertained by the Custom House. This difference of principle doubtless accounts for the large discrepancies between the rates for Bombay and those of other provinces, especially in the case of European merchandise. In order to obviate these variations, it is suggested that for European merchandise exported Inland the value rates should, as is done in Bombay, be obtained from the Customs Houses, for the maritime provinces are scarcely re-exporters in a real sense as regards the bulk of the consignments of foreign merchandise sent up-country. Moreover, this method of valuation is one that entails little trouble and no expense. The value rates of exports of other articles might be based on local prices or on the prices prevailing in the chief marts, which in the case of Bombay and Sind might apparently be obtained without difficulty by the Director of Land Records and Agriculture, Bombay, through the agency which collects the fortnightly prices of food-grains, &c., and the prices given in Form III. E.I. (prices of produce) of the returns of Agricultural Statistics. The Local Governments and Administrations of other provinces (i.e., of non-maritime provinces) might continue to calculate the value of their exports on the basis of local prices.

Exporting values are referred to above, as these values only are utilized by the Government of India for the Imperial Returns.

The rates of opium are very variable owing to the monopoly rate at which Government sells the manufactured article being adopted in some provinces, while the rate paid to the cultivator for the crude product is taken in other provinces.

There are three possible prices which might be shown for opium, viz. :—

(1) the actual cost of the article as manufactured for Government ;

(2) the monopoly price, i.e., the price at which Government sells abkari opium from the Treasury in different provinces ; and

(3) the price of the chests for China.

The monopoly price varies. On the whole the Government of India is inclined to think that the actual cost of the article as manufactured for Government should be taken by all Local Governments and Administrations.

The Government of Madras has brought to notice that the valuation of the general head

Dyes and tans, grains, metals, oilseeds, &c. “Others” under the major heads noted on the margin cannot be given without considerable trouble and expense if the data are to be collected annually, as the Railway Audit Offices would have to furnish details of the trade coming under the heads “Others” in order to obtain approximate value rates in accordance with the instructions contained in the Government of India’s circulars

TRADE AND COMMERCE.]

Nos.  $\frac{83}{432}$  and  $\frac{116}{436}$  (Statistics), dated 19th June and 7th September 1885, respectively. That Government proposed that a fixed value rate should be laid down for all provinces as has been done in the case of the heading "All other articles of merchandise" for which a value rate of Rs. 3-8 was fixed in the Government of India's Circular No. 360-67-9-29 (Statistics), dated 8th December 1887. In reply the Government of India suggested that the value rates of the general heads "Others" should be ascertained and adopted once for all by the Government of Madras, and it is suggested that other Local Governments and Administrations might follow this plan also.

As regards the large differences in some articles between the minimum and maximum rates, it is suggested that the causes of these variations should be ascertained by the Directors of Departments of Land Records and Agriculture (where such Departments exist) with a view to correcting the rates if necessary. It seems advisable that there should be free correspondence between the Directors of Land Records and Agriculture regarding value rates.

In order to avoid the anomaly of an importing province showing a lower rate than that of the exporting province and such other contradictions, Local Governments and Administrations should calculate the values of their imports from British Provinces according to the value rates of exporting provinces: this would necessitate the application of different multipliers instead of the same multiplier as at present, but would entail no extra calculation.

For the trade with Native States * for which the Residents or Agents to the Governor General do not furnish separate returns, each Local Government and Administration might, as at present, assign its own value rates.

Local Governments and Administrations should, as soon as possible after the close of the year to which the annual returns relate, interchange lists of value rates so as to prevent delay in the submission and publication of the annual returns.

Another advantage in Local Governments' and Administrations applying to their imports the value rates of exporting provinces is that it would bring about a complete agreement between the Imperial and Provincial Returns. The form of the Imperial Return, as will be seen from the quarterly returns published by the Government of India, is so designed that the same figures read one way (cross-wise) mean exports, and read another way (downwards) represent imports. The exports of one province or block are thus the imports of the other provinces or blocks, and vice versa. The Provincial Returns combined present two sets of the same figures, of which one, viz. that under exports, is used for filling in the Imperial Return. In the case of the Native States, the figures under exports are also utilized, as no separate returns are furnished by these States. By this procedure the total value of the exports of each article.

from each block given in the last column but one of the Imperial Return corresponds with that given in the Provincial Returns; but this is not the case as regards the horizontal totals given under each article (i. e. when the figures are considered as imports), as these represent the total of values as given by the exporting provinces, whereas the Provincial figures represent the total of local values. The differences in these horizontal totals are very large in some cases owing to the fact that Provincial value rates are discrepant in consequence of their being calculated on different principles and to the fact that they represent the varying rates current in different provinces. If, therefore, Local Governments and Administrations apply to their imports the value rates of exporting provinces, as is done by the Government of India, there will be a complete agreement between the Imperial and Provincial Returns. It is necessary that both these returns should agree in all columns, i. e. the same statistical fact should invariably be shown in the same figures simply in order to enable the Government of India and the commercial public to handle the statistical returns.

It would facilitate calculation of values in the Provincial Returns if Local Governments and Administrations were to omit pies from the value rates, e. g. the value rate of iron in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh for 1886-87 might be taken as Rs. 5-4-0 instead of Rs. 5-3-10, the figure adopted by the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture of these provinces. (G. I., R. & A., No. 45-35-26 Stats., dated 9th May 1888; vide G. R. No. 4039, dated 20th June 1888.)

22. The scheme published in the foregoing circular of the Government of India dated 9th May 1888 has been accepted by all Local Governments and Administrations as a whole. With regard, however, to the proposal that a standard rate should be adopted for the sub-head "Others," the Director of Land Records and Agriculture, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, wrote as follows:—

"The articles, which form the bulk of trade, shown under these heads are but few; their prices differ considerably in different provinces, and in the same province they vary from year to year. It is not an uncommon thing to find a difference of 25 per cent. in their rates for two years. I would, therefore, propose that, of the articles coming under these heads, those that are most largely exported from any province may be determined once and for all by enquiries in the local markets; the prices of these should be ascertained each year and the values calculated according to the average of their prices each year."

The Government of India have no objection to this alternative plan being tried by the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, or by any other Government, as it will not interfere with the general scheme. (G. I., R. & A., No. 76-35-56 Stats., dated 29th August 1888; vide G. R. Nos. 6327, dated 19th September 1888, and 1009, dated 7th February 1889.)

23. The figures given in the subjoined statement should be adopted once for all as the value

24. It having been urged that the mode of calculating average value rates per maund suggested by the Government of India in circular No. 45-35-26 Stats., dated 9th May 1888, for European merchandize exported inland, viz., by obtaining the rates from the invoice values ascertained by the Customs House, that seems possible, is to apply once for all an arbitrary rate which might be fixed by the Local Government in communication with the Collector of Customs, and with due regard to the trade in each article coming under this head.

The Government of India have no objection if for the heading "Intoxicating drugs other than opium" the actual cost of the drugs in question as manufactured for the market is, as in the case of opium, adopted for valuation purposes. In fixing the rate, however, due regard should be given as required by the Government of India's circulars Nos. 83-4-32 and 116-4-46, dated, respectively, 19th June and 7th September 1885, to the comparative extent of the trade carried out in each article coming under this head. (G. I. R. & A., No. 72-35-47 Stats., dated 1st August 1888; vide G. R. No. 6089, dated 8th September 1888.)

25. In calculating value rates for articles entered in the Rail and River-borne Trade Returns, the value rates for the imported articles of European merchandise noted on the margin, which are subject to duty, should be inclusive of the duty levied. (G. I., R. & A., No. 8-1-4 Stats., dated 4th February 1889; vide G. R. No. 1421, dated 20th idem.)

26. The instruction that in the case of opium the actual cost of the article as manufactured for Government should be taken applies only to the provinces or blocks in which opium is cultivated for Government, viz., Bengal, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, Rájputána and Central India.

In regard to the provinces in which opium is not cultivated for Government, the price at which it is sold locally should be the factor used in calculating the value of exports, if any, the value of imports being obtained by applying the value rates of the provinces or blocks from which opium is imported.

In the case of imports of the drug from the Rájputána and Central India block, however, it will be necessary, since no returns or value rates are furnished by that block, that each Local Government should ascertain and apply the price current in the Native State from which opium is imported into its territory. (G. I., R. & A., No. 20-9-13 Stats., dated 15th March 1889; vide G. R. No. 2487, dated 30th idem.)

27. The Commissioner of Customs and the Director of Land Records and Agriculture should supply the Examiner of Guaranteed Railway Accounts with the value rates required for the rail-borne trade returns. The value rates supplied by the two officers named above should also be applied by the Examiner to the local or internal trade of the Bombay Presidency. (G. R. No. 4950, dated 24th July 1888.)

28. The Director of Land Records and Agriculture should make the necessary arrangements for the regular and punctual supply to the Collector of Customs, Karáchi, of lists of value rates required to be published with the Sind Returns. (G. R. No. 7316, dated 15th October 1890.)

29. The authorized railway maund in which the weights of all rail-borne goods are, it is understood, exhibited in the Inland Trade Returns has been declared to be equivalent to 82½th lbs. Care should be taken to reduce all value rates to this standard in preparing the published schedule of rates and in working out the values of goods shown in the returns. (G. I., R. & A., No. 32-38-7, dated 20th October 1890; vide G. R. No. 8191, dated 19th November 1890.)

30. The following rules should be observed in all provinces for the calculation of value rates assigned to articles in the Inland Trade Returns;—

- (1) The values should be based on wholesale prices, not retail.

- (2) The values fixed for the quarterly returns may be the average of weekly or other periodical price quotations, or may be the average of prices prevailing on different dates during the period of active sale (as prescribed for the agricultural statistics returns in Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, circular No. 5-52, dated 2nd March 1892), but should not be the prices prevailing merely on a single date.
- (3) The values fixed for the annual returns may be taken as one-fourth of the sum of the values fixed for the quarterly returns.
- (4) The marts, of which the prices are adopted, though they should be as representative as possible, need not exceed 3 or 4 in each province. (G. I., R. & A., No. 31-67, dated 13th June 1893; vide G. R. No. 5244, dated 20th July 1893.)

31. The value rates for articles of imports being now taken by each importing province from the schedules furnished by the exporting provinces, corrections of rates necessarily entail alterations in the whole series of Provincial returns and cause much inconvenience and delay. The schedules of rates should, therefore, be prepared after such careful calculation as will render subsequent revisions unnecessary. When a revision of the rates is unavoidable, the corrections rendered necessary in the figures representing value of goods in the returns of the province concerned should be circulated in the form of a list of errata to the officers, including those of the Government of India, to whom the returns have been supplied. (G. I., R. & A., No. 79-10-26, dated 31st October 1889; vide G. R. No. 8944, dated 26th November 1889.)

32. The utility of the Returns of Inland Trade depends in great measure on the care and accuracy with which the value rates are calculated; and though in some instances it may be difficult or impossible with the means available to obtain exact figures, no pains should be spared to render the statistics of value as correct as circumstances permit. (G. I., R. & A., No. 12-83-1 Stats., dated 19th February 1890; vide G. R. No. 2703, dated 21st April 1890.)

33. Values may be omitted from the quarterly returns, provided a table is appended to the return for the last quarter of the year under report, showing the value rates per maund for the whole year. Values should, however, be entered in the annual returns, to which should also be appended a table of value rates. (G. I., R. & A., No. 37-35-21, dated 23rd March 1888; vide G. R. No. 2036, dated 29th idem.)

34. A table of value rates for the quarter should be appended to each quarterly return of the rail-borne trade, and a similar table for the whole year should also accompany the returns for the last quarter, as required by paragraph 19 of the Government of India's circular No. 37-35-21 Stats., dated 23rd March 1888. (G. I., R. & A., No. 42-35-25, dated 5th May 1888; vide G. R. No. 3823, dated 11th June 1888.)

35. A monthly statement showing the quantity of wheat, linseed and cotton imported by rail into Bombay port from each external block, and from the internal blocks of the Bombay Presidency, should be supplied by the Examiner of Railway Accounts direct to the Government of India* within six weeks from the close of the month to which it relates. The month dealt with in the statement will not be the calendar month, but a period of certain entire weeks, the traffic of a fraction of a week at the end of each month being included in that for the next month, except at the end of each half year. (G. I., R. & A., No. 420-10-18, dated 7th September 1889; vide G. R. No. 7165, dated 24th idem, and G. M. No. 7972, dated 21st October 1889.)

36. In the monthly returns of wheat, linseed, &c., imported by rail into Calcutta, Bombay, and Karachi it appears desirable to include also the imports by sea and coast. But as such receipts by ports other than Bombay are insignificant, the return may be confined to the port of Bombay, and published in the local Government Gazette as a local return under the signature of the Director of Land Records and Agriculture, the Imperial return published by the Government of India remaining unaltered. (G. R. No. 8023, dated 12th November 1890.)

37. The Chamber of Commerce, Bombay, having represented that it would add to the usefulness of the monthly statements of the imports of cotton, wheat, linseed and indigo into the city of Bombay by rail, the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Akkari should send monthly to the Director General of Statistics a return in the subjoined form. The return should be sent to Calcutta so as to reach the Director-General's office within thirty days from the end of the month to which it relates. It should be furnished as early as possible before publication in the Bombay Government Gazette :—

*Under later instructions (vide G. I., R. & A., No. 15-52-6, dated 23rd May 1895; G. R. No. 4678, dated 21st June 1895) these returns are to be forwarded to the Director General of Statistics.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.]

(Letters from the Director General of Statistics, Nos. 18-S. R., dated 29th April 1896, and 35-S. R., dated 6th July 1896; vide G. Rs. Nos. 4123, dated 25th May 1896, and 5736, dated 23rd July 1896.)

38. Statistics of indigo imported into the ports of Bombay and Karachi should be furnished for incorporation in the monthly statement of imports by rail into the chief seaport towns published by the Government of India. (G. R. No. 3400, dated 18th May 1891.)

39. Figures for poppy-seed, castor-seed, and ground-nuts instead of being lumped under the heading of "Other oil-seeds" should be shown separately in the monthly return of "Imports into Bombay" part of important exportable produce" published in the Bombay Government Gazette under the signature of the Director of Land Records and Agriculture. This monthly return should be made up in maunds reduced to the hundredweight unit, the returns furnished by the Director continuing to be in upits of maunds. (G. R. No. 6912, dated 30th August 1892.)

40. The cost of collecting and tabulating the rail-borne trade statistics will be settled by Local Governments and Administrations in communication with each other, as the charge is now a provincial one. The Government of India anticipates that there will be little or no increase in the total expenditure now incurred in collecting and tabulating the rail-borne statistics of India, while the introduction of uniformity and proper concentration throughout India in the system of registering and tabulating of statistics will, it is expected, diminish considerably the work now performed by registering offices, and will do away with the necessity for the constant references which result from the present system. (G. I., R. & A., No. 37 Stats. 35-21, dated 23rd March 1888; vide G. R. No. 2036, dated 29th idem.)

41. The charge of registering and tabulating in the East Indian Railway Audit Office at Jamalpur the statistics of traffic on the line and returning them to the Local Governments and Administrations concerned should be met rateably from Provincial Revenues by the Local Governments and Administrations to whom the Company furnishes the statistics. The Chief Auditor of the Company will settle in direct communication with Local Governments the portion of the charges debitable to each, and will, for this purpose, supply each Local Government with a memorandum showing what charges are incurred, what returns are furnished, to whom they are furnished, and the rateable distribution of charges which should, in his opinion, be made. (G. I., R. & A., No. 11-47-4 S., dated 10th June 1890; vide G. R. No. 5054, dated 19th July 1890.)

42. In the returns of the rail-borne trade, the actual weight of the consignment and not the weight charged for by the Railway should be exhibited, the weight of packing being deducted in accordance with the rates of deductions prescribed in the Resolution of the Government of India No. 37-35-21, dated 23rd March 1888. (Letter from the Director General of Statistics, No. 38, dated 13th February 1896; vide G. R. No. 1958, dated 3rd March 1896.)

C.—ROAD AND RIVER-BORNE TRADE.

1. It should be carefully impressed upon all the local authorities that all registering posts, the trade of which is insignificant, should be dispensed with, and that no posts should be established except upon real trade routes. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1563, dated 7th July 1881; vide G. R. No. 4277, dated 23rd idem.)

2: There is no objection to the issue of passes by the kárkúns employed in Kánara to register the land trade of the Presidency in respect of arecanut, pepper and coffee passing across the frontier into Mysore territory. The passes will contain particulars of the consignments covered by them as dictated by the persons in charge, and will not be of any special validity as to the correctness of the particulars contained in them. The District Officers of Kánara should be watchful to prevent the nákádárs from making the issue of these passes a cover for the levy of blackmail on the carriers of goods passing their nákás. (G. R. No. 5333, dated 9th August 1882.)

3. In the Resolution of the 20th September 1878 (No. 9) the Government of India, in supersession of previous orders and arrangements, laid down that future reports and returns of the internal trade statistics, so far as its needs were concerned, should be confined to—

I.—Trade with neighbouring Native States.

II.—Trade along the chief routes, i.e., along main rivers, roads, and railways.

III.—Trade of large towns and commercial centres.

These orders received the approval of the Secretary of State in His Lordship's despatch No. 193, dated the 14th November 1878.

In the course of arrangements which ensued with Local Governments, it was recognised that the trade by railways was much larger than that carried by rivers and roads; that the statistics available in the Audit Offices were positive and certain; and that while the former (railway-borne trade) was of Imperial importance, it might be left to Local Governments to register the latter (river and road-borne) in any way they chose for provincial purposes. In this view greater stress was laid by the Government of India on the registration of railway-borne trade. But in some provinces, as, for instance, in the Bombay and Madras Presidencies, the trade crossing the frontiers by road was considered of sufficient importance to form part of the registration scheme, while in Bengal, Assam, and the Punjab, the trade by river on the Ganges, Brahmaputra, and Indus was intimately connected with the railway-borne trade of those provinces. Under these circumstances, the Government of India, in 1880 and 1881, sanctioned the registration of trade by road across the borders of the Bombay Presidency at the following points:—

TRADE AND COMMERCE.]

at an annual cost of Rs. 22,332 from Imperial revenues, while in Bengal and the Punjab arrangements were made to effect river-borne trade registration conjointly with the registration of trade by railway. The trade of large towns is registered separately, but forms an integral part of the scheme.

These arrangements the Government of India does not wish to disturb.

The registration of road traffic is, as already stated, a subject of Provincial, rather than Imperial, importance, and it is for Local Governments to decide how it should be dealt with. In some provinces a small moveable staff is maintained for the purpose of temporarily registering the traffic on any roads for which the information is specially required for public works or other purposes. In others, the road traffic between British territory and adjoining Native States is of sufficient importance to be continuously registered, while the registration of inter-provincial road traffic (i.e., between British provinces) has been generally discontinued. The utility of the first expedient is obvious, and the second is in conformity with a request from the Secretary of State. The discontinuance of the third is due partly to considerations of expense, and partly to the belief that the ascertainment of inter-provincial trade is unnecessary. It has, however, been urged on the Government of India that, as the rail-borne trade of each province with other British provinces is already registered, it is important to supplement this with some knowledge of the inter-provincial road traffic, and that this knowledge might be easily obtained by periodically registering this traffic on the main roads by means of a small moveable establishment. It would not be necessary to maintain registering posts simultaneously on all the roads, but merely to bring the traffic of each main road leading from one province to another under registration at intervals of five or ten years. A recommendation to this effect has been made to the Government of India by the Statistical Conference, and it seems one which might be carried out in most provinces with very little expense and trouble. (G. I.; R. & A., No. 12 Stats., dated 28th January 1884; vide G. R. No. 1968, dated 4th March 1884.)

4. The Government of India consider that the question as to the extent to which cart traffic is affected by railways is one that may properly engage attention in any system of road registration that may be adopted in any province. (G. I., R. & A., No. 62 Stats., dated 28th May 1884; vide G. R. No. 4983, dated 20th June 1884.)

5. The system of making deductions from gross weights of consignments according to the fixed authorised scale with a view to arrive at the net weights should be applied to the registration of the road-borne traffic in the Presidency proper as well as in Sind. The deductions should be made only when the gross weight is ascertained by weighment, or from invoices or other papers, and not when information regarding net weights is as easily procurable and as likely to be accurate as information regarding gross weights. (G. Rs. Nos. 2713, dated 29th March, 1897, dated 18th June, and 6919, dated 28th August 1884.)

6. The Government of India thinks it desirable in connection with the registration of road-borne traffic, to invite prominent attention to the main object which it has throughout had in view, that, namely, of securing information as to trade routes of all kinds, whether lying wholly within the boundary of one province or passing from one province to another. This information it is eminently desirable that the Government of India should possess; as it affords practically the only available means of ascertaining the desirability of making and subsidising local lines of railway or of improving road communications, and of deciding which of two or more rival routes is the more worthy of support.

There is some reason to apprehend that the prominence given in the Resolution of the Government of India No. 12 (Statistics), dated 28th January 1884, to the registration of "inter-provincial" traffic, i.e., the traffic between one province and another, has led to the importance of ascertaining the course of "internal traffic," i.e., traffic within the province being overlooked. In regard to the latter subject, the peripatetic establishments suggested in the Resolution of the 28th January 1884 are calculated to be of special utility, and the Government of India will therefore be glad if Local Governments and Administrations can consider the advisability of maintaining such establishments where necessary, or of employing from time to time in the registration of internal traffic some portion of the establishments already sanctioned for the registration of inter-provincial trade. It must be borne in mind that, though it would be desirable, if feasible without much expense, the continuous registration of local traffic either internal or inter-provincial along the same routes year after year is by no means essential, and that a very fair idea of the use made of the different trade routes of the province can be gained by the occasional or periodical registration of the trade passing over them.

The Government of India has no desire to impose on Local Governments the burden of compiling returns of road traffic, and would therefore suggest to the Local Governments and Administrations, which have been or are likely to be in a position to undertake road registration, that a statement of the roads, the traffic of which has been tested, should be included in the quarterly or annual reports on the rail-borne trade, with the addition of any results that may be considered worthy of notice or record. The Government of India will at the same time be glad to receive copies of any returns that may be collected by the Local Governments and Administrations concerned. (G. I., R. & A., No. 69-11-9 Stats., dated 16th May 1885; vide G. M. No. 4865, dated 15th June 1885).

7. The permanent registration of road traffic between the Bombay Presidency and the Native States should be discontinued, and the amount of such traffic should be roughly gauged from time to time by the accurate registration by a well-trained moveable establishment of the traffic along important trade routes, the latter being selected with special reference to the requirements for statistics of the Public Works Department. The diversity of languages spoken in the Bombay Presidency will no doubt introduce an element of difficulty into the registration by a single moveable establishment of the traffic of the entire Presidency, but it seems probable that by careful selection an establishment might be formed capable of working in two if not in all three tracts in which differences of language divide the Presidency. (G. I., R. & A., No. 180S.-18-7, dated 30th April 1886; vide G. R. No. 4353, dated 18th June 1886.)

8. By circular No.  $\frac{29-8}{8-3}$  of 4th March 1884, the Government of India suggested the procedure which it desired to be followed, as far as circumstances permit, by the Local Governments for the collection of information for railway purposes, and annual statements of the various railway projects have been furnished to the provinces concerned, on the understanding that the routes mentioned would be reported on by the Agricultural or other Department specially entrusted with the collection of trade statistics. The Government of India is however but imperfectly aware of the extent to which action has been taken or the desired information supplied by the provinces.

2. The orders of the Secretary of State in his Despatch No. 73 of 10th December 1874, which required the registration of "trade along the chief routes in the provinces of British Territory," were made the basis of the scheme, and it was developed at the conference of 1876 and in subsequent orders and communications. In order to secure the object required by the Secretary of State, registration of trade was divided into two sections:—

- (1) Registration of traffic on railways and rivers by the agency of the Audit Offices of Railway and Steamer Companies.
- (2) Registration on the principal roads and rivers in each province in respect to which that agency is not available.

Regarding general measures required for the registration of traffic of the second class the Government of India has issued instructions from time to time.

3. The general scheme involved the maintenance of a trained moveable establishment, available not only for the ordinary registration of traffic along the various roads and rivers of the province, but for the supply of information required specially for Railway purposes from time to time. Special injunctions were given that traffic within the province should receive as full and careful attention as the inter-provincial traffic.

4. The provinces were also asked to make special mention of road traffic in their reports on Internal Trade. But with occasional exceptions the subject has been noticed in these reports either very slightly or not at all.

5. It is to the registration of road and river traffic that the Government of India now desires to call special attention. The great importance of all information relating to the flow of trade and the resources of the tracts connected by the principal trade routes is obvious, especially for the promotion of railway enterprise in which private capital is engaged. Much information on this subject may be found in Gazetteers, Settlement reports and other records of Government, which might with advantage be reproduced in a form easily accessible to the public. Statistics should be collected not merely, as is generally the case, for a season or two which may be good or bad, but for a number of years, representative of the average capacities of the tract concerned. In case of famine, moreover, these statistics would furnish useful information regarding the sources from and the routes by which affected districts are likely to draw their supply of food.

6. With the object therefore of securing a closer adherence to the programme already prescribed, as well as for the attainment of the other objects mentioned above, the following general instructions are issued.

7. The Provincial Department in charge of the statistics of Internal Trade, preferably the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, should be required to draw up a systematic working-plan for the collection of all statistics of road and river traffic under orders of the Provincial Government and in communication with its Public Works Department. Such a plan would include arrangements for the maintenance of a properly trained permanent staff, which would render unnecessary the employment of inexperienced agency.

8. In framing the plan, attention should be given, in the first place, to the probable requirements of the Public Works Department for information in connection with railway enterprise; and in the next, to the special registration of any considerable or important branches of inter-provincial traffic which escape record by the existing rail or river agencies.

9. Full information should be given in the annual reports on Inland Trade regarding the employment of the trained staff, and the information which it has collected, either for general purposes or in compliance with requisitions for the Public Works Department.

10. In dealing with the latter class of cases the following rules of procedure are laid down :—

(a) As soon as it becomes probable in the opinion of the Public Works Department that a new line of railway will be constructed, intimation will be given to the Department of Revenue and Agriculture, which will then communicate with Local Governments with the view of their obtaining through their Departments of Agriculture information regarding the route it should follow. It is preferable that separate intimation should be given in each case, as by this means a longer notice will be secured than by an annual statement.

(b) In each case a sketch map and any papers showing the considerations upon which the construction of a railway along the proposed route is advocated and the particular advantages which it is expected to secure, will be supplied to the Local Governments for transmission to their respective Departments of Land Records and Agriculture.

(c) If there are any special points to which it is desirable that investigation should be directed, these will be stated in forwarding the requisition.

(d) In addition to any special information called for, the first report on each project should embody information on the following points:—

(i) the area and population of the tract likely to be benefited by the railway; (ii) the pressure of population on the soil and the probable utility of the railway in relieving congestion, if it exists, or of opening up waste lands in thinly populated areas; (iii) the agricultural products of the tract, its capacity as an exporter or importer, and the probable effect of the railway on agricultural prices and rents; (iv) the liability of the tract to famine and the utility of the railway as a protective work; (v) the mineral and timber resources, if any, of the tract; (vi) the general character and extent of the import and export trade, and of the manufactures of the tract, especially in the seaports, if any, and principal towns; (vii) the possible effects of the projected railway on existing industries and trade routes, whether by road, river or sea; (viii) the prospects of a profitable passenger traffic with reference to the character of the inhabitants, the existence of places of pilgrimage, fairs, &c., and (ix) particulars regarding the wages of ordinary and unskilled labour in illustration of the condition of the bulk of the population.

(e) The information thus collected will be presented to the public in a suitable form, and measures will be taken to bring it up to date from time to time.

(f) When the survey of a line has been resolved on, or at such later stages as may appear desirable and upon fresh requisition of the Imperial Public Works Department, the Government of India will call for such supplementary and special information as may be required.

(g) In each case the Public Works Department will fix approximately the date by which the report is required, and the report will be submitted to the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department, which will forward it together with such additional information and expression of opinion as may be desirable to the Public Works Department. The date so fixed will allow sufficient time to enable Local Governments to establish special registering posts for the purpose of securing statistics fairly representative of the trade of the tract throughout the year. These statistics, combined with those collected under (d), should be so presented as to afford as complete an indication as possible of the capacity of the line for the service of through traffic to and from other provinces of the empire and the principal seaports. (G. I., R. & A., No. 18-32-5 S., dated 9th July 1890; vide G. R. No. 5803, dated 18th August 1890.)

9. The suggestions made by the Government of India in their following letter No. 518-57-3 Stats., dated 5th June 1890, relative to the accurate preparation of statistics of trade between Sind and the Punjab are being carried out since 1st April 1890:—

“In reviewing the Rail and River-borne Trade returns, it has been found that, owing to the manner in which the Indus river traffic is at present dealt with, the trade of Sind and the port of Karáchi with the Punjab is not correctly represented in the Imperial statements. This river traffic constitutes a large proportion of the total trade of Sind. In 1888-89 it was valued at 96 lákhs as compared with 447 lákhs, the value of the rail-borne traffic. In the Imperial returns the rail traffic and river-borne traffic are amalgamated, but the latter appears under the head of trade between Sind, excluding Karáchi and the Punjab. There is good reason to believe, however, that a considerable portion of the produce despatched from the Punjab via the Indus takes the rail at Sukkur and Kotri for Karáchi for export by sea, and conversely, that many of the goods which are imported by sea into Karáchi, and thence despatched by rail to Sukkur and Kotri, there take the river for the Punjab. If, therefore, the river trade were correctly classified, all these transactions would appear as trade with Karáchi and not with Sind.

“2. The result of the present system is that not only is the apparent trade of the Punjab with Karáchi less, and the trade with Sind as distinct from Karáchi greater, than it actually is, but that the trade between Sind and its port, as returned, includes all the Punjab exports which take the rail at Sukkur and Kotri for Karáchi. Some of the difficulties and inaccuracies resulting from this imperfect classification and duplication of figures will be found referred to at pages 15, 21 and 36 of the Review of the Inland Trade of 1888-89. The case of the wheat trade affords a striking example of the necessity for altering the present system of double registration. In 1887-88, 358,097 maunds of wheat were registered as sent by river from the Punjab into Sind, and 591,103 maunds as sent by rail from Sind to Karáchi. Of the latter 316,365 maunds were despatched from Sukkur and Kotri to the port. This latter consignment, there is good reason to believe, consisted of Punjab wheat floated down the Indus as far only as Sukkur and Kotri for conveyance thence by rail to Karáchi. Three lákhs of maunds of wheat therefore appeared twice over in the returns, and in both instances wrongly classed—once as an export from Punjab to Sind, and again as an export from Sind to Karáchi.

“3. The Government of India is desirous that early measures should be taken to correct the defects referred to, and I am instructed to make the following suggestions for the consideration of the Government of Bombay, and to request that, if no objection is found to them, they may be adopted—in compiling the Sind returns with effect from the commencement of the current official year, viz., 1st April 1890.

"4. The first step necessary is to bring the Provincial returns into correspondence with the Imperial statements, and for this purpose the quarterly and annual return No. I of the prescribed forms should show the traffic by both rail and river. The enclosed forms* are suggested for adoption. The next point to be considered is the separation of the Indus traffic into trade with Sind and trade with Karáchi. As at present advised, the Government of India is inclined to the opinion that it is impossible without an entire change in the existing system of registration to determine with exactitude what quantity of the Punjab goods which take the rail after a journey down the Indus, actually goes to Karáchi. But it is believed that upon the existing system results may be attained which, though approximate only, will represent the facts far more closely than at present.

"5. It is inferred from the previous correspondence on the subject, of which copies were forwarded with my letter No. 42-10-4 (Statistics), dated 8th April last, that very little of the downward river traffic goes below Kotri and Sukkur, and that so much of it as is intended for Karáchi takes the rail at these stations and is despatched direct to the port town. I am directed to recommend to His Excellency the Governor in Council the following rules, which are framed in pursuance of the above inference. Their application is illustrated by exemplar entries and detailed explanations in the forms* enclosed. Similar instructions have been communicated to the Punjab Government.

I.—When the imports by river from Punjab exceed the imports by rail from Sukkur and Kotri into Karáchi—class the latter as imports from Punjab into Karáchi, and the difference as imports from Punjab into Sind.

Under trade between Sind and Karáchi by rail exclude the exports from Sukkur and Kotri to Karáchi and enter the remainder.

II.—When the imports by rail from Sukkur and Kotri into Karáchi exceed the imports by river from Punjab—class the latter as imports from Punjab into Karáchi, and the difference plus the exports from other stations in Sind to Karáchi as trade between Sind and Karáchi.

III.—When the exports by rail from Karáchi to Sukkur and Kotri exceed the exports by river to Punjab—class the latter as exports from Karáchi to Punjab, and the difference plus the exports from Karáchi to Sind (excluding Sukkur and Kotri) as trade between Sind and Karáchi.

IV.—When exports by river to Punjab exceed the exports by rail from Karáchi to Sukkur and Kotri—class the latter as exports from Karáchi to Punjab, and the difference as exports from Sind to Punjab.

Under trade between Sind and Karáchi by rail exclude the exports from Karáchi to Sukkur and Kotri and enter the remainder.

"6. To admit of the calculations required by the foregoing rules, it is necessary that the trade of Karáchi with Kotri and Sukkur and the rest of Sind, and vice versa, should be separately registered. The necessary instructions on the subject have been issued, and I am to enclose a copy for Office memorandum† to Public Works Department,

No. 516 Stats., dated 5th
June 1890.

* Not printed.

† "The undersigned is directed to state that it has been found that the greater portion of the traffic between Sind and the Punjab by the River Indus takes or leaves the railway at Sukkur and Kotri, and in order to classify this traffic correctly it is desirable that the trade by rail between Karáchi and the information of the Government of Bombay. The statement of Sukkur and Kotri trade with Karáchi received from the Examiner of Accounts, Lahore, under these instructions, and the return of Indus traffic which the Conservator and Registrar, River Indus, will be instructed to furnish to the Collector of Customs, Karáchi, should be printed as appendices in the quarterly and annual inland trade returns of Sind. I am also to request that an explanation may be given in each annual report of the system on which the Indus traffic figures are classed under the respective headings of trade with Karáchi and trade with Sind.

"7. The Government of India is aware that the amplification of Statement I, and the application of necessary corrections to the river statistics therein exhibited, cannot be effected without some additional labour. But in view of the increasing importance of the registration of the internal trade of the country the Government of Bombay will, it is trusted, recognize the desirability of carrying into effect additional improvements which are essential for the accurate and comprehensive exhibition of these statistics."

(G. I., R. & A., No. 518-57-3, dated 5th June 1890; vide G. R. No. 5557, dated 9th August 1890.)

10. Although the Resolution of the Government of India, No. 37-35-21, dated 23rd March 1888, dealt exclusively with the registration and review of rail-borne trade, it was not intended to cancel or supersede the instructions contained in Resolution No. 69, dated 16th May 1885, on the subject of road traffic. The annual Inland Trade Report should, in addition to a review of the rail-borne trade, comprise a sufficient review of the measures taken for the registration of inland trade by other channels of communication and of the principal statistics collected. (G. I., R. & A., No. 27-81, dated 5th July 1892; vide G. R. No. 6135, dated 28th idem.)

D.—SEA-BORNE TRADE.

1. Monthly statements showing the quantity and value of all cotton exported from the several ports in the Bombay Presidency and specifying the places to which the cotton was shipped, should be furnished to Government. The statements should be prepared and transmitted as soon as possible after the close of each month, and should include information as regards the external foreign trade only. The quantity of cotton should be shown in pounds which should be totalled and this total should also be converted into candies. (G. R.

Sukkur and Kotri should be registered separately from the traffic between Karáchi and other stations in Sind. The undersigned is accordingly to request the favour of instructions being issued to the Examiner of Accounts, North-Western Railway, to register the trade of Sind with Karáchi, with effect from the 1st of April 1890, under the following heads:—

- (a) Imports from Karáchi into (1) Sind, excluding Sukkur and Kotri,
(2) Sukkur and Kotri.
- (b) Exports to Karáchi from (1) Sind, excluding Sukkur and Kotri,
(2) Sukkur and Kotri.

"2. The statistics should be furnished quarterly and annually to the Financial Commissioner, Punjab, and the Collector of Customs, Karáchi, in Form† II herewith enclosed. In Form† I, (also enclosed), which it is understood is already furnished by the Examiner to the Collector of Customs, Karáchi, the entries showing the trade between Karáchi and the rest of Sind should be left blank, as they will be filled in Form II by the Collector of Customs, Karáchi, under instructions which have been issued to that officer."

No: 765, dated 10th March 1863, and G. Ls. Nos. 961 and 962, dated 24th March 1863, and 1282 and 1283, dated 22nd April 1863.)

2. The Commissioner in Sind should submit monthly returns showing the export of wheat from the ports in Sind to Foreign External and Foreign Indian Ports. (G. M. No. 5207, dated 12th September 1876.)

3. The several Customs Houses should submit to the Chief Customs authority in each Presidency or Province monthly returns of the sea-borne trade and navigation for their respective ports, for consolidation in a monthly return for that Presidency or Province. The Commissioner of Customs should forward direct a copy of this consolidated monthly return to the Government of India for further consolidation in a General Monthly Return of Trade and Navigation for India, which will be published for general information in the Gazette of India. (G. I., F. D., No. 3138, dated 25th October 1865; vide G. R., F. D., No. 1034, dated 12th December 1865.)

4. The Commissioner in Sind and the Commissioner of Customs should arrange to submit to the Government of India the Monthly Returns of Trade and Navigation for the ports within their respective charges within three weeks of the expiry of the period to which they relate. It is neither necessary nor desirable that the whole of the forms should be despatched on the same date. Each form should be despatched directly it is ready. In transmitting the returns in instalments as ready those of the foreign trade and shipping should, if practicable, be first posted and the despatch of the duplicate set of returns may be postponed until all the originals have been posted if any time can be saved by this arrangement.

Great care should be exercised in the preparation of the returns. It is essential that all corrections which may be found necessary should be carried out locally, and that they should be reported in the prescribed errata statements; in order that the compilations of the Government of India may be revised; but a great proportion of the very serious labour involved in carrying out the numerous revisions hitherto found requisite would most probably be rendered unnecessary if due attention were paid to the correct preparation of the returns in the first instance. (G. I., R., A. & C., Nos. C 29-32, dated 25th April, 422-C.-425-C., dated 4th October, and 612, dated 9th December 1876, and G. I., F. & C., No. 1112, dated 20th May 1884; vide G. R. Nos. 279, dated 8th May 1876, 5897, dated 16th October 1876, 7459, dated 19th December 1876, and 4565, dated 6th June 1884.)

5. The officers concerned should use their best endeavours in submitting the returns to the Government of India before the prescribed time, and in case of any delay occurring in the submission of the returns by the prescribed date, a report should be immediately made to Government with an explanation of the cause of such delay. (G. R. No. 2790, dated 8th May 1876.)

6. The Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium, and A'bkari and the Commissioner in Sind should forward the monthly returns of the sea-borne trade of their respective charges direct to the Superintendent, Government Central Press, for publication in the Government Gazette. The Superintendent should arrange to publish them in the Government Gazette as soon as possible after the date of receipt and should furnish the Revenue Department of the Secretariat with two copies of each of the returns as published. (G. R. No. 1746, dated 28th February 1885.)

7. Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India having had under his consideration the subject of improving the form in which the monthly and annual accounts of the Trade and Navigation of the several provinces of British India were rendered, a Committee of experienced gentlemen was appointed in England by His Lordship to advise in the matter.

On some of the points raised by the Committee's report, immediate action seemed possible and desirable, and in regard to these the Government of India addressed the Government of Bombay as follows:—

"2. In the Secretary of State's despatch on the subject, His Lordship remarks:—

" 'It is most desirable that, as far as it can be arranged, the Trade Returns of India should be prepared in a form which will admit of ready comparison with those of the United Kingdom. On this point I would draw your attention to the remarks of the Committee as to the countries and the denomination of articles.'

" The remarks of the Committee are as follows:—

" '10. In Table 3 of the Indian statement the trade with Europe is thus summarised:—

|                              |                            |
|------------------------------|----------------------------|
| United Kingdom.              | Germany.                   |
| Suez (trade being European). | Mediterranean Ports.       |
| France.                      | Other countries in Europe. |

In a foot-note to table 19, the distribution of the merchandise among the 'other countries' is shown, but there is no detailed account of the treasure.

" '11. We are strongly of opinion that the heading of "Suez," as applicable to goods which are in transit between India and Europe, should be abandoned, and that the whole of the trade should be classed under the country to or from which it is sent. A return of the aggregate trade passing through the Suez Canal might, however, be kept up, if convenient.'

" '12. The title of "Mediterranean ports" is a very disturbing one in the classification; it includes Genoa, Venice, Ancona, Brindisi, and Sicily which should be combined under Italy,—Trieste, which should come under Austria,—Malta, which should be placed by itself (all these belonging to Europe,—Alexandria, which falls under Egypt and is African,—and Smyrna and Beyrout, which should be ranged under Turkey in Asia. It is a question whether trade which is known to be intended for an inland country (as Switzerland) should be entered under that country, or under the one to which belongs the port of disembarkation: we recommend the latter course as the least likely to lead to confusion.

“ 13. There would be some advantage if the table furnished by the Government of India for the chief countries were to specify the port to or from which the trade is conveyed, as is done in the reports of the local Governments with regard to Germany and the Mediterranean ports. Thus France might be sub-divided into Bordeaux, Havre, Marseilles, &c.; Italy into Ancona, Brindisi, Genoa, Naples, Palermo, Venice, &c. We would not, however, recommend this unless the local Governments already receive the information, as, if not otherwise collected in such detail, its preparation would involve much greater expense and delay than it would be worth. In any case we should not consider it necessary to publish information of so detailed a character, though it would occasionally be very useful for reference in this office. Nor do we think it essential to sub-divide the United Kingdom, seeing that in that case the most complete details can be readily obtained from the Board of Trade.

“ 14. Among the remaining countries we find irregularity in the classification adopted in the reports of the local Administrations. In Africa, the Cape of Good Hope should include the trade with port Elizabeth; the Eastern Coast would comprise the seaboard between Natal and Abyssinia, which last-named country should be separately shown if any trade with it is recorded; Egypt would include Alexandria and Port Said, and Suez, so far as the traffic is of a local character. In the forms prepared we have thrown the West Indies into one column, but in the returns compiled by the Government of India it might be well that the trade with the several islands should be separately shown, as suggested in regard to the chief ports in Europe. That with Aden is, we think, rightly treated as foreign trade, although it is a British Indian possession. The trade with the Andaman and Nicobar Islands should be treated as interportal like that between Madras and British Burma. We would not class the trade with Cutch, Pondicherry, Goa, Travancore, and other places on the seaboard of India, as foreign, but would have it treated as coasting or interportal, showing it, however, distinct from the British Indian coasting trade in the returns, as provided for in Forms 5, 6, 13, and 14. The commerce with China is of so important a character, that we would specify separately what portion goes to the British colony of Hongkong, and what to the Treaty ports. The trade now entered under the titles of Persian Gulf and Red Sea should be divided into Persia, Arabia (sub-divided into the territories of the Imám of Maskat and the other States as is done in the trade statement of the United Kingdom), Egypt, and Abyssinia. Under Siam should be included the trade from British Burma with the island of Junk, Ceylon or Salang, which belongs to that country. The Australian trade should be shown under the separate colonies.

“ 15. With regard to the column showing the quantity of the article imported or exported, it is evident that in many cases it is impossible or useless to specify it, and the value only will have to be inserted. We think it, however, most important that, where the quantity of any given article can be stated, uniformity in its denomination should be preserved. * * * *

“ 16. We trust that instructions may be given for entry of each class of goods under a single denomination, so that there shall be only one denomination for piece goods.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.]

namely that of yards; only one denomination for thread or twist, namely, that of pounds; only one for manufactures of jute, namely hundredweights, and so forth.

"17. It would be convenient, in determining the denomination under which each article should be entered, to make the terms correspond as far as possible with those adopted in the United Kingdom; and our tables have been prepared with this view. An alphabetical index of article (of which we submit a specimen*) should be placed in the hands of each Custom House officer at the various ports to facilitate uniformity of entry. The experience of the local officers will no doubt suggest many additions which may with advantage be made to the list for the guidance of the Customs officers at the ports. We propose to have separately enumerated all articles which, either for import or export, are of importance, whether on account of the magnitude of the transactions, or on account of their paying duty; and to class all others as uneumerated.* *

"3. I am now to enclose printed copies of—

(A)—An alphabetical list* of articles showing the manner in which they are to be classified in the local returns.

(B)—A list of foreign countries as these are to be shown in the returns in future.

* * * * *

"6. I also enclose an alphabetical index* to list A which will be of great use to Custom House officers in determining the classification of imports and exports in accordance with list A.

"7. The list B may probably be accepted as final. The remarks of the Committee quoted above explain the difference between the existing and new classification of countries and I am to request that copies of the list may be forwarded to all ports for adoption in the local returns with effect from the 1st April next ensuing. It will be noted that goods intended for an inland country, such as Switzerland, should be entered under the country to which belongs the port at which they are landed. Also that the present heading of 'Suez' in various tables throughout the volume will disappear: the European trade passing through that place will be classed under the country of destination. In place of this an additional table should be prepared for insertion in Part I of the volume, immediately after form No. 4, showing the aggregate trade passing through the Suez Canal. The figures should be given in the following form:—

No. 5.

"8. In the local statements of navigation (Part V of the annual report) sailing vessels and steamers should no longer be massed together as at present, but be separately shown in all the tables contained in that part. This may be best effected by the addition of two columns to each of the sub-divisions of the tables. Thus the present table No. 74 shows the total number and tonnage of British and Foreign vessels (sailing and steam) entered and cleared with cargoes and in ballast from and to foreign countries and ports in other Presidencies * * In future this form should be thus prepared—

"9. The Secretary of State, in connection with this subject, desires to be informed what reliance can be placed upon the returns relating to the building and registration of vessels in India which are transmitted direct from the ports to the Office of the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen in London. The Governor General in Council does not apprehend that there is any reason to question the accuracy of the returns, which are based, it is presumed, upon the certificates of registry granted under the terms of the Merchant Shipping Act by the local registrar of shipping. I am to request, however, that a report may be furnished showing the system observed and the manner in which it is carried out in practice, and what checks and safeguards exist to ensure perfect accuracy. It is also requested that the particulars furnished in these returns may be embodied in future in an additional form which, as No. 74, may precede the present form 73 in Part V of the annual volume, this latter becoming No. 75, and the number of the subsequent forms being similarly changed throughout. A similar return made for five years should also appear among the abstract tables in Part I, where it would precede the present form No. 26, taking this number, the numbers of the remaining forms being similarly changed throughout. This return should show the number and tonnage of all vessels, distinguishing sailing vessels and steamers built and first registered at each port for the year, and the simplest form would probably be as follows:—

Number and Tonnage of Sailing and Steam Vessels built and first registered at each port in

60. AGGREGATE RETURN OF TRADE PASSING THROUGH THE SUEZ CANAL.

"N.B. 1.—Endeavours should be made to show the trade with chief countries in detail separately for each part as well as in a total for the country, wherever this is possible.

"2. The trade passing via Suez should no longer be shown under that head, which disappears from the list, but under the countries of destination.

"4. Trade with an inland country must be classed under the country to which belongs the port at which the articles are landed.

"5. Trade with the Andaman and Nicobar Islands as well as with the Laccadives, and with Minicoy (one of the Maldives) to be treated as Coasting or Interportal.

"6. Trade with ports in India subject to Foreign Governments, European or Native, to be treated as 'Foreign Coasting' under a separate head from the Coasting Trade of British India.

"7. The present heads 'Persian Gulf' and 'Red Sea' disappear, the trade being classed under the countries to which the ports of the adjacent coasts belong.

"8. Under Siam is to be classed the trade between British Burma and the Island of Junk Ceylon or Salang."

(G. I., R., A. & C., No. 79, dated 22nd January 1875; vide G. R. No. 699, dated 4th February 1875.)

8. The following points should be borne in mind in getting filled in by shippers the shipping bills prescribed in the Customs Act for use in the case of all exports and imports:—

Column 1.—Here, besides the name of the vessel, it must be noted whether it is a steamer or a sailing vessel.

Column 4.—Here the detail of port or place must be filled in with due advertence to the schedule B. attached to Circular No. 79, dated 22nd January 1875, and it must also be noted whether the vessel is to pass through the Suez Canal or not.

Column 8.—Goods must be accurately described under the appropriate headings or sub-headings of list A of Circular No. 79 referred to above and the particulars required by column 2 of that list invariably inserted.

Column 11.—Where the goods are dutiable ad valorem, column 11 will merely reproduce the figures of column 10; but in the case of goods not liable to duty, or liable to fixed duties according to weight or quantity only, or to duties on fixed tariff valuations, column 11 must under the provisions of section 26 of the Act faithfully declare the real value of the goods, and any misstatement on this point would render the declarer liable to the penalties prescribed in section 216. Hitherto, it is known that, in some Custom Houses at any rate, no endeavours have been made to secure the accurate record of the real value of any goods not dutiable ad valorem, and the consequence has been that the imperial total value of goods exported has been made up to a very slight extent of real values recorded in regard to the very few articles of export taxed ad valorem, but mainly of fixed duty or tariff values and values recorded almost at random (and entirely unchecked by the Customs officials) by the parties concerned. It is hoped that in future special care will be taken to secure the record in all cases in this column of the real value at the wholesale market rate of the day.

4. Turning to the landing pass, it has to be remarked that in the heading when noting the ship, the importer must specify not only her name, but whether she is a steamer or a sailing vessel; that the port whence she has arrived must be noted with reference to the detail given in Schedule B. of Circular No. 79, and that it must also be stated whether the vessel has passed through the Suez Canal or not.

In Column 3 the goods must be accurately described under the appropriate headings or sub-headings contained in the list of articles, Schedule A. of Circular No. 79 referred to above.

In Column 4 the particulars required by column 2 of that list must be invariably entered.

After Column 6 a new column (7), corresponding with column 11 of the Shipping Bill, viz., "declared real value under section 26," must be inserted. All the remarks above made in reference to column 11 of the Shipping Bill are equally applicable to this new column 7 of the landing pass. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 87, dated 22nd January 1875; vide G. R. No. 708, dated 4th February 1875.)

9. In revising the tabular forms in which statistics relating to trade and navigation are to be given, as in the issue of orders regarding the preparation and submission of these statistics, the objects mainly kept in view by the Government of India have been—

- (1) to place on record more information under some heads than was then available;
- (2) to ensure accuracy in the statistics furnished by the Local Governments, and identity in the final results published by the Government of India and the Local Governments respectively;
- (3) to secure a proper classification of countries and articles and uniformity in these and in the denominations of weight, measure, or quantity recorded in the returns;

- (4) to re-arrange the forms of the local annual accounts so as to bring them as far as possible into conformity with the consolidated annual account of the Government of India, and facilitate reference from one to the other; and
- (5) to remodel the forms of the annual volume published by the Government of India on the basis of the present returns of the English Board of Trade.

Lists of countries and articles were circulated with the Government of India's circular No. 78-81, dated 22nd January 1875, and Local Governments were invited to suggest such additions to the list of articles as they might consider desirable.

In circulating a list of the articles which it proposed to retain in its own returns, the Government of India had no intention of prescribing the excision from the returns published by Local Governments of any articles now separately shown there. Any of these may be retained that the Local Government desires,—all that is necessary is that they should occupy an appropriate position amongst the other articles, due regard being had to the principles on which the classification adopted by the Government of India is based. Attention should be paid to the correct grouping of articles not separately enumerated.

Government transactions should be kept quite separate in the returns from private trade. In no case should articles imported or exported on account of Government be grouped with imports or exports on private account. They should be shown by themselves under the heading of "Government Stores" and "Government Treasure".

Until the issue of the orders conveyed in the circulars of the 22nd January, some laxity prevailed in regard to the valuation of imports and exports. In the case of articles subject to duty on tariff valuations, these latter, however much they might differ from actual values, were accepted as the real value; when articles were subject to fixed duty on quantity or weight only, merchants frequently omitted to enter the value altogether; and in regard to free goods very little attention was paid to the due record of either quantities or values. The Governor General in Council desires to reiterate the absolute necessity of carefully testing figures which form the basis of the trade returns of the Empire. This testing should be continued without relaxation, the provisions of the Customs Act being strictly enforced. In every case importers and exporters of goods of all classes, free or liable to duty, must be compelled to submit a true and correct return of their quantity and actual value, at the wholesale market rate of the day, and the responsibility in this matter of all subordinate officials concerned in the receipt and treatment of bills of entry and shipping bills should be strictly enforced. They should be directed to see that all such documents are duly filled up in accordance with the law and the orders of Government before they are passed on to the officers charged with the duty of compiling the statistics of the trade; and these latter should be instructed at once to bring to the notice of the controlling officer of customs any case where omissions or manifestly erroneous entries are detected.

The Commissioner or Collector of Customs at chief ports should also devise such a system as shall ensure the receipt, without fail, by the compilers of statistics, of all papers from the other branches of the Custom-house required for purposes of compilation. It is believed that in some cases no sufficient check exists in regard to this point. It is of primary importance that all the trade of a month should be recorded in that month, and that papers required for the compilation of statistics should not run any risk of being overlooked until after the month's returns have been prepared. In Bombay, where the compilation of export statistics is based on the ships' manifests, it is essential that provision should be made for the receipt of these manifests either prior to the departure of the ship or within 24 hours subsequent to her departure. It is understood that it frequently happens that owners and agents of vessels, though guaranteeing to deliver the manifests within 24 hours, and obtaining clearances on such guarantee, nevertheless fail to file the manifests for periods extending at times to 15 or even 20 days. Should such a practice obtain, it must be rigidly repressed, and no clearance subsequently granted, except after receipt of the manifest, to any agent or owner who has once failed to deliver the manifest according to guarantee.

Where the export statistics are mainly or wholly founded on shipping bills, shippers of goods should be required to send notice to the Custom House at once or within three days, of short shipments and re-lands. The omission to report such short shipments and re-lands in the case of free goods, appears in some Custom-houses to have been a fertile source of inaccuracy in the returns.

For the purposes of the trade returns, all goods shall be considered to be imported from the date on which they are passed over the ship's side, whether they are then entered for bond or pass at once into consumption. In the decision of questions connected with the realization of duty levied on goods, of course the provisions of the Customs Act must apply.

The whole of these instructions apply also to such local publications as the Commercial Annual for Bengal, published at the Calcutta Custom House, and similar papers. All such accounts of trade should be compiled on exactly the same basis as the trade and navigation accounts prepared under the orders of the Government of India. It is very undesirable that two or three separate accounts of the trade of a province should be published almost simultaneously by a Local Government, differing from each other so radically that it is practically impossible to reconcile the figures contained in one with those contained in the others.

Local Governments and Administrations should give stringent instructions for the regular and punctual submission of a statement of all errors and omissions which may from time to time be detected in the monthly accounts of trade. These statements should be furnished with each monthly return, and should clearly show what corrections are required in the accounts submitted for each of the previous months of the year. If no corrections are to be made, a slip stating this fact should be attached to the monthly return.

It is not intended that Local Governments should discontinue the publication of any tables, which they desire to retain, now included in their volumes and containing information that cannot be given in the forms attached to this Resolution. Such tables are the appendices to the Bombay and Madras volumes, and others of a cognate character. These may still usefully be published,* but they should be kept strictly supplementary, and if it is desired that any such tables should be inserted in the body of the volume they should be properly placed and numbered with supplementary numbers. The numbering of the forms prescribed should on no account be altered, and should any new forms be hereafter considered desirable by Local Governments, they should be submitted for approval by the Government of India before insertion.

Attention should be given to the printing of the annual volumes of Local Governments. At present there are in some volumes numerous errors in the headings of forms and in other portions of the tables. The proofs of all returns should be carefully revised before the issue of the volume, the paging of which should be continuous throughout from the beginning to end.

It is desirable that each of the annual volumes should be prefaced by introductory remarks, explanatory of the fluctuations in the import and export trade from and to each country and in each important article. It should for the present be framed somewhat on the model of the Resolutions of the Government of India, reviewing the results of the trade of British India, as shown in the consolidated volumes for 1872-73 and 1873-74, but in more detail. A copy of the observations which are intended to appear with the annual volume when published, should be furnished to the Government of India separately so as to reach Simla not later than the 1st August in each year, as these will form one important basis for the general review of the trade of the Empire.

* The Government of India directed in paragraph 27 of their Resolution No. 11 C., dated 15th January 1880, (G. R. No. 384, dated 23rd idem), that the appendix printed in the Bombay volume showing the trade and navigation of Sind should not be published in future, as these accounts were already given in the volumes published separately for that Province.

Great delays frequently occur in the issue of the annual volumes of some Local Governments. Strenuous endeavours should be made to prevent such delays in future. A considerable proportion of the utility of these returns is nullified by the delay in their appearance. Each Local Government should adopt measures to ensure publication within six months after the expiry of the year at latest. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 66 C.-69 C., dated 9th April 1875, and G. I., F. & C., No. 283 S., dated 12th December 1882; vide G. Rs. Nos. 2398, dated 26th April 1875, and 8989, dated 22nd December 1882.)

10. Attention has for some time been directed to the best way in which a reduction in the bulk of the volumes annually published in the several maritime provinces of British India, containing the statistics of trade and navigation, might be effected without sacrificing any portion of their usefulness; and the following curtailment of the information contained in them has been decided upon.

In the tables of the foreign trade, particulars of the trade with different ports in each foreign-country need not in future be shown, but only the total trade with each country. Independently of the fact that the adoption of this course will reduce the cost of printing the volumes, it does not appear that the publication of the details of the trade with each port serves any useful end.

Such ports in any Presidency as have had no foreign trade during the year, may be omitted from the tables altogether.

The articles now specified in the tables of the coasting trade are the same as those prescribed for the foreign trade, but there does not appear to be any sufficient reason for having identical lists of articles in equally great detail in the record of both branches of trade. An article may be of importance in the foreign trade and have very little real importance, though the trade may be comparatively large, in the returns of the coasting trade; while, on the other hand, some articles which possess importance in the coasting trade have little or no importance in the foreign trade. In future, therefore, only the articles enumerated in the list* annexed to this Resolution shall be exhibited in the tables of the coasting trade, all others being grouped together and entered under the head "all other articles of merchandise."

The application of an efficient remedy to the inaccuracy which exists in all the provinces, but especially in Bengal and Burma, in the statistics of the coasting or interportal trade, has formed the subject of prolonged correspondence. The Government of India considers that the only efficient remedy will be to provide by law for the return by importers and exporters of accurate information, and to insist upon the responsibility of Customs Officers in rigorously enforcing the provisions of the law. The principal inaccuracies are now found to exist in the returns of shipments, the system in force being such that a merchant taking out a shipping pass for merchandise not subject to duty, is not bound, and does not consider it necessary to make a return to the Custom House of the quantity actually shipped, though that may be only half or a third of the quantity entered in the shipping pass, from which the statistics of trade are compiled.

Similar inaccuracies arising out of the same cause exist in the record of the export of non-dutiable goods to foreign ports. As far as regards such trade, provision has been made in the new Sea Customs Act (Sections 137 and 140) under which shippers of goods are bound, under penalty, to make a return to the Custom House of the quantity and value of the goods actually shipped. It will be the duty of all Collectors of Customs to see that the law is strictly enforced. The officer in charge of the Custom House must insist that the duplicate shipping bill shall invariably be returned to the Custom House within five days after the departure of the vessel, with a certificate thereon, signed by the shipper or his authorised agent, of the quantity and value of the goods actually shipped. From this duplicate the necessary amendments in the record should be made. Care must be taken that no original shipping pass shall be put away by the compiling Department as finally done with, until the duplicate has been returned to the Custom House, compared with the original, and needful amendments made. It will be desirable, too, to print in a conspicuous place and in prominent type, on the forms of shipping pass employed in the Custom House, a notice that shippers must return the pass to the Custom House with the endorsement required, after shipment of the goods.

As regards the coasting trade, by Section 156 of the Act the two sections mentioned in the preceding paragraph, which provide for the accurate record of shipments to foreign countries, apply also to this branch of trade. The Local Governments should draw the attention of all officers of Customs to these provisions and instruct them to enforce the law as strictly as in dealing with shippers to foreign ports. Care should also be taken to enforce the responsibility of masters of vessels in the return of manifests, as provided in the Act. The instructions suggested in the preceding paragraph for the guidance of Customs Officers should be held to apply equally to the case of the coasting trade. What the Government of India wants, in fact, is that the measures which under the law will now be taken to secure a correct record of the exports to foreign ports, should be adopted to secure a correct record of the coasting trade where the system of work in Custom-houses is the same for both branches of trade. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 141-145, dated 14th March 1878; vide G. R. No. 1743, dated 5th April 1878.)*

* The classification of articles for the purpose of the returns of the sea-borne trade of India was prescribed by the Government of India,—for the foreign trade in circular No. 412, dated 4th August 1875, for the coasting trade in Resolution No. 141—145, dated 14th March 1878, and for Government stores in circulars Nos. 147—150 and 3368, dated 26th February and 25th October 1879. Revised lists were supplied by the Director General of Statistics with his letter No. 18-M. T., dated 23rd March 1897 (G. R. No. 2786, dated 8th April 1897).

11. In the Resolution of the Government of India, No. 141-145, dated 14th March 1878, instructions were given for reducing the bulk of the volumes containing statistics of trade and navigation annually published in the several maritime provinces of British India. Further experience shows that additional reductions may be made in these volumes without sacrificing their utility, that in fact the usefulness of the volumes will be increased by compression, and it is accordingly directed that the curtailments noted below may be carried out. As the bulk of the volumes will thus be considerably reduced, it is hoped that they will be issued punctually in future.

Volume I.—Foreign Trade.

In table No. 1A the names of ports with a total trade of less value than two lakhs a year should be omitted. Such ports should be grouped at the end of the table thus: "Total of other ports with an aggregate trade of less than two lakhs each."

Tables Nos. 3A and 4A should also be curtailed in the Madras volume by the omission of names of countries, and of subordinate ports the total imports or exports of which are less than one lakh in value yearly.

In tables 12A and 13A all ports with an export trade of less than one lakh of rupees should be grouped together as directed in table 1A.

In tables Nos. 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13, the Government stores exhibited should be confined to the articles enumerated in the revised list of stores prescribed for adoption in Resolution No. 3368, dated the 25th October 1879.

Tables Nos. 15A and 16A for subordinate ports should be omitted, except in the volume for British Burma where 16A may be retained.

In table No. 18 articles imported on account of Government should be omitted, the table being confined to the dutiable articles of imported merchandise which are allowed free of duty from bond or from Custom-houses for the use of private individuals, institutions, &c.,

In table No. 22 of General Imports, "Other articles" should not be shown in the separate tables Nos. 22—2 and 22—4, but should be entered in the same table and immediately after "Principal articles."

In table No. 22—3 (the quantities of dutiable goods passed for home consumption), only those items should be entered in which the quantities cleared differ from the quantities landed, the heading of the table being—

"Principal articles subject to duty, of which the quantities landed from foreign ports differ from the quantities passed for home consumption."

Table No. 22—3, as well as No. 22—2, and No. 15, should exhibit all the details of the import tariff schedule, besides those of the statistical list A, and in table No. 23—1, cotton goods of Indian manufacture should be shown in the sub-divisions of the tariff for imported cottons, in accordance with paragraphs 13 and 14 of Resolution No. 1972 of the 30th July 1879.

In the Madras volume tables Nos. 22—1A, 22—2A, 23—1A, and 23—2A (for subordinate ports) should be curtailed by the omission of all ports the total imports or exports of which are less than one lách in value per annum, and by omitting all main heads the total imports or exports of which do not amount to half a lách in value.

In table No. 24 giving details of the trade with each principal foreign country, those articles need not be separately specified the total trade in which for the province does not amount for the aggregate of the items composing the general head of which it is one of the sub-heads to Rs. 10,000 in any of the five years. And the tables should be omitted for any country the total trade with which in merchandise (imports and exports) does not amount in any one of the five years to one lách in value. Government stores should be omitted in this table, and metals should be shown only under the main heads, the sub-divisions of these being omitted. Table No. 24A for subordinate ports should be altogether omitted.

In the tables of shipping engaged in the foreign trade, Nos. 6B, 6C, 7B, 8B, 9B, and 10B for subordinate ports should be omitted.

The instructions for grouping, undistinguished, subordinate ports with a limited trade, in tables 1A, 8A, 9A, 12A and 13A, apply more particularly to the Madras volume. The arrangement need not be carried out in the other provincial volumes, if it effects no material diminution in the number of pages now taken up by those tables.

Volume II.—Coasting Trade.

In the Madras volume only, table No. 1A should be curtailed by the omission of ports the total trade of which does not amount to two láchs a year in value, and tables Nos. 3A and 4A by the omission of subordinate ports in which the imports or exports do not amount to a lách a year in value, and by not entering separately each Indian port not British, the total figures for these ports being sufficient in these tables.

At present tables Nos. 7 and 8 exhibit respectively the quantities and value of imports of Indian goods, Nos. 9 and 10 of imports of foreign goods, Nos. 11 and 12 of exports of Indian goods, and Nos. 13 and 14 of exports of foreign goods. These tables not only give figures for five years, but also show the classes of ports from and to which the imports and exports are made, and are in consequence somewhat bulky.

In future there will be four abstract tables giving figures for five years in the form shown below—No. 7, of quantity and value of imports of Indian goods; No. 8, of imports of foreign goods; No. 9, of exports of Indian goods; and No. 10, of exports of foreign goods. As in the abstract tables, Nos. 8 to 13 of volume I of the foreign trade, the table of quantities will be printed on the left page and the table of value on the right page, both tables bearing the same number.

| Madras, Other ports .                    |                    |        |             |        |                                          |                    |        |             |        |
| Pondicherry ...                          |                    |        |             |        |                                          |                    |        |             |        |
| TOTAL ...                                |                    |        |             |        |                                          |                    |        |             |        |

In these tables, Nos. 11 to 14, it will not be necessary, as hitherto, to give a total for each class of ports, one total for all ports being sufficient, as shown in the form. If the trade in any article with any subordinate port is important, the port should be named instead of being included with "other ports," as, for instance, in the Bengal volume in table No. 11, under the article Tea, the trade with the port of Chittagong should be shown separately.

Government stores need not be detailed in these abstract and general tables, Nos. 7 to 14, the totals of the imports and exports of these stores, as shown in tables Nos. 5 and 6, being sufficient.

No tables are required supplementary to the abstract tables Nos. 7, 8, 9, and 10, to show the trade of the subordinate ports. But this trade should be shown in supplementary general tables, Nos. 11A, 12A, 13A, and 14A, in the following form:—

In the Madras volume, in tables Nos. 11A to 14A, the columns for subordinate ports will extend across the opening of two pages, the trade of as many ports as can be shown in this space being distinguished separately, and the rest being included in the column for "other ports." The ports named will be entered in the order of their importance as to trade. In the other provincial volumes it will suffice to distinguish separately the trade of as many ports as can be entered on the breadth of one page. The size of page of the Madras volume should be reduced so as to make it correspond with the other local volumes.

Tables Nos. 16—1, 16—2, 16—3, and 16—4, with the corresponding tables A for subordinate ports, are not required and should be omitted in future.

In the tables of shipping engaged in the coasting trade, Nos. 12A to 15A are to be omitted.

In the Bombay volume the appendix showing the trade and navigation of Sind should not be published in future, as these accounts are already given in the volumes published separately for that province. (G. I., F. & C., No. 11 C., dated 15th January 1880; vide G. R. No. 384, dated 23rd idem.)

12. In the forms for the annual volume of trade and navigation prescribed for adoption in the Resolution of the Department of Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce, No. 66C.—69C., dated 9th April 1875, "Principal articles" are all articles enumerated in the alphabetical list of articles (A) issued by that Department and "Other articles" are those not enumerated in that list. It is therefore necessary that in the volumes of the annual accounts of trade, the tables showing quantities and values of articles should invariably enumerate all the articles entered in list A in which there has been any trade during the year. In the supplementary tables of general imports and exports, Nos. 22—2, 22—2A, 22—4, 22—4A, 23—2, 23—2A, 23—4 and 23—4A, should be entered in detail "Other articles," or those not enumerated in list A and in the tables showing the principal articles.

Care should also be taken to enumerate, in all the tables in which countries are shown, all the foreign countries entered in list B issued by the Department of Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce in which there has been any trade during the year, no countries being included under the head "Other countries," except those unenumerated in list B. Tables Nos. 24—1 to 24—3A should also contain a separate table for each country with which there has been any trade. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 161, dated 7th March 1876; vide G. R. No. 1725, dated 18th idem.)

13. In the trade and navigation accounts when articles are grouped under a major heading, all particulars should be given in detail for each article separately. It is to be understood that none of the articles now separately shown in the monthly or annual returns are to be omitted or grouped with "all other articles", but care should be taken to class them properly in accordance with the prescribed classification.

There is no objection to the retention of tariff values in the accounts kept in the Custom House if the Commissioner thinks their retention would be advantageous for any purpose, but in accounts published for general information only real values should be shown. The exhibition of tariff values is for statistical purposes quite misleading and calculated to produce serious errors. In the table of average prices printed in the annual volume published by the Government of India, for instance, the prices are deduced from the declared real values, which in many cases are tariff values, differing largely from the actual market values. Again, in making comparison between the value of trade in a term of successive years much trouble and confusion are likely to arise, and have in fact arisen, in comparing the values of trade in tariffed articles when the tariff valuations of such articles have undergone alterations during the period of comparison. In such cases, unless allowance is made for increases or decreases in the tariff valuations (which may be overlooked by or unknown to the person examining the figures), the recorded results are misleading. In the returns furnished to the Government of India, therefore, only real values should be shown. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 195, dated 6th March 1875; vide G. R. No. 1555, dated 13th idem.)

14. The values entered in the returns of the sea-borne trade of all imported goods subject to duty, whether at tariff rates, or ad valorem, or ac-

ording to quantity, should be their wholesale market value when ascertainable, less duty (if dutiable), and trade discount (if any is allowed); and, where such value is not ascertainable, the estimated cost to the importer of the goods laid down at the port of entry (before payment of duty), or, in other words, the wholesale cash price of the goods in bond. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 257-260, dated 22nd May 1877; vide G. R. No. 3498, dated 5th June 1877.)

15. In all cases, where feasible, imports, whether liable to duty or not, are to be valued for statistics, and if dutiable ad valorem are to be assessed for duty in accordance with the terms of the law as given in Section 30 of Act VIII of 1878.

Recently it was brought to notice that in Calcutta when a person not engaged in trade imports articles for his personal use and produces an invoice, the duty is taken on the invoice value reckoned in Indian currency at the rate of ten rupees to the pound sterling, if the importation is considered to be a private affair and not a trade transaction. In Bombay also it is understood to be the practice in similar cases, including importations by parcel post, to levy the duty on the invoice value increased by 10 per cent. for exchange. Both practices are erroneous, and the ruling stated above should be applied to these as to other cases wherever it is feasible to apply it.

It may be, however, that occasionally it is not considered necessary to question the value entered in the invoice, but on such occasions it should be remembered that due allowance must be made for the rate of exchange. The addition to the invoice value might, in the absence of any objection on the part of the importer, be without any considerable risk of error based on the advertised official rate of exchange for the year, to avoid constant change resulting from fluctuations.

As a general rule invoice values are not to be accepted as a sole guide except in the cases of small personal importations where the good faith of the importer may be reasonably assumed.

These orders apply to both foreign and coasting trade, and the procedure to be observed for the valuation of all dutiable and non-dutiable goods in the foreign and coasting trade should be that herein set forth, that is to say, that duty should not be included in the value. But in the cases of Indian salt and Indian spirit, and any similar cases in future, the values to be recorded, in the coasting trade, should include excise duty, when that duty has already been paid at the place where the article is manufactured or before its shipment by sea. On the same principle, (1) in the case of foreign goods exported or imported coastwise, the duty paid on first importation should not be deducted from the value in the coasting trade returns, and (2) in the case of opium which has been imported by land into British Indian Territory and is then exported coastwise or to foreign countries, the pass-fee which was charged on importation by land should not be deducted from the value in the return of exports. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 122-C., dated 1st May 1879; vide G. R. No. 2474, dated 9th idem; and G. I., F. & C., Nos. 4368, dated 10th August 1888, and 105-S., dated 27th March 1889; vide G. Rs. Nos. 6391, dated 22nd September 1888 and 2806, dated 13th April 1889.)

16. A not unusual cause of error in the returns of trade is the double entry of goods, first as a portion of the cargo, and secondly in the complete cargo of the vessel. A warning on this head should be given to all Customs Officers at the ports. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 82-85, dated 22nd January 1875; vide G. R. No. 700, dated 4th February 1875.)

17. The import registers of the several Sea Custom-houses of British India should show "Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores" (distinguishing the countries whence they have been imported) in the following detail, viz :—

"Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores.

18. Care should be taken to secure exact correspondence between the special cotton return furnished for publication in the supplement to the Gazette of India and the ordinary trade and navigation returns, the fractions of cwts. being treated uniformly by rejecting fractions of half a cwt. and under, and taking those above 56 lbs. as a whole cwt. The instructions given in Resolution No. 66C.-69C., dated 9th April 1875, as to the preparation of all accounts of trade and navigation on the same basis, so as to ensure identity in the final results published by the Government of India and in the several publications of the Local Governments respectively, should be strictly observed. (G. I., R., A. & C., Nos. 327, dated 12th June 1875, and 2, dated 4th January 1876; vide G. Rs. Nos. 3592, dated 25th June 1875, and 482, dated 22nd January 1876.)

19. In the monthly returns and annual tables of the shipping engaged in the coasting trade, native craft are already distinguished, and it is merely necessary in these returns and tables that care should be taken to include under the head "Native craft" only Indian vessels, not square-rigged, sailing under British colours, or belonging to Native States, such as Maldivé and Cutch vessels; other vessels which are not square-rigged, such as Portuguese, Arab, Chinese, Siamese or Mekrani, &c., being shown under their respective nationalities.

In the monthly returns of sailing vessels engaged in the foreign trade, native craft should be shown separately in a column following that for the total of foreign shipping.

In the shipping tables in the local annual volume, native craft have hitherto been distinguished, and this should continue to be done in the volume in the new forms of tables, as explained below.

In tables Nos. 1, 1a, 6b and 6c, native craft will be included, undistinguished as such, under the head of sailing vessels.

In the tables Nos. 3, 4, 3a and 4a, native craft should be separately distinguished against each country, such as Arabia, Ceylon, &c., in the trade with which such craft are employed.

In tables Nos. 5, 5a, 6 and 6a, native craft should be separately shown in a line after foreign sailing vessels.

In tables Nos. 7, 8, 9 and 10, 7a, 8a, 9a and 10a, and 7b, 8b, 9b, and 10b, a column showing native craft separately should be inserted after that of "Total foreign;" the grand total being of British, British Indian, and foreign vessels, and native craft. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 161 C.-164 C., dated 19th July 1876; vide G. R. No. 4331, dated 28th idem.)

20. It appears that in the import and export trade reports received by the Government of India sufficient explanation is not given in cases of fluctuations of trade. In all such cases the Collector of Customs should explain the causes of the increase and decrease, where this is considerable, in the export or import of each important article of commerce. Thrown into daily contact, as the Collector necessarily is, with the leading members of the European mercantile community, and with the whole body of native traders and dealers, it should always be easy for him, if he properly utilizes the advantages he enjoys, to explain satisfactorily at the close of the year the more important fluctuations in the trade of the port over which he presides, and it should be impressed upon all officers responsible for the realization of customs dues, at each of the ports of British India, that to furnish such explanations constitutes one of the most important branches of their duty. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 93, dated 15th July 1872; vide G. R. No. 3623, dated 26th idem.)

21. * The trade and navigation returns for the Presidency of Bombay should contain information regarding the trade between Aden and other countries than India, for though Aden is regarded, in connection with commercial statistics, as a foreign port, it is politically and administratively subordinate to the Government of Bombay. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 605, dated 16th October 1875; vide G. R. No. 6959, dated 11th December 1875.)

22. In the Annual Trade and Navigation Returns and Report for Aden the causes of the decrease or increase of trade should be fully stated, and suggestions made for facilitating and encouraging trade. (G. R. No. 5283, dated 8th August 1882.)

23. For statistical purposes it is necessary that the correct quantities and values of goods imported to and exported from Aden should be carefully registered. Under these circumstances, the proposal made by the Resident that copies of the manifests in the case of square-rigged vessels and declarations by the Nākodās of native craft should be accepted as sufficient evidence of the quantity and value of goods imported and exported at Aden cannot be adopted. This proposal involves a less accurate (though easier) method of preparing the statistics, but it is desirable that the returns of the trade of Aden should be prepared in such form as to admit of the details being classified under the same headings as the trade of British Indian ports and published, as at present, in the 2nd Volume of the annual statements of the trade and navigation of British India.

In order, however, to afford some relief to the trade registration establishment at Aden, the Governor General in Council has no objection to the figures for one year only, instead of the figures for five years, being given in future in the abstract tables of trade Nos. 1 to 7 and in the abstract tables of shipping Nos. 12, 13 and 14, it being understood that errors discovered or alterations made in the figures after their submission will be duly notified. The returns Nos. 18 and 19 received from Aden giving in detail of ports the imports and exports from and to places on the African and Arabian coasts are not required in the Finance and Commerce Department, and their submission may be discontinued, but it is left to the Government of Bombay to decide whether for local purposes they should be kept up or not. (G. I., F. & C., No. 3934, dated 23rd September 1882; vide G. R. No. 7266,* dated 18th October 1882.)

* The Political Resident, Aden, was informed in this Resolution that Returns Nos. 18 and 19 need not be submitted to Government. In his report on the Trade and Navigation Returns of Aden for the year 1882-83 the Political Resident reported that this concession had been taken advantage of, but that Returns Nos. 18 and 19 had been kept up in the Trade Registration Office at Aden, as from them alone could statistics of the trade of surrounding ports be gathered and from a local point of view those returns were of the greatest value.

24. The annual report and returns of the trade and navigation of Aden should be transmitted to the Government of India at the same time as that for the Presidency of Bombay, i. e., not later than 1st August in each year. (G. I., F. & C., No. 151 S., dated 17th September 1883; vide G. R. No. 7406, dated 5th October 1883.)

25. The annual statement of the trade and navigation of Sind should be submitted to Government by the 15th September in each year at latest so as to allow of copies being transmitted to the Government of India by the 1st October. (G. R. No. 8255, dated 10th November 1883.)

26. To enable a comparison to be made as early as possible between the figures in the provincial volume of accounts and those in the volume for British India, proof sheets of the following tables of sea-borne trade and navigation should be sent to the Government of India as soon as they are ready in anticipation of the complete volume :—Nos. 15 to 23 of foreign trade, Nos. 2, 7, 8, 9 and 10 of foreign shipping, No. 15 of coasting treasure, and Nos. 12 to 15, 16—1 and 16—2 of coasting shipping. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 2, dated 5th May 1879; vide G. R. No. 2636, dated 19th idem.)

27. The records of trade appertaining to the Customs Department in this Presidency should be carefully preserved for at least ten years. The following papers should, however, be preserved for three years only :—

(1) Bills of entry and other documents relating to the passing of goods into town.

(2) Shipping bills, export general manifests and other documents relating to the passing of goods for exportation.

(G. I., R., A. & C., No. 303-306, dated 27th May 1875, and G. I., F., & C., No. 6—S.-G., dated 17th April 1896; vide G. Rs. Nos. 3230, dated 8th June 1875, and 5104, dated 30th June 1896.)

28. The Commissioner of Customs and the Commissioner in Sind should cause to be prepared statements, in the following form, of the Customs duty on imports and exports of merchandise exclusive of salt realized month by month, in advance of the trade returns. As it is intended to compile a consolidated statement as early as possible after the close of the month, the Collectors of Customs at Bombay and Karáchi should furnish the statements direct to the Government of India by post soon after the close of each month :—

CUSTOMS HOUSE,

(G. I., R., A. & C., No. C.-71, dated 8th April 1875; vide G. R. No. 2224, dated 15th idem, and G. I., F. & C., Nos. 2097, dated 8th August 1879 and 113 S., dated 29th April 1895, to the address of the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkari and the Collector of Customs, Karachi.)

29. The amount of duty levied on all goods on which duty was payable during the month should be entered both in the trade returns and the monthly reports of Customs duty collected irrespective of the amount of duty actually realized in cash during the month, and it should be taken as a strict rule that, so far as the trade accounts are concerned, Government revenue falling due in any month is to be regarded as having been realized during the month and is to be shown accordingly in the trade returns. On no account must there be any discrepancy whatever in future between two sets of trade returns both for the same period and relating to the same subject.

The practice of excluding passengers' baggage from the returns of trade is correct, but the duty collected on such baggage should always be shown in every return which purports to be a statement of the Government Customs revenue, the duty being entered in the trade returns under the head of "all other articles, including penalty duty." All difference between the actual collections of cash and the amount of duty levied may be completely removed if due care be taken to adjust the accounts of duty levied on a deposit or security, by cash payment before the end of the official year, and also by crediting petty customs under their proper heads both in the trade accounts and the cash accounts of revenue collected. Endeavours should be made to secure complete accord between the two sets of figures.

These instructions apply to export as well as to import revenue. The proper plan to follow is to enter in the trade returns the export revenue, falling due or levied during a month, as it falls due and is levied on permission being given for the shipment of goods. This plan will ensure agreement between the actual collections of cash as given in the Customs administration report and the actual amount of duty levied on goods passed for shipment, provided that deposit accounts are adjusted before the close of the year by payments of cash.

The Government share of the Customs revenue realized at Cambay should not only be included in the monthly reports of Customs duty collected, but should also appear in the trade returns. (G. I., R., A. & C., Nos. 475, dated 21st September 1876, and 84, dated 29th May 1879; vide G. Rs. Nos. 5569, dated 29th September 1876, and 3134, dated 14th June 1879.)

30. All miscellaneous receipts should be excluded from the monthly returns of the Customs revenue furnished to the Government of India and from the duty statements of the trade and navigation statistics returns, and only the duty levied in accordance with the Tariff Act should be shown. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 9, dated 5th January 1878; vide G. R. No. 192, dated 14th idem.)

31. Arrangements should be made for the transmission to the Government of India, with the trade and navigation statistics returns, of monthly returns of the duties levied in accordance with the provisions of the Tariff Act on goods carried by land across the frontiers of Foreign States on the sea-coast in the Bombay Presidency, in the same detail as the returns of duty realized at the sea-ports which accompany those returns. The total amounts of duty, gross and net, realized on imports and exports separately, should be telegraphed every month to the Government of India along with the amounts realized at the sea-ports (but in a separate item), for publication with those figures in the Gazette of India. The figures should also be embodied in a separate table in Part I of the annual volumes of the trade and navigation statistics of the Bombay Presidency. Returns of the trade across the frontiers of the Foreign European and Native territory on the sea-coast in the Bombay Presidency should also be furnished monthly. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 159, dated 2nd April 1878; vide G. R. No. 1977, dated 17th idem.)

32. Returns of the duty refunded should also be submitted along with the monthly returns showing the duty levied on the frontiers of the Foreign States on the sea-coast in the Bombay Presidency. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 531-C., dated 19th November 1878; vide G. R. No. 6082, dated 26th idem.)

33. Instead of the Returns of Shipping (Nos. 2 and 3) hitherto furnished, two statements in the annexed form should be forwarded as soon after the close of the official year as possible :—

(1) Returns of shipping engaged in the foreign and coasting trade at each port.

(2) A return of the number and tonnage of steamers which entered and cleared from and to foreign ports viá the Suez Canal.

(3) Returns of the total value of imports and exports of merchandise and treasure at each port. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 239, dated 21st May 1879; vide G. R. No. 2772, dated 27th idem.)

36. The simplest and only feasible mode at present of introducing greater accuracy into the shipping accounts of each port is to record at each British Indian port the exact course which a vessel has taken and is about to take, without reference to the destination of the cargo taken on board. For instance—a vessel from Southampton touching at Suez, Aden and Galle on the way, with the bulk of her cargo for Calcutta, touches at Madras, discharges cargo and takes in cargo both for Calcutta and for foreign ports (to be retained on board at Calcutta), comes to Calcutta, receives foreign and Madras cargo and calls again at Madras (homeward bound) discharging cargo from Calcutta, and also taking cargo for foreign ports. The record would be—

(1) at Madras—entered from United Kingdom and cleared to Calcutta;

(2) at Calcutta—entered from Madras and cleared to Madras;

(3) at Madras—entered from Calcutta and cleared to United Kingdom.

At the first British Indian port at which a vessel arrives on her inward voyage, she should be recorded as having entered from the first foreign port from which she cleared. Thus in a vessel arriving at Madras from the United Kingdom, after having touched at Suez, Aden, Galle and Pondicherry, the record should be—entered from the United Kingdom. And in the same way, at the British Indian port from which the vessel clears to foreign ports (including foreign Indian ports), she should be shown as cleared, not to the first foreign port, but to the ultimate destination. Thus in a vessel clearing from Calcutta for Galle, viâ Madras and Pondicherry, she should be shown at Calcutta as cleared for Madras, and at Madras as cleared for Galle; and in the case of a steamer clearing from Calcutta for Madras, Galle, Aden, Suez and Southampton, and taking cargo also for Penang, China, Melbourne, Venice and Marseilles, she should be shown at Calcutta as having cleared for Madras; and at Madras she should be shown as having cleared for Southampton.

A vessel clearing from one British Indian port to another, and also visiting intermediately a foreign port or a foreign Indian port, should be shown as cleared to the first British Indian port at which she is to call, and at this port she should be shown as entered from the last British Indian port at which she cleared. Thus, if a steamer clear from Calcutta for Madras, Pondicherry, Galle, Vengurla and Bombay, she should be shown at Calcutta as cleared for Madras; at Madras as entered from Calcutta, and cleared for Vengurla; at Vengurla as entered from Madras and cleared for Bombay; and at Bombay as entered from Vengurla.

The foregoing instructions may be summarized as follows:—

|                                           |                                                                                            |                                            |                                                                       |

37. The Commissioner in Sind and the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkâri should furnish the Finance and Commerce Department of the Government of India with a monthly statement of the quantity in ounces and value in rupees of gold and silver imported into British India, the following details in regard to the description of the metals being given:—

Gold—

(1) Bullion (bar, ingots, &c.)

(2) Coin—

(a) Sovereigns and half sovereigns.

(b) Other coin.

Silver—

(1) Bullion—

(2) Coin—

(b) Other rupees (e.g., German and British East African).

(c) Dollars, chopped and unchopped.

(d) Other coin.

These statements should be supplementary to the returns of imports and exports of treasure furnished to the Government of India with the monthly accounts of trade and navigation and should accompany those accounts. The conversion of tolas into ounces should be made on the uniform basis of 1 tola to  $\frac{3}{8}$  ounce. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. Stat.-3443, dated 9th August, and 168 S., dated 14th October 1893; vide G. R. No. 6253, dated 29th August 1893, and G. M. No. 7613, dated 18th October 1893.)

38. In the coasting trade and navigation returns the trade with the Andaman and Nicobar Islands should be classed as trade with the Bengal Presidency. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. C.-307, dated 22nd September 1876; vide G. R. No. 5521, dated 27th idem.)

39. Trade with the ports of His Highness the Gáekwár, the Thákur of Bhávnagar and the Navab of Cambay which have been declared to be British Indian ports for certain specified purposes under the Customs Act, should be recorded in the trade returns under the head of "Indian Ports not British" according to their locality as is done in the case of all other ports. Thus trade with those ports which are situated in Káthiáwár should be entered (undistinguished) under Káthiáwár and new heads should be opened in the returns for Cambay and for the two ports belonging to the Gáekwár which are not situated in Káthiáwár. The headings in the returns for foreign (native) ports in the Bombay Presidency will then be as follow:—

Cutch.
Káthiáwár.
Foreign Konkan.
Cambay.*
Gáekwár's Territory.

(G. I., F. & C., Nos. 2547, dated 30th August 1879, and 138 C., dated 24th December 1879; vide G. Rs. Nos. 6272, dated 24th November 1879, and 51, dated 6th January 1880.)

40. Trade with the foreign ports of the States of Travancore and Cochin should be classed under the head "Indian Ports not British" as in the case of trade with ports belonging to the Native States of Cutch and Káthiáwár. Trade with the port of Cochin, which is British and not foreign, should be classed as trade with the Madras Presidency. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 263, dated 22nd May 1877; vide G. R. No. 3530, dated 6th June 1877.)

41. Trade carried on with the ports of the Native States of Cochin and Travancore which, by the Notification of the Government of India, No. 1131, dated 30th June 1865, have been declared to be British Indian ports for certain specified purposes under the Customs Act, should be recorded as trade with 'Indian Ports not British.' * By the Notification of Government of India, No. 2559, dated 1st August 1884, republished at p. 577 of the Bombay Government Gazette of 6th idem under Government Notification No. 6706, dated 20th idem, all goods imported from, or exported to, the port of Cambay all or from any Customs port in British India, are to be treated, as regards the levy of Customs duties and the payment of drawbacks under the Sea Customs' Act, 1878, as goods imported from or exported to a Customs port, as the case may be.

No. 2811, dated 16th September 1880; vide G. R. No. 5070, dated 25th idem.)

42. The trade with Mozambique and that with Zanzibar should be separately shown in the monthly and annual returns of trade and navigation statistics prepared in Bombay and Sind. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 492, dated 8th December 1877; vide G. R. No. 36, dated 3rd January 1878.)

43. In the monthly and annual returns of vessels built and first registered at each port which are prepared under the Government of India's orders contained in their circulars No. 78-81, dated 22nd January 1875, and No. 66C.-69C., dated 9th April 1875, all vessels whether registered under the English Merchant Shipping Act or under any of the Indian Acts should be shown. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 74C., dated 9th May 1877; vide G. R. No. 3162, dated 17th idem.)

44. Registrars of Shipping at the several ports in the Bombay Presidency should furnish the Registrar General of Shipping in London with annual returns of all vessels locally registered in India. These returns should be forwarded at the same time and in the same form as the annual returns of vessels imperially registered are sent. It is not intended that the return to be rendered to the Registrar General should include the vessels registered under Bombay Act XIX of 1838. It should embrace only vessels registered under the India Act X of 1841, and the British Merchant Shipping Act of 1854, and should include all such vessels on the register up to 31st December. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 137, dated 12th April, and 4246, dated 17th October 1882; vide G. Rs., Marine Department, Nos. 245, dated 5th May, and 532, dated 15th November 1882.)

45. Previous to the imposition, in 1875, of duty on salted fish imported into the Bombay Presidency, all the imports of salted and of sun-dried fish were recorded together in the trade returns, and since then the imports of salted fish alone were returned separately by the Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay, while those of sun-dried fish were grouped undistinguished under the head 'Provisions.' The Government of India in the Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce Department observed that this change had the inconvenient effect of making accurate comparison and verification of the results of the tax impossible, that it should not have been made without intimation to that Department, and that no change of this kind should in future be made without being previously reported to that Department. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 88, dated 17th June 1879; vide G. R. No. 3448, dated 1st July 1879.)

46. Changes in the record of statistics introduced by Collectors of Customs in a single province must produce error in the Indian statistics of trade and vitiate comparisons with the statistics of previous years or of other provinces or countries. Collectors of Customs should therefore under no circumstances make any change in the record without previous reference to and sanction from the Government of India in the Finance and Commerce Department. (G. I., F. & C., No. 295 S., dated 31st October 1887; vide G. R. No. 7802, dated 14th November 1887.)

47. As a general rule the Departments which land and ship stores are unable at the time of import or export to furnish the Custom House with a detailed description of the stores and their quantity and value. All that they need be required to do at this time is to give the number of packages, a general description of the goods, the name of the vessel conveying the stores, and the port from or to which they have been imported or are to be exported. These particulars should be entered by the Customs Department in a register, for the purpose of securing subsequently the complete details needed for the trade accounts.

These details should be furnished to the Customs Department, as early as practicable, in a monthly statement of the stores landed and shipped by or for each Department of Government. In Calcutta such statements are at present sent to the Collector of Customs by the Examiner of Medical Accounts and by the Commissariat Department; and in Bombay the Accountant General furnishes the Customs Department with the accounts of stores imported. Heads of all Departments importing and exporting stores should furnish the monthly statements promptly to the Collector of Customs, whose duty it will be to bring to notice any failure to supply the details required. Ordinarily the returns for any month ought to be furnished within a week after the expiry of the month. In the case of articles received from England, the receipt of the invoice from the Store Department will have to be awaited. It has been explained by the Director General of Stores at the India Office that he is unable to prepare the invoices early enough for them to reach India as soon as the stores, but that they are sent with the greatest possible expedition. (G. I., F. & C., No. 3368, dated 25th October 1879; vide G. R. No. 5910, dated 5th November 1879.)

48. In the provincial trade reports figures should not be rounded, and conversion from one denomination to another should be made at the exact number of pounds which a maund represents in each case. (G. I., F. & C., No. 895, dated 10th June 1881; vide G. R. No. 3665, dated 25th idem.)

49. Dutiable articles of foreign merchandise first imported on payment of duty, subsequently exported without refund or drawback of duty being allowed, and again imported without payment of duty should at the time of such re-importation be shown in the monthly trade return No. 10-1 and in the annual table No. 22-1 of free imports with a foot-note explaining why they have been admitted free of duty. They should also be shown in the monthly return No. 18-1, and the corresponding annual table No. 18 of articles allowed free for the use of private individuals, institutions, &c. (G. I., F. & C., No. 3664, dated 19th October 1881; vide G. R. No. 6489, dated 31st idem.)

50. In the monthly and annual accounts of the Trade and Navigation of British India the total value of the merchandise and treasure imported and exported viâ the Suez Canal is exhibited, but it is very desirable that the value of the trade with each country passing through the Canal should be shown in these accounts separately from the trade carried by other routes, as for example, round the Cape of Good Hope.

The additional statistics will appear only in the Imperial volume for British India and the tables in the Provincial volumes of the trade and shipping viâ the Suez Canal will remain unchanged.

Annual returns, however, will be required of the trade and shipping of the Bombay Presidency and of the Province of Sind with each foreign country viâ the Canal, for use in preparing the tables for the whole of British India. The Commissioner in Sind, the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bkari, and the Political Resident, Aden, should transmit the returns direct to the Government of India so as to reach that Government by 1st June. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 4898, dated 13th November 1882, and 63-S., dated 9th May 1884; vide G. Rs. Nos. 602, dated 24th January 1883, 4048, dated 20th May 1884, and 5005, dated 21st June 1884.)

51. In the monthly trade return No. 15 showing the gross amount of import duty collected on each article, the amount of duty collected on salt, salted fish, opium and spirits imported from foreign ports should be shown separately from the amounts collected on imports coastwise.

The same distinction should be made in the monthly trade return No. 17, in which the drawbacks paid and duty refunded should be shown separately for each of the articles above-named when imported from foreign ports and when imported coastwise.

The distinction should also be carried out in the corresponding tables of the annual statement of trade and navigation Nos. 15, 15A and 17. (G. I., R., A. & C., Nos. 188-C., dated 28th July 1876, and 496-C., dated 11th November 1878; vide G. Rs. Nos. 4495, dated 7th August 1876, and 5927, dated 18th November 1878.)

52. A diversity of practice exists in regard to the inclusion in returns Nos. 15 and 16 in the Provincial Annual Volumes of trade and navigation of figures of duty collected on passengers' baggage. In the volumes for Bengal and the Bombay Presidency the figures are entered separately against the heading 'Passengers' Baggage'; while in those for the Madras Presidency, Sind and British Burma the figures are apparently distributed among the articles in the body of the returns.

This latter practice will be adopted in future in the consolidated statements prepared by the Government of India, and should also be followed in the compilation of the Provincial Annual Volumes.

These instructions apply also to the figures of duty collected at Cambay, Bilimora and Navsári. (G. I., F. & C., No. 62-S., dated 13th February 1885; vide G. R., No. 1794, dated 2nd March 1885.)

53. In the monthly returns of Customs duty Nos. 15 and 16 the figures of duty realized on passengers' baggage should be distributed among the respective articles in the body of the returns. (G. I., F. & C., No. 95-S., dated 24th March 1894, to the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium, and A'bkári.)

54. The monthly trade return No. 17, showing the description and value of goods on which drawbacks have been paid, or duties have been refunded, should exhibit separately the articles imported and those exported, the total amount of drawbacks and refunds being shown for imports, and the total amount of refunds for exports.

The table No. 17 of Part I (Foreign Trade) of the forms prescribed for the annual volume should also show separately the articles of import and export. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. C.-9, dated 25th April 1876; vide G. R. No. 2843, dated 11th May 1876.)

55. The articles* noted below should be invariably entered in the monthly trade return No. 18 of the new series (showing the quantities of certain principal articles of imported merchandise remaining in bond). It will of course be discretionary with the Customs authorities to enter in this return, in addition to the articles now prescribed, any other articles which it has hitherto been the practice to enter in the corresponding return No. 15 of the old series, or which may at any time seem to be of sufficient importance to require insertion:—

(G. I., R., A. & C., No. 375, dated 10th July 1875; vide G. R. No. 4173, dated 23rd idem.)

56. A heading for articles exported by post similar to the head "articles imported by post" should be opened in the monthly and annual trade returns.

In the case of exports there being a difficulty in making the required distinction between articles of Foreign and those of Indian origin, the Government of Bombay proposed that the required distinction be made by assuming that all articles exported by post, except those which on the face of the declarations appeared to have been produced in Europe, were of Indian production or manufacture. This method would no doubt give results wanting in accuracy, but the error would be of no appreciable importance, and as the error of leaving out these exports altogether was important, the Government of India intimated that it had no objection to the adoption of the method proposed by the Government of Bombay. (G. I., F. & C., No. 78-S., dated 26th February 1885; vide G. R. No. 2380, dated 20th March 1885.)

57. Considering the very insignificant proportion which imports and exports of bullion and coin by foreign parcel post bear to the total imports and exports of these articles, it is unnecessary and would be inexpedient to insist on the weight being given in the Post Office invoices. For post parcels sufficiently accurate figures can be ascertained by calculating for silver one tola of weight for every rupee of declared value and for gold one tola of weight for every Rs. 20 to Rs. 22 of declared value according to the current price of gold. This plan may not give absolutely accurate weights, but the weights will be approximately correct, and considering the insignificance of the traffic by parcel post it seems better to be content with approximately accurate weight than to increase the details to be filled up by the public in declarations accompanying post parcels. (G. R. No. 850 dated 5th February 1885.)

ments, as Government stores. A foot-note should be attached to the tables of Government stores stating how much of the total value of the imports represents the value of stores on the Rájputána-Málwa Railway. (G. I., F. & C., No. 48-S., dated 16th February 1888; vide G. R. No. 1519, dated 5th March 1888.)

59. There is no objection to the figures of the imports of spirit being recorded, for purposes of the Customs Department, in the denomination of 'proof spirit gallons,' but in the statistical returns of trade furnished to the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce or published locally the record should be made invariably in the denomination of 'liquid gallons.' (G. I., F. & C., No. 196-S., dated 12th July 1888; vide G. R. No. 5018, dated 27th idem.)

60. As cotton seed, which forms a portion of the export of seeds classed as "other sorts" in the monthly returns of sea-borne trade, is an export of considerable importance from other countries, it is expedient to note the quantities of it exported from India. The Customs authorities should accordingly distinguish cotton seed separately in the returns. (G. I., F. & C., No. 5628, dated 15th October 1888; vide G. R. No. 7405, dated 7th November 1888.)

61. The particular attention of all Customs officers is called to the necessity of verifying the declarations of importers and exporters and of enforcing the law where the declarations are found to be seriously inaccurate. The Government of India, agreeing with Her Majesty's Secretary of State, attaches great importance to the maintenance of accuracy in the declarations which form the basis of the statistics of trade. (G. I., F. & C., No. 4591, dated 6th November 1891; vide G. R. No. 8213, dated 30th idem.)

E.—MISCELLANEOUS.

1. It is of more importance to stimulate and develop the production of articles already known in the country, such for instance as the ground-nut (Arachis hypogæa), than to initiate costly experiments in articles not commercially known and of which the ultimate success is problematical. (G. I., B., A. & C., Nos. 514C.-524 C., dated 2nd November 1877; vide G. R. No. 6836, dated 14th idem.)

2. The request of the Secretary of State that arrangements may be made for the transmission to the India Office, for publication in the journal of the Board of Trade, of information regarding tariffs and trade which may be of interest to merchants

[TRADE AND COMMERCE.]

The Department of Finance and Commerce will contribute statistics and reports upon the external trade, sea-borne and land, and the shipping of India, and also information in regard to changes in the customs and excise duties.

The other Departments will contribute papers on all matters of interest connected with—

- (a) Home Department.—The operation of the laws regulating patents, patterns and designs, and copyrights.
- (b) Foreign Department.—Reports, so far as they are not confidential, from the officers of that Department and Consuls and Consular Agents touching trade in the Persian Gulf, Persia, Muscat, Kábul, Káshmir, Ladakh and other places.
- (c) Public Works Department.—Opening of new lengths of railway, projects for construction of new lines, linking of through communication with sea-ports, opening of important bridges, and material changes in rates for transport of merchandise on any large line.
- (d) Revenue and Agricultural Department.—Statistics and reports, whether periodical or special, compiled in that Department concerning internal trade or agricultural and economic products, and any meteorological reports, which from a commercial point of view are of interest or value.

Each Local Government and Administration is also requested to co-operate by furnishing the Department of Finance and Commerce with papers of interest bearing on the trade and industry of the province.

It is not necessary to print any of the papers that may thus be sent to the Department of Finance and Commerce unless it is decided for other reasons to print them. Nor is it necessary to furnish the information in any special shape, as it has been ascertained that all papers sent from India will be edited before publication. (G. I., F. & C., No. 4834, dated 10th September 1887; vide G. R. No. 6915, dated 11th October 1887.)

3. Reports relating to the opening of new lengths of railway and other matters of interest dealt with in the Public Works Department required for communication to the editor of the Journal of the Board of Trade should not be furnished periodically, but as soon as possible after the occurrence of the event to which they relate, as they are intended for publication in a monthly journal. (G. I., F. & C., No. 340-S, dated 20th December 1887.)

SALT.

I.—REPORTS AND RETURNS.

1. The annual Administration Report of the Salt and Continental Customs Department of the Bombay Presidency should be submitted to Government by the end of August, so that both report and the review thereof may reach the Government of India before 1st October. (G. Rs. Nos. 5100, dated 2nd August 1882, and 169, dated 9th January 1885.)

2. The Commissioner in Sind should forward the annual Administration Report of the Salt Department in Sind in print by the 1st September of each year at the latest to enable Government to transmit it to the Government of India, within six months of the close of the year to which it relates. Instructions regarding the number of copies of the report required by Government should be obtained annually from the Secretariat by the Superintendent of the Commissioner's Printing Press. (G. R. No. 178, dated 12th January 1886.)

3. It would be advantageous if in the annual reports on the administration of the Salt and Continental Customs Department an attempt were made to estimate the actual consumption of salt in each district and province, or at least to show the quantities of salt consumed within the Presidency and exported beyond its frontiers. It is, for obvious reasons, of great importance to know whether the average consumption of salt in each locality is increasing or declining, and to what extent, and it is believed that the information contained in port returns, in the inter-station traffic returns of railways, and in the permits issued at the salt works, can, if properly collected, supply sufficiently accurate data for such an estimate. (S. of S. No. 5, dated 29th January 1880; vide G. R. No. 1169, dated 4th March 1880.)

4. The chief causes to which any marked variations in the wholesale price of salt at the different works may be due should be noticed in the annual administration report of the Salt Department.

It would be advisable to have a statement showing for the chief district trade centres in this Presidency the average local wholesale price of salt. This would be a useful index to the extent to which the measures adopted for preventing the making of earth-salt have succeeded, and would help to show in what districts increased vigilance is necessary. If this information were obtained, it would be possible to prepare a return showing, for the different districts, how much of the local wholesale price of salt is due to the cost of manufacture, to the incidence of the salt-tax, and to carriage. Such a return would, in time, as the causes of special fluctuation such as those connected with the salt arrangements with Native and Foreign States ceased to operate, furnish valuable materials on which to base a judgment as to the effect that changes in the price of salt have on the quantity consumed.

Information as regards the disposal of salt from Uran, Bassein, Ghodbandar, Mátunga, Sánkse, Trombay and Panvel, similar to that supplied for the Khárághoda traffic in the report on the administration of the Salt and Continental Customs Department for 1879-80, should, if it can be supplied, find a place in future administration reports. (G. R. No. 6110, dated 18th November 1880.)

5. The Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay, and the Collector of Salt Revenue in Sind should telegraph to the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue periodically the total quantity of salt of every description on which duty has been paid and the amount of duty realized thereon from the commencement of the financial year up to the 7th, 15th, 22nd and 30th or 31st of each month, distinguishing home-made and imported salt.

The periodical telegram should be despatched in time to admit of its being delivered at Agra not later than the tenth day after the expiration of the period to which it relates, e.g., the telegram supplying figures from 1st April to 7th June, should reach Agra not later than the 17th, that for 1st April to 15th June not later than the 25th June, and so on. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1809, dated 20th June 1882; vide G. R. No. 4375, dated 8th July 1882.)

6. The Commissioner in Sind and the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkari should arrange for the transmission to the Government of India of the monthly statements of salt revenue for their respective charges so as to reach that Government by or before the end of the fortnight succeeding the month to which the statements relate. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 3271, dated 28th September 1881, and 303 S., dated 21st November 1888; vide G. R. No. 5948, dated 10th October 1881, and G. M. No. 8081, dated 4th December 1888.)

7. In the monthly returns the duty on salt imported by sea or land should be included, but not collections on account of ground-rent and other miscellaneous items of salt revenue, such as the sale-proceeds of the right of the occupancy for stated periods of Government salt works, cess levied on account of the proprietary right of Government in certain salt works, &c. The whole revenue from duties may be included in a lump sum in the returns with marginal remarks showing the separate items of which it is composed. When the duty entered in the returns does not correspond with the amounts obtained by multiplying the quantities on which duty was collected by the rates per maund locally current, notes should be given explaining the causes of the differences. (G. I., R., A. & C., Nos. 157, dated 10th May 1875, and 48, dated 25th January 1877; vide G. Rs. Nos. 2909, dated 21st May 1875, and 713, dated 3rd February 1877.)

8. The Government of India obtains through other channels the outcome of the treasury figures as regards the receipts and expenditure of the Salt Department, but what it wants from the Collector of Salt Revenue, in connection with the monthly returns of salt revenue, for its Statistical Branch is a statement of the quantities of salt removed from the salt works and imported and the duty realized thereon at the rate current in the province. When, therefore, the quantities of salt taxed or sold have been ascertained (a matter in which the Collector is in no way dependent upon the treasuries), all that seems to be needful is to calculate the revenue on these quantities at the current rate of duty per maund. (G. I., F. & C., No. 255 C, dated 16th November 1881; vide G. R. No. 7100, dated 25th idem.)

9. The Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkari and the Commissioner in Sind should submit detailed comparative statements of salt revenue for the Bombay Presidency and the Province of Sind annually along with their salt revenue returns for the month of March or as soon as possible after the expiration of the year. (G. I., R., A. & C., No. 261, dated 28th June 1879, and G. I., F. & C., No. 168 C, dated 21st June 1880; vide G. Rs. Nos. 3575, dated 8th July 1879, and 3385, dated 30th June 1880.)

10. The Commissioner in Sind and the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkari should submit annually statements showing the quantity and value of salt produced in their respective charges during the calendar year, salt made by Government being distinguished from salt made otherwise than by Government. The value of salt made by Government should be the fixed selling price at the place of manufacture or production, and in the case of other salt the wholesale market price, excluding duty, at the place of manufacture. The returns should be supplied so as to reach this Government not later than 1st February and the Government of India by 1st March. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 4002, dated 23rd July 1888, and 274 S, dated 1st November 1890; vide G. Rs. Nos. 5301, dated 6th August 1888, and 8161, dated 18th November 1890.)

11. The Librarian at the Brunner Library, Northwich, in Cheshire, should be regularly supplied with a copy of the annual report on the administration of the Salt Department and of any reports of officers or committees giving details of the salt system. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1586, dated 28th March 1887; vide G. R. No. 3140, dated 20th May 1837; also G. R. No. 33, dated 4th January 1887.)

confiscated under Section 48* of Act VII of 1873 should be uniform in all districts, and the decision of such cases should rest with the Collector of Salt Revenue. (G. R. No. 4389, dated 8th July 1882.)

8. His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to appoint the Collector of Customs, Bombay, the Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay, and the Collector of Customs, Karachi, within the local limits of their respective charges, to adjudge confiscations under Section 6 of the Transport of Salt Act, 1879. (G. N. No. 5408, dated 28th July 1886.)

9. The Collector of Salt Revenue should submit the return prescribed in Government Resolution, Financial Department, No. 1906, dated 21st July 1887, of stores in charge of the Salt Department in the Presidency Proper to the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkari for scrutiny. Government have no objection to the former officer exercising the power vested in District Collectors of writing off the return articles the cost of which does not exceed Rs. 100. (G. R. No. 1045, dated 15th February 1888.)

10. The Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay, is authorized to sanction refunds of excess payments made by traders in salt on account of duty on salt removed from the salt works in the neighbourhood of Bombay. (G. R. No. 1300, dated 24th February 1888.)

11. Leases of land let for manufacture of salt should be executed by the Collector of Salt Revenue. (G. R. No. 4328, dated 30th June 1888.)

12. The Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay, is authorized to sign all credit bonds for the removal of salt executed by salt merchants in the Bombay Presidency. No extension of the prescribed period of credit should be allowed in any case without the sanction of the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkari. (G. R. No. 3593, dated 26th May 1891.)

13. As rewards in salt cases are countersigned contingencies, and the Commissioner is the controlling officer for the Salt Department in Sind, he has power to transfer a portion of the grant of one office to that of another. (G. R. No. 9069, dated 11th December 1893.)

III.—ESTABLISHMENTS.†

1. It is sufficient to report to the Government of India changes made in the petty establishment of the Salt Department in quarterly statements. (G. I. F. & C., No. 5767, dated 31st October 1887; vide G. R. No. 7860, dated 17th November 1887.)

* Cf. Sections 50 and 52 (1) of Act II of 1890.

† Vide also orders No. 4 to 7, sub-head VI.

2. The Bombay Salt and Customs Department is authorized to entertain temporary kárkúns as weigh-clerks on salaries not exceeding Rs. 30 a month in exceptional cases for short periods to meet press of business. (G. I., F. & C., Nö. 4613 Ex., dated 21st October 1893; vide G. R. No. 8141, dated 6th November 1893.)

3. The Collector of Salt Revenue is authorized, subject to the approval of the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkári, and so long as the total strength and cost are unaffected, to vary the distribution of the establishments under him to suit the pressure of work. (G. R. No. 9169, dated 14th December 1893*).

4. The pay of all employés in the Salt Department is personal. (G. R. No. 9169, dated 14th December 1893.)

5. Section 8 of Bombay Act II of 1890 and Chapter III of the Bombay Land Revenue Code, 1879, can only legally operate in respect of security bonds taken subsequently to the date on which Bombay Act II of 1890 came into force.

The provisions of Chapter III of the Land Revenue Code applicable to principals apply to employés in the Salt Department, by virtue of Section 8 of Bombay Act II of 1890, whether their security bonds may have been executed before or after the passing of the latter Act. (L. R. No. 1335, dated 10th August 1891; vide G. R. No. 3645, dated 25th April 1892.)

6. The practice† existing in the Salt Department regarding the taking of securities from the officers of * Vide also G. R. No. 890, dated 2nd February 1895.

† "The practice was originally based on a circular, No. 61 of 1851,...which was based on the provisions of Acts XVIII of 1838 and XII of 1850 and directed that security was only to be taken from Sar-kárkúns, Dároghas, Aval-kárkúns, Shroffs, Bandar-kárkúns, Sazedárs and other officers entrusted with the collection of revenue.

"About 1863 an order seems to have been given that no Kárkúns who had not given security were to be employed upon weighments. In 1877, Nákedárs were required to find security. Holders of the appointments of weigh-clerks and Preventive officers which were created at the revision in 1884 have also been required to furnish security, and the general result is that there is scarcely an officer in the Department, except some of the members of Huzúr Establishments and the Coast Guard Inspectors, who is not or at least ought not, according to the practice, to be required to furnish security." (Extract paras. 2 and 3 of letter No. 4630, dated 15th October 1886, from the Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay.)

"The existing practice is so fully described in Mr. Trevor's No. 4630, dated 15th October 1886, that I need only briefly state that every officer of the Department in superior service from Sar-kárkún downwards furnishes security varying from Rs. 50 to Rs. 2,000. To this general statement there are a few exceptions, the most noteworthy being the Coast Guard and the Northern Frontier Inspectors and the Preventive Establishments in Goa and Gujarát. Two appointments are treated exceptionally, the security demanded being in each case Rs. 5,000. The one is the Cashier in the Chief Account Office and the other is the Sar-kárkún of Goa,* who is in charge of a treasury where the balance is always large and sometimes is as much as a lákh of rupees." (Extract para. 2 of letter No. 342, dated 23rd January 1891, from the Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay.)

* This Sar-kárkúnehip has been abolished on the termination of the Anglo-Portuguese Treaty.

that Department, suits the peculiar circumstances and duties of the Department; and should be continued. (G. R. No. 3645, dated 25th April 1892.)

7. Under Clause ii of Article 1092 of the Civil Service Regulations, Second Edition, one-third is fixed as the deduction to be made from the travelling allowances ordinarily admissible to Coast Guard Inspectors of the Salt Department as the fixed hire or charge for the boats and crews with which they are provided. (G. R. No. 7937, dated 7th October 1892.)

IV.—GENERAL PRINCIPLES.

1. If, in any particular, it can be shown that the importers of English salt are placed at a disadvantage as compared with the producers of native salt—whether the Government, as in Bengal, or private manufacturers, as in Bombay—measures should be at once adopted to put them on a perfect equality. (S. of S. No. 16, dated 16th December 1859; vide G. Ms. Nos. 582 and 583, dated 13th February 1860.)

2. The true principle which should regulate the administration of Government salt works is to allow the free purchase of salt by whoever chooses to pay the price and duty, leaving its subsequent disposal to be regulated by the demands of the trade. The policy should everywhere be to ensure, subject only to the condition of the security of the revenue, the freest and fairest competition between different kinds of salt, whether the produce of Government or of private works, and whether paying duty to the credit of one or of another Department. This principle is evidently most advantageous to the public as ensuring the largest possible supply at the lowest price, and it is equally advantageous to the revenue which benefits by the largest possible consumption. (S. of S. No. 85, dated 13th October 1881; vide G. R. No. 7163, dated 28th November 1881.)

3. The obvious meaning of the Secretary of State's Despatch No. 85, dated 13th October 1881, is that Government should strive to produce at its salt works the quantity of salt demanded there by the trade, but that its subsequent distribution should be left to the ordinary channels of trade. Exceptional arrangements can be permitted only where exceptional circumstances sufficiently justify interference on the part of Government. (G. L. F. & C., Nos. 2183, dated 27th July 1886, and 17, dated 7th January 1887; vide G. Rs. Nos. 5879, dated 17th August 1886, and 923, dated 9th February 1887.)

4. The following principles should regulate the sale of salt on behalf of Government:—

As a rule, Government should content itself with the levy of the duty and price at the sources of supply, and leave the subsequent disposal of the salt to the natural course of trade. The intervention of Government becomes necessary when from any measures taken by it (as in the case of Gujarat and Rajputana) there is a scarcity of salt and a consequent rise in price in any particular area, or when owing to a combination of traders, prices are maintained at an unreasonably high level. Such intervention should, however, be reduced to a minimum, and be so applied as not to exclude or discourage private enterprise in the same direction, and it should cease as soon as the necessity has passed away. No measures should be adopted in order to attract business to any particular salt work or depot which may have the effect of preventing the trade from supplying itself by the cheapest means. (G. I., F. & C., No. 2183, dated 27th July 1886; vide G. R. No. 5879, dated 17th August 1886.)

V.—SELLING PRICE OF SALT.

1. Owing to the differences of system which of necessity prevail in different parts of India, it is impracticable to fix a uniform price at which salt should be sold at all Government works throughout India. In order, however, to ensure that the price, in such instances as it lies in the power of Government to fix it, is calculated upon sound principles and not in such a manner as to compete at an unfair advantage with salt supplied to the market by private enterprise, the issue of definite instructions appears to be required.

The systems under which the Government connection with the salt trade is carried into effect are three :—

- (1) Charging a customs duty on all salt imported into British India.
- (2) Charging an excise duty on all salt manufactured in British India by private persons on their own account.
- (3) Manufacturing salt by Government on its own account, either by hired or contract labour, and selling it at a price sufficient to cover the cost of so doing, together with a fixed duty equal to the customs or excise duty.

Under the first two systems Government confines itself to taxation; under the third it undertakes the functions of a private manufacturer in addition. In former days the Government was not only a manufacturer but an absolute monopolist; but in 1836 it so far abandoned this position, on the recommendation of a Committee of the House of Commons, as to throw open the salt import trade to private enterprise, retaining a monopoly of local manufacture only. From that date onwards, it has been gradually relinquishing direct manufacture in all cases where the necessary supply of salt to the public could be ensured under either the customs duty or the excise duty systems.

The three systems at present prevail in the localities described below :—

- (a) Customs duty.—Bengal (including Behar), Assam and British Burma.

(b) Excise duty.—Western India, from the Tāpti river south to Cape Comorin, Berār, and the south-west portion of the Central Provinces; also a few spots in Bengal and Orissa, and to a limited extent in Burma.

(c) Manufacture and monopoly.—The east coast of the Madras Presidency, the rest of the Central Provinces, Bombay north of the Tāpti, Sind, the Punjab, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, Rājputāna and Central India.

This classification is, of course, in very general terms; the different salts compete with each other on the boundaries, and interlace in their areas according to local taste and preference and not price alone; but it may be considered substantially correct.

The charges of all kinds which fall on Government from its connection with salt may be described and classified as follows:—

- |                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                           |

It will be observed that cost of conveyance from store-house to market is not mentioned, because it is outside the purposes of these calculations, and necessarily falls on the consumer in proportion to his distance from the salt source from which he draws his supplies. In some cases, moreover, where the depôts are at a distance from the market, the cost of conveyance to them may be advanced by Government, and recovered in ordinary course.

* This may be defined as "the mere making of the salt, i. e., the total cost up to the time when so much salt is laid down in a marketable condition at the very spot where it was made."

On a scrutiny of the charges enumerated in the preceding paragraph, it will be seen that the first three only, viz. administration, collection and prevention, are incidental to the interference of Government, for taxation purposes, in the matter of salt. The remainder are all borne alike by Government and private individuals whenever either of them undertakes the trade of producing and selling salt. From this and economic principles which are so evident that it seems superfluous to set them forth it follows that whenever Government and the private trader meet, they do not do so on fair terms, and the latter is unjustly weighted, unless the former scrupulously includes in its selling price (exclusive of duty) whatever items the latter has ordinarily to bear. To be more specific, the first three items of charge just mentioned should be paid out of the receipts for duty, the rate being fixed accordingly, if necessary; the remainder should all come into the calculation of the selling price, with the exception of such treaty payments as are made for the prevention of smuggling, or in order to secure for the British Government the right of charging duty on salt consumed in Foreign States. If the selling price is less than it should be, in order to cover all the proper items, a particular locality benefits at the expense of the general tax-payer; if the reverse, the Government is really levying more than the tax allowed by law, excepting of course in the case of salts which, from superior quality and limitation of supply, have an adventitious market value not dependent upon the cost of production. The price may also, in special cases, be affected by the place in which the salt is sold, the quantity included in any transaction, the sum paid by the Government for its purchase, or other peculiar circumstances affecting the sale.

To apply the test of these principles to every salt work or group of works with which Government is more or less connected, would in this place be a tedious and unnecessary task. It is sufficient to state that a very careful review of the Indian salt system which has been made shows that in Bengal, Bombay, Sind and the Punjab mines, Government makes no attempt to impose any charge on salt other than the fixed duty, and, in any case where Government holds a monopoly of salt, a selling price which is calculated to cover the cost of manufacture.

His Excellency the Governor General in Council has considered it to be necessary, in view of the discussions which have arisen, and the uncertainty which has prevailed, to lay down the principles upon which the selling price of salt should be regulated in all parts of British India in which it is fixed by the Government. It will rest with the Local Governments and the Commissioner of the Inland Customs, within their respective jurisdictions, to scrutinise periodically the price from time to time in force, and to take into consideration such adjustments as an increase of sales, or of expenditure, or otherwise, may be found to demand. (G. I., F. & C., No. 326, dated 17th January 1882; vide G. R. No. 743, dated 2nd February 1882.)

2. The entire cost of the salt manufacture storage and establishments as well as the expenditure incurred by Government on account of its transport to depôts should be recovered from the sums realized from the sale of the salt apart from and in excess of the duty charged thereon. (G. I., R. A. & C., No. 291, dated 13th September 1878; vide G. R. No. 4937, dated 26th idem.)

3. The charges of which the Government of India has ordered the recovery from the sale-proceeds of salt are those incurred for the manufacture and sale of salt and not the cost of establishments maintained to collect and protect the public revenue. The charges for guarding the works, for office establishments, for watching the frontiers and natural deposits, and for preventing smuggling are not to be taken into account. For all other charges connected with the production and sale of the salt, an additional sum should be added to the price charged at the pans. To this a further addition for storage and freight will of course be made when the salt is transported for sale. An account of the whole of the charges debitable against this addition to the selling price and the amount realized by it should be carefully kept and submitted with the yearly report on salt administration. (G. R. No. 2277, dated 29th April 1879.)

4. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 8 of the Indian Salt Act, 1882, and in accordance with special orders made by the Governor General in Council in that behalf, the Governor in Council is pleased to fix the minimum price at which salt sold by or on behalf of Government at the Settlement of Aden shall, on and after the 1st day of April 1891, be sold at the following rate, namely, at 7 pies per 28 lbs. avoirdupois. (G. N. No. 2096, dated 23rd March 1891.)

VI.—MANUFACTURE OF SALT, AND LICENSEES.

1. The disposal of applications for permission to open new salt works shall, subject to the control vested in the Governor in Council and in the Commissioner by Bombay Acts* VII of 1873 and V of 1832, be regulated by the following rules:—

* Repealed Act II of 18

1. All applications for permission to manufacture salt are to be made to the Collector of Salt Revenue.

2. On receipt of any such applications the Collector of Salt Revenue shall in the first place make such enquiry as may be necessary to determine whether manufacture should be allowed or not in the locality referred to in the application. If it shall appear to him that manufacture may be allowed, and if the land be unoccupied, he shall report the result of his enquiry, with his own opinion and the grounds thereof, to the Commissioner of Salt Revenue, and shall, if the Commissioner so directs, apply to the Collector of Land Revenue to have the land placed at his disposal for salt manufacture in accordance with Rule 7 (b) of the rules under the Bombay Land Revenue Code.

3. If the Collector of Land Revenue agrees to the appropriation of the land for salt manufacture, the Collector of Salt Revenue shall thereupon have the land surveyed and cause a scheme to be prepared for its conversion into one or more salt works, on such plan and of such dimensions as he may consider most advantageous.

4. The scheme shall embody a plan showing the position, shape and dimensions of the work or works to be constructed, and of pans, reservoirs, banks, storage platforms, channels, paths, &c., the routes by which only the salt is to be removed, the number and description of chaukis and other buildings to be provided by the manufacturer, the contribution to be paid towards cost of additional establishment, the rate of ground-rent to be levied, and all other particulars and conditions which the circumstances of the case may demand or which may from time to time be prescribed.

5. (1) The Collector shall submit the scheme and plan so prepared to the Commissioner.

(2) On receiving from or through the Commissioner instructions as to the scheme and plan finally approved, the Collector of Salt Revenue may proceed to dispose of the right to construct the salt works and to manufacture salt in accordance with it either to the original applicant, if there be no others, or by inviting tenders, or by auction; or, if there be insufficient competition, may lease the ground for a suitable term of years, on condition that the work constructed thereupon shall revert to Government on the expiry of the lease.

(3) In the event of the Collector desiring to substitute a lease for a term of years instead of putting up to auction the right to manufacture, &c., he shall, before passing orders, submit the matter to the Commissioner, and act in accordance with his directions.

6. The person whose application, tender or bid is accepted, or to whom the ground may be leased, shall be required to conform strictly to the scheme, any departure from which, except with the permission of the Collector in writing under sanction previously obtained from the Commissioner, will entail forfeiture of the permission to manufacture.

7. The Collector of Salt Revenue may, at any time of his own motion under sanction previously obtained from the Commissioner, apply to the Collector of Land Revenue to set apart for salt manufacture any unoccupied and unassessed land which he considers suitable and likely to be required for that purpose, and on the land being set apart may either at once proceed to prepare a scheme and dispose of the right of manufacture, or await applications, as may seem most advisable.

8. It is to be distinctly understood that the right to manufacture salt conferred by the Collector of Salt Revenue under the foregoing rules, whether for a term of years or otherwise, will be distinct from the occupancy and includes no proprietary right. On the determination of the right to manufacture, whether by expiry, forfeiture or otherwise, the possession of the ground and of any works constructed on it reverts to Government absolutely.

9. (1) When the application relates to occupied land, the Collector of Salt Revenue, if he considers that manufacture may be allowed, shall inform the applicant of the terms upon which permission will be given, and refer him to the Collector of Land Revenue. On the receipt of an intimation that no objection to such appropriation exists on the part of the Land Revenue Department, the Collector of Salt Revenue shall, in consultation with the Collector of Land Revenue, consider on which of the alternative conditions mentioned in Rule 7 (C)* of the Bombay Land Revenue Code Rules the permission to appropriate and the license to manufacture should be granted, and shall submit the result of such consideration to the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and Abkari.

*Printed at pages 10-11 of the Compilation of General Rules.

(2) If under instructions received from the Commissioner it is decided that the occupancy should be relinquished and that a lease shall be granted in its stead, the Collector of Salt Revenue shall prepare a scheme under Rule 4 of these rules. In any other case the terms on which the license to manufacture salt shall be granted shall be such as may from time to time be prescribed. All decisions under this rule shall, before the application is finally disposed of, be communicated to the applicant, who, if the license to manufacture salt is granted, will be bound by all the conditions so decided on. (G. N. No. 1733 B., dated 5th March 1890.)

2. The following form of license for the manufacture of salt is for use in the case of all licensees who have not established by sanad, under Section 21† of the Bombay Salt Act, 1873, a special and permanent right to manufacture salt. In the case of the excepted licensees, clauses 5 and 6 of the license should be omitted, because the rights referred to in those two clauses would depend upon their sanads :—

†Vide Section 16 of Act II of 1890.

I, _____, Collector of Salt Revenue, do hereby authorize and empower _____ now dwelling at _____ in the taluka of _____ to manufacture salt at _____ called _____ situate at _____ the village of _____ in the taluka of _____ and in the district of _____ within the belowmentioned limits, viz., an area comprising _____ bounded on the north by _____ on the south by _____ on the east by _____ and on _____ the west by _____ provided that he conform to the following conditions which have been prescribed by His Excellency the Governor in Council in this behalf, and to all or any other such conditions which may hereafter be prescribed by His Excellency the Governor in Council in amendment of, or in addition to, the said conditions hereinafter set forth, viz. :—

(1) That he shall make his own arrangements to acquire possession of the ground on which he is hereby permitted to manufacture salt, if the said ground is not already in his possession, and if salt is to be manufactured on the said ground for the first time, he shall complete all preliminary arrangements, in time to commence the manufacture of salt within two years from the date of this license, failing which this license will be recalled.

(2) That he shall not make any alteration in the disposition (as it exists, if the land is already under salt manufacture, or as it may be finally settled before commencement of manufacture) of the land within the aforesaid limits by forming new pans, or enlarging or altering existing pans, or in any other manner without first obtaining the written permission of myself or of my successor in office for the time being.

(3) That he shall pay on demand such sum as may at any time be determined by myself or by my successor in office at the time being on account (1) of the expenses of any survey that may be ordered by me, or by my successor in office for the time being, of the land within the aforesaid limits, and (2) of preparing maps thereof.

(4) That he shall not use the land within the aforesaid limits for any purpose unconnected with the manufacture and storage of salt.

(5) That he shall not without the written permission of myself or of my successor in office for the time being, sublet, sell, mortgage or otherwise alienate, wholly or in part, the privilege granted by this license of manufacturing salt on the land within the aforesaid limits.

*Repealed by Act I of 1894.

(7) That he shall pay ground-rent at the rate of or such other rate as may from time to time be fixed by me, or my successor in office for the time being, under the orders of Government.

(8) That he shall produce this license whenever called upon by an officer of the Salt Department.

† Now Act II of 1890.

(10) That in this license the word "licensee" shall be deemed to include the licensee, his heirs, executors and administrators.

(Additional condition to be inserted only when the licensee is lessee of Government salt pans.)

(11) That he shall act in all respects in conformity with the terms of the agreement executed by him under date the _____ by virtue of which he is placed in possession of the said pans.

SALT.]

(Additional condition to be inserted only when the licensee has agreed to pay the cost of establishment required for guarding his work.)

(12) That he shall pay monthly in advance Rs.        on account of the cost of the establishment employed as shown in the margin for guarding his salt work and that in the event of his failing to make punctual payment of any money so payable, the amount due shall be recoverable by myself or by my successor in office at the time being by distraint and sale of any salt belonging to him, or in any other manner authorized by law.

And this license shall continue in force from the        until the        and no longer, but shall be liable to be revoked, suspended or withdrawn at any time by competent authority under any of the provisions of (Bombay) Act VII of 1873 or of any other enactment relating to salt revenue at the time being in force.

3. There is no legal necessity for requiring licensees under the Bombay Salt Act to execute counterpart agreements. It will be sufficient if each licensee is required to sign an acknowledgment for the license issued to him. (L. R. No. 626, dated 16th May 1885; vide G. Rs. Nos. 4917, dated 16th June, and 6339, dated 6th August 1885.)

4. It should be clearly understood that in all future cases the proprietors of new salt works will be required to pay all establishment charges. (G. R. No. 2972, dated 18th April 1889.)

5. While exceptional service rendered to Government may create a claim to substantial recognition by Government, such recognition should not involve injurious treatment to other persons who are competing in the same description of business. The principle of granting to particular manufacturers or traders special concessions which favour them, at the expense of the general tax-payer, in the competition with others gaining their living in the same industry is so manifestly indefensible that no lengthened argument is required to show that it ought not to be permitted. In future therefore no concession should be given as regards exemption from the payment of the cost of the establishment required for supervising and guarding salt works opened by private individuals. (G. L. F. & C., Nos. 3659, dated 17th July 1889, and 1307, dated 18th March 1890; vide G. R. No. 2629, dated 16th April 1890.)

6. The establishment maintained at the cost of shilotris (farmers of salt works) for guarding their salt works should be included in the sanctioned strength of the Salt Department. The Accountant:

General is authorized to admit charges on account of establishments entertained from time to time at the cost of shilotris on the understanding that an annual statement showing the increase or decrease in the sanctioned strength in connection with such establishments is submitted for the information and approval of Government at the close of each financial year. The Commissioner of Salt should furnish to the Accountant General a monthly statement showing the amounts recovered and remaining to be recovered from the shilotris. (G. R. No. 3008, dated 21st April 1886.)

7. In respect of the establishments employed in guarding the salt works at the cost of the proprietors, the contributions for pension and leave allowances required under Article 854 of the Civil Service Regulations should be recovered from the proprietors in addition to the cost of the establishments. (G. R. No. 7503, dated 22nd October 1890.)

8. It is of the greatest importance to enforce the responsibility resting on licensees of salt works to prevent the removal, under permit, of salt from their salt works in excess of the quantities mentioned in the permits. The rules regulating the removal of salt should be strictly worked, and penalties should be exacted from all parties concerned in the removal of excess salt, especially in cases in which excesses in the number of bags removed are discovered. Leniency in the last named classes of cases will generally be out of place, as the taking into a salt work of empty bags in excess of the number allowed to be filled in is forbidden, and the full bags of each consignment have to be counted before any of them are allowed to be removed from the storage platforms. The licensee, the trader and the Sazedár are each bound to count the bags, and accidental mistakes are therefore impossible. (G. L. No. 82P, dated 23rd May 1891.)

VII.—TRANSPORT.

1. His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased under Section 3, Clause (c), of Act No. XVI of 1879, to exempt from the operation of Section 2 of the said Act such amount of salt not exceeding half a Bengal ser for each person on board as may be carried on any vessel for consumption by her crew or by the passengers on board. (G. N. No. 66, dated 6th January 1880.)

2. The small craft employed by contractors for the supply of salt to the States of Cochin and Travancore should be specially exempted from the restriction as to tonnage prescribed by the Transport of Salt Act, 1879. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1045, dated 8th March 1881; vide G. R. No. 1649, dated 21st idem.)

3. The words 'burden of 300 tons' used in Section 2 of the Transport of Salt Act, 1879, mean the gross tonnage of a vessel and not the net tonnage.

It is a well-established rule that penal enactments are to be strictly construed. 'The effect of the rule of strict construction,' says Maxwell, 'might almost be summed up in the remark that where an equivocal word or ambiguous sentence leaves a reasonable doubt of its meaning which the canons of interpretation fail to solve, the benefit of the doubt should be given to the subject and against the Legislature which has failed to explain itself.'

It is true that this rule 'yields to the paramount rule that every statute is to be expounded according to the intent of them that made it.' But the 'legislative intent,' i.e., the policy and object of the Legislature, was, as appears from the statement* of objects and reasons, merely to prevent the surreptitious landing and smuggling which it was then apprehended was carried on by 'very small craft,' and the original draft of the Act shows that it was intended to apply only to small vessels. There is no reason for supposing that it was intended to apply to vessels whose burden could only be reduced below 300 tons, by applying certain technical rules of measurement established for purposes foreign to the Act. (L. R. No. 604, dated 29th May 1893; vide G. R. No. 4584, dated 26th June 1893.)

VIII.—DUTY.

1. His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to order that on and after the first day of October 1874 no salt will be permitted to be exported by sea from any place in the Presidency of Bombay unless there shall have been paid in respect of such salt the full excise duty to which it may be liable under Act No. XXIV of 1869, or any other law for the time being in force. (G. N. dated 2nd September 1874; vide also G. R. No. 4575, dated 26th August 1874.)

2. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 7 of the Indian Salt Act, 1882, and in supersession of notifications by the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce, Nos. 1449, dated 10th March 1882, and 751, dated 28th April 1882, the Governor General in Council directs that on and after the date of this notification, the duty to be paid on salt manufactured in or imported by land into British India shall be as follows:—

- (a) in the case of salt manufactured in or imported by land into Lower Burma—one rupee for each maund of  $82\frac{2}{7}$  pounds avoirdupois weight, and
- (b) in the case of salt manufactured in or imported by land into any other part of British India, except that portion of the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab which lies west of the river Indus, two rupees eight annas for each maund of  $82\frac{2}{7}$  pounds avoirdupois weight.

(G. I., F. & C., Notn. No. 343, dated 19th January 1888; vide G. N. No. 423, of the same date.)

3. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 7 of the Indian Salt Act, XII of 1882, and in modification of the notifications by the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce, Nos. 2469, dated 3rd August 1883, and 343, dated 19th January 1888, the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following rule :—

On and after the first day of March 1891, the duty to be paid on salt manufactured in Aden shall be one rupee per 140 pounds avoirdupois.

(G. I., F. & C., Notn. No. 823, dated 25th February 1891; vide G. N. No. 1667, dated 4th March 1891.)

4. As regards salt used for packing hams, bacon and other salted provisions imported by sea, except where the salt is declared by the appraiser to be in trifling quantity and unmerchantable, in which case it need not be noticed by the Custom House, duty should be taken on the declared quantity verified by the appraiser, and a special pass should be given to the importer for the protection of the salt. In case the importer objects to pay duty, the salt should be destroyed in the presence of Customs officers.

The duty levied at the time of importation may be refunded on production of the salt before any Treasury officer (for destruction) together with the certificate of payment of duty. (G. I., F. & C., No. 46-S., dated 20th February 1883; vide G. Rs. Nos. 2031, dated 10th March 1883, and 1908, dated 1st March 1884.)

5. As regards the question as to the rate of duty to be paid on salt in cases in which payment has been made before an altered rate of duty comes into operation, the general rule seems clear, and whatever difficulty there may be lies in its application to the circumstances of each case. If payment of duty has been made in respect of a particular quantity of salt, the purchaser is not liable to pay enhanced duty if the duty be enhanced, or to a refund if the duty be reduced before the salt is actually removed. But if all that has happened has been that a certain sum of money has been paid to the salt authorities as a deposit against which the person making the payment is entitled to draw by making applications for the removal of salt, then that person is liable to pay duty at the rate for the time being in force, whether enhanced or reduced, on all salt to which a part of the sum deposited has not been appropriated before the enhancement or reduction. The date of payment and not the date of application is the test, in all cases in which the payment has been appropriated to a particular quantity of salt. (Adv. Gen. Nos. 9, dated 20th February 1888, and 37, dated 25th June 1888; vide G. M. No. 2262, dated 13th April 1888, and G. R. No. 4512, dated 9th July 1888.)

6. Credit for excise duty and other Government charges payable on salt to be removed from salt works or depôts in the Bombay Presidency is allowed under the following rules :—

(1) Persons desirous of availing themselves of the concession must execute agreements in the form appended to these rules, and must also fully endorse and deposit with the Collector of Salt Revenue, Government Promissory Notes, Treasury Loan Acknowledgments, Treasury Bills, Bombay Port Trust Bonds, or Bombay Municipal Debentures as security for the due performance of such agreements. Each agreement must be written on stamped paper of the value of eight annas.

(2) The depositor will be entitled to receive salt to the amount of credit given to him as shown in the Collector's receipt for his deposit. The credit will be fixed according to the market value of the securities, a deduction at the discretion of the Collector being made therefrom to meet the contingency of depreciation in the value of the securities during the currency of the credit.

(3) No agreement will ordinarily be made on account opened for a less sum than Rs. 2,000, nor shall the credit extend beyond 60 days; except in the case of salt exported to Calcutta, in which case 90 days' credit will be allowed. At the close of the prescribed period, the depositor must adjust his account, and it will be then open to him to apply for a new credit.

(4) The securities will be lodged in the Bank of Bombay. The interest accruing on them during the time they remain deposited with the Collector will be drawn by the Collector of Salt Revenue, and passed to the credit of the depositor's account current kept by the Collector as hereinafter provided.

(5) The Collector will grant a receipt for the securities deposited with him, and this receipt must be produced and given up when the depositor redeems his securities or closes his account. The amount of credit given will also be shown in the receipt.

(6) If so desired by the depositor, an account current between him and Government will be kept by the Collector of Salt Revenue at his office in Bombay, and will be open to the inspection of the depositor or his duly authorized agent on week days during office hours.

(7) It will be optional with a depositor to close his account at any time previous to the expiration of the term of credit by paying the amount shown to be due by him, and thereupon to receive back his securities.

(8) The depositor must apply in writing to the Collector of Salt Revenue for salt, stating the quantity he requires, and the salt work or depôt from which he proposes to remove it. If the Collector agrees to comply with the requisition, the Chief Account Officer will furnish the depositor with a delivery order on the proper officer, and enter the amount of excise duty and Government charges leviable and payable on such salt to the depositor's debit in the account current.

(9) At the expiration of the term of credit, the depositor must pay the balance then due from him on his account current for all the salt removed by him on credit. Should he fail to do so, he must pay interest on such balance, from the date on which the credit commenced to run, at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum, and the Collector may proceed to realize the amount due for principal and interest by the sale of the depositor's securities. Any surplus accruing on such sales will be paid to the depositor. Any loss which may be sustained in the event of the depositor's securities not realizing the sum due by him for principal and interest shall be forthwith paid by the depositor.

(10) Payments are to be made for the present at the office of the Collector of Salt Revenue in Bombay. If any depositor should prefer to make payments into a Government Treasury in the Mofussil, special application may be made to the Collector of Salt Revenue.

(11) Depositors must conform to the authorized rules at each salt work or depôt.

Form of bond for the removal of salt on credit.

An agreement made the _____ day of _____ one thousand eight hundred and _____ Between the Secretary of State for India in Council, of the one part, and _____ of the other part.

The said _____ having fully endorsed and deposited with the Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay, for the time being, the securities hereinafter mentioned, that is to say,

for securing the payment by him the said his executors, administrators, or personal representatives to the said Secretary of State, his successors or assigns, of all money which shall at any time or times become due, or owing from the said his executors, administrators, or personal representatives to the Government of Bombay on account of Government dues and other charges on salt removed from _____ on credit under the rules regulating such credit (a copy whereof is hereunto annexed), or which shall at any time or times be at the debit of the said _____ in his account current with the said Government in respect of such removals of salt on credit, it is hereby agreed between the said parties hereto, the said Secretary of State agreeing for himself, his successors, and assigns, and the said for himself, his executors, administrators, and personal representatives that the said securities so deposited as aforesaid, shall be subject and liable to all the provisions of the said rules and to such sale and appropriation of proceeds as therein provided. Further, that the interest which shall accrue due on the said securities while they remain in deposit with the Collector of Salt Revenue for the time being shall be drawn by such Collector and credited in such account current as aforesaid. And lastly, that each of the said parties hereto shall and will adhere to the said rules, and shall and will be bound thereby and by every stipulation and provision therein contained. In witness whereof _____ Esquire, Collector of Salt

Revenue, has, by order of the Governor of Bombay in Coun-

and 4893, dated 18th July 1891.)

7. The system which has obtained in Bombay since 1874 of giving credits to wholesale traders for duty and other charges payable on salt which they remove from the salt works and depôts on their depositing with the Collector blank-endorsed Government securities, if it is properly and freely worked, gives the trade advantages which are nearly if not quite equal to those which it would derive from the system of export under bond. The Governor General in Council will therefore not press for the introduction of the system of permitting export under bond on the understanding that the credit system is freely and liberally worked. (G. I., F. & C., Nos. 923, dated 14th February 1882, and 2718, dated 28th July 1882; vide G. Rs. Nos. 1484, dated 6th March 1882, and 5423, dated 12th August 1882.)

8. It is not desirable that any general extension of the credit system should be allowed. The object for which the system was introduced in this Presidency was to give the first hand dealers time to take salt from the salt works to its destination and to dispose of it there before they were called upon to pay the excise duty thereon. The period now allowed—viz. ninety days in the case of exports to Calcutta and sixty days in the case of exports to other places—is amply sufficient for this purpose in the large majority of cases, and it is certainly undesirable to postpone the realization of salt duty, or any other item of revenue, longer than is necessary. The maximum period of credit now in force should not be altered without the previous sanction of Government, but in special cases the Collector of Salt Revenue should be allowed discretion to extend, with the approval of the Commissioner, credits beyond the period for which they were originally granted. The limit of credit is for the present fixed at Rs. 2,000 subject to reconsideration after further experience. It should be noted that credit transactions are troublesome in many ways and need careful handling by both the head-quarter office and the sarkúns in charge of salt tálukas, and it is not advisable to multiply them in a rash or hasty manner. (G. R. No. 8597, dated 3rd December 1890.)

9. A wastage allowance of 5 per cent. on shipments of salt in square-rigged vessels from Bombay and Karáchi to Calcutta may be granted on the following conditions:—

Full duty should be levied on the salt as it leaves the works, and after the shipment is completed a 5 per cent. drawback be allowed the shipper. From this drawback should be deducted the duty on any difference that may be apparent between the quantity removed from the works and the quantity shipped. The quantity of salt for which permit was granted and the quantity on which drawback was allowed should be endorsed on the manifest. On the arrival of the cargo at Calcutta the difference, if any, between the Bengal and Bombay duties should be levied on the quantity for which permit was granted minus the 5 per cent. wastage allowance, and full Bengal duty should be levied on all salt landed in excess of that quantity.

It should be clearly specified in the ship's manifest that she left Bombay (a) with so many maunds of salt on which the Bombay rate of duty has been levied, and (b) with so many maunds on which no duty has been paid, drawback having been allowed on that quantity; calculation of these figures being sent by post to the Collector of Customs, Calcutta, as soon as each ship clears out of Bombay for Calcutta.

These rules apply to salt shipped in bags as well as to salt shipped loose. (G. Rs. Nos. 3256, dated 9th June 1875, 3449, dated 1st July 1879, and 7990, dated 21st October 1889; and G. I., R. A. & C., No. 196, dated 11th August 1876; vide G. R. No. 4930, dated 29th idem.)

10. The foregoing rules (Order No. 9) are extended to shipments of salt to Madras, Cochin, Ponani, Beypore, Calicut, Badajara, Tellichery, Cananore and Mangalore. (G. I., F. & C., No. 110, dated 9th January 1880; vide G. Rs. Nos. 326, dated 21st idem, and 2556, dated 15th May 1880.)

11. The Collector of Salt Revenue is not to permit salt to be removed free of duty, in lieu of quantities accidentally lost at sea after the consignments have left the preventive station. (G. R. No. 3671, dated 19th May 1893.)

12. Salt made at the Italian salt works at Aden may be allowed to be exported to Zaila free of duty. The right of Government to levy duty on the salt if and when it pleases at the rate in force in India should, however, be expressly reserved. (G. I., F. & C., No. S. R. 4344, dated 25th October 1892; vide G. R. No. 9011, dated 16th November 1892.)

13. The question of the issue of salt, free of duty, to be used in the manufacture of soap and alkali is becoming one of some importance, and the Governor General in Council is strongly in favour of an attempt being made to issue duty-free salt for these purposes under proper restrictions and with suitable precautions. His Excellency in Council believes that precautions which will sufficiently protect the revenue can be taken at a moderate cost. Each Local Government is accordingly empowered to make such arrangements as it may deem necessary for the purpose indicated. The arrangements should be made subject to the final decision of the Government of India, to whom they should be reported. It must be understood that the manufacturer is to bear any extra cost for preventive establishments, &c., which the grant of the concession may necessitate, and that the privilege is liable to be withdrawn if experience shows that it is being abused or that the revenue is suffering. (G. I., F. & C., No. 95, dated 5th January 1883; vide G. R. No. 1189, dated 7th February 1884.)

IX.—RULES UNDER THE BOMBAY SALT ACT.

1. By virtue of the authority vested in him by Section 35* of Bombay Act VII of 1873, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that on and after the first June 1876 next the provisions of that section and of the rest of Part IV of the Act shall be deemed to be, and be in force in every place situated in British territory within the taluka of Dhandhuka of the Ahmedabad District and within a distance of ten miles from the frontier of Káthiáwár. (G. N. dated 12th January 1876; vide G. R. No. 266 of the same date.)

in Council is pleased to make the following rules for regulating, with reference to the Shaikh Othman salt work at Aden, the matters referred to in the said section :—

(G. N. No. 2096A, dated 23rd March 1891.)

3. In exercise of the powers conferred by Sections 37, 52, 58 and 59 of the Bombay Salt Act, 1890, the Governor in Council is pleased to make the following rules and to direct that on and after the 15th November 1893 the same shall have force in supersession of all existing rules on the same subjects respectively:—

Preliminary.

Short title.

(1) These rules may be cited as the Bombay Salt Rules, 1893.

Deposit and Storage of Salt at Salt Works.

(1A.) No person shall allow any salt which is under his control to lie unheaped for more than 10 days or for a period longer than that allowed under any general or special order communicated to him as made by the Collector of Salt Revenue in this behalf.

(G. N. No. 7890 dated 26th October 1893.)

X.—SMUGGLING AND OTHER OFFENCES.

1. All Magistrates should bear in mind the repeatedly expressed opinion of Government that salt-smuggling is not a trivial offence to be lightly punished. Small punishments are only an incentive to break the law, besides endangering the revenue. (G. Rs. Nos. 262, dated 16th January 1875, and 6620, dated 7th November 1877.)

2. The prevention of salt-smuggling in all shapes forms part of the regular duties of the revenue and police establishments. (G. R. No. 7613, dated 26th December 1877.)

3. Attention has been attracted to the import into some provinces of untaxed foreign salt from trans-Himalayan sources. As yet the quantities imported have been insignificant, and there are no apparent probabilities of such development as to cause material injury to the revenue by the displacement of duty-paid salt. But it is desirable that the trade should be carefully watched, so that in case it displays a tendency to increase, measures for the protection of the revenue by the taxation of the imported salt may be timely adopted. All officers, therefore, concerned in the registration and record of the land trade should keep the import of salt specially in view, and make special reference to it in the Land Trade Reports of Sind. (G. I., R. A. & C., No. 8, dated 16th September 1878; vide G.R. No. 5061, dated 3rd October 1878.)

4. The following notification by the Political Agent, Káthiáwár, No. 44, dated 23rd December 1875 (vide Government Resolution, Political Department, No. 8210, dated 8th idem) shows the powers possessed by salt officers in Káthiáwár in regard to salt offences. The same powers were given to them, in regard to smuggling of opium, by Government Resolution, Political Department, No. 1591, dated 7th March 1891 (vide Revenue Department endorsement No. 2445, dated 8th April 1891):—

“It is hereby notified by order of the Governor in Council that all salt not duly covered by a permit, which shall be carried across the frontier line hereinafter described otherwise than by a route prescribed by the Governor in Council, and all salt spontaneously produced within and east of the said line which shall be removed without due permission, will from the date of this notice be contraband salt as defined in Bombay Act VII of 1873; and all persons concerned in passing, removing or transporting such salt, or accepting or retaining such salt, and all such salt and all vessels, animals, and conveyances used or intended to be used in transporting it, and all goods, packages and coverings in or among which it may be placed, will be liable to the penalties set forth in part VI of the said Act.

2. All salt stored within ten miles of the said frontier line in excess of the quantity bona fide required for local consumption, shall, from the date of this notice, be contraband and liable to confiscation, together with all goods, coverings and packages among or in which it may be placed.

"Definition of the salt frontier line south of the frontier of Rádhampur."

"From the Ruun opposite Rádhampur territory the line is to follow a course parallel to the coast of the Ruun, and at a distance of 3 miles therefrom, until it reaches the cart track leading from Sultánpur to Uru; from this point it will proceed straight to the westernmost masonry pillar of the Pátri-Bajāna boundary; thence it will run due east until it reaches the boundary of the Viramgám Táluka opposite the village of Goría, leaving on its north the village sites of Sáukás, Salla and Upariála in the Bajána Táluka: it will thence follow the boundary between British territory and Káthiáwár until, after encircling the Dhandhuka pargana, it reaches the Gulf of Cambay at the Sundrai creek.

"The following rules of procedure have been approved by His Excellency the Governor in Council:—

"I. For the maintenance of the Preventive Line in Káthiáwár the Chiefs should be required to admit posts of officers of the Salt Department into such villages and places as the Political Agent may appoint at the instance of the Collector of Salt Revenue, and to assist the salt officers to find accommodation in such villages and places in every reasonable way.

"II. The officers of the Salt Department should be permitted to follow and apprehend smugglers in Káthiáwár, and to seize suspected salt and carriages, animals and trappings used in its conveyance, and the contents of any package in which it may be concealed. And it shall be the duty of the officers making such apprehensions and seizures to take the prisoners and property forthwith to the Inspector to whom they are immediately subordinate, who after such preliminary inquiry as may be necessary (to be in all cases completed within 24 hours) shall forward any prisoners who appear from the information obtained to have committed any offence punishable under this notification to the proper Court, and shall release any prisoners, the evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion against whom appears insufficient to justify their transmission to a Court, submitting a report of the case for the orders of his immediate superior. Persons who may have been released from arrest under this rule by Inspectors of the Salt Department shall be liable to re-arrest and trial on application being made to the Political Officer in charge of the prant by the Assistant Collector of Salt Revenue in charge of the Preventive Line.

"III. It shall be the duty of the States concerned to cause their officers to take part in the pursuit and seizure of smugglers, &c., to prevent the storage of salt in contravention of Rule VII and generally to assist the officers of the Salt Department. In the case of any seizure made by the Chief's officers apart from the officers of the Department, notice should be given to the head local officer of the Department to whom the salt and property seized should be made over, and opportunity should be given for such inquiry as may be necessary to ascertain whether the property seized is liable to confiscation.

"IV. The Salt Department should prosecute all persons accused of smuggling before the Local Court of the Chief or Agency. An appeal to the Political Agent, if he has jurisdiction over the Local Court against the decision of the Court, whatever it may be, will be open both to the prosecutor and to the accused.

"V. Questions of confiscation of smuggled salt, &c., will be determined by the Collector of Salt Revenue, subject to an appeal to Government.

"VI. All fines levied, and the proceeds of all confiscations adjudged shall be at the disposal of the Governor in Council for the purpose mentioned in Section 61 of Bombay Act VII of 1873.

"VII. Storing of salt in excess of quantities required for local consumption in villages within 10 miles of the Preventive Line is prohibited as in itself evidence of an intent to smuggle. Officers of the Salt Department may visit Káthiáwár villages for the purpose of ascertaining whether any contravention of this prohibition has taken place and will then be entitled to respect and assistance. Should it appear to an officer of the Salt Department of not lower rank than an Assistant Inspector that salt is so stored, the village pátel and all superior authorities in the State shall, on the request of such officer, be bound to make effectual search for such salt and to record the result of such search in a report written at the time and signed by all officials of the State who are present. If such salt is found, they shall detain it for adjudication by the Political Officer within whose charge the place where the salt is found may be, who shall, if he considers that the salt found is in excess of the quantity bond fide required for local consumption, pass an order for its summary confiscation, together with all goods, packages or coverings in or among which it may be placed."

5. In continuation of the foregoing Notification No. 44, dated 23rd December 1875, the following Notification No. 32, dated 15th July 1884, regarding the arrangements for the storage and distribution of salt in Káthiáwár along the British Frontier was published by the Political Agent, Káthiáwár, under the authority of Government, at page 194 of the Kathiáwár Agency Gazette for 1884:—

"1. Within the 10-mile belt referred to in para. 2 of Notification No. 44 of 1875, there shall only be maintained the depôts noted in the schedule attached.

"2. In the depôts, exclusive of such as are at salt sources or works, the quantity of salt stored is to be regulated by the population as ascertained by the last census of the villages supplied from it, the average consumption per head being calculated at 12 lbs.

"3. During the rainy season, i.e., from 1st June to 1st October, salt sufficient for 4 months' consumption only may be stored in the salt depôts; at other seasons the amount stored is not to exceed what is sufficient for 2 months' consumption.

"4. As far as is found feasible, a licensed vendor shall be established in each village who is to obtain salt on permit from the depôt which supplies his village. Any licensed vendor obtaining salt from elsewhere to be liable to punishment in the spirit of Bombay Act VII of 1873. Where there is no licensed vendor, villages may be supplied by licensed hawkers according to the existing practice.

"5. Any person carrying salt for sale or for purposes other than personal consumption not covered by a permit shall be liable to punishment in the spirit of Section 51. of the Act above referred to.

"6. In all places where salt naturally forms, only so much as is required for bond fide consumption in Káthiáwár may be collected and stored. All salt in excess of this amount or not required for storage as being of inferior quality, to be destroyed.

"7. The responsibility of carrying out the above rules rests, in States enjoying recognized jurisdiction, on the Darbárs of those States, and in Thána circles on the Government officials in charge of that Thaná. All breaches of these rules to be punished in the spirit of the Bombay Salt Act.

"8. Any breach or neglect of these rules should be considered to be a breach or neglect of the provisions of Notification No. 44 of 1875 and action should be taken in such cases as prescribed in Article VII of the said Notification.

XI.—REWARDS.

1. The following Rules for regulating the grant of rewards to informers and seizers of contraband salt in the Bombay Presidency are published for general information :—

(1).—The Collector of Salt Revenue when ordering the confiscation of any property under the authority vested in him by the Salt Act may grant, in such proportions as he may think fit, to any person or persons who have contributed to the seizure of the property or the conviction of the offender, a reward not exceeding Rupees 3 per maund of salt confiscated, plus the estimated value of any other articles confiscated in the case plus the amount of any fine imposed.

(2).—In any case in which, in the opinion of the Collector of Salt Revenue, any person has performed any service of special merit in respect of the prevention or detection of salt smuggling, or of any offence against the salt laws, the Collector may grant to such person a reward not exceeding in amount Rs. 50.

(3).—The Collector of Salt Revenue or an Assistant Collector of Salt Revenue with the sanction of the Collector may incur at his discretion, expenditure not exceeding Rs. 100 in each case for the employment of informers, or for other purposes connected with the prevention or detection of salt smuggling, or of any offence against the laws relating to Salt.

(G. N. No. 1658 dated 1st April 1878.)

2. The following Rules for the grant of rewards to persons giving information of offences against the provisions of the Inland Customs Act, 1875, apply to all branches of the Sind Salt Department and to all its servants of and below the rank of Inspector or Superintendent :—

(1) Rewards shall be payable only to the persons concerned in the transactions out of which they may arise. All persons, whether servants of Government of whatever Department or private individuals, shall be entitled to participate.

(2) There shall be five kinds of rewards, viz. :—

(1) Sale-proceeds of confiscated salt or saltpetre and of all the articles seized and confiscated along with them.

(2) Additional duty on salt levied as a penalty under Rule 32 of the Rules of the Governor General in Council, dated the 7th August 1878, or under any rules sanctioned by the Governor General in Council under Section 15 of the Inland Customs Act of 1875.

(3) Halves of fines imposed by Magistrates whether with or without imprisonment.

(4) Special, in cases when the sentence passed does not include a fine.

(5) Special, not exceeding Rs. 100, for display of bravery and tact in effecting the seizure of smuggled goods or arresting offenders against the Inland Customs Act.

(3) Payments of the sum available for rewards shall be made in the following proportions, viz:

(a) To the informer or informers, if any, one-half the entire sum;

(b) To the Inspector or Assistant Inspector or other officer of the Sind Salt Department in charge of the beat, if present at or actually co-operating in (although not present at the moment of) the seizure, one-fourth the entire sum.

(c) To other servants of Government of whatever Department, present at or actually co-operating in the seizure, the remainder in proportion to their salaries.

(d) If there is no informer, one-half shall be paid to the officer of the Sind Salt Department in charge of the beat, if he be either present at or actually co-operating in the seizure, and the other half to the other persons present at or actually co-operating in the seizure.

(e) If there is no informer, and the officer of the Sind Salt Department in charge of the beat is not entitled under clause (d), the whole sum disposable for reward shall be paid to the persons present at or actually co-operating in the seizure.

(f) Servants of Government in other than the Salt Department, or private individuals, who may seize persons or goods under the Inland Customs Act without the co-operation of officers or men of the Sind Salt Department, shall receive half the sum disposable for reward and the other half shall be credited to Government.

(4) Officers and men are said to be actually co-operating in a seizure when they belong to the party organized to make it, and are at the time of the seizure, although not present when it is effected, actively engaged in watching and patrolling other localities to prevent the escape of the smugglers or in passing from one detachment of the party to another to secure the vigilance of all.

(5) Officers or men of the Sind Salt Department simply taking over persons or goods seized by others cannot be held to merit a reward, and, as a general rule, they will receive no reward in such cases. An exception will be made if it be shown that any officers or men of the Sind Salt Department did anything (beyond merely taking over from the seizer the persons or goods seized) which contributed to bring about the seizure. In such a case a special report would be necessary.

(6) Whenever it may be ordered by competent authority that salt which is seized and confiscated is to be destroyed, the Commissioner may make a grant at Rs. 2-8-0 per maund of salt so destroyed to be distributed as rewards.

(7) Confiscated salt (fit for human consumption) or saltpetre or the carriage or other articles seized and confiscated along with the salt or saltpetre may be sold by public auction—the salt at a price not less than the Government duty, and the rest for what they will fetch; but the officer conducting the sale will be held personally responsible that sales are not effected at prices manifestly below the real local value of the articles sold.

(8) Confiscation proceeds and additional duty shall be held in deposit to admit of appeal to the Commissioner for one month after date of final orders awarding the penalty.

(9) Rewards accruing under Clauses 3 and 4 of Rule III shall be payable in the month following that in which the Magistrate's order intimating conviction of the smugglers is received.

(10) Rewards payable under Clause 4, Rule III, shall be at the rate of 8 annas for each day's imprisonment awarded to each offender. Provided always that such reward shall not exceed fifty rupees for any one prisoner or Rs. 200 for any one case.

(11) Payment of rewards to officers or men of the Sind Salt Department or to private individuals shall be made subject to the control of the Collector, or Deputy Collector of the District, when possible by the Deputy Collector in person, but otherwise through the Salt Inspector or Superintendent.

Sums payable to subordinates of other Departments shall be forwarded by the Collector to the Heads of such Departments.

The Collector or Superintendent of a District may withhold and credit to Government a part or the whole of the amount disposable for rewards in any instance in which a reward has not in his opinion been fairly earned. (G. R. No. 1085, dated 21st February 1881.)

3. The following rules for regulating the grant of rewards for the detection and prevention of offences against the Transport of Salt Act, 1879, in the Bombay Presidency including Sind are published for general information:—

(1) The authority adjudging a confiscation under Section 6 of the Transport of Salt Act shall have the power to grant, in such proportion as he may think fit, to any person or persons who may have contributed to the seizure of the property confiscated or the conviction of the party or parties offending, rewards not exceeding in the aggregate the estimated value of the property confiscated plus the amount of any fine imposed.

(2) In any case in which, in the opinion of the authority referred to in Rule 1, any person has performed any service of special merit in connexion with the prevention or detection of any offence under the Transport of Salt Act, he shall have power to grant to such person a reward not exceeding Rs. 50 (fifty) which may be in addition to or in lieu of any reward which may or might have been granted under Rule I.

(G. N. No. 5408A, dated 28th July 1886.)

XII.—ACCOUNTS.

1. The accounts of the Salt Department should be kept in Kánara in Maráthi instead of in Kánarese. (G. R. No. 958, dated 21st February 1874.)

2. The following rules have been laid down for the guidance of Treasury Officers in receiving and accounting for cash paid into their Treasuries by salt traders on account of the Salt Department :—

(1) When it is desired that payments on account of the Salt Department should be received at any Government Treasury (Huzúr or District), application will be made by the Collector of Salt Revenue, or by the Assistant in charge of his Huzúr Office in Bombay, to the Collector of the district in which such Treasury may be situated, for the issue of general instructions to the Treasury Officer concerned to receive from traders and others any sums tendered by them on account of the Collector of Salt Revenue. After the issue of such instructions, but not otherwise, Treasury Officers will receive and account for any monies tendered to them for remittance or credit to the Collector of Salt Revenue.

(2) For any sum so paid the Treasury Officer will pass to the payer a receipt (in the accompanying Form A), and will simultaneously forward a copy thereof by post to the Assistant Collector of Salt Revenue in charge Head-quarter Office, Bombay. Printed forms will be supplied by the Collector of Salt Revenue on which alone receipts should be granted.

(3) The Treasury Officer will credit in his accounts the amounts received as remittances from the Collector of Salt Revenue; and the Huzúr Treasury Officer of the district will soon after the first of each month render a general receipt (in the accompanying Form B) for all sums paid into his own or subordinate Treasuries during the previous month. These receipts should be addressed to the Assistant Collector of Salt Revenue in charge Head-quarter Office, Bombay. The transactions will then be adjusted in the office of the Collector of Salt Revenue by debiting the amount to the Treasury Officer concerned and crediting it to the proper head of account.

(4) The payer on receiving the receipt referred to in Rule 2 will either personally or by agent present it to the Assistant Collector of Salt

Revenue in charge of the Head-quarter Office in Bombay, along with an application stating the purpose to which the payment is to be applied, i.e. whether for the supply of salt, or for the adjustment of a deposit account for salt previously supplied on the credit system.

(5) The Assistant Collector of Salt Revenue in charge Head-quarter Office, on production of such receipt and application, and after satisfying himself of the genuineness of the former, will grant the applicant the requisite receipt to enable him to obtain the salt applied for, or will adjust his deposit account, as the case may require.

(G. R. No. 546, dated 29th January 1875.)

3. The receipt of money in payment of the duty on salt removed from the Bassein, Ghodbandar, Trombay, Panvel and Urán works for export by sea or for inland transport by rail will not be allowed at the Treasuries at those places, and such payments must be made at the Head-quarter Office at Bombay. Discretion should however be granted to the Sarkár-kúns at the places named to accept payment in exceptional cases and for very special reasons. (G. R. No. 2800, dated 1st June 1880.)

4. Salt and Customs expenditure of a kind which has to be, and is incurred every year, such as petty construction and repairs, supply of scales and weights, does not require special previous sanction before being entered in the estimates, unless the expenditure exceeds the average of the last three years, when the excess cannot be admitted without explanation. (G. I., F. & C., No. 5922, dated 30th October 1888; vide G. M. No. 7519, dated 12th November 1888.)

5. The Budget estimates of the Mounted Police Fund of the Salt Department should be submitted to Government in the Revenue Department in a complete form. (G. R. No. 1786, dated 15th March 1892.)

XIII.—MISCELLANEOUS.

1. Tents: The Collector of Salt Revenue is to be allowed a sum not exceeding Rs. 700 every sixth year for the purchase of office tents. The tent is to be bought only when absolutely necessary even after six years, and a certificate to this effect should be furnished at the time new tents are bought. (G. I., F. D., No. 611, dated 27th January 1873; vide G. R. No. 835, dated 13th February 1873.)

2. Natural Salt:—The Collector of Salt Revenue should exercise considerable liberality in the grant of permission to collect natural salt free of duty to foreign villages in the immediate proximity of natural salt deposits within the frontier line. The best method of effecting this object would be that which is understood to be already practised in some of the small States, north of Anwarpur. Each village to which the Collector grants the concession might be allowed to collect and remove, on a certain day, a certain number, according to its population, of cart-loads of salt under a written permit. (G. L. No. 6972, dated 11th December 1875.)

3. Moach Salt: All salt despatched from the Moach Salt Works by water should be laden into boats in the presence of an officer of the Salt Department. After a boat is laden, and before it is allowed to leave the creek, the contents should be inspected and the bags counted by the Superintendent, Moach Salt Works, who will also occasionally test a few bags.

On arrival of a boat-load of salt at the Keamari Wharf the bags should be counted by the Customs officer there and a percentage (say 5 per cent.) weighed. If correct, they should be laden into trucks; if not, the necessary report should be made to the Collector of Customs.

The Customs Inspector at Keamari should also be required to inspect salt landed at Keamari frequently and to make an occasional test to see that no fraud is going on. (G. R. No. 5765, dated 28th October 1879.)

4. Gradation Lists: The Accountant General should submit to Government a monthly gradation list of officers in the Salt Department. (G. M. No. 3500, dated 7th July 1880.)

5. Official Correspondence. [Vide Order No. 1, Sub-head XI, under the head "Opium."]

* Repealed
by Act II
of 1890.

6. Enquiries: When an enquiry is held under Section 59 of the Salt Act,* 1873, regular proceedings in judicial form should be recorded. (G. R. No. 2211, dated 17th March 1883.)

7. Titles: Native officers employed in the Salt and Customs Department of the Bombay Presidency on a salary of Rs. 150 and upwards should be officially addressed as Ráo Sáheb or Khán Sáheb. (G. I., For. Dept., No. 165-I, dated 13th January 1885; vide G. R. No. 706, dated 24th idem.)

8. Agencies: No agency for the sale of salt on behalf of Government should be established at any place beyond the Presidency without the sanction of the Government of India. (G. I., F. & C., No. 6584, dated 11th December 1888; vide G. R. No. 8538, dated 22nd idem.)

9. In dealing with the question of the Government agencies for the sale of salt in future, the opinions expressed in the following extracts from the letter from the Government of India No. 4140, dated 4th August 1887, should be borne in mind, and the wishes of that Government should be carried out so far as may seem practicable and expedient:

"5. If the Government of Bombay should come to the conclusion that the agencies ought to be retained it will doubtless favour the Government of India with the grounds on which its opinion is based. The Governor General in Council desires in any case to urge on its consideration that the agencies, if they are to be retained, should be so worked that the condition shall approximate closely to those under which the operations of the ordinary trader are carried on. At present, a deduction of 5 per cent. on account of wastage is taken from the salt-makers for salt sold to Government in order to cover a wastage allowance made to the Agent, which allowance is refused to traders. This allowance, there is every reason to believe, is mainly a profit to the Agent; and the profit is really paid by the salt-makers and the traders. It is for the Government of Bombay to consider whether it would not be more equitable to take from the salt-maker only such an allowance for wastage as experience shows to be justified, and to make no allowance to the Agent which is not also granted to the trader. This would secure to the salt-maker a fair return for his work, and at the same time place the Government Agent on a nearly equal footing with the trader.

"6. Further, it would seem desirable that the Agent should be required, like an ordinary trader, to prepay the duty and the price of the salt he receives from Government and be left to recover his money from the consumer gradually as he reduces his stock by sales. He would still receive his commission, which would represent the profit of an ordinary trader working on his own account.

"7. If therefore the Government of Bombay is inclined to think that the time has not arrived for dispensing with the agencies altogether, I am to request that the arrangements to be made with the Agent may be reconsidered in the sense stated in the foregoing paragraphs."

(G. R. No. 8588, dated 22nd December 1888.)*

10. Fish-curing : It is the desire of the Government of India to see fish-curing yards established, as in Madras, at all convenient places along the coast line, where there is a reasonable prospect of active resort to them by fish-curiers, and the Governor General in Council is not disposed to agree with the opinion on which the Collector of Salt Revenue based his rejection of an application to open a new yard at Málvan. It is possible that a yard at Málvan would draw off custom from Vengurla, but the abstraction of custom would prove that Málvan was a more suitable place for the industry. From this point of view it would have been better that the application should have been complied with; and if the result showed that custom fell off at Vengurla, the proper course would have been to reduce the staff at that place or to close the yard altogether.

The Government of India has also been always prepared to bear a small loss on the experimental establishment of fish-curing yards for the sake of preserving an important industry, which is heavily borne down by the salt-tax. The industry merits encouragement, and any small loss on one or two fish-curing yards should soon disappear with effective management and the extension of yards where the industry calls for them. In Madras the yards caused some loss for a time, but they now cost the State nothing.

At present the principal item of loss to Government in Bombay is on account of establishment charges, which are borne entirely by the State. It is not the desire of the Government of India that the local officers should aim at recovering the cost of establishment immediately, but irrespective of this item and the loss of duty on salt sold for fish-curing in the Vengurla yard the State at present bears the charges for freight on the salt to place of sale and wastage, which should obviously be taken into account in calculating the cost price of the salt. As this is not done, salt is now being sold for fish-curing purposes in Bombay at less than the cost price. The Government of India considers that the operations should be so conducted that there shall be no loss upon the purchase and resale of salt. (G. I., F. & C., No. 6271, dated 23rd November 1888; vide G. R. No. 8321, dated 13th December 1888.)

11. Fish-curing yards should be put up at every place where they are likely to be fully useful. (G. I., F. & C., No. 4150-Ex., dated 25th September 1893; vide G. R. No. 7389, dated 10th October 1893.)

12. Reserve Stock : As a matter of precaution it is desirable that a reserve stock of salt equal to two years' demand should usually be maintained at the Runn Salt Works. (G. R. No. 1948, dated 16th March 1891.)

* Vide also Order No. 4, Sub-head IV..

13. Salt Price Current: The Collector of Salt Revenue, Bombay, is authorized to subscribe to a copy of Messrs. Mullick & Co.'s Weekly Salt Price Current published at Calcutta. (G. R. No. 7451, dated 28th October 1891.)

14. Calendars: Maráthi calendars may be purchased for the use of the Huzúr and Táluka offices in the Salt Department, the cost being met from the contingent grant of the purchasing officers. (G. R. No. 3686, dated 27th April 1892.)

15. Form of license for the collection or removal and possession of salt-earth under Section 11 of Act. II of 1890:—

I, _____, Collector of Salt Revenue, do hereby authorize and empower _____ now dwelling at _____ in the táluka of _____ in the district of _____, to excavate, collect or remove salt-earth (1) for curing fish, (2) for manuring cocoanut palms from _____ and remove it to _____ on the following conditions:

- (1) That the salt-earth is not removed between sunset and sunrise;
- (2) That all salt-earth removed under this license shall be stored at _____ and at no other place;
- (3) That no part of the salt-earth removed under this license shall at any time be taken into any building, dwelling-house or covered enclosure;
- (4) That the salt-earth removed under this license shall be used for the purpose shown above, and no other;
- (5) This license will remain in force from the _____ to the _____.

ESTABLISHMENTS.

1. The period for which a temporary establishment is sanctioned should always be stated in the order sanctioning the entertainment of such establishment, and, if in any case this be omitted to be done, the Accountant General should call the attention of the Local Government to the omission. (G. I. No. 4409, dated 9th December 1872; vide G. R. No. 253, dated 20th January 1873.)

2. The remuneration that may be proposed for temporary establishments should include, in addition to salary, travelling and other miscellaneous allowances wherever such allowances if not consolidated with salary would have to be paid separately. (G. R. No. 4883, dated 18th December 1882.)

3. Superintendents of Jails are permitted to employ such extramural guards as may be from time to time required under the general control of the Inspector-General of Prisons, who will issue such subsidiary instructions as may be necessary. The Inspector-General will be held responsible that the sums thus expended are recouped to Government. He will budget for the total amount of expenditure likely to be incurred under this head, and for the revenue to be derived from it. If it ever happens that the budget allotment falls short of his requirements, Government will entertain proposals for increasing the allotment, provided that the receipts cover the expenditure, and in emergent cases the Inspector-General may, on his own responsibility, sanction the employment of these guards, even though funds be not immediately available; and he may transfer sanctions from one Jail to another.

These orders will, it is considered, enable guards to be entertained when and where they are wanted, without delay. The Inspector-General will be held answerable that no irregularities or loss to Government occurs.

The Inspector-General should arrange with the Accountant General for his sanction being duly communicated to the latter officer, in order that the bills for these extramural guards may be properly audited. (G. R. Nos. 2547, dated 13th August 1875, and 1338, dated 13th April 1891.)

4. The Commissioner in Sind is authorised to sanction establishments or changes in establishments of the Indus Conservancy Department the salaries of which do not exceed Rs. 15, all salaries above Rs. 15 requiring the sanction of Government. The Commissioner should exercise the closest scrutiny over any new expenditure in connection with the Indus Conservancy Fund. (G. R. No. 3916, dated 12th September 1877.)

5. The Commissioner in Sind is authorized to sanction the employment of pilots on the establishment of the Indus Conservancy Department, within the limit of the sanctioned scale, as the exigencies of the service may require. The restriction placed by G. R. No. 3916, dated 12th September 1877, as to the amount of salary need not be observed in the case of the pilot establishment. (G. R. No. 2774, dated 31st July 1880.)

6. The allowances drawn by the two Civil Members of the Council of His Excellency the Governor of Bombay for the maintenance of an establishment of personal attendants should cease. The Government of Bombay may sanction such appointments in lieu of the men paid from the allowance as may seem necessary. (G. I., F. & C., No. 1862, dated 2nd December 1884; vide G. R. No. 7, dated 3rd January 1885.)

7. The Commissioner in Sind, the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, Opium and A'bkari and the Inspector-General of Police should, when submitting proposals for the employment of additional Police establishments, enter in the proposition statements the net amounts actually paid to the men and not the former* nominal rates of their pay. (G. R. No. 1799, dated 9th June 1888.)

8. The charge to employers on account of police employed under Sections† 14 and 16 of Act VII of 1867 should be the same whether the men supplied to them are temporary or permanent. Temporary men should not receive more actual pay than permanent ones. When temporary men are employed, the difference between the pay charged to employers and the pay the men receive should be credited to Government in consideration of the increase of general cost of entertaining a larger body of police than, but for the requisitions of private employers, would otherwise be necessary. This will be in addition to the 12½ per cent. which is a general rate leviable whether the police employed are temporary or permanent. (G. R. No. 2474, dated 6th August 1888.)

† Cf. Sections 22 and 25 of Act IV of 1890, which repealed Act VII of 1867, except Sections 33 and 34.

In ruling that the charge to employers should be the same whether the men supplied were temporary or permanent, it is intended that employers

* Note.—Such a thing as gross rate of pay for policemen has ceased to exist from the date of abolition of the Police Superannuation Funds. But, owing to this fact having been overlooked, the old rates of pay are often quoted and in the case of temporary policemen actually disbursed under the impression that they are simply being exempted from subscribing to the Superannuation Fund which nowhere exists. There is only one scale of pay recognized by the rules, and that is the reduced scale after deduction of what used to be paid in the Superannuation Fund. All other rates are unauthorized and should be considered as abolished from August 1st, 1888. (G. R., J. D., No. 3877, dated 21st July 1888.)

‡ Under Government Resolution No. 1603, dated 6th May 1891, a contribution of six per cent. is levied in the case of extra or additional police entertained for municipalities, companies, private persons, &c., for all items except clothing, and in order to recoup the District Clothing Funds a separate capitation contribution for clothing is levied in addition at the rates laid down in Government Resolution, Judicial Department, No. 4941, dated 9th September 1890.

ESTABLISHMENTS.]

besides paying pension contribution on account of permanent men, should pay an equal amount on account of temporary men as a set off against general charges. The charge to employers will thus be the actual net pay of the men plus the  $\frac{1}{6}$ th or  $\frac{1}{12}$ th levied under Article 421 of the Civil Service Regulations plus the contribution for clothing. It is presumed that when men of the permanent force are lent to private bodies, &c., without any substitutes being employed, there would be no difficulty in crediting the extra charges to pension, &c., and whenever permanent men can be conveniently spared, this should be done. (G. R. Nos. 3982, dated 24th December 1888, and 1253, dated 25th March 1889.)

9. Collectors of districts are authorized, in the case of establishments under them, to depute officers on the permanent establishment on temporary duty on the understanding that when the temporary duty ceases they will return to the permanent establishment. (G. R. No. 1984, dated 25th June 1888.)

10. The service of the employes at the Gokaldas Tejpal Hospital should be treated as ordinary Government service, the municipal contribution being considered a payment to Government and not a trust fund. There is no necessity, however, to alter the arrangement under which the amount to be paid by the Municipality is measured by the cost of the establishment and contingencies. (G. R. No. 3814, dated 20th November 1890.)

11. The entries in the column of the annual establishment statement, Form No. 3, Civil Account Code, Vol. I, showing the date of birth, should be based on the entry in the service book and not made at random. (G. R. No. 981, dated 14th March 1894.)

SECURITIES.

1. The postage on advices forwarded from the Bombay Presidency of notes enfaced for payment of interest in London, should be prepaid. (S. of S.; Finl., No. 137, dated 17th December 1866; vide G. M. No. 66, dated 16th January 1867.)

2. A copy of the following letter No. 2120, dated 31st March 1874, addressed by the Government of India to the Secretary and Treasurer, Bank of Bengal, was forwarded to the Secretary and Treasurer, Bank of Bombay, for information and guidance:—

“The omission to observe the proper form of endorsement of Promissory Notes tendered for renewal, having in a recent case in the North-Western Provinces afforded facility for the misappropriation of notes by a treasury clerk, I am directed to request that in future when notes are received for renewal ‘blank endorsed’ instead of in the proper form, viz., with the words ‘received a renewed note in lieu of this in my name,’ you will be good enough immediately to point out the irregularity to the officer concerned.”

(G. R. No. 1222, dated 17th April 1874.)

3. Section 30 of the Bombay District Municipal Acts deals with the contracts, and the transfer of Government Securities is not a contract. Under Section 15 the Municipality has a common seal, and I think this common seal must be affixed to every instrument by which a transfer of municipal property is to be effected: vide 45 and 46 Vic., Cap. 50, Section 118. The Act is silent as to the person by whom and the mode in which the common seal is to be affixed. It is one of those matters as to which each Municipality may make rules under Section 32. In the absence of such a rule the Municipality, or any Committee thereof so empowered under Section 27 (10), must decide on each occasion who is to affix the common seal; and the person so authorized should then affix the seal to the instrument in question, in this case the transfer of a Government Security, and authenticate the same by his signature. (Adv. Gen., No. 25, dated 3rd April 1889: vide G. R. No. 1942, dated 16th May 1889.)

4. Government Securities to be transferred to Municipalities to which the Bombay District Municipal Acts apply, should be transferred into the corporate name of “the Municipality of ” and not into the name of the President. (G. R. No. 1942, dated 16th May 1889.)

5. The best precaution which can be taken by public officers in the case of Government Promissory Notes tendered as security deposits by contractors and others, if there be any doubt as to the regularity of the endorsements thereon, is to send such notes to the Public Debt Office for renewal. (G. I., F. D., No. 1477, dated 19th June 1875: vide G. R. No. 2134, dated 5th July 1875.)

6. It should be distinctly understood that in future when men of straw or inadequate means are accepted as sureties, and any loss to Government results from the insufficiency of such security, the officers accepting such sureties will be held personally responsible for any loss incurred. (G. R., R. D., No. 2608, dated 21st April 1882.)

7. The following opinion No. 13, dated 5th January 1885, was recorded by the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs:—

“In this case it seems that V. made an application on the 26th November 1881 for canal water for 5 acres of land in his survey No. 82 in the village of Parvati for watering a sugarcane crop. This application was granted and on the 18th January 1882 he made a further application for water for other 5 acres in the same number, which was also granted.

“2. But when the area under the sugarcane crop irrigated by V. came to be measured it proved to be 15 acres 12 gunthas, for which, at the settled rate of Rs. 25 per acre, the Irrigation Department had a claim against him for Rs. 382-8-0. This sum the Mámlatdár was desired to recover. In the meantime V. absconded and the sale of the crop, which the Mámlatdár attached, realized Rs. 125 only.

“3. Below each of the two applications for water made by V. there is a security-endorsement to the effect that, if the applicant should fail to pay the water-rate or any other sum due by him on account of the water, the surety would pay for him. This endorsement on the first application was signed by V. M., on the second by G. L. D. These two gentlemen have been called upon to pay what is due by V.; but the former denies his responsibility, because on the 14th January 1882 he gave notice to the Executive Engineer for Irrigation requesting that his security might be cancelled, and the latter alleges that he is only responsible for what is due by V. on the 5 acres of land in respect of which he stood surety.

“4. I do not think that the notice given by V. M. diminishes his responsibility. Under Section 130 of the Contract Act it is only ‘a continuing guarantee’ which may at any time be revoked by the surety as to future transactions. A continuing guarantee is one which extends to a series of transactions (Act IX, 1872, Section 129). V. M. guaranteed only the payment due by V. in respect of his one application and this cannot be called a continuing guarantee. Having contracted with the Executive Engineer to indemnify him against any failure to pay on the part of V. the contract cannot be cancelled at his sole desire. It could only be cancelled with the concurrence of both the parties to it.

“5. But each of the two sureties is, in my opinion, only responsible for the particular transaction to which he was a party, i. e., for the dues recoverable from V. in respect of the 5 acres of land to which the application related, beneath which they respectively executed a security-endorsement. And as Rs. 125 have already been realized in respect of the whole area of 15 acres 12 gunthas which V. irrigated, each of the sureties is, I think, entitled to credit for the portion of that amount which bears the same ratio to the whole as 5 acres does to 15 acres 12 gunthas, and is only responsible for the difference between such portion and the dues recoverable on 5 acres * * * * *

(G. R., R. D., No. 663, dated 23rd January 1885.)

8. There is no objection to the acceptance, from Government contractors, of Municipal and Port

SECURITIES.]

Trust debentures as security deposits. Such debentures may also be accepted as security deposits from Government officers entrusted with the custody of public money. (G. R. No. 2313, dated 11th August 1885.)

9. The rules which direct that public securities deposited for more than a year with public officers in any Department should be entrusted to the Accountant General do not apply to Promissory Notes, the property of Native States, securities held in trust by the Administrator General and Official Assignee and Trustee, those held by a Government officer merely as a joint trustee with private individuals, or those deposited in Courts of Justice and forming the subject of law suits. (G. I., F. D., No. 2155, dated 11th August 1880; vide G. R. No. 3070, dated 25th idem.)

10. The term "Public Office" used in Section 33 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, has been accepted by the Government of India as meaning an office 'belonging or pertaining to the State.' The same expression used in Section 7 (1) of the Indian Securities Act, 1886, accordingly applies only to a Government office, and the section is, therefore, inapplicable to those of the Hyderabad Municipality and the Karáchi Port Trust. (G. R. No. 1710, dated 5th June 1888.)

11. It is not desirable to add to the list of ex officio holders under Section 7 (1) of the Indian Securities Act XIII of 1886, further than is really necessary. (G. I., F. & C., No. A.—5096, dated 20th December 1892: vide G. R. No. 1711, dated 4th May 1893.)

MEMORIALS AND PETITIONS.

1. When the result of a petition to Government is its rejection, the petitioner should be informed of the fact from the Secretariat instead of being referred to the Commissioner for an answer to his petition. (G. R. No. 1064, dated 13th March 1862.)

2. Malicious petitions cannot be kept secret from the person maligned, without risk of great injustice to him. They may be so couched as to do permanent and serious injury by the slander they convey, and unless they are communicated to the person slandered, all chance of discovering or exposing the slanderer is lost, while the slanderer soon learns whether the object of his attacks has or has not heard of them; and if he believes his proceedings remain secret, he is encouraged to proceed to further lengths in the same line.

In future, petitions of this kind will always be sent with a demi-official autograph note from the Secretary to Government. (G. L. No. 1731, dated 25th April 1865.)

3. When a specific charge with names and other details is stated in a petition against a Government servant, it is only fair to the party charged to make enquiry; even if the petition be merely read, it must make on the reader an unfavourable impression, and it is only just to take any steps which may tend to show the real truth or falsehood of the charge. (G. L. No. 86, dated 6th January 1866.)

4. Where petitioners are not conversant with the English language, they are bound to adopt measures to assure themselves that the petitions or memorials to Government in that language are couched in respectful and becoming terms. (G. R. No. 6297, dated 20th October 1877.)

5. Petitions to Government should be addressed either to the Governor in Council or to a Secretary to Government and not to a Member of Council personally. (G. Rs. Nos. 887, dated 19th February 1880, and 7908, dated 27th December 1881.)

6. (I.)—An address, the sole or principal object of which is to promote or oppose a measure of Imperial legislation, or one which bears immediately upon general questions of Imperial policy, may be submitted direct to the Governor General in Council.

(II.)—When the object of an address is to induce the Governor General to give his assent to, or to withhold his assent from, a law passed by a Provincial Legislature, it should be transmitted through the Local Government concerned.

(III.)—An address intended to obtain the reversal of an executive act, or one which bears directly upon the executive action of a Local Government, should be transmitted through the Local Government in respect of whose action complaint is made. This procedure should be followed in all cases in which the jurisdiction to be exercised by the Government of India is of an appellate character or necessarily involves a reference to the Local Government.

(IV.)—In the case of an address relating to a law passed by a Provincial Legislature, it will be convenient that a copy of the address should simultaneously be sent to the Governor General. In other cases it will be at the option of the writers to send direct to the Government of India duplicates of representations submitted to the Local Government.

Rule I must be read with, and be held to be subject to, Rule 14 of the Rules for the Conduct of the Legislative Business of the Council, which relates to Bills actually pending before the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, and is as follows :—

Communications on matters connected with any Bill before the Council may be addressed either in the form of a petition to the Governor General in Council, or in a letter to the Secretary, and must in either case be sent to the Secretary. Ordinarily such communications will not be answered.

Except in the case of the High Court at Fort William, such communications from Courts, officials, or public bodies shall ordinarily be sent through the Local Government.

7. In supersession of the rules promulgated under Government Notification dated 26th March 1877, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to publish for general information the following amended rules for the preparation and submission of petitions to Government :—

1. Except in the cases of parties whose rank may entitle them to correspond with Government through Vakils, petitions to Government made by or through agents will be left unnoticed.

2. Petitions will be received, either through the Post Office or in a box which will be affixed for the purpose outside the Secretariat door, and which will be opened daily (Sundays and public holidays excepted) by the Secretary, Separate Department, and the petitions distributed to the different Departments of the Secretariat. When sent through the Post Office, postage must be invariably paid.

3. Anonymous petitions will be disregarded.*

4. All petitions to Government should be written as concisely as the nature of the case admits of. If they are found to be unnecessarily prolix, or to be couched in unintelligible, exaggerated or disrespectful terms, they will be returned for amendment to the parties submitting them.

Petitions of appeal preferred by parties to civil and political suits should invariably be submitted in English. Petitions on other matters may be either in English or in any of the vernacular languages of this Presidency. Those written in any of the vernacular languages, when not accompanied by English translations, will be rendered into the latter language by the Oriental Translator to Government before being placed before His Excellency the Governor in Council; but manuscript petitions in the Modi character in which the words are not properly separated, and the sentences punctuated wherever necessary by means of

|                        |     |     |  | drafted.                 |

5. Petitions will not be received by Government regarding any matters which form the subject of judicial proceedings in the Courts, or which properly fall within the jurisdiction of the Courts; nor will Government receive petitions containing complaints relating to the administration of civil or criminal justice, under circumstances which leave other modes of obtaining redress open under the regulations.

6. The mode and channels through which all ranks of the Military Service should make known any complaint or grievance to superior authority are clearly laid down by the Regulations of the Service, and are in no respect affected by these rules.

7. Applications for situations in the gift of local or controlling authorities, or for admission into the public service, will remain unnoticed by Government.

8. Any persons having cause of complaint against the proceedings of any officer of Government, Civil or Military, is, in the first instance, to seek redress from that officer's immediate superior, who, if he declines compliance, is to give the petitioner a written endorsement, or order, setting forth the grounds upon which the request is refused. If the petitioner is dissatisfied with this order, he is at liberty to address the chief local authority, and eventually the superior Civil or Military authority, by whom the chief local officer is controlled, or, in the event of there being no such intermediate controlling authority, the Government.

9. The preceding rule is not to be interpreted as precluding chief local or controlling authorities from using their discretion regarding the presentation, direct to themselves, of applications and complaints which have not been previously submitted to officers subordinate to them.

10. The Government, however, will not receive a petition on any matter, unless it shall appear that the petitioner has already applied to the chief local authority; and, where such exists, to the controlling authority. The petitions to the chief local and to the controlling authorities, or copies of them, and the answers to, or orders upon those petitions, in original, must be annexed to all petitions addressed to Government. Petitions by telegraph will in most cases violate this rule and will not generally be answered or attended to.

11. Petitions to Government from persons in the service of Government relating to any matter affecting their official position will not be entertained unless forwarded through their official superiors.

12. The Government, after passing a final order on appeal made to them, will not notice a second petition on the same subject unless new matter requiring especial consideration be introduced.

13. When a petition is to be returned as not being drawn up or presented in conformity to the preceding rules, it will be endorsed with a memorandum specifically pointing out which of the rules has been infringed.

14. The foregoing general Regulations for petitions are applicable in the Military Department to the following classes:—

1st.—Persons not in the public service residing within the limits of Military Bázárs; Camp Followers.

2nd.—Contractors for Military supplies.

3rd.—Military Pensioners.

4th.—Persons having claims on Government in any Military Department, either on their own account or on account of services rendered to the State by deceased relatives.

(G. Ns., F. D., Nos. 316, dated 27th January 1885, 200, dated 27th January 1886, and 1063, dated 14th April 1886.)

8. Whenever any petitions submitted to Government through the Commissioners are found to be couched in disrespectful terms they may be returned by them for amendment to the parties submitting them under the operation of Rule 4 of the Petition Rules published in Government Notification, Financial Department, No. 316, dated 27th February 1885, as amended by Government Notification No. 200, dated 27th January 1886. (G. R. No. 8063, dated 23rd October 1889.)

9. All original papers accompanying petitions should be returned by the Oriental Translator to Government to the writers when communicating to them the orders passed by Government on such petitions. (G. R. No. 6700, dated 18th August 1885.)

10. Copies of the following letter from the Government of India, Home Department No. 298, dated 26th February 1886, were forwarded to all departments of the Secretariat for information with reference to the interpretation placed on *Rule XII (3) of the Rules relating to the transmission of memorials to the Home Authorities :—

“I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 367, dated the 11th instant, forwarding a list of memorials to the address of Her Majesty's Secretary of State which had been withheld by the Bombay Government during the quarter ending 31st December 1885, under the discretionary power conferred on Local Governments by Rule XII, Clause 3, of the Rules relating to the Transmission of Memorials to the Home Authorities. The particular memorials thus withheld were presented by certain officers of the Forest Department who sought for a reconsideration of the decision of the Secretary of State declining to extend to them the benefits of the improved pension rules sanctioned for certain officers in the Public Works and Telegraph Departments.

“2. In reply I am to say that the particular clause in the Memorial Rules under which these memorials have been withheld has not been hitherto interpreted by the Government of India in the sense attached to it by the Bombay Government, and that the Honourable the President in Council does not think that the memorials in question should be withheld inasmuch as they are not understood to be ‘second’ memorials within the meaning of that clause. In any case, however, as the Government of India has under consideration the question of the transmission to the Secretary of State of similar memorials received from Forest officers serving under other Governments, it would be convenient if the memorials were forwarded to this office. I am accordingly to request that, with the permission of His Excellency the Governor in Council, this may now be done in accordance with Rule IV of the Memorial Rules.”

(G. R. No. 852, F. D., dated 25th March 1886.)

11. The decision of the Government of Bombay is final under the Hereditary Offices Act III of 1874, and memorials addressed to the Government of India appealing against such decisions may be withheld in accordance with the discretionary power vested in Local Governments under clause 8, Rule 3 of Section III of the rules regarding the submission of memorials to the Government of India published under Home Department Notification† No. 1812, dated 11th October 1889. (3).—When a second memorial is presented after a decision has already been given by the authority to which it is addressed, and when no new facts or circumstances are adduced which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case. A memorial addressed to Her Majesty by a person whose appeal to the Secretary of State has already been rejected, shall be held to be a second memorial to the same authority and shall not be transmitted.

‡ Extract from the letter from the Government of India, No. <sup>631-R</sup><sub>3-275</sub>, dated 15th September 1885. (G. R. No. 8675, dated 26th October 1885) :—

“The Government of India has carefully considered the suggestion made in the last paragraph of your letter, that in cases in which appeals are preferred against the decision of the Local Government upholding in review the orders of the Collector

3-275, dated 15th September 1885, requiring all such cases to be submitted to that Government are no longer in force so far as they are inconsistent with the rules of 1889. (G. I., R. & A. No. 478 R-2-2, dated 30th January 1890; vide G. R. No. 1341, dated 19th February 1890.)

12. The Bombay Government may under Rule XII (6) of the rules for the submission of memorials to Her Majesty the Queen-Empress of India or to the Secretary of State for India published in Home Department Notification No. 707, dated 29th March 1878, withhold memorials addressed to the Secretary of State which are merely appeals against decisions passed by it under the Bombay Hereditary Offices Act III of 1874. (G. I., R. & A., No. 2187-206, dated 27th September 1892; vide G. R. No. 8962, dated 14th November 1892.)

passed in accordance with the Bombay Hereditary Offices Act of 1874, His Excellency the Governor in Council should be empowered to withhold such appeals. A somewhat similar suggestion was made in your letter No. 4780, dated the 22nd July 1882, in reply to which the wish of the Government of India was expressed that the existing principle requiring all memorials addressed to the Government of India to be transmitted by the Local Government should be maintained. The Government of India is still of opinion that the observance of this rule is desirable. This decision has been adopted, not because any necessity for interference is contemplated, but because if the Local Government declines to transmit a memorial, the applicant may not improbably submit it directly to the Supreme Government, which then would have to deal with it without the advantage of such remarks as to its admissibility or otherwise as might have been made by the Local Government.

"I am to take this opportunity of stating, for the information of His Excellency in Council, that in accordance with what is believed to be the existing practice, if memorials addressed to the Government of India are mere appeals against judicial decisions of the ordinary Civil Courts or of executive authorities exercising their powers of such Courts, they need not be sent on; but if they contain other matter, such as complaints or remarks upon the conduct of the Courts concerned, or on the working of any particular law, they should not be withheld. These orders do not apply to such appeals against judicial decisions in criminal cases as are practically appeals for mercy or pardon. Appeals of this nature should invariably be transmitted."

No. 87

MINORS' ESTATES.

1. When the duty of taking charge of a minor's estate devolves upon a public servant in his official capacity it is a public duty and in no sense a private work, and as a general rule no charge should be made to the estate for the services of any public officer so employed, except under the special orders of Government previously obtained.

It may be that a public officer so situated may, on certain occasions, be called upon to undertake a journey beyond the local limits of his charge in the interest of a minor's estate which he would not be otherwise called upon to do, and on such occasions, which are likely to be of rare occurrence, it might be equitable to allow him at the expense of the estate the same travelling allowance to which he would be entitled if called upon to leave his district on Government business; but no such charge should be imposed on an estate under the management of any Government servant in his public capacity without the direct sanction of Government accorded previous to the undertaking of any such journey. (G. R., P. D., No. 801, dated 16th February 1874: vide G. M. No. 943, dated 20th idem.)

2. Under Section 34 of Act VIII of 1890 (Guardians and Wards Act) all guardians other than Collectors, are bound to render accounts to the Court. It is immaterial whether the money is in the Government treasury or not; indeed as a general rule it will be more for the minor's interests if it be kept in a bank or invested. Apparently, the only case to which this ruling does not apply, is that in which a Collector is appointed as administrator, and his proceedings are subject to the control of the superior Revenue authorities, and not of the Civil Court. In such cases Government are willing to leave it to the discretion of the Collectors as to how the money should be invested. It need not necessarily be brought into the public accounts. (G. Rs. Nos. 3182, dated 24th October 1874, and 3884, dated 23rd December 1874.)

3. A Collector should not have two purses or cash balances in his treasury, and accordingly all money that is paid into a treasury should pass through the public accounts.

Moreover, whenever it is necessary to remove money belonging to a minor's estate from the estate treasury, it must be placed in the public treasury and not elsewhere.

* "A guardian appointed or declared by the Court shall be entitled to such allowance, if any, as the Court thinks fit for his care and pains in the execution of his duties.

"When an officer of the Government, as such officer, is so appointed or declared to be guardian, such fees shall be paid to the Government out of the property of the ward as the Local Government, by general or special order, directs." (Section 22, Guardians and Wards Act, VIII of 1890.)

It is not, however, necessary that all collections from a minor's estate should be paid into the treasury of the Collector of the district, merely because the estate may be under the Collector's management. Money which is not paid into the Collector's treasury should not pass through the public accounts. (G. I., F. D., No. 1872, dated 30th June 1875: vide G. R. No. 2323, dated 23rd July 1875.)

4. The cost of managing* a minor's estate must be borne by the estate itself, and only the balance of income, after deduction of expenses, can be available for the sávkárs to whom the estate may be indebted. (G. R. No. 6232, dated 4th November 1875.)

As regards estates managed by the Tálukdári Settlement Officer, it was directed in paragraph 3 of Government Resolution No. 4164, dated 28th August 1871, that the charges that would fall on the estates were to be levied according to a percentage on all receipts from estates under direct management. This order was passed with regard to the estates of Tálukdárs and Thákurs, but there is no reason why it should not be applied to all estates put under the management of the Tálukdári Settlement Officer and it should accordingly be applied. (G. R. No. 8550, dated 2nd November 1895, para. 2).

5. As regards the conduct of experiments and the introduction of improvements in estates under the management of the Court of Wards, the Famine Commission in paragraph 13, Part II, Chapter IV, Section II, of their report gave expression to the views which they had formed on this subject in the following terms:—

"The estates of minors and other legally incompetent persons, which are under the management of the Court of Wards, have been spoken of as affording a proper field for the introduction of agricultural improvements into the country. The principle which should govern the conduct of Government in respect to these estates should be, in our opinion, that the managers it appoints should not make use of their position to carry on merely experimental farming, but should act as an enlightened but prudent landowner would act in respect to his own property, by utilising the results of science and adopting any well-tested and clearly demonstrated improvement, either by works for adding to the permanent value of the estate, or by the adoption of improved methods of farming. When, therefore, any improvement in the method of cultivating or preparing any staple crop, or of rearing cattle, or in the construction of implements, has been proved to be successful, it might without objection be introduced to the people and popularised by means of its adoption on such estates, but it would obviously be unjustifiable to make

---

* It has been laid down in G. R., F. D., No. 3679, dated 6th November 1890, that all correspondence indirectly connected with a minor's estate and not of an official character should bear ordinary postage stamps, the cost being defrayed from the estate, and that when the correspondence relates only indirectly to the minor's affairs, as when the order of Government or other higher authority are sought on points of procedure, or when an enquiry is on foot, which is practically one into the conduct of officials connected with the administration of the estate, as also when the District Court is addressed, service stamps should be used and no recovery made from the estates.

MINORS' ESTATES.]

their owner responsible for the cost and risk of carrying experiments which the Government would not undertake itself."

The Secretary of State for India, in despatch No. 65, dated the 11th July 1881, confirmed the caution implied in the words noted by italics in the above extract, by desiring that wards' estates "should not be made fields for experiments, or their surplus income applied to any purposes of which the results are uncertain."

The Governor General in Council entirely concurs in the principles to which expression is given in the extract quoted from the report of the Famine Commission, subject to the limitation which the despatch of the Secretary of State very properly imposes. It will be recognised that the practical application of these principles will differ according to the conditions and circumstances of every estate which is brought under the administration of the Court of Wards in different provinces; and accepting, as a rule, that no experiments will be attempted the success of which may not reasonably be expected, and that no schemes involving large expenditure will be undertaken the results of which are uncertain, the Government of India would leave it to each Local Government to consider in what way effect can most advisedly be given to the suggestions brought forward by the Commission.

At the same time the Governor General in Council views with disfavour the policy of hoarding up in Government securities, or other close investments, profits which are made on Court of Wards' estates under the careful management of Government officials, in any case where, subject to the conditions referred to, these can be more usefully applied to the improvement and development of the agricultural resources of the estate. (G. I., R. & A., No. 12-125-134, dated 30th August 1881: vide G. R. No. 5688, dated 29th September 1881).

6. Friends or relatives who are not legally constituted administrators or managers of the estates of minors or lunatics have no power to act in any way for such minors or lunatics, and the Collector would not be justified in accepting a notice of relinquishment or agreement to occupy from such friends or relatives. (G. R. No. 7074, dated 11th October 1882.)

7. In the case of lands held by minors which they wish to resign absolutely, the best plan appears to be to remit the land revenue when the Collector is satisfied that the land has not been cultivated only because the occupant being a minor is not legally able to resign it himself and has no legal guardian to act for him, but intends to resign it as soon as he is able. (Para. 2 of G. R. No. 2407, dated 22nd March 1883.)

8. It is desirable that Collectors in charge of estates of minors situated partly in British territory and partly in Native States should administer the latter as well as the former portion. They should do so by means of non-official paid agents after obtaining recognition of their function by the Native State Administration which will doubtless be ready to offer all reasonable assistance when addressed for that purpose. This order does not refer at all to Native Chiefs whose estates during a minority would never be in charge of a Collector under the Minors' Act. (G. Rs. Nos. 4657, dated 20th June 1883, and 5626, dated 30th July 1883.)

9. There are certainly objections to the assessment being remitted on land which a minor is at present unable but intends eventually to relinquish. In cases, therefore, when it is obviously not for the benefit of the minor to retain the land, the Collector should simply forfeit the occupancy and remit the land revenue; when it is not so obvious, the Collector should apply to the Civil Court for the appointment of an administrator, and if the administrator when so appointed reports that it is for the benefit of the minor not to retain the land, he should with the consent of the Civil Court relinquish it on behalf of the minor, and then the Collector should remit any land revenue due thereon. (G. R. No. 8078, dated 5th September 1885.)

10. There is no reasonable ground for preventing minors whose estates are under the management of Government officers from having the benefit of Savings Banks. (G. R. No. 1412, dated 20th February 1886.)

11. The practice of leasing minors' estates should not be adopted except for special reasons. In all cases the estates should be subjected to a careful examination and registers of lands and tenures made and, where cash rents are taken, the assessments must be fixed. (G. R. No. 8735, dated 11th December 1886.)

12. Collectors in charge of minors' estates, who may require legal advice, should in all ordinary cases consult local pleaders whose services should be paid for out of the estates. As a general rule they ought to employ the Government Pleaders as a matter of convenience. These are usually competent men, and in any case in which Government was ultimately obliged to intervene, the employment of another pleader might occasion practical difficulties. At the same time Collectors are not absolutely restricted to the Government Pleaders. They are primarily responsible for the management of the estates, and there might be reasons in any particular case which would induce a Collector to consider it undesirable to employ the Government Pleader. It would be impossible to lay down beforehand definite rules as to the fees to be charged by the latter, and if he were given the absolute monopoly of this class of work, difficulties might arise as to the amount of his remuneration. It is left therefore to the Collector to choose his own pleader subject to the understanding that, in the absence of any sufficient cause to the contrary, he should select the Government Pleader; thus no difficulties would probably arise, as the charges made would necessarily be based on the scale of fees usually claimed by other members of the profession for similar services. Rule 56* of the rules regarding the remuneration and duties of law officers which requires Government Pleaders to advise local officers concerning Government business cannot be considered applicable to private estates under management. If consulted about these, Government Pleaders are entitled to be paid.

Although the Collector should generally employ his own pleader, it must be remembered that Section 15† of Act No. XX of 1864 makes his proceedings subject to the control of the superior Revenue authorities. This section throws on Government certain responsibility for his acts and justifies him in consulting Government and asking for advice in very difficult cases or in regard to matters on which he has reason to think the local opinion inadequate. (G. R. No. 1479, dated 3rd March 1888.)

† Vide Section 23 of Act VIII of 1890, and G. N. No. 1246, dated 16th February 1891, Order No. 10, infra.

13. The attention of all Collectors should be drawn to their responsibilities in connection with minors' estates and to the necessity that exists for a periodical examination of their accounts either by the Collector himself or by a trustworthy subordinate. (G. R. No. 8317, dated 31st October 1889.)

14. The extension of the period of limitation conceded to a minor by Section 7 of the Limitation Act on account of legal disability is not affected by the fact that during his minority he is represented by a guardian (4 Bom. H. C. Rep., A. C., 199; I. L. R., 4 Mad., 119). The section means that no limitation will apply to a case in which the person suing was disqualified by minority at the time the cause of action arose, provided the suit is brought within the extended period which it allows. A suit by a guardian on behalf of a minor is that of the minor and is governed by the Law of Limitation applicable to the minor; so that a guardian suing for his ward may bring his action at any time whilst the latter's disability continues, or if the guardian fails to bring a suit, the infant may bring one himself after he reaches majority (W. R., 1864, 302; I. L. R., 7 Cal., 137; I. L. R., 1 Cal., 226; 4 Bom. H. C. Rep., A. C., 199). (L. R. No. 807, dated 13th June 1890: vide G. R. No. 4486, dated 26th idem.)

15. With reference to Section 23 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890, the Act VIII of 1890. Governor in Council is pleased to appoint the Commissioner in Sind, and the Commissioners of the Northern, Central and Southern Divisions, as the authorities to whose control respectively the Collectors of that province and of those divisions shall, when appointed or declared by a Court to be guardians, be subject in all matters connected with the guardianship of their wards. (G. N. No. 1246, dated 16th February 1891.)

* Vide p. 481, Compilation of General Rules.

His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to appoint the Talukdāri Settlement Officer to be a Collector under sub-section 6 of Section 4 of the Guardians and Wards Act No. VIII of 1890 with respect to minors of the class of talukdārs within the districts of Ahmedabad, Kaira and Broach, to whom clause (a) of sub-section (1) of Section 2 of the Gujarat Talukdārs Act No. VI of 1888 applies. The Commissioner, N. D., should be declared the authority to whose control the Talukdāri Settlement Officer shall be subject in all matters connected with the guardianship of his ward. (Para. 1 of G. R. No. 4367, dated 11th June 1895.)

16. The Courts will be at liberty to appoint their Nāzirs by name, not office, as guardians when this appears expedient and to grant them such allowances under sub-section 1 of Section 22 as may be suitable. (G. R., J. D., No. 4719, dated 3rd September 1891.)

17. In reviewing the Madras Court of Wards Report for the year 1887-88, the attention of Her Majesty's Secretary of State was attracted to the large surplus balance of cash and securities remaining in the hands of the Court after 37 years' management of the Parlakimedi Estate. His Lordship observed that it might be of doubtful benefit to the young heir that he should come into possession of a large balance in cash and securities, as well as a fine estate with a substantial surplus revenue. High authorities, it was remarked, have said that the possession of a large cash balance is not unlikely to lead a young land-owner into extravagance and eventually to his ruin. In Bengal the Court of Wards has been in the habit of investing surpluses accumulated during the period of management in buying additional landed property. It was uncertain, however, whether this form of investment was possible in the case of Parlakimedi, and His Lordship suggested that, 'if good land investments are not to be had, it might be possible and advisable to invest such balances in a branch railway, or some other such work that would permanently benefit the estate and also yield a large and increasing dividend.' Instances were cited of the construction of railways by the Heads of Native States and Principalities to the benefit of their territories and the honour of their families, and His Lordship invited the Government of India to consider the desirability of facilitating the investments of accumulated wards' funds in a similar manner, and expressed his readiness to entertain favourably any project of law that might be required to give the Courts of Wards the necessary authority.

The despatch was circulated to Local Governments and Administrations, who were asked to favour the Supreme Government with their opinions as to the desirability of giving effect to His Lordship's suggestions, and as to the alterations in the existing law that might be required for that purpose. They were also requested to consider the advisability of employing the surplus funds of wards' estates in the manner suggested, but in combination with neighbouring zamindárs or local capitalists and district boards; and whether, instead of branch railways, the Court of Wards might not in suitable cases undertake the construction of steam tramways, such as have been successfully worked in Northern Italy.

The only provinces in which the wards' estates are sufficiently numerous and important, and the funds which can be accumulated large enough, to enable practical effect to be given to the suggestions of the Secretary of State, appear to be Madras, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, and Oudh. Except in Burma, where there is no Court of Wards, Local Governments and Administrations are generally of opinion that the powers conferred by the existing law are sufficient to enable them to take the necessary action; and, although there is reason, perhaps, to think that these powers are more restricted than the local authorities seem to imagine, still the Government of India are disposed to think that under the law as it stands the Courts of Wards are empowered to authorize the initiation of every kind of improvement calculated to promote the interests of the wards whose property it is their duty to administer.

The character of such improvements is limited by the canon that they must be for the direct advantage of the estate on which they are undertaken. This rule would include all such undertakings as are described in the definition of 'improvement' in the Land Improvements Loans Act. They would comprise, for example, all works of irrigation by which the rental of the estate would be augmented. And in the case of extensive estates, such as the larger zamindáris of Madras and Bengal, they might include branch railways or tramways, and navigable canals, as well as branch or feeder roads on smaller estates. In exceptional cases even hospitals or schools might perhaps be brought within the definition. Within these limits the desire of the Supreme Government is that the Courts of Wards should, up to the fullest extent which prudence will allow, spend the surpluses accumulating under their management upon the improvement of the estates, and so far as the restrictions placed by the law upon them as trustees permit, upon the amelioration of the condition of the tenantry.

The Governor General in Council, however, has gathered with regret from an examination of the Annual Administration Reports of the Courts of Wards and the reviews of them by the Local Governments and Administrations that the tendency is too often in the contrary direction. The principal cause of the hesitation to invest savings in improvements has doubtless been that caution which is but natural to, and proper in, a trustee fully conscious of his responsibilities towards his ward. It is, however, apprehended that another reason may be found in the preference of the trustee for the course which, if the safest, also gives the least trouble. It should not be inferred that the Government of India fail in any way to appreciate the exertions of those officers to whose unremitting and well-directed labours are due the admirable results which have made the Court of Wards one of the most popular institutions in the country and have caused it to be regarded as the salvation of encumbered estates. It need not, however, be feared that the more frequent investment of surplus income on schemes of improvement, large or small, if undertaken for the benefit of the ward and his estate, upon careful deliberation and sound advice, would lessen the popularity of the Court in the eyes of the zamindárs. Such a course of action is, on the other hand, undoubtedly calculated to increase its usefulness and the respect entertained for it by the tenantry.

The Government of India, therefore, consider it desirable to suggest to Local Governments and Administrations that the Courts of Wards should be enjoined, before locking up surplus funds in Government paper or other securities, to ascertain by personal enquiry, reports from managers or otherwise, how far it may be possible to utilise such funds on improvements of direct benefit to the estate. In the case of the richer and more extensive estates, consideration may be given to large and comprehensive undertakings of the character suggested by the Secretary of State in his despatch, such as railways, tramways, tanks, or canals. The Government of India, however, recognise that less ambitious works of agricultural improvement, such as wells, minor distributaries, and roads, are more frequently needed and more within the capacity of the Court of Wards to prosecute with safety and prudence.

The inquiries made have led to some discussion regarding the investment of wards' funds in railways or similar undertakings for the general improvement of the district or province in which the estate is situated. The Government of India consider that investments of this character would not generally be justifiable: cases, however, might occur where, with some such security as a Provincial guarantee, the investment would probably be regarded in a Court of law as sufficiently sound to authorise such a use by a trustee of his ward's money. This has already, in the case of a local railway in one province, been held to justify the subscription of funds from estates under the Court of Wards.

But in the opinion of the Governor General in Council one of the most desirable and safest forms of investment for surplus funds may be found in the liberal supply of advances to cultivators upon the ward's estate, which may be made in the shape of either money, seed or cattle, on the security of long leases, and conditional on the payment of enhanced rent. This practice is already familiar to the people, and would, the Government of India believe, be the means of effecting on these estates, upon a large scale, improvements not only remunerative to the ward, but beneficial also to his tenantry, and would indirectly by the force of example, as well as directly by increase of production, tend to enhance the efficiency of agricultural operations throughout the country. (G. I., R. & A., No. 2771-79-70, dated 31st December 1891: vide G. R. No. 477, dated 22nd January 1892.)

18. Section 17 (5) of the Guardians and Wards Act VIII of 1890 provides that the Court shall not appoint or declare any person a guardian against his will. The section next following provides that when a Collector is appointed or declared guardian by the Court in virtue of his office * * the order * * shall be deemed to authorize and require the person for the time being holding the office to act as guardian, &c.

Section 18 could be construed as a limitation of, and exception to, the proviso that precedes it, only if it would be impossible for both to operate fully.

Maxwell on Interpretation of Statutes, 186 et seqq., 2nd Edition.

But it is perfectly possible to read Section 18 as intended to authorize, irrespective, not of assent, but of change of office.

The inference that this was the intention of those who drafted the Act is confirmed from paragraph 5 of the Select Committee's report published in the Gazette of India (8th March 1890), page 78, Part V, as follows:—

“Section 17.—Sub-section 5 of this section makes it sufficiently clear that neither a Collector nor any other person can be appointed a guardian against his will.”

“To require” is not “to direct”, and though each successive Collector may be required to act as guardian and is thereby authorized so to act, if he does not object, he is with the approval of the Local Government entitled to his discharge on application under Section 40 (2) even though the appointment or certificate may have been under Act XX of 1864 (vide Section 50 of Act VIII of 1890.)

Act VIII of 1890 on coming into force governed all matters of procedure in proceedings then pending though commenced under Act XX of 1864. (L. R. No. 958, dated 18th June 1892: vide G. R. No. 5518, dated 6th July 1892.)

Maxwell on Interpretation of Statutes, 269, 270.

19. Sections 4 (6) and 40 of Act VIII of 1890 provide amply for the relief of Collectors in any districts, or in regard to any particular estates in which their position as guardians of minors' estates may prove unduly burdensome.

Any cases in which it may appear desirable to relieve Collectors of the work of guardianship, either by conferring powers on Assistant or Deputy Collectors under Section 4, or by taking action under Section 40, will be dealt with as they arise. So long as the Courts are bound under Section 40 to discharge a Collector from guardianship when Government approves of an application being made with that object in view, it is immaterial whether or not a Court has power to appoint a Collector to be guardian without his consent. Any general dissociation of the Collector from the working of the Act is, however, undesirable not only because the work is better done and the interests of the minors are more secure under the guardianship of the Collector than would otherwise be the case, but also because it would go far towards destroying what remains of the Collector's traditional position as the centre of authority and general protector of the interests of the people in his district.

An amendment of the Land Revenue Code with the object of conferring on the Collector as guardian the powers which the Code gives him as a Revenue officer for the realization of revenue is not necessary or desirable. Any difficulty experienced by the Talukdāri Settlement Officer in collecting rents, &c., can always be met by the issue of commissions under Section 88 of the Land Revenue Code in respect of estates managed by him on behalf of the Collector as guardian. (G. R. No. 7724, dated 20th October 1893.)

20. Loans to landholders and notabilities apart from the provisions of any law constitute one of the classes of loans which may be made by Local Governments without reference to the Government of India. (G. of I. R. No. 13, dated 1st January 1889.)

Loans to landlords and notabilities contemplated in the Resolution of the Government of India quoted above are meant for loans that have in them some purpose of a public or political character. There are the strongest objections to loans being made from the public funds for objects that are of a purely private character, and were the Government to consent to make such loans, the claims upon them would be endless, and they would be interfering in business that is much better left to private lenders. It is also not right that the appointment of a Government officer as guardian in connection with a private individual or estate should enable that individual or estate to obtain assistance from public funds which would not otherwise be available to it. (G. R., F. D., No. 3864, dated 13th November 1895.)

THE NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT.

1. The following opinion No. 1306, dated 6th October 1886, was recorded by the Remembrancer of Legal Affairs :—

“If New Year's Day or Christmas Day falls on a Sunday, the explanation to Section 25 of Act XXVI of 1881 declares that the next following Monday, as well as the Sunday, shall be a public holiday for the purposes of that section. The explanation also authorizes the Local Government to declare any other day to be a public holiday for the purposes of that section; and the Notification No. 3388 of 9th December 1885, declaring Monday, the 23rd August, to be a public holiday for those purposes, was, I think, perfectly legal, whether that day corresponded with the Hindu festival of Gokul-ash-tami or not.

“2. The Notification No. 4794 of 16th December 1885 was, as I understand it, merely an announcement of the days in 1886 on which Government authorized the closing of public offices, and it was obviously competent to Government to include Monday, the 23rd August, in that list or not, as they might think fit. It does not follow that the days recognized by Government as public holidays for official purposes need be the same as those declared by them to be public holidays for the purposes of Section 25 of Act XXVI of 1881.”

(G. R. No. 3204, dated 20th October 1886.)

2. In all provinces, holidays which are intended to be treated as public holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act should be notified in the Local Gazettes under Section 25 thereof. (G. I., F. & C., No. 4812, dated 12th September 1887; vide G. R. No. 2767, dated 12th October 1887.)

3. Treasuries, as a general rule, should not be completely closed on any days save those which are declared holidays by or under the Negotiable Instruments Act. The general notification of holidays under the Act would apply to all districts; and any local holidays of importance should be reported to Government and notified under the Act. (G. R. No. 1842, dated 9th May 1889.)

4. As Baroda is under the direct political control of the Government of India, the Government of Bombay is not the Local Government in respect of it for the purposes of Section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881. (G. R. No. 602, dated 20th February 1890.)

5. The Commissioners of Divisions and in Sind should submit as soon as possible after the publication each year of the usual notification of holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act for the Presidency generally a list of the important additional holidays which they may consider it advisable to notify under the Act for each district in their respective divisions after consultation with the Managers of the local branches of Banks in the case of districts where such branches exist. (G. R. No. 804, dated 7th March 1890.)

6. As it is the practice for the Governor General in Council to fix the date on which Her Majesty's

[THE NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT.]

Birthday is to be kept in India, when public holidays are notified by the Local Governments under Section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act no date should be mentioned on which the Birthday is to be observed, but a note should be made that the day which may be fixed for its observance will be a public holiday. (G. I., H. D., No. 14-Pub.-734, dated 25th May 1893; vide G. R. No. 2194, dated 16th June 1893.)

7. Whenever the cash balance of any estate, after providing for ascertained current demands against such estate, amounts to or exceeds five hundred rupees, it shall be invested by the Administrator General in Government securities.

8. If the balance of any estate, after providing as aforesaid, amounts to less than five hundred rupees, the Administrator General may either invest such balance in Government securities or deposit it in the Government Treasury.

Safe Custody of Securities.

What charges may be debited to Audit Fund.

(a) the expenses of audit under Part IV of the Act;

(b) the cost of preparing and publishing the Schedules A to E referred to in Rules 17 and 18 (inclusive of all minor charges connected therewith for stationery and the like), not exceeding such amount as shall from time to time be sanctioned by Government;

13. The Administrator General may also make use of the Audit Fund for the following purposes (viz.):

Temporary purposes for which the audit fund may be used.

(a) if the amount of certain outstanding charges which have to be borne by an estate in his charge, cannot for a time be exactly ascertained, he may retain out of such estate a sum approximately sufficient to meet such charges, and the sum so retained may be temporarily credited to the Audit Fund, until payment thereof is made to the persons entitled to receive the same; and when the money due has been realized, the Audit Fund shall be recredited with the amount advanced from it.

Separate Accounts.

14. The Administrator General may, subject to the provisions of Section 32 of the Act, carry over to a separate account, which shall be styled "the Dividends Payable Account," from the balance of any estate in his charge, assets equivalent to the aggregate amount of all registered and admitted claims against such estate; and all payments which he shall thereafter make on account of such claims shall be debited to the said Dividends Payable Account.

15. The Administrator General may also, subject to the provisions aforesaid, carry over to a separate account, which shall be styled the "Small Estates' Account," the balance of every estate which he has deposited in the Government Treasury under Rule 8; and all payments which he shall thereafter make on account of any such estate shall be debited to the said Small Estates' Account.

Every approval of a bank or firm for the purposes of this rule shall be given by an order in writing signed by a Secretary to the Government of Bombay and shall continue in force until revoked by a like order.

Schedules.

17. For the better classification of the information, which by clauses (a) and (b) of Section 44 of the Act, the Administrator General is required to exhibit to the High Court and to publish in the Bombay Government Gazette half-yearly, the Administrator General shall embody the said information in the following four schedules, prepared, respectively, in accordance with Forms A to D hereto annexed (viz.):

Schedule A, showing the money, bonds or other securities received by him on account of each estate in his charge and the payments thereout and the balances in hand at the close of the half-year;

[ADMINISTRATOR GENERAL & OFFL. TRUSTEE.]

Schedule B, showing the money, bonds or other securities transferred by him from each estate in his charge to the share or legacy accounts of the persons respectively entitled thereto and the payments thereout and the balances in hand at the close of the half-year;

Schedule C, showing the estates in his charge of which the balances, being less than five hundred rupees each, have been deposited in the Government Treasury under Rule 8 and the opening balance, receipts, charges and closing balance of the Small Estates' Account for the half-year;

Schedule D, showing the balances of assets, which have been set apart to meet admitted claims against any of the estates in his charge and the opening balances, receipts, charges and closing balance of the Dividends Payable Account for the half-year.

18. The schedule which the Administrator General is required by clause (c) of Form in which the schedule required by clause (c) of Section 44 of the Act is to be prepared.

Section 44 of the Act to exhibit to the High Court and publish in the Bombay Government Gazette half-yearly shall be in Form E hereto annexed.

19. The Administrator General shall at the Statement of assets liable to lapse to Government to be submitted by the Administrator General annually to the auditors of his accounts.

audit of his accounts for the half-year ending on the 31st December of each year submit to the auditors for verification a statement of assets liable at the close of the same year to be transferred under Section 62 of the Act to Government.

20. The Administrator General may, after the Destruction of unclaimed and useless private papers.

expiration of one year from the date of his taking charge of an estate, destroy any private papers, bills, receipts, memoranda, or other similar documents of no permanent value, which he has received along with such estate and which have not in the meantime been claimed by the next-of-kin or by any other person entitled thereto.

(G. Ns. Nos. 165, dated 13th January 1887, and 3280, dated 24th September 1895).

6. The fee for auditing the accounts of the Administrator General should be fixed at Rs. 2,000 for the year, and that allowed to the clerks for preparing and publishing the schedules required by Section 44 of Act II of 1874 raised from Rs. 900 to Rs. 1,200 annually. (G. R. No. 3667, dated 27th September 1889.)

7. No. 11 of the rules under Section 57 of the Administrator General's Act is not so restrictive that the charges therein mentioned should alone be debited to the Audit Fund. For the present all estates under Rs. 5,000 in value should be relieved of charges for postage, advertisements and probate duty, the expenditure being debited to the Audit Fund.

The annual payment of charges on account of the subscription by the Administrator General to the Times of India newspaper and the price of a Letts' Diary and the Times of India Calendar and Directory is sanctioned. (G. R. No. 1596, dated 5th May 1891.)

8. Sums which have been remitted by the Administrator General, Bombay, to his Official Agent at the India Office, London, for payment to the creditors or next-of-kin of persons whose estates were administered by the Administrator General, but which not having been claimed by the payees have remained with the Official Agent, are not liable to be dealt with as provided by Section 62 of Act II of 1874. They cannot be considered as assets appearing to have been in official custody for a period of 15 years or upwards without any claim thereto having been made and allowed within the meaning of Section 62. The word "assets" in this section must be taken as used in the same sense as in the other sections of the Act where it is used, for example Sections 16 and 17, and it means the property of a deceased person to whose estate administration is taken out by the Administrator General. Now the monies in question after they came into the hands of the Administrator General, were claimed and remitted to England to be paid to the claimants. They then ceased to form part of the property or assets of such deceased persons, and consequently are not liable to be dealt with as provided by Section 62. (Adv. Gen. No. 94, dated 13th October 1891; vide G. R. No. 2015, dated 13th May 1892.)

9. Remittances by any of the Official Trustees at the official rate of exchange should cease. In cases in which the Official Trustee has not direct instructions from the parties on whose behalf remittances are made by him, bills of exchange of an approved Bank or Firm, instead of Bank post bills, should be the mode of remittance. (G. I., F. D., No. 1548, dated 15th April 1879; vide G. R. No. 1404, dated 22nd idem.)

10. Orders as regards the appointments of Official Trustee and Administrator General, Bombay, should be issued by the Financial Department after unofficial reference to the Judicial Department. (G. M. No. 1608, dated 26th April 1893; and G. R., J. D., No. 3353, dated 3rd June 1893.)

11. From and after 1st August 1895 no interest is to be allowed to the Administrator General and the Official Trustee on any sums they may desire to leave with Government on deposit. (G. I., F. REPORTS.

1. The following extract from a Despatch from the Secretary of State for India; No. 44, dated 13th May 1880, was communicated by the Government of India to the Government of Bombay with a request that the suggestion therein made may be adopted, as far as possible, in the preparation of the Revenue Administration Reports :—

“ I would suggest that it would be convenient if much of the valuable information given in these reports were thrown into the form of percentages. By giving, for instance, the percentage of coercive processes to the total number of revenue payers, of estates transferred to the total number of estates, the percentage of increase or decrease of occupancy rights and the like, comparison will be more readily made of the condition in these respects of the Provinces as a whole from year to year and of the different districts.”

G. I., H. R. & A., No. 1-267, dated 13th June 1880; vide G. R. No. 3401, dated 1st July 1880.)

2. It should not be forgotten that an administration report is intended to show what has been done, and that any changes which it is thought should be made, except such as are very intimately connected with the explanation of the results of the administration, can be more fully and more advantageously discussed in special reports. (G. R. No. 7476, dated 9th December 1881.)

3. It is contrary to rule to discuss, in administration reports, orders issued by superior officers or by Government. If it is believed that good reasons can be shown for the reconsideration of any orders, the reasons should be stated fully and clearly in separate letters. (G. R. No. 7458, dated 6th October 1883.)

4. All heads of offices should adopt the suggestion * of the Government of India as regards the *Letter from the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, No. 64 G., dated 2nd November 1882 :—

“Some inconvenience having been experienced from the absence of maps in administration and other reports, whether submitted to the Government of India or published in the province, I am directed to ask whether, in the opinion of His Excellency the Governor in Council, there will be any objection to the insertion, in every report of the kind, of a map of the province, district, &c., to which the report relates.

“2. The Surveyor-General is prepared to supply skeleton maps for this purpose of the same size as the page of the report. This, in the opinion of the Government of India, will be the most convenient plan. The trouble of unfolding a map placed at the commencement of a report, or folded in a packet, often prevents reference to it.

“3. It may also be found convenient to repeat the insertion of the skeleton map, with such variations as may be required, opposite the page in which the special subject to be illustrated by the map is described. Thus, if irrigation is the subject to be illustrated, the map might be made to show by different colours the percentage of irrigation in each part of the province or district. Or, again, one map may be made to exhibit the system of roads, another the system of railways, a third the system of canals, and so on, the skeleton in all cases being the same.

“4. Should His Excellency the Governor in Council have no objection to allow the course now suggested to be adopted; the Surveyor-General will be placed in direct communication with the Government of Bombay for the purpose of supplying the necessary maps.”

insertion of maps in administration and other reports published in this Presidency or submitted to the Supreme Government.

As regards the Bombay Presidency, the preparation of the skeleton maps required can much more conveniently be undertaken by the Photozincographic Office than by the Surveyor General. Government are accordingly pleased to direct that all heads of departments should indent for skeleton maps of the size and kind required by them on the Photozincographic Office at Poona, which will also reproduce them after the special details furnished by the several departments to illustrate facts in their reports have been filled in. Arrangements must always be made for the re-printing, reproduction or re-construction, in the Photozincographic Department, of all maps, diagrams, &c., that may be required by the various departments and officers for embodiment in their annual and other reports. To facilitate this, it is desirable that the officers and departments requiring the maps, &c., should give clear instructions on each map to be printed as to the extent of country and detail to be shown, the size of the map, the colour to be used in printing the maps, and such other points as may seem to require explanation.

If in any case the Superintendent, Photozincographic Office, has reason to believe that skeleton maps exist in the office of the Surveyor General; he may obtain copies from that office if such a course appear to him to be more economical and expeditious.

As regards the size of the maps, the view* of the Government of India should be accepted wherever the object of the map can be attained under the condition that it should be of the same size as the page of the report. In cases, however, where the adoption of this course is considered impractical, the size of the map can be enlarged. (G. Rs. Nos. 4695, dated 21st June, 5633, dated 31st July, and 7936, dated 26th October 1883.)

5. The Government of India has no desire to prescribe either the scale or the subjects which are to be illustrated in maps required for Provincial purposes. These will vary from Province to Province, and experience will show how far it is possible to go in the elaboration of details. But for its own requirements the Government of India, in the Revenue and Agricultural Department, wishes the maps which are intended to illustrate reports to be skeleton maps in the true sense of the word, and is unwilling that either Provincial or District maps should be burdened with topographical detail, or confused by the attempt to show administrative arrangements of too minute a nature. In district (maps) it will be ordinarily sufficient if no subdivisions smaller than the Tahsil boundary be shown. Topographical detail should be omitted as far as possible, and skeleton maps should be prepared which will render it easy to indicate by the use of colour facts regarding soil, climate, the depth of water, and other points of cognate interest. (G. I. R. &

REPORTS.]

A., No. 95-54-1, dated 11th February 1887; vide G. R. No. 6445, dated 23rd September 1887.)

6. The following orders may be considered as supplementary to those issued in the Home Department No. 28, dated 15th July 1887,* the general

* "The subject of discussion in the papers cited in the preamble is the preparation and printing of annual departmental reports submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department. In a letter No. 392 S., dated the 22nd June 1885, the Government of the Punjab solicited a reconsideration of the whole question of the preparation and treatment of annual reports, so far as that Province was concerned. The alterations suggested by Sir Charles Aitchison and the views provisionally held by the Government of India on the question are summarized in the Home Department Resolution of the 12th August 1885. But as the subject was not one of merely local importance, the Governor General in Council desired, before coming to a final decision, to have a full expression of the opinions of Local Governments and Administrations upon the proposals of the Punjab Government, so far as they affected the reports which are submitted to the Home Department. The replies from Local Governments and Administrations, read in the preamble, contain their opinions on the matter.

"2. The proposals of the Punjab Government were made with the double object (1) of removing the burden thrown upon district officers, heads of Departments, and Secretariat establishments in connection with the preparation and reviewing of annual reports; and (2) of reducing the cost of printing the reports. These proposals have not been accepted in full by any local Government or Administration, except by the Chief Commissioner of Burma; and Mr. Crosthwaite, the present Chief Commissioner of that Province, holds, as his reply from the Central Provinces shows, different views from those held by Sir Charles Bernard. The Governments of Madras, Bombay and Bengal have, to some extent, accepted the proposals in question, and the Chief Commissioner of Coorg has expressed his opinion generally in favour of having statistical tables, accompanied by notes, for two years, and in the third year a set of comprehensive departmental reports.

"3. The most adverse criticism of the proposals made by the Punjab Government proceeds from the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, from the Administrations of the Central Provinces and of Assam and from the Resident at Hyderabad. The Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces and Chief Commissioner of Oudh is of opinion that the presentation of evidence of departmental efficiency and the collection, in a convenient form, of information useful for administrative and other purposes cannot be secured under a system of triennial reporting with intermediate statistical tables and brief explanatory notes. He considers that, as was suggested in paragraph 7 of Home Department Resolution of 12th August 1885, the brief notes would probably be of little practical value, while the triennial report would necessarily be prolix and involve much labour in its preparation. The latter, moreover, would be four years old before the orders of Government could be passed or any subsequent action taken upon it. Sir A. Lyall observes that the labour of scrutinizing statistics is little augmented by that of writing a report on them, and that a careful scrutiny and comparison of past and present returns is a necessary part of the duty of the heads of departments in administering. But, while opposed to the general adoption of the proposals of the Punjab Government, Sir A. Lyall would meet them to some extent by doing away with reports on certain subjects and by substituting for them statistical tables accompanied every year by a brief commentary in the form of notes, such as is now supplied by the Local High Courts of Judicature in reviewing the Criminal and Civil Justice returns.

"4. Mr. Crosthwaite, at the time Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, concurs in the views of the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh in regard to the small amount of labour required to write a report, when once the relevant statistics have been systematically studied. He remarks that the system of writing reports is useful, inasmuch as it ensures that statistics have been scrutinized, and that it enables principles expressed in which may be applied to the Government to see how much care and intelligence have been devoted to this scrutiny. Reports, moreover, in Mr. Crosthwaite's opinion, enable administrative officers to periodically survey the whole of their work and to judge of the effects of it, while they assist Government in seeing how far the recognized principles of administration have been applied and how far errors require to be corrected. If for annual reports triennial reports were substituted, there is, he thinks, likely to be the disadvantage that the officer who had done the work would not ordinarily write the report, or, if he did, that his recollection of the facts regarding which he was writing would have grown dim with time. Under such a system, too, errors of administration could not be corrected at once. Mr. Crosthwaite admits that reports and reviews are often unnecessarily prolix and should be curtailed, and he suggests that the extended distribution of reports which at present prevails is unnecessary and expensive. He also deprecates the style of review which merely repeats, in other and perhaps fewer words, what is stated in the report.

"The Officiating Chief Commissioner of Assam considers that the proposals of the Punjab Government are unsuitable to that Province, and would lead to serious practical inconvenience. Mr. Ward is of opinion that the value of reports to departmental officers would be lost by triennial reports, while the labour of compiling the latter would be very great, particularly to officers who had held their charges only for a small portion of the three years.

"The Resident at Hyderabad doubts if the proposed reform would have an useful effect, and argues that the review of the year's transactions by the head of the Government affords an incentive to work. Praise or blame, in the Resident's opinion, loses its effect if it relates to a time long passed away. The officer concerned may have left the locality, and it does not always happen that an officer remains at his post for the whole three years for which he would have to write the report.

"5. The opinions briefly summarized above confirm the view taken by the Government of India in the Home Department, as expressed in the Resolution of the 12th August 1885, that it was not possible to go as far as was proposed by the Punjab Government in the direction of curtailing the preparation and submission of annual reports. After giving the subject full consideration the Government of India agrees in the main with the remarks made by the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the present Chief Commissioner of Burma regarding the usefulness of annual reports as a means of testing departmental efficiency and the judgment and energy of officers, and also of checking and correcting administrative mistakes. Applying this principle, the Governor General in Council is of opinion that annual reports must be maintained in the two following cases:—

(a) Where the reports deal with the application of administrative principles still open to modification or the concrete working of which has to be watched.

(b) Where the reports contain statistics which for administrative purposes must be compiled and examined annually.

"These two heads comprise so many of the reports now falling under the cognizance of the Home Department that the conclusion to which His Excellency in Council has come is that, beyond insisting on brevity and methodical arrangement in the reports themselves, and on curtailment of reviews of them, it is impossible to afford much relief to Local Governments in the direction contemplated by this enquiry. The Government of India, therefore, desires that the reports dealt with in the Home Department should from 1887 onwards be treated in the following manner:—

(i) To be submitted annually as heretofore:—

- |                                   |
|-----------------------------------|
| Report on General Administration. |
| " Municipal Administration.       |
| " Local Boards' Administration.   |
| " Education.                      |
| " Sanitation.                     |
| " Civil and Criminal Justice.     |
| " Jail Administration.            |
| " Police Administration.          |
| " Lunatic Asylums.                |

reports submitted to the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department. The reports thus submitted are concerned with the subjects enumerated below :

- (1) Land Revenue Administration.
- (2) Forest Administration.
- (3) Land Records and Agriculture.
- (4) Court of Wards and other estates administered by Government.
- (5) Horticultural and Botanical Gardens.
- (6) Experimental Farms.
- (7) Trade Statistics, Quarterly and Annual.
- (8) Colonial and Inland Emigration.

(ii) To be submitted in full every third year, statistical returns and brief commentaries in the shape of notes being submitted in the intermediate years :—

Report on Registration.

" Dispensaries.

" Lock-Hospitals.

" Vaccination.

" Destruction of wild beasts and snakes.

"The notes to be submitted with the statistical returns in the years intermediate between the submission of the reports should give a clear, though brief, indication of the supervising or controlling officer's opinion as to the significance of the statistics.

"6. The following special reports should continue to be submitted as before :—

Chemical Examiner's Report.

Report on Calcutta Medical Institutions.

Report of the Port Health Officer, Calcutta.

Report of the Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta.

Report on Publications under Act XXV of 1867.

The Review of Publications.

The Report on Vernacular Newspapers.

"The Government of India leaves to Local Governments, who submit reports on Legal Affairs and Criminal Tribes, discretion to determine whether these reports shall be annually prepared as at present, or prepared every third year, with brief notes in the intermediate years.

"7. The Governor General in Council would desire to express his earnest hope that Local Governments and Administrations will insist on curtailment of reports to the utmost extent which is consistent with a proper examination of the facts and figures presented in them. A reduction in the size of the reports on Jails, Police, Education and Sanitation is especially necessary. In most Provinces these reports have become far too discursive.

"Compression of reviews is not less called for than curtailment of reports : a review should contain only what is necessary to communicate the judgment of the reviewing authority regarding the salient features of the report. The Governor General in Council attaches no value to reviews which merely repeat in abridged form what is set forth in the report reviewed.

8. While thus recognizing the need which exists for compression in the reports and reviews which reach the Government of India, His Excellency in Council is no less desirous that the same principles should be carefully followed as regards reports received by Local Governments and Administrations, but not forwarded to the Government of India. He fears that the time of administrative and executive officers is unnecessarily occupied as much by the preparation of reports and returns submitted for the information of the local authorities as by the preparation of those which reach the Government of India. He has therefore observed with satisfaction that the Government of Bengal has recently, in connexion with the Report of the Salaries Commission, directed its attention to this aspect of the case ; and he trusts that all other Local Governments and Administrations will exercise a vigorous discretion not only in reducing the bulk of the reports and returns which are retained, but also in abolishing those that are not really required." (G. I., H. D., No. 28-1579-95, dated 15th July 1887 ; vide G. R., G. D., No. 2426 dated 17th August 1887.)

2. Land Revenue Administration and Forest Administration Reports.—The Government of India concurs with the general opinion expressed in the replies which have been received that no material alteration should be made in the preparation of the Land Revenue Administration and Forest Administration Reports; and that these should continue, as at present, to be annually submitted.
